

GENERAL WILKINSON.

The veteran Wilkinson having by this time reached the head quarters of the army, where he ought to have been at first, the following effusion, may bear a republication; and with this additional circumstance to give it interest—it was written by the late Lieut. Col. John Chrystie, who distinguished himself at Queenstown, and lately died at Fort George of a dysentery.

THE VETERAN.

Comrades, ever brave and free, In our songs and revelry, Let WILKINSON remember'd be, And toasted round with martial glee.

In our country's fateful hour, When darkly did oppression lower, And virtue almost knelt to power, Then he fought for liberty.

Then with patriot feeling warm, He first assay'd his youthful arm, And braving out the battle storm, Taught tyrants virtue will be free.

Yes, through war's ordeal flame, He fought his way to early fame, And won the hero's deathless name, At Saratoga gallantly.*

And since when on our wild frontier, The forest wrung with war whoop drear, That struck the startled sentry's ear, And rous'd and rous'd our soldiery.

When rifle shot and hatchet gleam, And midnight detestation flame, And butcher'd freemen's dying scream, Told Indians rush'd on rapidly.

His word it was our leading star, His voice the flying herald afar, And rolling back the waves of war, And turn'd to coward clammy.

Comrades, brothers, brave and free, When we meet on battle day, May WILKINSON our leader be, And may that day come speedily.

*The day is come, but two of those in whose souls Wilkinson felt the response of noble feeling—Pike and Chrystie, have gone to the mansions of the blessed.

ONTARIO FLEET.

The Ontario fleet, under Com. Chauncey, it appears, has been diminished by the loss of the following vessels viz: Taken and destroyed by the British. Schr. Julia, Trent, 3 guns, sunk. —Growler, Dacon, 5 guns, captured. —Sunk in a Gale. —Scourge, Osgood, 8 guns. —Hamilton, Winter, 9 guns, and the two following have been condemned, unfit for service: —Schr. Fair American, Chauncey, 2 guns. —Pert, Adams, 3 guns.

Total loss and decrease, 30 guns, 5 lieutenant-commandants and 120 seamen, 70 of them drowned. The British have gained only the Growler, of 1 long 32 and 4 long 4's and her crew. They are all schooners, and the two which fell into the hands of the enemy, and the two which were condemned, are lost by their bad sailing, which rendered them cumbersome and disadvantageous to the fleet. The loss of the brave crews of the former is a subject of regret—the crews and armaments of the latter are still in service.

American Squadron on Lake Ontario. General Pike, 24 long 24 pounders on her gun deck, 3 on her poop and forecabin. Com. Chauncey, Capt. Sinclair, Madison, 24, principally carronades, Capt. Crane, 24, principally carronades, Capt. Conquest, 1 32, and 1 6 pounder; Asp, Ontario, each mounting long guns, 32's, 24's or 18 pounders; Lady of the Lake, a beautiful pilot boat built schooner, sails uncommonly fast, and carries two brass pieces.—The squadron is completely manned.

In Sackett's Harbor, 5th Aug. 1813.—The Raven, mounting two long guns; the duke of Gloucester, and Lady Murray, prizes; the former undergoing repairs, to mount 4 heavy guns; the latter has been converted into an Hospital ship. A brig is on the stocks, and will be launched in a fortnight, to mount 18 or 20 guns. British force.—Wolf, 4 18 pound carronades, 2 long 24's, 2 long 18's, 18 32 pound carronades; Royal George, 2 long 12's, 20 24 pound carronades; Earl Mowbray, 2 long 9's, 16 18 pound carronades; a new brig just launched, mounting 14 or 16 guns; schr. Prince Regent, 2 long 6's, 10 12 pound carronades; Simcoe, 10 carronades; Tarento, 6 carronades; and 5 gun boats.

Note.—We have excluded from the American list all the schooners taken, destroyed, sunk, or condemned, and find the whole number of guns to be 93; the whole number of guns mounted by the British is 103; giving the British a superiority of 10 guns, or 10 per cent.—[D. Press Aurora.

ZANESVILLE, Aug. 18.

Gen. Harrison and Maj. Croghan. A much interest has been taken by the public in the transactions at Lower Sandusky and camp Seneca, relative to the order for evacuating Fort Stephenson, and the arrest of major Croghan previous to his gallant defence of that post; and as the accounts which have been published of those transactions have inclined the public to censure the conduct of general Harrison, we deem it important to throw whatever light we can upon the subject.

In conversation had, with an officer direct from the army, we have received the following statement:—That general Harrison's spies informed him that a large British and Indian force, (probably amounting to 5000) were approaching, with artillery &c. That at this same time there were but about 600 troops at camp Seneca, the other regiments not having reached that place.—It was deemed prudent to order in maj. Croghan, and prepare for a retreat.—Such an order was given, but at the time the major received it, he considered himself completely surrounded, and that it would be impossible to escape. He then wrote a bullying letter, which he expected would fall into the hands of the enemy, stating that he had men enough, provisions enough, and ammunition sufficient, to defend against any force; and d—n him if he would leave the fort. This letter reached the general, in consequence of which he was arrested. About this time the enemy dispersed, and major Croghan had an opportunity of going to head quarters, where after a short explanation, his sword was returned to him, and he returned, resumed the command, made his preparations, and finally succeeded in repelling the enemy in the glorious manner before stated.

We have given the above as we received it, without variation or comment.

TO THE PUBLIC.

A certain John Mullinex, of this county, has evily and maliciously defamed the character of my wife Rosanna, in consequence whereof I commenced a suit in the county court of Jefferson, not with a view to recover damages, particularly, but to remove the stigma attached to the name of the character of my wife; the defendant John Mullinex, self convicted of the slanderous attempt, has given the following libel executed in the presence of William P. Flood and Thomas Endley, gentlemen of respectability. I deem it unnecessary to make any further comment respecting this subject; the libel will speak for itself.

JAMES MCLOY.

Having some time ago expressed myself in terms disrespectful of Mrs. McCloy, the wife of James McCloy, in the presence of several persons; I have since found I was mistaken in my opinion of Mrs. McCloy, and am now willing to declare that my assertions were without foundation, and am sorry for what has passed.

JOHN McMULLEN.

Signed in the presence of WM. P. FLOOD, THOMAS ENDLEY. August 24, 1813.

A BYE LAW

Concerning the Market, and the duties of the Clerk of the Market of the town of Charlestown. Sec. 1. Do it enacted and declared by the Trustees of Charlestown, that it shall not be lawful for any person or persons, on any market day, for that purpose, set apart by the trustees of said town, to buy or sell any article of marketing at any other place within the said town, than the market place, until after 9 o'clock in the morning of each market day.—And if any person or persons do or shall sell or buy any article of marketing at any other place within the said town, other than the market house, before the hour aforesaid on a market day, such person or persons so offending shall each forfeit and pay ONE DOLLAR for every such offence, to be recovered with costs before any magistrate of Jefferson County, and be applied by the said trustees to the use of the said town.

Sec. 2. And it is further enacted and declared, that if any person or persons attending the market, shall at any time, there attempt to obtain any article of marketing by using force, or by overbidding any other person, for the same, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay ONE DOLLAR for every such offence, to be recovered and applied as aforesaid—provided nevertheless, that this section, shall not be construed as to prohibit the giving the price asked for any article of marketing.

Sec. 3. And it is further enacted and declared, that it shall be the duty of the clerk of the market, to attend on each market day, at the market house, during the continuance of the market, and to inspect all kinds of provisions brought there for sale—and if upon such inspection, any shall be found unsound, impure or unwholesome, the said clerk shall seize and condemn the same—provided nevertheless, that any person or persons, owning such provisions so condemned as aforesaid, feeling aggrieved by the judgement of said clerk, may on the same day of the condemnation of such provisions by the said clerk, but not afterwards apply to any magistrate of Jefferson County for a warrant to summon the said clerk before him to answer the complaint of such owner, which warrant any magistrate in the said County of Jefferson is hereby authorized and required to grant—and if upon hearing the parties, such magistrate shall be satisfied that the condemnation by the clerk was unjust he shall order the provisions to be restored, and in default of the clerk to restore them, the magistrate shall give judgment against him for the value thereof with a fine of one dollar more over if it shall appear to the magistrate that fraud was intended on the part of the said clerk towards the owner of such provision, the magistrate shall also give judgment against the said clerk for a sum not less than two dollars, nor more than ten dollars, to be applied by the said trustees to the uses of the said town aforesaid.—But if the magistrate shall decide that the seizure and condemnation by the said clerk was just and proper, the warrant shall be dismissed with costs.

Sec. 4. And it is further enacted and declared that the clerk of the market shall inspect the weight of butter brought to market in rolls or prints, and if it shall appear that any rolls or prints of butter, are less in weight than what the owner or vender intends to pass them for—with an intention of fraud, it shall be lawful for the said clerk, to seize the said rolls or prints of butter, and condemn it to the use of the said town, provided nevertheless, that such seizure and condemnation of the said clerk may have the same effect as in section the third—and the said clerk be subjected to the same penalties for attempts at fraud.

Sec. 5. And it is further enacted, that it shall be the duty of the clerk of the market to keep the marketplace clean and in good order, under penalty of a fine of ONE DOLLAR for every failure of such duty, to be recovered and applied as aforesaid.

Sec. 6. And it is further enacted and declared, that no butcher or fleshier shall purchase to sell in the limits of the said town on any market day, before nine o'clock in the morning under a penalty not less than ONE NOR MORE THAN FIVE DOLLARS to be recovered and applied as aforesaid.

Sec. 7. And it is further enacted and declared, that it shall be the duty of the clerk of the market, to keep a fair and accurate account of all the sales of his office as clerk of the market—of all the articles so sold, and to certify the same to the board of trustees, when required, and pay the proceeds of such sales at the time of rendering such account, and on failure thereof, the said clerk shall forfeit a sum not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars for each failure to account and as applied as aforesaid.

Sec. 8. And it is further enacted and declared, that the clerk of the market shall open the market on every market day by proclaiming aloud "The market is open," which proclamation shall be made at such time of the morning as the Trustees shall from time to time appoint.—And if any person or persons, shall buy or sell any article of marketing on the market day, before such proclamation shall be made, such buyer or seller of such person or persons so offending, or indirectly agreeing to buy or sell, shall for every such offence

INTERMENT

OF THE REMAINS OF THE NAVAL HEROES, LAWRENCE AND LUDLOW. FROM THE SALEM REGISTER. On Monday last, the sacred remains of Capt. James Lawrence and Lieut. Augustus C. Ludlow, who fell a sacrifice to their country's cause on board the late U. S. frigate Chesapeake, were committed to the earth with honors, to the silent mansion of the dead.—The day was unclouded, and, as if no incident should be wanting to cloud the mind with melancholy and woe, the wind blew from the same direction and the sea presented the same unruffled surface as was exhibited to our anxious view, when on the memorable first day of June, we saw the immortal Lawrence proudly conducting his ship to action. Early in the morning, almost every vessel in the harbor and at the wharves, and all the flag staffs in Town, wore the American ensign at half mast, and many flags were displayed in the street where the procession formed.—The brig Henry, containing the precious relics, clad in sable, lay at anchor in the harbor. At half past 12 o'clock, they were placed in barges and preceded by a long procession of boats filled with seamen uniformed in blue jackets and trowsers, with a blue ribbon on their hats, bearing the motto of "Free trade, and sailor's rights," were rowed by minute strokes to the end of India wharf, where the hearsees were ready to receive them. From the time the boats left the brig until the bodies were landed, the U. S. brig Rattlesnake, and the brig Henry in which they were brought, alternately fired minute guns.

The immense concourse of citizens which covered the wharves, stores and house tops to view the boats, the profound silence which prevailed, the atmosphere which was only broken by the sad reverberation of the minute guns, rendered this part of the solemnities peculiarly grand and impressive. On the bodies being placed upon the hearsees, they were covered with the colours which they had so lately and so signally honored, and conveyed at a suitable distance for the procession to form. At 1 o'clock the procession was formed, agreeably to previous arrangement, and moved to slow and solemn music, escorted by the truly elegant company of Light Infantry under that accomplished officer Capt. I. C. King, through the principal streets to the Reverend Mr. Spaulding's meeting house. The procession was such, in point of respectability and numbers, as was never before witnessed in Salem. It was distinguished by the presence of his Excellency the Vice President of the United States, escorted by the Marshal of the District and his Deputies, with their insignia of office; Major General Dearborn, Brig. Gen. T. H. Cushing, and other distinguished officers of high rank in the army of the United States; Commodore Bainbridge, Capt. Hull, and Capt. Stewart, and other officers of the navy of distinction; His Honor William Gray, late Lieut Gov. of this Commonwealth; the Hon. Samuel Dexter; a great number of Military officers of the State in uniform; Marine Societies wearing their badges of distinction; Masonic Societies; and an immense concourse of respectable private citizens from the adjacent towns and country.

Independent of the procession, the side walks and houses to their very tops, were covered with spectators, which together with the melancholy knell of the bells, the mournful sound of the music, the constant ringing of the cannon, and the slow and solemn pace of the procession, gave to the whole an interest of which it would be vain to attempt a description. On arriving at the meeting house the corpses were taken from the funeral cars, and placed in the centre of the church by the seamen who rowed them on shore, and who stood during the whole of the performance, leaning upon them in an attitude of mourning. The church was most tastefully hung with sable, cypress and evergreen. The names of "Lawrence" and "Ludlow," appeared in letters of gold, encircled by festoons of evergreen, immediately on the front of the desk.—The rites of sepulchre were performed with great solemnity. The music was good and appropriate, and the Eulogy was such a one as made veterans weep.—After the performance were concluded the faithful seamen conveyed the remains into the quiet tomb, and the masonic societies and military corps paid the last ritual homage to the immortal Lawrence and Ludlow.

Judge STORY, in his liberal and affectionate eulogy, never uttered a word by which it could be known to what party he belonged. The more liberal, rational, and honorable class of Federalists, mixed their sighs and tears with the Republicans on this mournful occasion; while the cold-blooded and bitter Anglo-Bostonians, repined and trembled at the christian-like sympathy, and stayed away.

Salem will long remember this honorable day; and the name of CROWNSHIELD, with the tea ship-masters, will be recounted with grateful applause in the same page of history that records the valor and humanity of Lawrence and Ludlow.

During the whole day, the American flag was hoisted at half mast, on board the Constitution, and vessels in this harbor, and at the Forts, Gun-Houses, and many other places.—[Bost. Pat. Norfolk, August 27.

IMPORTANT!

Chillicothe, Aug. 24. Extract of a letter from Capt. IRVING, dated. Head-Quarters Seneca Town, August 18, 1813. I am just arrived in camp, and before the mail closes have time only to inform you, that on the morning of the 12th inst. I sailed from Erie, in the brig Lawrence, with commodore Perry, and arrived off Sandusky Bay on the evening of the 15th, together with the following vessels: Brig Lawrence, Com. O. H. Perry, 22 guns. Brig Niagara, Captain J. D. Elliot, 20 guns. Brig Caledonia, Purser H. Magrath, 3 do. Schr. Ariel, Lt. John Packet, 3 do. Sloop Trippe, Lt. Jos. E. Smith, 1 do. Schr. Tygress, Lt. A. C. Conklin, 1 do. Schr. Somers, S. M. Thomas Almy, 2 do. Schr. Scorpion, S. M. St. Champlin 2 do. Schr. Ohio, S. M. Danl. Dobbins, 1 do. Schr. Porcupine, Midsh'n G. Senat, 1 do.

Upon our arrival off Sandusky Bay a British sail was discovered at anchor near one of the islands by a pilot boat which was sent out. Signal for chase was made immediately, and I discovered that our vessels in general sail 1-3 faster than those of the enemy. This took place just before sun-set, and by dark commodore Perry had arrived almost within gun shot of the enemy's schooner: one hour more day light, and she would have been captured. A very severe storm came on, and for fear of getting the squadron separated, we anchored for the night. I start at reveille in the morning to accompany the General down to the fleet.

By a gentleman direct from Plattsburg we learn, that our squadron on Lake Champlain, consisting of three sloops, sailed from Burlington last Friday on a cruise down the lake; when they came in sight of the enemy, they discovered that they had added ten row galleys to their naval force, which gave them a decided superiority. Our sloops, therefore, returned on Saturday to their anchoring ground, under the protection of the fort at Burlington. The army at Burlington under general Hampton, consisted of 5,000 regulars, and 2,000 more were daily expected from the Eastern states. It was thought that a descent on Montreal was in contemplation; but if that be the case, we fear that the circumstance of the British having command of the Lake, will retard the operations of the army.—N. The music was good and appropriate, and the Eulogy was such a one as made veterans weep.—After the performance were concluded the faithful seamen conveyed the remains into the quiet tomb, and the masonic societies and military corps paid the last ritual homage to the immortal Lawrence and Ludlow.

Judge STORY, in his liberal and affectionate eulogy, never uttered a word by which it could be known to what party he belonged. The more liberal, rational, and honorable class of Federalists, mixed their sighs and tears with the Republicans on this mournful occasion; while the cold-blooded and bitter Anglo-Bostonians, repined and trembled at the christian-like sympathy, and stayed away.

Salem will long remember this honorable day; and the name of CROWNSHIELD, with the tea ship-masters, will be recounted with grateful applause in the same page of history that records the valor and humanity of Lawrence and Ludlow.

During the whole day, the American flag was hoisted at half mast, on board the Constitution, and vessels in this harbor, and at the Forts, Gun-Houses, and many other places.—[Bost. Pat. Norfolk, August 27.

Upon our arrival off Sandusky Bay a British sail was discovered at anchor near one of the islands by a pilot boat which was sent out. Signal for chase was made immediately, and I discovered that our vessels in general sail 1-3 faster than those of the enemy. This took place just before sun-set, and by dark commodore Perry had arrived almost within gun shot of the enemy's schooner: one hour more day light, and she would have been captured. A very severe storm came on, and for fear of getting the squadron separated, we anchored for the night. I start at reveille in the morning to accompany the General down to the fleet.

FROM LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

By a gentleman direct from Plattsburg we learn, that our squadron on Lake Champlain, consisting of three sloops, sailed from Burlington last Friday on a cruise down the lake; when they came in sight of the enemy, they discovered that they had added ten row galleys to
