FROM THE DEMOCRATIC PRESS.

But it would seem by the modern prac- | ing. tice of friends, that it is only to a government that would oppress and persecute them, that they would yield obedience and submission, for certain it is, that a great proportion of them in the eastern part of this state cannot relinquish their attachment to Great Britain; where their forefathers suffered

fect liberty of conscience. Monstrous | tions from the country will be attended | Ingratitude! If any people upon the earth are called upon for gratitude, it is this people for the great and inestimable privileges they have enjoyed under a government, the establishment of which, so many of them zealously opposed, for it is a well known fact, that through the Revolutionary War, they as individuals pretty generally opposed the measures of this country, though not altogether openly, yet with all their secret influence and most zealous wishes. Though I was young at that time, I perfectly well remember a great deal of exultation and secret rejoicing at the many temporary disasters our country. met with. Washington was a rebel and every thing that was base and wicked, and many pious ejaculations were uttered for his overthrow, yet notwithstanding all this, after the close of those ardous struggles, they were, to participation of the rights of suffrage and all other privileges, religious and civil, in common with their fellow citizens. How far they were justified in their opposition to the revolution I shall not pretend to decide. It will, however, I think admit of some excuse, as they adhered to the then lawful government and no calculations could be made when, or how, the contest would terminate, but ending as it did in so perfect a government, there was no excuse afterwards, and the Friends above all people ought to be quiet, not only as being consistent with their religious profession, but as a debt of gratitude they owe to their country. But, say they, we are for our country, we are true "Washingtonians." This is a rare metamorphosis indeed; by which all the old tories in the U. States have become "Washingtonians." But I remember well that with these selfstyled "Washingtonians" he was "Rebel, Rebel, Rebel," nearly as long as he lived : but now for sooth he is the father of his country and they are his only followers. I however wish to be understood that I do not speak of the" Friends in their collective capacity as a 1 society; but as individuals, for in justice to the society, and it is pleasing for me, as a member, to remark that as a society, and in their discipline they know no politics; nor do I mean to be understood, that it is expected now of the friends to do violence to their consciences in the support of war measures; all that is expected of them is to be still, and not in their zeal to bear a testimony against the War, to stand so straight as to leap the other way like the Indian's tree, or in other words to lean towards the enemy.

great mistake in opposing the wise and peaceable plans of Thomas Jefferson, who had evidently designed to keep the country out of war altogether, and which would most inevitably have been crowned with success if the government had not been driven from that peaceable ground and forced into a war, or unlimited submission by the opposition of our own citizens, in which I was sorry to see Friends act so conspicuous a part, and by their wealth and influence greatly contributed towards. bringing on the present war. Letter from Captain Z. Taylor, commanding Fort Harrison, Indiana territory, to Gen. Harrison.

Fort Harrison, Sept. 10. DEAR SIR-On I hursday evening the 3d inst. after ratreat beating, four guns were heard to fire in the direction where two young men (citizens who resided here) were making hav, about 400, yards distance from the Fort. I was immediately impressed with an idea that they were killed by the Indians, as the Miamies or Weas had that day informed me that the Prophet's party would soon be here for the purpose of commencing hostilities: and that they had been directed to leave this place, which they were about to do. I did not think it prudent to send out at that late hour of the night to see what had become of them; and their not coming in convinced me that I was right in my conjecture. I waited until 8 o'clock next morning, when I sent out a corporal with a small party to find them, if it could be done without running too much risk of being drawn into an ambuscade. He soon sent back to inform me, that he had found themboth killed, and wished to know my further orders; I sent the cart and oxen, had them brought in and buried; they had been each shot with two balls, scalped and cut in the most shocking manner. Late in the evening of the 4th inst. old Joseph Lenar and between 30 and 40 Indians arrived from the Prophet's Town, with a white flag; among whom were about ten women, and the men were composed of chiefs of the different tribes that compose the Prophet's party. A Shawanoe man, that spoke good English, informed me that old Lenar intended to speak to me next morning, and try to get something | house as soon as directed, or he would this place, as well as my situation, to eat. At retreat beating I examined not have been hurt-and although the which account I attempted to send by the men's arms, and found them all in barracks were several times in a blaze, water, but the two men whom I disgood order, and completed their car- and an immense quantity of fire against patched in a canoe after night, found tridges to 16 rounds per man. From the Canandaigua Repository Sept. 23.

We were yesterday favored with a copy of the following British Regulation of the civil government of the territory of Michigan. WHEREAS the territory of Michigan was, on the sixteenth day of Aug. one thousand eight hundred & twelve, ceded by capitulation to the arms of his Britannic majesty; and the American flag removed and the British flag substituted on the same day at noon; and whereas on the same day a proclamation was issued by Isaac Brock, esq. maj. gen. commanding his majesty's forces in the province of Upper Canada, &c. &c. &c. And the said proclamation, among other things, announces to all the inhabitants of the said territory, that " wishing to give an early proof of the moderation and justice of the British government, the American laws heretofore in existence shall continue in force until his majesty's pleasure he known, or so long as the peace and safety of the said territory will admit thereof." And whereas the said laws cannot be carried into execution according to the effect and intention so announced to the inhabitants, without providing for the existence and continuance of the proper civil officers, for the execution of the same, and without the necessary courts and other judicial authorities for the administration of justice among the said inhabitants .-Now therefore be it known, that I, the undersigned, Henry Proctor, colonel in the military forces of his Britannic majesty, now commanding in the territory of Michigan, do make and establish, for the time being, the following regulations for the civil administration of the said territory :

1st. The civil officers, remaining in the country, shall continue to exercise the respective functions appertaining to their offices, without any new commissions for the same, and those offices which are suspended by the departure from the country of those holding them, shall be supplied as hereinafter. provided.

2d. The civil executive powers shall be exercised by a civil governor. The civil governor shall appoint to all civil offices, which are or shall be vacant, and shall take care that the laws be fauthfully executed.

3d. Courts of justice shall be held as usual.

4th. Legislative provisions need not be adopted from the laws of any of the American states. A majority shall not be necessary when any of the offices are vacant. The secretary shall make two copies of all executive proceedings and legislative regulations, one of which shall be transmitted for the use hands high. The above reward will of the British government, and the other shall be retained.

5th. The expences of the civil administration shall be defrayed quarterly by the proper officer in the military department, paying the lawful amount thereof to the civil treasurer. The duties, customs and revenues accruing according to the laws of the U. States, shall be paid quarterly by the collectors to the proper officer in the military department. The internal duties | and revenues accruing to the territory of Michigan, shall be paid to the proper treasurers thereof.

6th. The undersigned will act as ci? vil governor of the territory of Michigan for the time being. Augustus B. Woodward, chief justice of the said territory, is appointed secretary. The officers of register and receiver of the land office and post master are superceded, res rving a full right to adjust all anterior concerns. All officers in the Indian department are superceded. FOR THE REPOSITORY.

HAVING understood that the Staunton Convention of Delegates, after much ponderous consideration and puzzling hesitation, had pitched upon one Rufus as a fit person to be their KING; and having seen their address, which contains but nine flimsy lines upon the important national subject of impressment, I take the liberty to recommend to you the publication of the subjoined resolutions with a cotemporary article from a federal paper printed at Trenton. They will furnish your readers with a full specimen of federal

In 1806, Rufus King and other federalists, affected to be amazingly wroth at the searching of our vessels, and the impressment of "our citizens;" and because our government did not go to war immediately upon the " MURDER" of Pierce, they charged it with " a gross and criminal neglect of the highest duties," and denounced the administration as " not entitled to the confidence of a brave and free people.'
