A single payment in advance of three and a half Annual Premiums on the above table, will entitle a party to a policy for the whole term of four years.

The following General Rules will be applied to Insurance upon the Life of a Slave, for the term of Four Years.

1st. Policies issued for a period of the term of One, Two, Three or Four Years, at the same rate of annual premium for each term, as advantage is given to this class, never before proffered to insurers.

2d. Any sum not exceeding three-fourths of the actual cash value of Slaves will be insured.

3d. Premiums may be transferred irrespective of the Company.

4 to Two Premiums first paid to the Policy, (if for more than one year) will be made each year, the premium to which contains the Policy in force for its term, irrespective of the health of the slave; but the Policy may by deem forfeited by the holder thereof at the plenitude of his discretion.

5th. Policies for the whole term of Four Years will be granted upon the payment in advance of three and a half Annual Premiums.

6th. With this table no difficulty need occur as to the exact age of the slaves insured, inasmuch as the Premiums vary only every Four Years.

7th. In case of difference of opinion as to the actual cash value of a slave, it may be determined by a reference to two disinterested persons, chosen mutually by the owner and Agent of the Company.

8th. A change of occupation to one more hazardous renders void the Policy, unless the consent of the Company is first obtained in writing, and a commensurate increase premium paid thereon.

9th. No application for insurance will be entertained for a less sum than Fifty Dollars, nor for a term of less than one year, unless at the rate of premium of Fifty Dollars, includes the whole charge for Policy fee, &c.

...Blanks, Circulars, Pamphlets, &c. ...Blanks, statements, policies &c. will be furnished by B. W. HERBERT, Agent. ...May 29, 1856—1 year. Sp.

MONDAY.

In accordance with their programme of appointments, Messrs BOTELER and HOGE, the canvassing electors of this district, had a discussion on Monday afternoon, at the Court House. The assemblage, which was a very large one, was called to order by ANDREW F. KENNEDY, Esq., who nominated ANDREW HUNTER, Esq., as the presiding officer of the day. Mr. HUNTER, being unanimously selected, took the stand, and after briefly expressing his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, stated the order for the discussion as previously agreed upon by the electors.

JOHN BLAIR HOGE, Esq., the acting Democratic elector, opened the discussion in a speech of an hour. This speech was eloquent, and impressively delivered. It was ingenious. It has rarely been our pleasure to hear a more beautiful exordium—one more chaste in its language, or more pathetic in its tone. We have rarely, too, seen more skill evinced in the arrangement of the matter of the speech. Great care was taken to make the exordium occupy the whole of his allotted time,—thus avoiding any of the material matters in issue in the present canvass.

A. R. BOTELER, Esq., the American elector, followed Mr. HOGE in a speech of great beauty and force. He depicted in glowing language the present condition of the country, and of the political parties now in the field. He, so far as he had time, reviewed the platforms of the respective parties, and the character of the respective candidates; and he made a powerful appeal to the conservative men of our State to stand by Millard Fillmore, who had been tried in times of similar peril and had proven himself to be true to the Constitution and laws, and thoroughly and eminently national.

Mr. HOGE replied in a speech of 20 minutes, and Mr. BOTELER rejoined in a speech of the same duration.

Both of these gentlemen acquitted themselves to the entire satisfaction of their political and personal friends, and were repeatedly interrupted with applause.

On the conclusion of Mr BOTELER's first speech, the democrats called lustily for Mr. ISHELL, and that gentleman came forward, and occupied ten minutes in telling the audience that it would not be proper for him to speak at that time, as it would interfere with the arrangements of the discussion.—Mr. ISHELL never opens his mouth, save in a handsome and eloquent way, and, consequently, his friends vociferously cheered him. He wound up by saying that he had brought "an eloquent and able advocate of the cause" with him, and, after the regular discussion was ended, Mr. CULVER, or some body else, came forward and, something that way, was introduced to the audience. He commenced by telling us that his visit to Jefferson was most unexpected, but that, still, he could not resist the opportunity thus afforded him of making his opinions known to our people. He told us that he had been "invited by the people of Ohio to visit that State and deliver a series of lectures on Slavery." For this purpose he had gone from his home, in Georgia, and had traversed the great Northwest, from which wonderful pilgrimage he was but now returning. We venture to say that "the people of Ohio" will never again invite him to deliver "a series of lectures on Slavery" or any other subject political, moral or religious. And we base this prophecy upon the exhibition he made here. We have heard a vast number of men, of all grades of talent, speak upon a vast number of subjects; but never in our life did we ever hear such senseless, stupid stuff as that to which this lecturer compelled his audience to listen.—Ordinary politeness to a stranger would require our citizens to give any ordinary speaker a patient hearing; but we do protest against a too frequent taxing of our hospitality. Once a year is as much as we are willing to stand, and we must beg our democratic brethren to bring no more such "able and eloquent" advocates of the Buchanan cause.—New Fillmore, we ha[illegible]

"In his brain—
Which is as dry as the remainder-biscuit
After a voyage—he hath strange places cram'd
With observation, the which he vents
In mangled forms."

If it was not for the sake of equality of feeling, we would hope that the distinguished gentleman from Georgia, after he sets himself down in his comfortable chair to tell his home circle of the incidents of his "tour to the great Northwest," he would mention with especial pleasure his political efforts in favor of democracy in the Old Dominion.—He certainly can tell them that he found this one of the green spots in his barren tour. To his home, then, we wish him God speed, and a politically uninterrupted journey.

"Fare thee well; and, if forever,— but no matter about the balance of the verse.

TYRE MAUPIN, Esq., of Richmond, was then introduced, and made a speech, which we notice elsewhere. And thus ended the incidents of Monday.

TYRE MAUPIN, ESQ.

This gentleman, having been invited by the Fillmore and Donelson Club of this town, addressed our citizens on Friday afternoon last, in a speech of more than three hours length; and again on Monday afternoon for upwards of two hours.

We have heard most of the distinguished orators of this State; but we have never heard better speeches than those delivered by this gentleman.—He is unquestionably one of the strongest men on the hustings that we have ever heard. And we believe we but speak the sentiment of all who heard him, when we say, that there has not been a speech of such power delivered in this part of the State for ten years—not, indeed, since the time when SHARP, of Staunton, made his celebrated speech in the discussion with Hon. Wm. LUCAS. As a close and logical reasoner, Mr. MAUPIN has no superior. He makes his points and charges in the clearest manner; and he proves every point and each charge by the very strongest testimony.

It is impossible for us to do justice to these speeches by any notice of them that we can give. We shall not, therefore, make the attempt. But we cannot refrain from saying that he proved Mr. Buchanan and his party, out of his own mouth and by the testimony of his own warmest party-supporters, to be an unreliable, vacillating, inconsistent, and selfish man; too much so, by far, to make it either safe or prudent for southern and national, conservative men to elevate to the Chief-magistracy of the Union. He, also, clearly showed him to be the very last man in the whole country whom old line Whigs could support, with any sort of self-respect, or with any hope of success. [illegible] and thorough review of Mr. Buchanan's career from the time of his first public appearance down to this present day. In this connection he spoke most eloquently of Henry Clay:

"In following," said he, "the lead of Henry Clay, I took some pains, in my humble way, to study his life, his speeches, his actions and his general character. I have noticed him in his contest with other men, when all the stormy passions of his tempestuous soul, lashed by disappointment and opposition, and defamation most foul and false, rose to the foaming rage of the ocean, when all the winds seemed unchained, and swept in full career over the face of the deep, but still he maintained the grand sublimity of his might, nature.—He owed, in my humble opinion, less of his great fame to education, or to art, than any other man who ever lived in the long tide of time. He owed less of his commanding influence to other men, than any other great party leader I have ever known, or of whom I have ever heard. He counselled no one. He leaned upon no one. He feared no one. He always wore nature's patent of nobility on his massive brow. He stalked forth among his fellow men, with an unanswerable and unhesitating air of command. His sweeping pride, his indomitable will, his unquailing courage, challenged from all men submission, or combat. With him there was no middle ground; no neutrality. 'Death, tribute, or the Koran,' was his motto. He was great in speech, great in action; and his greatness was all his own. He was independent alike of history and of the school, for he knew not much of either, and appeared to despise them both. His ambition, his spirit, his eloquence, were all great, immensely great; they were natural, and entirely his own. If he was like any one else, he seemed not to know it. He had never studied models; and if ever he had, his lofty pride would have saved him from the error of imitation. He stood among men, in towering and barbaric grandeur; in all the hardihood and rudeness of perfect originality—independent of polish, and far beyond the reach of art. His vast outline, his grand but wild proportions likened him to a huge mass of granite, torn by some convulsion of nature from a mountain side, which any effort of the chisel would only disfigure, and which no instrument in the sculptor's studio could have grasped or comprehended."

We give the above as a quotation, though we do not profess to be entirely accurate in the language used.

Mr. MAUPIN's great power as a speaker consists in this mode of bringing facts to sustain his assertions; and we believe that he is as well qualified as any man in the State, to do great good to the American cause. He attracts the closest attention of his auditors, and is constantly greeted by the most hearty applause. He is one of the best posted politicians in the whole country; and he drags to the light every act of public men who oppose him. There certainly is no man of the democratic party in Virginia, who could cope with him in fair political argumentation, and this fact seemed to stare our democratic orators in the face, as not one of them would even remain to hear him through his speech, much less dare to meet him.

Mr. MAUPIN should be compelled to canvass the State. We will have him here again, if possible, before the day of election; and we warrant it, that the democrats will have no one to stand up against him.

BUCHANAN AT THE NORTH.

Reliable Southern gentlemen of both parties, who have visited the North, admit that Mr. Buchanan's chance is altogether hopeless, so many of the old Democratic party have gone over to Fremont. The result in Maine proves that desertions from that quarter were so great that even with the aid of many Whigs the Democracy made but little show of resistance. The only hope the Buchanan men have of Illinois is founded upon the idea that the opposition is to be divided between Fillmore and Fremont.

In New York it is believed the Buchanan vote will not reach eighty thousand in the whole State. The great body of the Softs, and many of the foreign voters have joined the Fremont standard where their affinities properly lead them, whilst the conservative portion are beginning to think that the only way to save the State from the "Republicans" is to vote for Fillmore.

In Pennsylvania, the signs of despair among the Democratic leaders are every day becoming more visible. They are scolding because there is no Fremont electoral ticket in the field to divide the opposition. Thus far the contest is altogether between Buchanan and Fillmore, hence the anxiety to see a diversion of strength from the latter.

The idea which the Democracy of the Southern States [illegible] that in the North the struggle is almost altogether between Buchanan and Fremont, [illegible] against either of his competitors. Offers have been made to the friends of Fillmore to coalesce on Buchanan for President, and in return to take the Governor and other State officers, but the bait is not palatable, and the rank and file would resist the transfer. The result must inevitably be that such Democrats as do not relish the success of Fremont must support Fillmore, as the hope of saving New York.

DESPERATION.

We learn that the officials at Washington have levied a new tax upon the Clerks in the Departments to enable Faulkner's committee to disseminate documents. Each $1400 clerk has to pay $12 50 out of the present quarter. Poor fellows, it is hard to make them pay for their funerals in advance.

☞ Faulkner has behaved so quietly—so adversely to his creed, that even the Pursuer, of Hampshire county, determined that he should never speak in that County again.

GOOD SENTIMENTS WELL EXPRESSED.

The Hon. ROBERT C. WINTHROP, lately presided at a Whig State Convention in Massachusetts, and made a speech in which he took a statesman's views of the present state of affairs. After speaking respectfully of the several candidates for the Presidency, Mr. WINTHROP dwells with much force upon the sectional and geographical character of the "Republican" movement. His remarks on this point are so happy and forcible that we feel bound to give them prominence in our columns:

"Let parties among the people and parties in Congress be fairly divided and fully separated by mere sectional issues and mere geographical lines, and let the jealousies and animosities which necessarily belong to such a state of things continue to foment and rankle a term of four years, or even of one year, and who can foresee the day when any other issues or any other lines would again become practicable, and when the politics of the country would be anything else than a still continuing, never-ending, and always inflamed angry feud between the North and the South, while a burning spirit of hate and an eager yearning for mutual injury and revenge would thoroughly supplant that reciprocal confidence, regard and affection which ought to be, and so long have been, a stronger bond of Union between the States than any law or constitution whatever. And in such a condition of the country [illegible] the country proposed to us as a remedy of any thing? Why, if this be the only remedy for existing evils, we have indeed arrived at a point in our history like that with which Livy commenced his account of ancient Rome, when we can bear the remedy quite as little as we can bear the disease."

"For myself, I do not believe it is written in the book of American destiny, that this government can be carried on prosperously, if it can be carried on at all, upon a principle of sectional hostility and hate or by a party which either cherishes such a principle itself, or naturally excites and stimulates it in its opponents. I agree with Col. Benton, that there is too much sectional antagonism for the safety of the country. Sectional animosities and sectional hatred are the greatest evils of the times, and unless they are speedily allayed they will be the fountains of incalculable mischief to us and our posterity."

Mr. Winthrop concluded his address as follows:

"These, fellow Whigs of Massachusetts are my views, the best which I am capable of forming. I seek not to force them upon others, but I cannot shrink from avowing them, and acting upon them myself. I have entered into no careful calculation of the chances of success, having never been accustomed to take my rule of political duty from either the estimates or the returns of popular elections.—In my experience thus far, I have voted for a President of the United States once with only four States, and once with only my own State, and I am prepared if need be, to try how it feels to vote without any State at all. But no such prospect is at present before us, and the declaration that Mr. FILLMORE has no chance, is one to which I cannot and do not at all subscribe. Every day convinces me that there is a growing feeling in his favor in all parts of the country, and an increasing conviction that his election would save us from a world of trouble.

"At any rate, I shall act on no suggestions of despair, but hope on to the last, that a spirit may still be aroused among the people which shall secure us the only result which can restore harmony and concord to the country. Others may seek the distinction of ministering to the passions and prejudices of the hour;—but I should esteem myself the happiest of men, if I may appropriate with a slight alteration the language of John Adams to old King George when he first appeared before him as an embassador from independent America,—I should esteem myself the happiest of men, if I could be instrumental in restoring an entire esteem, confidence and affection, or, in better words, the old good nature, and the old good humor, between the different sections of this distracted and afflicted land. For out of such a restoration, I do believe, would come a brighter hope for our children and for our posterity, and better, wiser and juster views of even African slavery itself, at the South as well as at the North, than from all the criminations and contentions which are now shaking the capitol and the country to their foundations and threatening to rend asunder the whole framework of American freedom."

"A YOUNG DEMOCRAT."

The Winchester Virginian of the 9th, publishes a letter from Millwood, Clarke County, signed "A Young Democrat," in reply to "Old Liner," published in this paper August 21st. We notice it also in the last issue of the Spirit, yclept the "Tar and Feathers" journal. To the publication we do not object so far as the papers are concerned,—for in our opinion, they are both fit vehicles of the low blackguardism, which "A Young Democrat" gives utterance to, and with which we will not defile the Free Press. If the Virginian and Spirit think proper to give publicity to the vile and filthy language used by their "Young Democrat," all we have to say is that it is in excellent keeping, and their files can boast no more appropriate index of their own predilections. We make an extract from "A Young Democrat" relative to ourselves, charging upon us the knowledge that "Old Liner" was not telling the truth, &c. Here it is:

"You, Mr. Free Press, knew, as well as your correspondent, that he was not telling the truth; or why did you withhold yourself from a democratic subscriber here that week—the only time since your sheet has been coming to him?"

Our reply to the above extract will be plain and to the point,—it is, that "A Young Democrat," having, by a sentence immediately preceding the one quoted, proved himself such a low-bred, indecent, vile and filthy-mouthed blackguard, that we need say no more, than, that we have on our files, a letter from a gentleman at Berry's Ferry, dated August 14th, 1856, directing us to discontinue the Free Press, sent to a democrat at Millwood Post Office. It is plain, then, that "A Young Democrat" has entitled himself not only to the name of a black guard, but also to a [illegible] mean—a sponge and newspaper borrower.

We are speaking for ourselves and not for "Old Liner." "A Young Democrat" has charged upon us, an act, of which we were not guilty, and at the same time villified and abused us in language that a gentleman would blush to utter. A parting word to "A Young Democrat"—it is this, when you pass this way—let us see you; plez—or send us your daguerreotype, we will hang it at our door with the name of blackguard appended, and a caution of "gentlemen beware."

AN APPEAL FROM THE NORTH TO THE SOUTH.

Within the last week or two we have received a number of letters from prominent conservatives of the North, setting forth the dangers of the crisis, demonstrating the utter hopelessness of the attempt to elect BUCHANAN, and exhorting their brethren in the South to unite heartily and resolutely with the true patriots of the North in the effort to save the country from the rule of a Freesoil President. From our correspondences we select one letter, written by a distinguished gentleman of New York, well known for his staunch Union principles, and one of the coolest and most intelligent observers in the country. After stating that he fears many of the Southern people do not fully comprehend the position of parties in the North, he continues as follows:

"It becomes our duty to examine this question practically, and the first point to be decided is Mr. Buchanan's strength at the North." He was nominated with the idea that he was the strongest man of his party. However this may have been, you may rely upon it that he is deplorably weak throughout the North. He cannot carry a single non-slaveholding State, except Pennsylvania, and his prospects even there are becoming rapidly overshadowed. In this State (New York) he will fall many thousand votes behind both the American and Republican parties. This is conceded.—The so-styled Democratic party has been rapidly [illegible] of the business interest of the country, and [illegible] of the South to Fremont, so that the contest now is between the latter and MILLARD FILLMORE.

"With respect to other Northern States my information is specific and reliable. Mr. BUCHANAN will assuredly be defeated in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan. All these States will go for Fremont or Fillmore. Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire are almost undisputed Fremont States.

"Mr. Buchanan's weakness is the result of the utter distrust felt by the people of the North in the Pierce administration, and of the belief that his election would secure the continuance of that detested rule. I am stating facts, and do not feel disposed to argue upon them.

"The political aspect at the North renders it imperative upon every Union-loving citizen to ask himself: How is Fremont to be defeated? Every man in the South is deeply interested in this question. I therefore desire it to be understood by the South that if Mr. Fremont and the Republican party are to be defeated, it will be accomplished by the friends of Millard Fillmore. They are the men to whom the country must look for safety. Were Fillmore withdrawn, the Republicans would overwhelm Buchanan like a flood. The only hope of the South lies in Fillmore. It is he who is bearing the brunt of disunion and fanaticism at the North; who is breasting the tide of Abolition. And remember, I entreat you, that if the South deserts Fillmore, it will be impossible to prevent the North from engaging in that sectional contest from which we are striving to keep her free. In such a case, as certain as that the North can outvote the South, so certain will be the election of Fremont.

"We here are confident, with proper exertions, and fair encouragement from the South, of carrying New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware. Be it your duty to give him Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia, Louisiana and Georgia. We shall fight the enemy in every Northern State, regardless of everything but principle, and if we continue to gain as we are now doing, I shall not despair of Ohio and Indiana. But you, men of the South, must be with us—you must cheer us on, and give us practical aid, for, after all, we are fighting your battle."

Comment on the foregoing letter is scarcely necessary. It embodies facts which we have over and over again presented to the public, and which we perceive impress themselves upon intelligent and unbiassed minds in all directions. It is for the South to weigh them carefully and estimate their value. Such testimony, coming as it does from high sources, and spontaneously proffered on every side, should not be lightly rejected.—New Orleans Bee.

WILL THEY BE TRUE?

Not long ago, the Virginia Democracy, in Convention assembled, passed the following resolution:

"Under no political necessity whatever will we vote for any man for President who admits that the people of the Territories, through their Legislatures, shall decide for themselves whether slavery shall or shall not exist within their limits."

Mr. BUCHANAN, in endorsing the legislation of Congress on the Nebraska bill, says:

"This legislation is founded upon principle, as ancient free government itself, and in accordance with them, has simply declared that the people of a Territory, like those of a State, shall decide for themselves, whether slavery shall or shall not exist within their limits."

Mr. BUCHANAN has therefore brought himself under the operation of the prohibition of this resolution of the Virginia Democracy. Will that Democracy be true to themselves and refuse their support to the equatter sovereignty nominee of their party?—We pause for a reply.

ARRIVALS IN BALTIMORE.

The Baltimore Patriot, yesterday, says the Hon. Wm. A. Graham, Gov. Jno. M. Morehead, Hon. John H. Bryan, and Hon. Willie P. Mangum, of North Carolina; Judge Edward C. Bates and Gov. W. C. Lane, of Missouri; James Jackson, of Tennessee, have arrived at Baltimore, to attend the Whig Convention. The latter, is, says the Patriot; "one of the most venerable looking old gentlemen it has been our province to fall in with for some time. He is now upwards of 80 years of age, and prides himself on the fact that he never voted any other than the Whig ticket during his long life.

A large number of the Tennessee delegates have also arrived; they give the most cheering accounts of Mr. Fillmore's prospects in that State. Many of the Virginia and Georgia delegates are on the ground, and all appear in the best spirits.

A letter was received this morning from David Paul Brown, Esq., of Philadelphia, in which he states he will be among his Whig brethren to-morrow, as a delegate from Pennsylvania. He adds that he is entirely at the service of the Whig party, a party to which he is willing to devote his best service now and forever. Mr. Brown adds: "If I am to speak in Baltimore it will be on the subject of 'Our Flag and our Union.'"

CONSISTENT DEMOCRACY.

The Cincinnati platform declares that the general government has no power to "coin[illegible] internal improvement," yet when the President put his veto on the bill for removing obstructions from the mouth of the Mississippi, 19 of the Democrats present in the Senate, voted to carry the bill in despite of the President's veto, and it was so carried—yeas 31, nays 12. So with several other bills, the leaders, Bayard, Bright, Brown, Cass, Douglas, Pugh, Slidell, and Weller, among them. Twelve of the Democracy was the highest number that could at any time be mustered in support of the President!

TEAR 'EM OPEN.

After TYRE MAUPIN had delivered his able speech before the Fillmore and Donelson Club, on Friday last, one of our citizens, asking the name of the speaker, was answered: Tyre Maupin. The questioner, not hearing very distinctly, immediately said: By Jove, that's a mighty good name; TEAR 'EM OPEN,—indeed he does, TEAR 'EM OPEN.

MR. FILLMORE AND THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW.

It has been said, remarks the Richmond Whig, that Mr. Fillmore reluctantly affixed his signature to the Fugitive Slave Law, and that so violently opposed was he to it that he would never have executed it. To show how ridiculous all these charges are, we have only to call Democrats themselves to the stand, and make them testify to the truth as it is.

On the 3rd of November, 1850, the Washington correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, now Mr. Fillmore's virulent enemy, but then his extravagant eulogist, wrote as follows to that paper:

"A distinguished gentleman from the West an ex-Senator—called on Mr. Fillmore, and, after exchanging the usual courtesies, was asked by the President how the fugitive slave bill was received in the West. The reply was, that the law, although unpopular in his State, would doubtless be enforced. The remark was playfully made that, as the President was sworn to 'preserve, protect and defend the constitution and laws,' he (the ex-Senator) presumed Mr. Fillmore would execute this law. 'To the very letter, sir,' was the instant reply of the President, 'to the very letter, sir, whatever may be the consequences.' This reply was worthy the palmiest days of Old Hickory himself."

The Washington Union, then edited by Andrew Jackson Donelson, copying this a few days after, added the following:

"It gives us pleasure to state another anecdote about the President, for which we vouch, as we had it from two gentlemen of the West, with whom the President had just been in conversation yesterday morning. They were applying to him for the appointment of a gentleman as Attorney for the United States in one of the Western States, and, after directing the qualifications of the candidate, Mr. Fillmore remarked that there was another qualification which he considered indispensible.—HE SAID HE WAS DETERMINED TO EXECUTE FAITHFULLY THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW, AND WOULD APPOINT NO MAN TO OFFICE WHO MIGHT BE CALLED UPON TO ASSIST IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF THAT LAW, WHO WOULD NOT ZEALOUSLY CO-OPERATE IN ITS EXECUTION."

"On another occasion we understand, from good authority, that the President declared 'THAT THE LAW SHOULD BE EXECUTED AT EVERY HAZARD—EVEN AT THE RISK OF BLOOD.'

"This is the spirit alone in which the Union can be preserved."

The National Era, the Abolition organ at Washington, referring to these incidents, said:

"It seems, the infamous Fugitive law is a cherished measure of the present administration. A man's fitness for office is to be judged by his opinions of that law. In its superabundant zeal to secure the arrest of runaways, under a law which furnishes temptations, and secures immunity to kidnappers, the administration is determined to carry it out EVEN AT THE RISK OF BLOOD."

NEW BOOKS.

The Banished Son.—By Mrs CAROLINE LEE HENTZ—T. B. Peterson, No. 102 publisher, Chesnut street Philadelphia. We have always admired the writings of Mrs. HENTZ—and we do not hesitate to accord her the well earned reputation of being the purest and most refined female writer of the day. In every word she gives utterance to, there is a moral healthfulness, and an intensely pure and religious vein of sentiment. Purity of style seems to be the habitual tone of her mind, and she inculcates in all her writings morality and religion. She is a most fluent and elegant writer; her mind with the intuitive faculties of these endowed with great genius, grasps the truth at a glance, and her strong faith in the good and beautiful, gives her great power in truthfully delineating character. Her works are real gems of polite literature, and will grace even the library of the choicest standard works of the kind.

Copies of all her works are sent free of postage, to every part of the Union, on the receipt of the price thereof—by the pulisher.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD.

This is one of the best managed Railroads in the country. Every branch of it is conducted like clock work. The management of it is under the direction of gentlemen who have a thorough knowledge of their duties. The Conductors are obliging and attentive, whilst the Engineers are all experienced and cautious.

The Eating Houses on the route, especially those of Mr. STAUB, at Martinsburg, and Mr. KEARSLEY, at Fairmount, are kept in first rate style. The fare is always abundant, and prepared in the best order—so that there is no complaint.

THE BALTIMORE WHIG CONVENTION

The attendance has been most gratifying. It is made up of many of the most distinguished men of the country, and the masses have entered with an enthusiasm akin to that which animated them in 1840 and '44. Tens of thousands of young men will give their first vote to MILLARD FILLMORE, the "Model President," whom Senator DOUGLAS denominated "a God-send" in the era of the Compromise. We learn that the Northern members bring cheering tidings from New York and Pennsylvania.

WELLS J. HAWKS, ESQ.

This gentleman, who has been on a bridal tour, arrived home safely yesterday. Since his absence, he has escaped not only dangers by water, but by railroad, accounts of which have been published. His numerous friends will rejoice at his safe arrival at home, we are sure, as he is a favorite. His little son, who was long ill, looks well. We name these things because we know the high estimation in which he is held. His kindness in behalf of the needy, we, as well as others, know.

FEARS AND DAMSONS VS. DAMSELS.

The Free Press is a very great favorite of the Ladies. Last week we were kindly remembered by one; and now, we have to thank another fair friend for the evincement of her appreciation of us. The Free Press and its "Kit of Editors" make their best bow, and return their unfeigned thanks and acknowledgements, to their fair friend for the present of a Basket of fine good red damsons.

CONTINENTAL GUARDS.

We are pleased to learn that this fine company from Winchester, commanded by Capt. JACKSON, will visit Charlestown on Saturday next. They will turn out in full numbers, accompanied by a new Band. We trust our citizens will extend to the company all the attention possible. They will arrive here about 10 o'clock, A. M.

THEY GIVE IT UP.—Governor Brown, of Mississippi, says the Louisville Journal, expresses in a letter to the editor of the Holly Springs Democrat, his fears that Mr. Buchanan "will not get a single non-slaveholding State, except California, and actually acknowledges that the Democrats give up Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Delaware, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa.

TOURNAMENTS AT JORDANS' SPRINGS AND SHEPHERDSTOWN.

We are compelled to defer the account of the Tournaments at Jordan's Springs and Shepherdstown, Va., until next week.

POLITICS IN THE VALLEY OF VA.

The Richmond Whig contains a letter from a correspondent in the Valley, giving particulars of a Ratification meeting of the Democracy in Hampshire county, which was rather unique, to say the least. Among the speakers were Thos. Jefferson McKaig of Md., Isbell of Jefferson, and that same Charles James Faulkner of olden time Whig notoriety.

McKaig was so stupid as to leave his hearers in a quandary as to whose claims or what cause he had espoused, never naming either Fillmore or Buchanan. His style of argument going to prove that the Methodists were all "higher law people," the Catholics as good citizens as any body else, and that the Presbyterians also, were tinctured with free soilism, some of his Democratic friends became convinced he was doing more harm than could easily be repaired. We are told that the speech was so devoid of allusion to Buck and Breck, that many of the Democrats who didn't know that he was attempting to make a Democratic speech said to some of Fillmore's friends, "Just wait till Faulkner gets up to reply; he will skin him from head to foot!"

Mr. Faulkner is said to have made a good Fillmore speech. He said if his friends expected him to abuse Mr. Fillmore they would be much disappointed. For one he said that Mr Fillmore was truly a conservative and national man, and that Mr. F.'s supporters in Congress had stood by the National Democrats in their trying positions. His only regret was, that Mr. Fillmore would get votes enough in the South and North to cast the election into the House of Representatives, and it might result in the election of Fremont. His speech was throughout highly complimentary of Mr. Fillmore and his administration, so much so, indeed, that it offended the leaders of the democratic party, who denounced and repudiated him. Col. Isaac Parsons, who voted in the last Virginia Legislature against the law providing for the better security of the slaves, and who is the admitted leader of the Democratic party in Hampshire, on the morning after the speech was made, stated that he would never vote for Faulkner again, and that he would never vote for any man who did, and furthermore that Faulkner should never speak at a Democratic meeting again in the county. This same ojax of the Democracy in Hampshire, further asserted that he would rather vote for Fremont a thousand times than for Fillmore! Pass the name of Col. Isaac Parsons around. When slave owners declare in favor of Fremont over Fillmore we need not wonder that Greely supports him with his Abolition cohorts at the North.—Fredericksburg Herald.

FILLMORE IN NEW YORK.

The Grandest Demonstration of the day—"A Procession five miles long, and Composed of Seventy Thousand men!!!

The greatest and the grandest political demonstration, which ever came off in this country, was made by the friends of Fillmore in New York city on Friday night last. The New York papers are full of the most graphic and soul-stirring accounts of it. Even the Democratic and Black Republican papers represent it as the largest and most enthusiastic turn out which has ever been in any city, on any occasion, in this country. Speeches were made at the same time from four different stands, and the whole city seems to have come out in honor of our noble standard bearer. New York is safe for Fillmore by thirty thousand! Clear the track.

From the New York Express, which contains four or five columns describing this magnificent demonstration we take the following brief extract, not having space for more:

NEW YORK AROUSED.

"The great American meeting and procession on Friday night was the most imposing political demonstration that ever took place in this city.—It was no boy's meeting; it was no gathering of foreign hirelings. But earnest and true, whole-souled Americans turned out,—the whole city as one man,—to vindicate American principles, and do honor to the American candidates. We are very safe when we say that this demonstration called out two hundred thousand people. In Union Square and neighborhood there were at least seventy thousand persons, and the procession and spectators in the streets did not fall far short of 150,000 more. There were thousands of banners in the procession, which was over five miles in length, and the enthusiasm which greeted it on its line of march surpassed anything heretofore seen in Gotham. New York came out nobly for Fillmore and Donelson.

FILLMORE "A GOD SEND."

In July, 1852, Stephen A. Douglas made a speech in Richmond; in which he used the following language:

"We feel—aye, all of us feel—THAT FILLMORE WAS A REAL GOD SEND. It was the calming of the waters when the ship was shaking in the tempest."

In 1852, (says the Culpeper Observer,) STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS felt—aye, the whole conservative people felt—"that FILLMORE was a REAL GOD-SEND"—that his national and patriotic administration, coming as it did when the country was convulsed by sectional excitement and the Union was tottering under the aggressions of a wild and reckless fanaticism, under these circumstances his administration was 'a real God send,' for "it was calming of the waters when the ship was shaking in the tempest."

And now the storm is raging again, the mad spirit of sectionalism which had been quelled by Mr. Fillmore in again aroused is its ungovernable fury, and the ship of State is once again sinking in the tempest. To whom can we look, in this hour of extreme peril, with so much confidence, with so sure and steadfast a hope of deliverance, as MILLARD FILLMORE? He has been tried in just such an emergency, and the concurrent praises of his political friends and foes tell us that his strong arm and bold heart were equal to the dangers that then threatened the country—that his coming at a time so pregnant with peril "was a real God send, calming the troubled waters," speaking peace to the wind and waves of sectional strife, and rescuing from ruin "the ship that was sinking in the tempest."

WITHDRAWAL OF MR. BUCHANAN.

It is stated that Mr Breckinridge really made a proposition to Mr. Buchanan at the Wheatlands, yesterday, on the subject of his withdrawal. The plan is to get Mr. Donelson also to withdraw, and unite the Democratic and American tickets in the persons of Fillmore and Breckinridge. Such a ticket Mr. Breckinridge thinks will be likely to succeed against Fremont and Dayton. What is to be done about the two platforms does not appear. Nor have we learned what response Mr. Buchanan made to the proposition.

We clip the above from the Philadelphia Bulletin of yesterday, a journal generally so cautious in giving credence to mere rumors that we can scarcely imagine it has been wholly deceived with respect to what passed during the interview between Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Breckinridge. We question very much, however, whether the Sage of Wheatland would consent, even at the earnest solicitation of the most influential of his own Democratic friends, to withdraw in behalf of Mr. Fillmore. That the latter could be easily elected President, under such circumstances, no one who knows the strong grasp he holds upon the popular heart, could for a moment doubt. But we fear that Mr. Buchanan does not possess sufficient of the old Roman virtue of self-abnegation to induce him to accede to such a request.

"ON STANLEY, ON!"

Among the efforts made by the Democratic press to misrepresent the position of distinguished Whigs is one assigned to Hon. Edward Stanley [illegible] for the Cincinnati [illegible] news. Mr. Stanley is among the honored [illegible] of the Whigs of the "Old North State," and the Wilmington (N. C.) Herald is [illegible]

"Mr. Stanley now as ever is diametrically opposed to the principles of the Democratic party, and recollects too vividly Buchanan's connection with the infamous charge of bargain and corruption made against Mr. Clay to support him in opposition to Millard Fillmore, who is his choice of the three candidates now before the people. It is due to Mr. S. to say that he supports Mr. Fillmore because he believes him to be a patriot, and the man to quell the present agitated condition of the country, and not from any sympathy with the principles of the American party, to which he has never given his support."

FILLMORE IN NEW YORK.

The editor of the Brooklyn Evening Star, after taking a tour through New York State, gives the following as his impressions as to what Mr. Fillmore's chances in the Empire State will be:

On the whole, our brief tour has impressed us with a certainty of our success in this State. With 182,000 registered votes—with our Fillmore and Donelson Clubs—with the valuable assistance of the old line Whigs—with accessions of old line Democrats—with the Protestant associations, with State Officers, &c., if we cannot beat a faction, in the form of mock Republicanism and sham Democracy, then indeed is New York lost to all sense of patriotism, and the proud position which she occupies in the galaxy of stars. Good cheer, friends, New York is all right.

CORN. We wish to purchase a few barrels of Corn. Will some of our friends oblige us by sending some immediately.

FREE SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

In order to commemorate the victory achieved by the friends of the Free School System in Jefferson, a large number of lads of Shepherdstown, says the Register, had a bon-fire and torch-light procession on Monday evening week, the 8th inst., commanded by G. D. MCGLINCHY, Esq., and headed by drum and fife, paraded through our principal streets. They presented quite an imposing appearance, considering the brief space of time they had to make the necessary preparations. On their transparencies were inscribed the following appropriate mottoes: "Freedom and Free School;" "Education, like the Dews of Heaven, should be enjoyed by all;" "Education the Hope of our country;" "Schoolboys our future rulers—let them be educated." Many a gladdened countenance could be seen in procession, and their hearts seemed to overflow with gratitude at such an event—the continuance of Free Schools.

SINGULAR AFFAIR IN NEWPORT.

The Bridal and the Bier—Probable Suicide of a Bridegroom. Last evening, says the Cincinnati Times of the 12th inst., the pleasant town of Newport was somewhat startled from its quietness, by the intelligence of a probably successful attempt of a young gentleman, well known in that community, to destroy himself. The bare fact of a man committing suicide is in no wise noticeable in this country and at this time; but surrounding the present instance, there are circumstances that make it remarkable indeed. The wretched man was wedded on Tuesday evening last to a beautiful young lady, possessed of all the attractions and gentleness of nature that could endear life to one who had bound her destiny to his. He seemed as hopeful and happy as bridegrooms usually are, and to have found a new existence in the love of his gentle wife, until last evening, when he parted from her, and going to his own chamber swallowed a poisoned draught.

His rash attempt was not discovered for some hours after, when he was found lying upon his couch in an apparently dying state. The customary remedies were applied and every effort was made to restore the unfortunate man, but without any perceptible effect; and this morning it was not thought he could survive. His devoted bride is almost distracted, and in the midst of her delirium calls wildly upon her husband, whom she imagines already in his grave.

FILLMORE IN ALABAMA.—The Fillmore men of Alabama had a grand mass meeting at Selma, on the 21st ult., at which it is stated there were five thousand persons present, including two thousand ladies. The Alabama Journal says:

AGRICULTURAL ADDRESS AND ELECTION.

At a meeting of the citizens of Jefferson County, convened at the Court house, on Monday the 1st instant, Col. GEORGE SHEPHERD, being called to the chair, was unanimously elected President, and Theodore N Davisson, Esq. Agent of the Va. State Agricultural Society, then addressed the meeting in a highly instructive, and entertaining manner. The speaker showed conclusively what the society was doing to develop the Agricultural resources and Mechanical skill of Virginia, and what was the end desired to be. The address being over, Mr. Davisson then presented a subscription, soliciting subscribers to the Virginia State Agricultural Society, but we are sorry to say, met with very limited success.

Immediately after the meeting, a poll was opened for the election of a delegate from Jefferson County, to represent the interests of said county in the Assembly of the State Agricultural Association. The election resulted in the unanimous selection of Col. Braxton Davenport as the Delegate. BRAXTON DAVENPORT.

Imperishable Pictures on Glass.

HAPE & KUHN, Ambrotype Artists of Baltimore, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Charlestown, that they have taken rooms at the Odd Fellows' Hall where they are prepared to furnish in the highest style of the art the now popular and incomparable Ambrotype. These pictures are made on glass and protected by a coating of varnish on both sides, rendering them to the impervious action of water or acids of any kind. They do not require cases, but present everything in its true position; and being without the glare of the Daguerreotype, may be seen in any light. The Ambrotype possesses many beauties not observable in the Daguerreotype.

ABROTYPES!

OR

Imperishable Pictures on Glass.

HAPE & KUHN, Ambrotype Artists of Baltimore, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Charlestown, that they have taken rooms at the Odd Fellows' Hall where they are prepared to furnish in the highest style of the art the now popular and incomparable Ambrotype. These pictures are made on glass and protected by a coating of varnish on both sides, rendering them to the impervious action of water or acids of any kind. They do not require cases, but present everything in its true position; and being without the glare of the Daguerreotype, may be seen in any light. The Ambrotype possesses many beauties not observable in the Daguerreotype.

AYER'S PILLS,

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female Complaints, &c. &c. Indeed, very few are the diseases to which a Vegetable Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails, besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the graveyard all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health; and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not authenticated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the many eminent gentlemen who have testified in favor of these

NEW YORK AND TENNESSEE.

Air—"Lucy Neal."

With Fillmore for our President,
Our people all will be Restored to peace and happiness
And true prosperity.

CHORUS.

New York and Tennessee—
New York and Tennessee—
Each give a man to save the land,
And cherish liberty.

And you who love the Union,
Your votes for Fillmore throw;
For him and Jolly Donelson
Each patriot will go

New York and Tennessee, &c.

When agitation stalked abroad,
Disunionists waxed warm,
Till Providence called Fillmore out,
Who steered us clear from harm.

New York and Tennessee, &c.

And now amidst an hideous rent,
Our glorious land is twain,
We want the same tried pilot in,
To steer us clear again.

New York and Tennessee, &c.

Who shall we have for President from
And Donelson to Henry?
Take one firm stand to save your land,
And never mind your party.

New York and Tennessee, &c.

Let Bucks run wild on platforms,
Let Woolly Horses neigh;
New York and Tennessee are surely
Bound to win the day.

New York and Tennessee, &c.

THE UNION IS SAFE!

A Western poet, says the Knickerbocker, composed the following in just an hour by a Connecticut clock. There can be no danger while there is so much 'sperit' in the country:

What! bust this glorious Union up,
An' go to drawin' triggers,
Just for a thundering parcel of Emancipated niggers!
The eagle of Amerikky,
That flu across the seas,
An' threwed the bluddy British lion
Kes-slump upon his knees;
Say, shall we send him him from him,
Wun wing wun way, an' wun tuther,
An' every seppetit pin-feather
A flyin' at the other?
It can't be did!

☞ Said the second wife of the witty Judge S——in a reproachful way as the horse was drawing them up the hill, 'My father always walks up the hills.'

'So did my first wife,' was the reply.

'There,' said Mrs ——; giving him some trifle, 'that is in return for your abuse.'

'Yes,' said he, 'you are like the sandal tree, that sheds its sweetness on the axe that cuts it down'

'Then you intend to kill me? When do you intend to do it?'

'Not till you are good: I think you can't have a better security for your life

☞ A little Galveston boy only eight years old, now on a visit abroad, and writing home to his mother says

'If you do not receive this letter, tell father that I wrote anyhow, for I want him to know that I keep my promise.'

This is like Pat, who in writing to his better half, said:

'When you call at the post office for this, if the postmaster tells you it is not there, tell him he lies, the baste, for sure Biddy, he I not writing at this present moment entirely?'

A SMART GIRL.

A fellow was wending his way a short time time ago, through some narrow passage when he met a pretty, modest girl. 'Pray, my dear,' said he, 'What do you call this passage?' 'Balaam's passage,' replied the girl. 'Ah! then' continued the puppy. 'I am like Balaam—stopped by an angel' 'And I,' rejoined the girl, as she pushed past him, 'am like the angel—stopped by an ass!'

☞ A little boy was sent up stairs by his mother to get a satchel that hung behind the wardrobe The boy returned without the required article.

'Couldn't you find it?' asked the mother.

'Yes, I saw it there, but—'

'Couldn't you reach it?'

'Why didn't you get it, then?'

'Because the old musket stood close by it,' said the boy, shaking his head knowingly, 'and I was afraid it would snap at me.'

☞ Two Dutchmen travelling together, took up camp at night. Being much wearied by the fatigue of the day, they soon fell asleep. After they had slept for some time, one of them was awakened by a thunder storm He got up in a fright and called upon his companion to arise, as the day of judgment had come 'Lie town! lie town, you fool!' says the other, 'de you tink de day of shudgment vould come in de night!'

☞ A lady of wealth put her daughter, who had been pampered by indolence, under a governess. Upon calling to enquire how her daughter progressed with her studies, she was told "not very well."

'Why, what is the reason?'

'She wants capacity.'

'Well, you know I don't regard expense; you must purchase her one immediately.'

☞ 'Ah, Sam, so you have been in trouble eh?'

'Yes, Jem, yes!'

'Well, well, cheer up, man; adversity tries us, and shows up our better qualities.'

'Ah, but adversity don't try me; it was a county judge, and he showed up my worst qualities.'

The husband of a beautiful wife, upon returning home one day, was met by one of his acquaintance who was leaving his house, and exclaimed, 'Ya, Mr. S——, I have been—he's such a nice man—he kissed us all round, and mother too!

☞ One of the best hits ever made on the impropriety in a lady's dress, was made by Talleyrand During the Revolution, when asked by a lady his opinion of her dress, he replied, 'It began to late and ended too soon.'

☞ A Yankee describing an opponent, said,—'I tell you what, sir, that man don't amount to a sum in arithmetic—add him up and there is nothing to carry!'

☞ People fearful of explosion should not do two things—take passage in a Mississippi steamer, or walk into a tidy woman's parlor with dirty boots on.

☞ It is decidedly provoking to have a fly light on your nose just as the daguerreotypist pulls out his watch and says, 'Now!'

☞ Law is like prussic acid—a dangerous remedy, and the smallest dose is generally sufficient.

☞ Beware how you address yourself in anger to any one An angry word is like a letter put into the post—once despatched, it is impossible to recall it.

To Real Estate Owners,

Real Estate Agency Office, Hagerstown, Md. 1856.

THE undersigned having established a Land Agency Office in Hagerstown, is prepared to act as Agent for persons having Farms for sale in the State of Virginia There are enquiries made daily by both farmers of this and the adjoining State of Pennsylvania, about Virginia land. Hagerstown is situated in a densely populated and flourishing Valley, and is a point which the Pennsylvanians use to reach the Valley of Virginia, and will eventually become an important place for persons desiring to dispose of Real Estate.

By sending a full description of the property, and the amount for which you want it advertised, it will be inserted in a paper of large circulation among the Agricultural community.

In case there is no sale made by me, there will be no charge except for the advertisement.

MEDICAL, HOUSE,

No. 16 SOUTH FREDERICK ST.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Established in order to afford the afflicted sound and scientific medical aid, and for the suppression of Quackery.

DOCTOR SMITH, THE ONLY REGULARLY EDUCATED PHYSICIAN ADVERTISING, has for many years devoted his whole attention to the treatment of Private Complaints, in all their varied and complicated forms. His great success in those long standing and difficult cases, such as were formerly considered incurable is sufficient to commend him to the public as worthy of the extensive patronage which he has received. Within the last eight years Dr. S. has treated more than 2,500 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages: a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all the other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, and not a single case is known where his directions were strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; therefore, persons afflicted with diseases of the above nature, "no matter how difficult or long standing the case may be," would do well to call on Dr. Smith, at his office, No 16 South Frederick street.

His medicines are free from Mercury, and all mineral poisons; put up in neat and compact form, and may be taken in a public or private house, or while travelling, without exposure or hindrance from business, and, except in cases of without a change in diet, are as pleasant to take as water.

Let the unfortunate bear in mind, when affliction overtakes him, that no time should be lost in making application to a competent physician, as they would not only obtain relief from pain, avoid mortification through exposure, and elude great constitutional injury, but enable their medical assistant to be more moderate in his charges than he could justly be where symptoms have become confirmed or the disease more widely diffused. The rapid advance of this truly terrifying disease, is sufficient to alarm the boldest heart. When ulceration and discolored blotches, with racking pains, betray to the unhappy victim the deadly poison preying upon his vitals, then, "and not till then," do many awake to a full sense of their danger.

YOUNG MEN

And others, afflicted with seminal debility, "whether originating from a certain destructive habit," or from any other cause, with the train of bodily and mental evils which follow, when neglected, should make an early application, with the full assurance that they can be speedily restored to sound health and firm vigor.—This is one of the greatest evils that can befall man, and has doomed thousands of the human race to antipaly graves, blasted the brilliant hopes of parents and filled in the bloom of youth, the noble sculpture of many an aspiring youth. Dyspepsia, weakness of the back, eyes and limbs, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, forgetfulness, &c. &c., are symptoms of this disease.

Patients can be cured at home by addressing a letter to Dr. Smith, describing symptoms, and receive medicine, securely packed from observation, forwarded by express or otherwise, to any part of the country.

☞ No letter will be answered unless they contain a remittance or postage stamp.

N. B. Persons afflicted with any of the above complaints will do well to avoid boasting impostors, whether foreign or native, as also the numerous specifics advertised as a certain cure for any and every disease. These preparations are put up to sell, but not cure, and often do much more harm than good, therefore avoid them.—A word to the wise is sufficient.

Address, post-paid, DR J. B. SMITH,
Feb. 14, 1856. No. 16 South Frederick street, Baltimore, Md.

TIN AND SHEET IRON Establishment,

Berryville, Clark County, Virginia.

THE undersigned having purchased the entire STOCK, IMPLEMENTS, &c., of the shop recently in the occupancy of Mr. Chorley, begs leave to inform the citizens of Berryville and the County generally, that he is prepared to execute every order in the TIN and SHEET-IRON business.

He has on hand a new stock of MATERIALS, and will furnish any article desired by merchants, farmers, or house-keepers, at the shortest notice.

He is also prepared to put on at a few days notice ROOFING & SPOUTING—the material either furnished by himself or those desiring the work.

Tin Ware.

I have now manufactured a very large and general assortment of TIN-WARE of the best quality, which I will sell at my establishment in Berryville, at low prices for cash or in exchange for Cotton Rags, Wool, Sheep Skins, Hides, Beeswax, Bacon, Country Hard Soap, &c.

Sheet Iron-Ware.

Coal-Scuttles, Ash-Hodes, Fire-Carriers, Fire-Screens, Dripping Pans, &c

Brass Ware.

Preserving Kettles, of all sizes.

☞ Old Brass, Copper, Pewter & Lead taken in exchange for Tin Ware

I have purchased the Right of Patent for Clarke County, of Jesse F. Dayton's much invented and patented Fire Place and Chimney or Flue. Those wishing an article of the kind or work of the above description would do well to call upon me.

He hopes by his experience in the business, close attention to the wants of his customers and an unceasing effort to please, he may merit the patronage of the public, which is respectfully solicited.

MR J H EASTERDAY, Sir:—Having taken one of Snyder's Patent Fire Place, for the previous Stoves Chimneys I can truthfully say that it has prevented mine from smoking, it has added much comfort and ornament to the room in which it is placed. I unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are troubled with such annoyances.

Truly yours, THOMAS E GOLDE

JEFFERSON MACHINE SHOP Again in Motion.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has purchased the large and commodious MACHINE SHOPS lately occupied by Zimmerman & Co., in Charlestown, and intends to carry on there the business of REPAIRING and MAKING MACHINES, to order, in its various branches. He is determined to spare no effort to have his work done in the best and most substantial manner, and at prices a little more favorable than heretofore charged at this shop

Large outlays are required in fitting up for and carrying on this business, the undersigned hopes in consideration of his limited means, that customers will not think his terms hard in being Cash, unless there is a previous contract.

He also has on hand a superior article of WHEAT CLEANERS and CLOVER MACHINES, which will be disposed of on reasonable terms Persons favoring us with their custom are requested to apply early, so that a sufficient force may be employed to accommodate all in good season. First come, first served.

MISSOURI HOTEL,

Corner Main and Morgan streets, (only two squares from the Packet Landing.)

SAINT LOUIS, MO.

Baggage carried to and from the House free of charge.

F. W. STEPHENSON, Proprietor.

Price, $1,50 per day. Persons taking board by the week or month, will be charged at moderate rates.

AN Agent will be upon each Boat and Train, to collect Checks for Baggage and at the Landing and Depot to point out and convey passengers to the House, which has just been thoroughly repaired and painted throughout, and furnished in the neatest manner.

The Chambers and Parlors are large and pleasant, and well suited for families, while a large addition of fine and handsome Sleeping Apartments has been made, to meet the wants of the traveling public in general.

The Missouri Hotel is but two squares from the Packet and Steamboat Landing and Railroad Depot—is adjacent to the Wholesale Stores on Main street, and situated in a most convenient part of the city.

The patronage of my friends and the public generally is respectfully solicited

F. W. STEPHENSON.
