Lieur Col. Commandant 6th regt. Va. Militia, dated Reex county, Dec. 1, 8 o'clock, P. M.

"About half past two o'clock pesterday, I received intelligence from Col. Banks of Tappshannock, that at 10 o'clock he left col. Muse's, in Middlesex, and that 12 barges and one large sloop of the enemy were passing his house, and standing up the dappahannock; and that notice therefor had been given to the major of the lower battsflon, and sent to all or most of the officers thereof. I immediately issued and forwarded orders to the remaining officers of the regiment. I then left home for Tappahannock, and reached that about dark. When arrived, advice was waiting there for me from Col. Branham of the 41st regiment, that he enemy, consisting of 14 sail, are rapidly ascending the Rappahaneck river. At 10 this morning they were above Col. Ball's under sail." Immediately thereafter, a visitute arrived, bringing a communication from Col. Muse, of the 10th regiment—" Since 8 o'clockthis morning, thirteen harges and eight square rigged schooners have passed my house." Understanding also, from several officers, that they had proceeded much higher up thin Bowler's before sun-set, and finding that the weather favored much their mode of warfare, I set about removing the pieces of artiflery, and the ammunition belonging thereto, stationed at that place, to some place out of town.—The difficulty of procuring horses (as we lend to send into the country for them) occupied half of the night before they could be gotten out. As soon as dawn afforded sufficient light-this morning, the singles and vessels, favored by the flood tide, were discovered in metion, and standing up.

"Upon the turn of the tide, the barges rejoined the vessels, and the whole came to suchor, then about four or five miles off, thus they lay until a light wind springing up and the flood tide beginning to make, about half past 10 o'clock they proceeded up, and the number and description of their vessels was then ascertained to be eight achooners, some apparently wide and the piece, eight only of the artillery company had arrived.

"Upon enrolling the infantry only 30 appeared, and of the cavairy about sixteen answered when called—With this force I deemed it too pradigat of the lives of my valuable officers and men, to centend with the enemy then advancing upon us. The troops remained in town until the enemy had fired many cannon; one of which atruck the east-enmost end of Dr. Brockenborough's large house, some atruck in the lots, and some passed over—We then retired, carrying with us the field piece to the range of hills, one and a half miles from town, on the Fredericksburg road. Here I left them just before sun set, with orders to retire about 3 miles to procure barracks and refreshments. The enemy took possession of the town acon after we evacuated it. Two Gentlemen of itraligence, who bore commissions in the revolutionary war, reconnoitred them so close in their debarkation, as to have three muskets fired at them, one of which had nearly taken effect.—These Gentlemen concur in the opinion, that there must have been nearly 500 armed combatants. Since the first squadron approached, several schrs, grounded with troops have come up—and intelligence from Bowler's 16 miles below, gives us to know there are 2 large schooners full of troops aground, which will be got off this evening on the high flood.

"Upon the approach of the enemy this morn-of troops aground, which will be got off this even-ing on the high flood.

"Upon the approach of the enemy this morn-ing, I made a demand upon Col. Boyd of King and Queen, for 200 infantry, and shall in the morn-ing make a further demand upon col. Todd of Caroline, for 300 men. The enemy on his way up captured several craft, some loaded with corn, &c. and others empty—I have the high gratification in saying to your excellency that the officers and men who were compelled to retire before such "fearful orders" chinced the greatest determination and villinguess to meet the enemy when any thing like equality would justify it. The infantry and cavalry force his increased much since 12 o'clock, but not so fast as we had a right to expect. Captain Janey, with his company remains at Bowler's, and all soon as all the vessels pass the point, he will join the main command.

at Bowler's, and as soon as all the vessels pass the point, he will join the main command.

"I am truly sorry to state, that the inhabitants of the town have lost much, owing to the weather favoring the enemy so much, and operating so unfavorably on them, together with the short time given to remove—all have brought out some things but col. Banks will suffer particularly, having removed but a few of a great many.—With his store and most of his property, Mr. Blake, merchant semained in town; how he will fare, time will develope. To what few officers and men, as were in town last night, I am much indebted for the preservation of all the artillery and ammunition; had it been permitted to remain until the morning all would have been lost, as draught horses could all would have been lost, as draught horses could not be procured."

"The Vidette informs me he met Capt Jones early this morning, who told him that the enemy blew up his tannery within a quarter of a mile from town tast night, about 8 o'clock, and that a part or the whole of the town was fired last ALEXANDRIA, DEC. 6. Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Fredericks-burg, to his brother in this town, dated Decem-ber 5.

"You have no doubt heard before this, that the enemy are in Rsppahannock. They have been for several days ascending, and plundering and burning on the banks of the river.—The courthouse, jail, collector's office, clerk's office, and a large ware housee, were burnt by them at Tappahannock. The number of negroes and stock taken off is immense. Their force consists of two large schooners, 8 or 10 small craft, and about as many barges above Tappahannock, below that they have several square rigged vessels—number of men not known. As yet no resistance has been made; but before this time gen. Gook, with about 600 men (infantry) and major Woodford, with a squadron of davalry, are there from Richmond, and we hourly expect to hear a good account of them.

"A letter from Mr. James Hunter, of Essex dated 9 o'clock, Sunday morning, says, three of their vessels had got as high up as Esyton's which is six miles below Leeds.

"We do not think there is a possibility of

"We do not think there is a possibility of their getting as high as this place by water; but wo we all on the alert, and expect orders to march below.

"I wrote you yesterday respecting the approach and conduct of the enemy in this neighborhood. Since then information has been received by a vidett, sent by the major, that they have gone down the river. Gen. Minor, of this place, asw them below Tappahannock. Their depredations and barbarities at that place equalled anything before perpetrated, and was every way worthy of their distinguished chief.

The percess who have inited them.

The negroes who have joined them there were armed and turned into the town, with free licenses to indulge their inclinations to plunder and destroy. Scarcely a house of any distinction in the town escaped robbery or dilapidation. This was not all: these "bulwarks of religion" entered the family vault of Cot. Richie, and with unholy hand disturbed the sakes of the dead. Five out of nine coffins were opened and their mouldering contents mutilated and exposed—the escute isons torn from their places and flung dut.—This was done with the pretence of searching for treasure. The sacriligious barbarities of Choptank have been reiterated in Virginia.

The river is several miles wide where these things were done, and for the want of artillery it is said that the militia force that were collected before their departure could oppose no effectual resistance. They avowed the intention of coming to Fredericksburg at all hazards. If they do, it must be by the way of the Potomac.

[From the Jamaica Courant of Oct. 31.] In the Courant of the 19th inst, we mention that a variety of rumors were prevalent respecting an expedition to be sent from this island supposed against St. Augustine, and that among the troops were to be the West India Regt. It now troops were to be the West India Regt. It now appears that they have received orders to hold themselves in readiness for service, and will shortly commence embarking. We likewise stated in the Gourant of the 20th instant, that Rear Admiral Malcolm, with several vessels of war and a number of troops, were expected in this island, for an expedition destined against New Orleans.—This appears likewise to have been true; the information given at these pariods was therefore not without some foundation, and the expedition alluded to under Admiral Malcolm and Colonel Brooke, after proceeding to Negrit where they Brooke, after proceeding to Negrit where they will remain for 10 or 12 days to receive some supplies and 200 bullecks, will then sail for their destination, either St. Augustine, or N. Orleans.

BRITISH OFFICIAL ACCOUNT OF THE CAP-TURE OF WASHINGTON.

London Gazette Extraordinary, September 27. COLONIAL DEPARTMENT.

Downing Street, Sept. 27. Captain Smith, assistant-adjutant general to the troops under the command the age of twenty-one years, to be enlisted | with a despatch from that officer, address by virtue of this act, any bounty or cloth- ed to Earl Bathurst, one of his majesty's

Tonnant, in the Patuxent,

I have the honor to communicate to your lordship that on the night of the 24th inst. after defeating the army of the U. States on that day, the troops under my command entered and took possession of the city of Washington. It was determined between sir A. Cochrane and myself, to disembark the inst. the army commenced its march, having landed the previous day without tingham, and on the 22d moved on to Upper Marlborough, a few miles distant from Pig Point, on the Patuxent, where admiral Cockburn fell in with and defeated the flotilla, taking and destroying the whole. Having advanced to within sixing the force of the enemy to be such as accordingly put the troops in movement on the evening of the 23d. A corps of aceive one-fourth of the money bounty as | bout 1200 men appeared to oppose us, but retired after firing a few shots. On the 24th, the troops resumed their march, and reached Bladensburg, a village situat-

On the opposite side of that river the enemy was discovered strongly posted on very commanding heights, formed in two lines, his advance occupying a fortified house, which, with artillery, covered the service, three hundred and twenty acres bridge over the eastern branch, across which the British troops had to pass. A broad and straight road, leading from the bridge to Washington, ran through the position, which was carefully defended by artillery and riflemen.

> The disposition for the attack being made it was commenced with so much impetuosity by the light brigade, consist-ing of the 85th light infantry and the light infantry companies of the army, under the command of col. Thornton that the fortified house was shortly carried, the cnemy retiring to the higher grounds.

In support of the light brigade I ordered up a brigade under the command of col. Brooke, who, with the 44th regiment | retired an immense quantity of every all, according to law, furnish a recruit attacked the enemy's left, the 4th regifor the army of the United States, at his ment pressing its right with such effect as account could be taken, several very heaown expense, to serve during the war, to cause him to abandon his guns. His vy explosions during the night denoted brig as well as from the shore, that a for-

shall thereafter be exempt from militia | first line giving way, was driven on the | that there had been large magazines of duty during the war; and every recruit | second, which, yielding to the irresistable | powder. thus furnished, shall be delivered to some attack of the bayonet, and the well directrecruiting officer of the U. States, who ed discharge of rockets, got into confushall immediately grant his receipt for sion and fled, leaving the British masters such recruit, to the person furnishing of the field. The rapid flight of the enehim; and shall forthwith report the same my, and his knowledge of the country, precluded the possibility of many prisoners being taken, more particularly as the troops had, during the day, undergone considerable fatigue.

The enemy's army, amounting to 8 or 9000 men, with 3 or 400 cavalry, was under the command of gen. Winder, being formed of troops drawn from Baltimore and Pennsylvania. His artillery, ten pieces of which fell into our hands, was commanded by com. Barney, who was wounded and taken prisoner. The artillery I directed to be distroyed.

Having halted the army for a short time, I determined to march up to Wash- ed within a few miles of the town, a flag as the other recruits in the army of the ington, and reached that city at 8 o'clock. that night. Judging it of consequence to complete the destruction of the public buildings with the least possible delay, so that the army might retire without loss of time, the following buildings were set fire to and consumed-the capitol, including the senate-house and house of representatives, the arsenal, the dockyard, treasury, war-office, president's palace, rope walk, and the great bridge across the Potomac; in the dock yard a frigate nearly ready to be launched, and a sloop of war, were consumed. The two bridges leading to Washington over the eastern branch had been destroyed by the enemy, who apprehended an attack from that quarter. The object of the expedition being accomplished. I determined, before any greater force of the the troops and accordingly commenced retiring on the night of the 25th. On the evening of the 29th we reached Benedict, and re-embarked the following day. In the performance of the operation I have detailed, it is with the utmost satisfaction I observe to your lordship, that cheerfulness in undergoing fatigue and anxious for the accomplishment of of the object. were conspicuous in all ranks.

Here follows encomiums on officers, uninteresting to the American reader.] An attack upon the enemy so strongly act, entitled " An act for the more perfect army at the village of Benedict, on the I have to lament that the wounds receivorganization of the army of the United right bank of the Patuxent, with the in- ed by col. We expect before the return of was such as prevented their removal. As spring to be able to keep the enemy out the enemy's gun boats, under the com-many of the wounded as could be brought of our houses, although they may make a mand of com. Barney. On the 20th off were removed, the others being left tremendous knocking at our doors. with medical care and attendants. The arrangements made by staff-surgeon Baxter for their accommodation have been as satisfactory as circumstances would admit of. The agent for British prisoners of war very fortunately residing at Bladensburg, I have recommended the wounded officers and men to his particular attention and trust to his being able to effect their exchange when sufficiently reopvered, I have, &c.

FROM PENSACOLA. Extract of a letter from a gentleman in the Mississippi Territory, to his friend in Rogersville, Ten. dated

" St. Stephens, Nov. 12, 1814.

Dear Sir. - After an absence for more than two months, I returned to this place a few hours since, direct from Pensacola. This important work, that has for a long time excited to much interest amongst the people of this country, has at length been acted upon. Gen. Jackson has visited Pensacola. On Monday the 6th instant, the army having advancwas sent in summoning a surrender, which was met with the most welcome roar of six or eight round of canpon, and compelled to retreat. As it was growing late in the evening, operations were postponed until morning, -after reveille, 'to arms" was beat, and in a few moments we triumphantly entered the town under a brisk fire of grape and counister from the town, and bombs and ball from the fort, and some British vessels that lay at anchor in the bay. The governor was soon made prisoner, and the town and fort surrendered; notwithstanding which, the officer commanding the fort, continued to fire upon our forces until night, when he marched out. The British discovering we had gained possession of the town and fort, moved down to the Barranca, a strong Spanish battery that. commands the entrance of the bay-diamounted the guns, and blew up the works. which placed it entirely out of our power to mantain possession of the place. On the 10th we commenced our return march for fort Montgomery, a redoubt near the confluence of the Bigby and Alabama. "Thus, sir, bas ended the important work for which the people of this con-try have so impatiently longed; and I regret very earnestly indeed, that it has eventuated so differently from our expectations and fondest wishes; for whilst it remains as at present, the property and to the Secretary of State. FAYAL, OCT. 5, 1814. SIR-I have the honor to state to you that a most outrageous violation of the neutrality of this port, in utter contempt of the laws of civilized nations, has recently been committed here, by the commanders of his Britannic Majesty's ships Plantagenet, Rota and Carnation, against the American private armed brig General Armstrong, Samuel C. Reid, commander; but I have great satisfaction in being able to add, that this occurrence terminated in one of the most brilliant actions on the part of Capt. Reid, his brave officers and crew, that can be found on naval record.

The American brig came to anchor in his port in the afternoon of the 26th of September, and at sun set of the same day, the above named ships suddenly appeared in these roads; it being nearly calm in the port, it was rather doubtful if the privateer could escape if she got under way, and relying on the justice and good faith of the British captains, it was deemed most prudent to remain at anchor. A little after dusk capt. Reid, gen. Robt. Ross, between the 19th and seeing suspicious movements on the part 25th of Aug. 1814. of the British began to warp his vessel close under the guns of the castle, and while doing so, he was at about 3 o'clock, P. M. approached by four boats from the ships filled with armed men. After hailing them repeatedly and warning them to keep off, he ordered his men to fire on them and killed and wounded several men. The boats returned the fire and killed one man and wounded the first Lieut, of the privateer, and returned to their ships, and as it was now light moonmidable attack was premeditating. The Divining Rod has been practised in the western country for many years with the greatest success in the finding of water and there are several gentlemen of the first respectability in Kentucky, and whose veracity is unquestionable with whom the experiment invariably succeeds. There are also two gendemen in Richmond who are well known would never attempt to impose upon the public John Milton, near Berryville, or to me, shall be cqually dexterous in the use of it. The conductor, whether water or metal, is supposed to form with the superincumbent earth and the fluids of the human body, a Galvanic circle, and the more perfect this circle is, so much the more powerful will be the action of the Divining Rod.
