THE VETERAN. AIR-Louis Gordon. Comrades, ever brave and free, In our songs and revelry, Let WILKINSON remember'd be,

In our country's fateful hour, When darkly did oppression lower, And virtue almost knelt to power, Then he fought for liberty.

Then with patriot feeling warm, He first assay'd his youthful arm, And braving out the battle storm, Taught tyrants virtue will be free.

Yes, through war's ordeal flame, He fought his way to early fame, And won the hero's deathless name, At Saratoga gallantly.*

And since when on our wild frontier, The forest wrung with war whoop

That struck the startled sentry's ear,

When rifle shot and hatchet gleam, And midnight desolation flame, And butcher'd freemen's dying scream Told Indians rush'd on rapidly.

His word it was our leading star, His voice the flying heard afar, And rolling back the waves of war, And turn'd to coward ealumny.

Comrades, brothers, brave and free, When we meet on battle day, May WILKINSON our leader be, And may that day come speedily.

The day is come, but two of those in whose souls Wilkinson felt the response of gone to the mansions of the blessed.

ONTARIO FLEET.

The Ontario fleet, under Com. Chauncey, it appears, has been diminished bythe loss of the following vessels viz :-Taken and destroyed by the British. Schr. Julia, Trent, 3 guns, sunk. -Glowier, Dacon, 5 guns, captured. Sunk in a Gale. -Scourge, Osgood, 8 guns. -Hamilton, Winter, 9 guns,

And the two following have been condemned, unfit for service :-Schr. Fair American, Chauncey,

-Pert, Adams, 3 guns. Total loss and decrease, 30 guns, 5 lieutenant-commandants and 120 seamen, 70 of them drowned. The British have gained only the Growler, of 1 long 32 and 4 long 4's and her crew. They are all schooners, and the two which fell into the hands of the enemy, and the two which were condemned, are lost by their bad sailing, which rendered them cumbersome and disadvantageous to the fleet. Sandusky and camp Seneca, relative to who may wish to avail themselves of the benefit and the arrest of major Croghan previous as the accounts which have been published of those transactions have inclined the public to censure the conduct of general Harrison, we deem it important to throw whatever light we can upon the subject.

In conversation had, with an officer direct from the army, we have received the following statement :- That general Harrison's spies informed him that a large British and Indian force, (probably amounting to 5000) were approaching, with artillery &c. That at this same time there were but about 600 troops at camp Seneca, the other regiments not having reached that place .- It was deemed prudent to order in maj. Croghan, and And rous'd and rous'd our soldiery. prepare for a retreat. - Such an order ceived it, he considered himself completely surrounded, and that it would be im- Brads, Sprigs and Tacks, possible to escape. He then wrote a bullying letter, which he expected would fall into the hands of the enemy, stating that he had men enough, provisions enough, and ammunition sufficient, to defend against any force; and d-n him if he would leave the fort. This letter reached the general, in consequence of which he was arrested. About this time the enemy dispersed, and major Croghan had an opportunity of going to head quarters, where after a short explanation, his sword was returned to him, and he returned, resumed the command, made his preparations, and finally succeeded in repelling noble feeling-Pike and Chrystie, have | the enemy in the glorious manner before stated.

BRITISH ACCOUNT

Of the late engagement on Lake Ontario.

" Head Quarters, " Kingston, 14th Aug. 1813. " By accounts received by his Excellency the Governor in chief and Committed of the capture and destruction of four of the enemy's armed schooners.

"On Tuesday evening last, the 10th the enemy's squadron under com. Chaunwith a fine breeze from the eastward, stood towards our fleet, which was becalmed off the port at Twelve mile Creek. At sun set, a fine breeze coming off the land, gave us the wind of the enemy, when our squadron stood for them, on factory. which they immediately bore away from us under as much sail as the schooners could carry to keep up with the larger vessels. The enemy's fleet formed a long line; the Pike, Madison and Oneida, and six schooners, two schooners being placed to windward, for the purpose of raking the masts of our squadron, as they should come up. A 11 o'clock, got within gun shot of the schooners, when going so fast, it was more than an hour before the Wolf, our headmost ship, could pass them.

At this time, the rest of the squadron was between two and three miles astern of the Wolf, and on her coming up with the Madison and Pike, they put before the wind and made sail, firing their stern chase guns. Sir James Yeo, finding it impossible to get the squadron up with. the enemy, as the Wolf was the only ship which could keep up with them, made sail between them and the two schooners to windward, which he captured, and which proved to be the Julia and Growler, each mounting one long thirty-two and one long twelve pounder. Two of the enemy's largest schrs. the Scourge of 10 and the Hamilton of 9 guns upset on the night of the 9th inst. in carrying sail to keep from our squadron, and all on board perished, in number about one hundred.

By the loss and capture of the two schooners the enemy's squadron has been reduced to ten vessels, and ours increased to eight. It is ascertained that the Pike mounts 28 long 24 pounders, and has a complement of 420 men, and that the Madison mounts 22, 32 pound carronades, with 340 men. - Nine boat loads of troops were taken on board the squadron on Monday for the purpose it is supposed of repelling boarders.

The Wolfhas not received any material damage, and not a man was hurt on board .- The prisoners were landing from her, on the 11th inst. and the damages of the Growler were repairing. -She had lost her bowsprit and was otherwise much cut up.

Nothing could exceed the eagerness and enthusiasm manifested by the officers and men serving on board our squadron, for a close engagement with the enemy and the only apprehension and regret expressed by all were, that their opponents though superior in guns and weight of metal, and men, would be too wary to afford them the opportunity of terminating by a decisive action the contest of ascendency on the Lake.

COCKBURN. While the British fleet lay off Kent Island, Cockburn, plunder-master-general, used frequently to go on shore for recreation, or for the purpose of reconnoitering -that is, stealing, whenever an opportunity presented itself. One day he rode up on a raw boned horse, worth about twenty dollars, to a tavern where a number of gentlemen were assembled, and this fall, will find it to his advantage to purwho were regaling themselves with a segar in the porch. He saluted them in a polite manner, asked them the news, looked round as is customary with him to see if any thing could be carried off, when his attention was arrested by a fine horse hitched to a post. He alighted from his own Rozinante, mounted the other in a twinkling, and with the most perfect sang froid pushed off, to the astonishment, and amidst the hooting and execrations of all present. He however had the generosity to leave his own in the place of the one stolen. There are several gentlemen in town now, who were on Kent Island at the time this affair happened.

TO THE PUBLIC.

A certain John Mullinex, of this county, has evilly and maliciously defamed the character of my wife Rosanna, in consequence whereof I comnenced a suit in the county court of Jefferson, not with a view to recover damages, particularly, but to remove the stigma attempted to be rivetted on the character of my wife; the defendant John has given the following libel executed in the pre sence of William P. Flood and Thomas Endsley, gentlemen of respectability. I deem it unnecessary to make any further comment respecting this subject; the libel will speak for itself.

HAVING some time ago expressed myself in terms disrespectful of Mrs. M Cloy, the wife of James M'Cloy, in the presence of several persons; I have since found I was mistaken in my opinion of Mrs. M'Cloy, and am now willing to declare that my assertions were without foundation, and am sorry for what has passed. JOHN MULLINEX.

On the 21st ult. I received a letter, of which the following is a literal copy :

" Washington." This letter, addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, without reservation or restriction, betraying either absolute ignorance of propriety, or sheer impudence, appeared to me a bold, intrepid denunciation, which the author would have proclaimed from the house top, fearless of consequences, and inviting publicity rather than concealment The temper and style, to be sure, appeared neither proper for public or private correspondence; but least of all did I suppose, that the author meant to make the Secretary of the Navy either the official or private depository of aspersions so broad, foul and indeknite; and particularly when applied to an officer who had received so many marks of public confidence, and had just then been appointed to an honorable command-that of the U. Knowing that officer to possess in a prominent degree all the qualities for command, and believing that a vast majority of the community of the district which he was appointed to defend, and of the nation, would feel the same confidence in his skill, prowess, zeal and integrity; I could not but suspect that other motives and feelings than those avowed, had participated in the denunciation.

In Commodore Barney I recognized an intrepid distinguished officer of the Revolutionary Navy, whose achievements have been the theme of public admiration and the subject of the pencil, whose vivid representation of one of those scenes, has long been a prominent ornament in the chamber of the Navy Department.

I knew him as one of the six captains . In September, 1779, the British stormed for first appointed under the administration | of President Washington, and had he Ledyard. From the Pittsburgh Mercury Aug. 20.

The editor of the Mercury has been olitely favored by a friend with the folowing copy of a letter from Dr. Samuel M'Keehan. It details many interesting particulars of the affair at Sandusky, on the 2d inst. not heretofore published .-Dr. M'Keehan is the same gentleman who last February was sent by general Harrison with a flag to Malden, who was wounded on his way thither, arrested, sent to and confined in the cells of Montreal, on the pretext of his being engaged in carrying on a secret correspondence. He is a man of unexceptionable character, warmly attached to the cause of his country, and on whose statements the utmost reliance may be placed.
