WISH to dispose of a valuable tract of military land in the state of Ken. tucky, a faithful description of which is subjoined. The tract contains 4,500 acres, and lies in Hopkins county, about two miles from Pond River. which is navigable to its mouth, about fourteen from Green River, which is navigable to the Ohio, and forty miles from the Red Banks on the Ohio .--The soil is excellent for corn, wheat, tobacco, hemp, flax, and cotton; the whole of it finely timbered. The advantages of its situation are numerous and great ; it affords the best of ranges for horses and cattle, and hundreds of hogs are yearly sent to market from the mast, without any feeding at all :--- and attending this situation, is that there are three or four large salt licks on it, which if properly explored and examined, might become a source of immense wealth. I will either sell the whole tract together or divide it into parcels to suit purchasers, at the moderate price of two dollars per acre, one third of the money to be paid down, and the balance at two annual instalments,-Should a number of persons in a neighborhood or county turn their attention to the above tract, it would be advisable in them to send an agent in whom they could confide to view the premises. As so many frauds have been practised in the western country respecting land transactions, it may be necessary, and at least satisfactory, to say something about the title. This I can assure any person inclinable to purchase, is indisputable : the land being Rock's Mill. Also all that part of the every case. We are not authorised to communicate the author-"but if Mr. Pickering, in person, or by letter, should demand" of us, "the source from which it flowed," we "are at liberty to surrender" his "name; and he pledges" himself "to prove the authenticity of the Extract."

We hand over the following sentiments to the disgust and contempt of the public. The calumnies, which they breathe against the policy of Jefferson and Madison, and the illiberal construction which they put upon their measures, are eminently worthy of the papal head of the Essex Junto.

Its creed is such a one, as an Englishman or an English Emissary, would profess. It harps upon the same strings as they do-charging the republicans with a hatred for England, and love for France-and screening the former from our resentment by paliating her wrongs, and representing her as our shield against the power of France! The whole burthen of the song is, "a close friendship," alias alliance, with England.
