A SONG.

NYMPHS I hate who, wan and pale, Borrow art, if nature fail : Brisk and blooming let her be, She's the girl admir'd by me.

Sway'd by envy, sway'd by pride, Which the gems of beauty hide, Fair as Venus though she be, She's not form'd the girl for me !

She whose voice and wit can dart Transports thrilling through the heart, Free from pride, from envy free, She's the girl admir'd by me !

Nor practis'd smile, nor horrow'd grace, Should lend a lustre to her face ; By nature let her painted be, She's the girl admired by me!

If false, she ne'er shall break my rest. I'll tear her from my wounded breast : And another fair as she Shall be found the girl for me !

PARALLEL OF THE SEXES.

There is an admirable partition of qualities between the sexes, which the great author of being has distributed to each, with a wisdom which calls for all our admiration .- Man is strong, woman is beautiful; man is daring and confident, woman is diffident and unassuming; man is great in action, woman in suffering ; man shines abroad, woman at home; man talks to convince, woman to perauade and please; man has a rugged heart; woman a soft and tender one, man prevents misery, woman ennui; man has udgement, woman sensibility, man is a being of justice, woman of mercy.

Women often fancy themselves to be in love when they are not : the amusement of mind produced by gallantry, their natural passion for being beloved, and unwillingness to give denial : all three make them imagine they are in love, when, in fact they are only coquetting. mmmm

FROM THE BOSTON PATRIOT OF MARCH 26. SHAMEFUL OUTRAGE!

On Thursday last a most disgraceful the officers of the customs, having received information that some goods illevally imported were supposed to be secreted in a certain waggon, stopped the teamster in Cambridgeport, for the purpose of searching for them. A trunk, containing goods apparently British, was found; and on the teamster's refusing to show a certificate of the goods, the officer drove the waggon to the Custom House in Boston. Upon arriving at the Custom House, a mob assembled who everal times struck the officer, and like. sise most shamefully abused Mr. Ford. From the savage disposition manifested by the mob, it was easy to perceive they were ripe for bloodshed.

We are happy to learn that the collecter has directed prosecution to be commenced by the U. S. district attorney against the ringleaders of the mob; and that however audacious such men may be, they will find that the laws of the U. States are not to be trampled upon with

PLATTSBURG, March 27.

Yesterday the whole army was drawn out, and formed round an eminence to witness the hanging of a spy. Ostensibly he was a deserter from the enemy; but his conduct while here, and his attempt to return to Canada, under suspicious circumstances, demonstrated to the court martial which tried him, that he to the power and wisdom of the British empire was not a deserter, but a spy, sent by the | for sure protection, for liberty, and the honor British to reconnoitre, obtain information, and return to Canada. At his execution he did not wait for the cart to be driven from under him, but jumped off with the intention probably of breaking his neck and rendering the pain momentary.

THE ENTERPRIZE AND BOXER. PROM A LONDON PAPER OF DECEMBER'LAS Among the American news, which is to found in the papers just received from that co try, it pains us to find a full confirmation of t loss of his majesty's brig Boxer, which has adde another laurel to the naval honors of the Unite States. The vessel by which she was oaptur is represented (falsely we believe) as of only equal force with herself: but what we regret to perceive stated, and trust will be found much exaggerated, is, that the Boxer was literal y cut to pieces in sails, rigging, spars, and hull; whilst the Enterprize (her antagonist) was in a situation to commence a similar action immediately afterwards. The fast seems to be but too clearly established that the Americans have some superior mode firing; and we cannot be too anxiously employ n discovering to what circumstance that sup ority is owing. The Boxer was certainly not le for want of heroism. The British captain nai is colors to the mast, and happily did not live to see them struck. Both commanders died in the action, which appears to have been of the most desperate kind; and both were buried at the same time, in the port to which the prize was carried.

A Spanish Schooner has arrived at the Bayou St. John from Pensacola, the capices from Washington that an armistice I tain of which reports, that previously to his sailing, he was informed by the captain of the British government brig Contion of its extending to their operations | test, then lying in the harbor of Pensaco- | had known him long and appreciated his la, that an expedition, intended for New- political virtue and private worth. shave been sent to the government at | Orleans, was in considerable forwardness Halifax. Our informant has good infor- at New Providence: it consists of eight gun boats, a number of small shallops, (intended to operate upon the lakes) and two frigates of 38 guns each.

It is neither our interest nor our inclination to propagate false intelligence, or nown, but that the papers are sent on to to excite groundless alarms. Circumstances have long since come to our knowledge, which induce us to believe that the enemy meditate an attack upon this city. The species of vessels in which, according to the Spanish captain, it is to be transported, gives a strong color of probability to his story.

NAPOLEON is a beautiful bright bay, seven years old this spring, full sixteen hands high possesses fine bone and muscle, and of just pro portion; his action is equal to any horse in the country; he never appeared on the turf, having been raised and owned since he was three months old by a gentleman who would never permit him to be run, and was not permitted to cover until he was three years old; the mares put to him since, have produced excellent colts, and it may be safely affirmed that few horses in this country are better bred than Napoleon, as will appear from the following PEDIGREE. Napoleon was got by the famous running horse Punch, imported by Mr. Powers of Virginia; Punch was owned by the Prince of Wales, and was sold at his great sale of running horses to sir John Lade; Punch was got by Old King Herod, his dam by Mask the sire of Old Eclipse, his grand dam by Cullan's Arabian; Punch was amongst the first running horses in England, as the racing callender will shew. Napoleon's dam was the full bred mare Sinica, she was got by Mark Anthony, imported by Col. Plater of Maryland; Mark An-thony was owned by the Duke of Buckingham, and his performance on the turf is well known Sinica's dam was got by the famous imported horse Venitian, kept on the Eastern shore of Maryland—so that Napoleon, by his dam, as well as by his sire, is of the first blood of running horses in England

Great care will be taken that justice is done to all who apply, but no responsibility for acidents, by JAMES KERNEY.

Hunger, cold and fatigue had brought on disease, and though none died, all were exceedingly depressed, and sixteen had been ordered home as unable to continue the conflict on equal grounds, and immediately retreated five miles for the sake of a good position, on the western bank of the Twenty Mile Creek, leaving Captain Gill with twenty rangers to cover the rear, and to watch the enemy's motions. We had encamped but a few minutes, when Capt. Gill joined, after exchanging shots with the enemy's advance, in vainly attempting to reconnoitre his force. The Twenty Mile Creek runs from north to south, through a deep and wide ravine, and of course is flanked east and west by lofty heights. My camp was formed upon the western heights. The enemy's upon the opposite. During the night of the 3d all was quiet. At sun rise on the 4th, the enemy appeared thinly upon the opposite heights, fired upon us without effect and vanished. After waiting some time for their reappearance, Lt. Knox of | could be passed on horse back at no other the Rangers was sent to reconnoitre. Our regulars being uncovered, were ordered to kneel, that the brow of the heights might partly screen them from the enemy's view. The firing encreased on both sides with great vivacity. But the crisis was over. I knew the enemy dare not uncover, and of course that no second charge would be attempted. On the north, west and south front the firing had been sustained with much coolness and with considerable loss to the foe .-Our troops on those fronts being protected by logs hastily thrown together, and th enemy not charging, both the rifle and the musket were aimed at leisure, perhaps always told. The enemy at list became persuaded that Providence had sealed the fortune of the day. His cover on the east front was insufficient: for as he had charged in column of sections, and therefore, when dispersing on either side of the road, was unable to extend his flanks, and as our regulars presented an extended front from the beginning, it is evident that a common sized tree could not protect even one man much less the squads that often stood and breathed their last together; and yet upon his regulars the enemy relied for victory. In concert therefore, and favored by the shades of twilight, he commenced a general retreat after one hour's close and gallant

I did not pursue for the following reaions. 1. We had triumphed against numbers and discipline, and were therefore under no obligation of honor to incur additional hazard. 2. In these requisites (numbers and discipline) the enemy were still superior, and the night would have ensured success to an ambuscade. 3. The enemy's bugle sounded the close upon the opposite heights. If then we had pursued, we must have passed over to him as he did to us, because the creek frost bitten and their shoes cut to pieces by the frozen ground it was not possible to pursue on foot-It follows that the at-
