 Dec. 21.

20 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 25th of March last, an indentured apprentice named ABRAHAM HUNTSBERRY—had one year, eight months and seven days to serve when he went away. Had on a full suit of black domestic cloth, a new rorant hat, and took with him other clothing not collected; wore an old English Watch in his pocket—5 feet 5 or 6 inches high, light hair, grey eyes, long nose, big mouth, when he laughs, nearly from ear to ear. A short time before he went away, he took his trunk to his uncle Christian Alenong's; he staid with him the first night he absconded, and the next day was seen going up the road towards Winchester, with his uncle's son, and two of his horses, to another uncle of his, near Winchester—he was seen at the foot of Negro Mountain, with 30 dollars in his possession. Expect his uncles must have furnished him with this money, if not, he could not have come honestly by it. As for his honesty I have been most deceived in. I will give the above reward to any person, who will bring the scoundrel back to me.

Trustee's Sale.

BY virtue of a Deed of Trust executed to the undersigned by F. Fairfax, bearing date upon the 30th day of November, 1813, and of record in the office of the county court of Jefferson, Virginia, he will proceed to sell before the door of the Fulton's tavern, in Charlestown, in said county, upon the 3d day of February next, to the highest bidder for ready money, a tract of land, lying in the said county of Jefferson, containing by estimation ONE THOUSAND ACRES, known by the name of the Stanton Hill Tract. Said land having been conveyed to the undersigned in trust to indemnify Charles Gibbs, as security for the said Fairfax.

The land will be sold subject to the several incumbrances upon it, and such title made to the purchaser as is stated in the Trustee's Deed.

Boonsborough

TURNPIKE ROAD.

THE Board of Managers for the above road having fixed on the location of the same, and having actually made a contract for paving part thereof, and in compliance to collect the second installment of FOUR DOLLARS on each share of stock subscribed for the said road—the stockholders are therefore requested to pay the same to Messrs. James Lebes, of Baltimore; George Smith, of Sharpsburg; or Jacob Hess, of Shepherd's Town, Virginia, who are duly authorized to receipt for it, on or before the 24th day of January next.

Messrs. George Smith, George Hitebeck and Jacob Mumma are empowered to receive proposals for paving that part of the road not yet contracted for (eight miles). They will accordingly attend, for that purpose, at the house of Mr. John Knoke, in Sharpsburg, every Saturday until the first of April next.

By order of the Board,
JOHN MILLER, Sec'y.

November 28.

FOR SALE,

A valuable Plantation,

LYING in the County of Jefferson, and state of Virginia, containing tolerably well improved—a good stone House, well finished, other convenient houses, a tolerable good Barn, one hundred and seventy apple trees bearing fruit. This farm is within five miles of Harpers Ferry, on the Potomac river, half a mile of Keyes's Ferry, both rivers navigable for boats within one and a half miles of good Merchant Mills—There is an incumbrance on part of the Land, which will be made known to the purchaser by the subscriber living on the land.

Charlestown, Nov. 30.

Public Sale.

WILL be sold on Friday the 29th December, at the late residence of Giles Cook, dec'd, the following property, viz: a good road wagon, and cart, ploughs, gears, and all sorts of farming utensils, a wheat fan, household and kitchen furniture, some valuable waggons horses, much cow, fat pigs, a quantity of corn, rye, hay and fodder, and a number of other articles. A credit will be given on it the first of April next, by giving bond and approved security.
 On the same day will be hired for the ensuing year, a number of valuable negroes.

JOHN ABELL.

November 30.

Valuable Mill Property for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Mills on the Rappahannock River, in the county of Fauquier, eight miles south of the Court House. The improvements consist of a new Mill House, about 20 feet square, with two pairs of five feet stones, and all the necessary machinery for manufacturing flour—an excellent new Saw Mill, and a large stone Mill House; at present out of repair—There are FIFTY ACRES OF LAND attached to the Mills, but any further quantity desired might be had from the fertile parts of Culpepper and Shenandoah, to Falmouth and Fredericksburg, crosses the Rappahannock, upon a constant and powerful stream, affording in the most trying seasons an abundant supply of water—entirely unvaried by any other mill, there being no manufacturing mill within ten miles in any direction in a fire-wheat country, the improvement of which is rapidly progressing from the use of plaster and clover, and having a most unexampled share of country work, yielding its produce annually from 12 to 1500 bushels of toll corn, besides a wheat crop, which is sold at all times be increased so as to keep constantly employed any mill which may be erected thereon, holds out to a purchaser acquainted with the management of such property, the fairest prospects of a profitable investment of capital.

The subscriber's price and terms of payment, which will be made to suit the purchaser, as well as the situation and value of this property, can be known on application to Casper W. Weaver, Esq. near Charlestown, Jefferson County, or Charles Tyler, Esq. Alexandria, or to the subscriber residing at the spot.

PROPOSALS

BY JOHN HOPKINS, OF PHILADELPHIA,

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,

A HISTORY

OF THE

American Revolution,

Comprehending all the Principal Events, both in the Field and in the Cabinet.

BY PAUL ALLEN, ESQ.

TO WHICH WILL BE ADDED
 The most important Resolutions of the Continental Congress, and many of the most interesting Letters and Orders of

GEN. WASHINGTON,

ACCOMPANIED by Documents from the Original Manuscripts of General Gates, General Hand, &c. &c. Together with many others collected by BERNARD HUBLEY, Esq. captain in the German Regiment of the Pennsylvania line, and member of the Society of Cincinnati; who, besides several Journals of his brother officers, obtained from the original Hand, the last adjutant general, all the General Orders, Papers, and Documents belonging to that department, from the time of the appointment of general Gates the first adjutant general.

Notwithstanding several histories of our revolutionary contest have already appeared, a clear and distinct view of the sufferings and privations of the American army has not been given. The prominent events, it is true, have been fairly, faithfully, and impartially narrated, and these should to have engaged the attention of the patriotic army—so much that they have passed slightly these less splendid, but more trying, and interesting periods. It was not in the hour of battle that our national exertions were so distinguished, as when our patriotic army had to endure all the rigors of winter, and the most cruel and superabundant diseases of famine and nakedness, with a victorious and insulting enemy in front. The patience, fortitude, and perseverance, with which they encountered these perils, is worthy of all praise; it is here that the character of Washington shines with its lustre undimmed. His conduct in the interested where reprobation and untimely would avail, and he imposed a salutary severity where they would not. It is proposed to make this history severely American—to furnish to the reader a true picture of the sufferings of our patriotic army—to show with what invincible constancy and fortitude they encountered the severest trials; and this, it is presumed, may be successfully accomplished by the documents of the late captain Hubley.

Historians of this kind serve to establish this important fact, that it is for the government to give the tone to the nation. Amidst the dismal moments of our revolutionary conflict, when nothing but famine, defeat and poverty threatened the army and the cabinet, it was reserved for a few patriots to have a spirit to the languor of plenty, to reanimate confidence, and finally to consummate the independence of the country.—This History inculcates the principle—never to despair of the Commonwealth, and that our national disasters can never be too great for courage, patriotism, and political integrity, under the smiles of divine Providence to redeem. These interesting truths need no embellishments; they speak their own panegyrics, and nothing but an impartial narrative is wanting to impress their conviction on the mind. History, when considered as a mere collection of facts, is scarcely worth the pains of perusal; it only demands our reverence when it enforces by example the great principles of law, justice, and policy.

CONDITIONS.

The work will be comprised in two octavo volumes, each to contain from 500 to 600 pages, printed on a fine voice paper and new type.

The price to Subscribers will be three dollars per volume in boards, and three dollars and fifty cents neatly bound and lettered, payable on delivery.

THE NAVY.

Report of the Secretary of the Navy to the Senate relative to the gradual and permanent increase of the Navy.

The importance of a permanent Naval Establishment appears to be sanctioned by the voice of the nation; and, I have a satisfaction in stating, that the means of its gradual increase are completely within the reach of our national resources, independently of any foreign country. The materials for building and equipping ships of war are all at command. Steps have been taken to ascertain the best growth and quantities of timber for naval construction, preparatory to contracts and purchases. The want of a Mould Loft for the naval constructor, to lay out the moulds by which timber is to be cut and shaped, previously to transportation, has delayed the completion of arrangements for an adequate supply. A building has been erected at the Navy Yard in this city, for that purpose, and will soon be finished, when the business will progress.

Cannon foundries, manufactories of sheet copper, cordage, canvas, and the mechanical branches, are in a state to furnish the several supplies which may be required.

The commerce of the United States, increasing with the resources and population of the country, requires a commensurate protection, which a navy alone can afford; and the experience derived from the active and vigorous employment of a United navy, during the period of the late war, has demonstrated its efficient utility.

I do, therefore, with confidence, recommend an annual increase of our navy, of one ship of the rate of 71 guns; two frigates of the first class, rated at 44 guns; and two sloops of war, which can be built with the surplussage of smaller timber, and with a great saving in that material.

The act to increase the navy, passed Jan. 2d, 1813, authorised the building of "four ships, to rate not less than 74 guns; and six frigates; to rate 44 guns each." This act has been partly carried into effect, by building three ships of the rate of 74 guns, and three frigates of 44 guns, in the Atlantic port; the residue of the appropriation, under that act, was applied in the building of large ships and frigates upon Lake Ontario.

The concentration of our navy in one or two of the principal ports of the U. States, where the depth of water is sufficient for the convenient ingress and egress of the larger vessels, will necessarily lead to the enlargement of the navy yards at such places, with docks for repairs, and the collection of all important materials, for the armament and equipments of the different classes of vessels, in order to bring them into active service, upon an emergency, with the advantage of combined force.

A general system for the gradual and permanent increase of the navy, combining all the various objects connected with an enlarged naval establishment, such as building docks, and extending the accommodations of navy yards and arsenal of general deposit, will form the subject of a more extensive report, to be laid before Congress during the present session.

TREATY WITH ALGIERS.

Treaty of Peace and Amity concluded between the United States of America, and His Highness Omar Basha, Dey of Algiers.

ARTICLE THE FIRST.

There shall be, from the conclusion of this treaty, a firm, inviolable and universal peace and friendship between the President and the Citizens of the United States of America, on the one part, and the Dey and Subjects of the Regency of Algiers in Barbary on the other, made by the free consent of both parties, and if either party shall hereafter grant to any other nation any particular favor or privilege in navigation or commerce, it shall immediately become common to the other party, freely when it is freely granted to such other nation; but when the grant is conditional, it shall be at the option of the contracting parties to accept, alter, or reject such conditions, in such manner as shall be most conducive to their respective interests.

ARTICLE THE SECOND.

It is distinctly understood between the contracting parties, that no tribute, either as biennial presents or under any other form or name whatever, shall ever be required by the Dey and Regency of Algiers from the United States of America, on any pretext whatever.

ARTICLE THE THIRD.

The Dey of Algiers shall cause to be immediately delivered up to the American Squadron, now off Algiers, all the American Citizens, now in his possession, amounting to ten more or less; and all the subjects of the Dey of Algiers, now in possession of the United States, amounting to five hundred more or less, shall be delivered up to him, the United States, according to the usages of civilized nations, requiring no ransom for the excess of prisoners in their favor.

ARTICLE THE FOURTH.

A just and full compensation shall be made by the Dey of Algiers, to such citizens of the United States, as have been captured and detained by Algerine Cruizers, or who have been forced to abandon their property in Algiers in violation of the twenty-second article of the treaty of peace and amity, concluded between the United States and the Dey of Algiers, on the 31st of Sept. 1765.

And it is agreed between the contracting parties, that in lieu of the above, the Dey of Algiers, shall cause to be delivered forthwith into the hands of the American Consul, residing at Algiers, the whole of a quantity of bales of cotton, left by the late consul general of the United States, in the public Magazine in Algiers, and that he shall pay in to the hands of the said Consul the sum of ten thousand Spanish dollars.

ARTICLE THE FIFTH.

If any goods belonging to any nation with which either of the parties are at war, should be loaded on board vessels belonging to the other party, they shall pass free and unimpeded, and no attempts shall be made to take or detain them.

ARTICLE THE SIXTH.

If any citizens or subjects with their effects belonging to either party, shall be found on board a prize vessel taken from an enemy by the other party, such citizens or subjects shall be liberated immediately, and in no case, on any other pretence whatever shall any American citizen be kept in captivity or confinement, or the property of any American citizen found on board of any vessel belonging to any other nation, with which Algiers may be at war, be detained from his lawful owners after the exhibition of sufficient proofs of American citizenship and of American property by the consul of the U. States, residing at Algiers.

ARTICLE THE SEVENTH.

Proper passports shall immediately be given to the vessels of both the contracting parties, on condition that the vessels of war, belonging to the regency of Algiers, on meeting with merchant vessels belonging to the citizens of the United States of America, shall not be permitted to visit them with more than two persons besides the crew; these only shall be permitted to go on board without first obtaining leave from the commander of said vessel, who shall compare the passport, and immediately permit said vessel to proceed on her voyage; and should any of the subjects of Algiers insult or molest the commander or any other person on board a vessel so visited, or plunder any of the property contained in her, on complaint being made by the consul of the United States residing in Algiers, and on his producing sufficient proof to substantiate the fact, the commander or Rais of said Algerine ship or vessel of war, as well as the offenders, shall be punished in the most exemplary manner.

All vessels of war belonging to the United States of America, on meeting a cruiser belonging to the regency of Algiers, on having seen her passports and certificates from the consul of the United States, residing in Algiers, shall permit her to proceed on her cruise unmolested, and without detention. No passports shall be granted by either party to any vessels, but such as are absolutely the property of citizens or subjects of the said contracting parties, on any pretence whatever.

ARTICLE THE EIGHTH.

A citizen or subject of either of the contracting parties, having bought a prize vessel condemned by the other party, or by any other nation, the certificates of condemnation and bill of sale shall be a sufficient passport for such vessel for six months, which, considering the distance between the two countries, is no more than a reasonable time for her to procure proper passports.

ARTICLE THE NINTH.

Vessels of either of the contracting parties, putting into the ports of the other, and having need of provisions or other supplies, shall be furnished at the market price; and if any such vessel should so put in from a distance at sea, and have occasion to repair, she shall be at liberty to land, and re-embark her cargo, without paying any customs or duties whatever; but in no case shall she be compelled to land her cargo.

ARTICLE THE TENTH.

Should a vessel of either of the contracting parties be cast on shore within the territories of the other, all proper assistance shall be given to her crew; no pillage shall be allowed. The property shall remain at the disposal of the owners; and if re-shipped on board of any vessel or exported, no customs or duties whatever shall be required to be paid thereon, and the crew shall be protected and succoured, until they can be sent to their own country.

ARTICLE THE ELEVENTH.

If a vessel of either of the contracting parties shall be attacked by an enemy within cannon shot of the forts of the other, she shall be protected as much as is possible. If she be in port, she shall long been the practice with many, if not all the Surveyors in the State, to include entries with a patent land—that the Court of Appeals has decided that the Act authorizing successive Surveys, does not extend to lands claimed by Entry only; if Patents of this description are liable to be called in question, it would lead to endless litigation—praying, therefore, the Legislature to pass a law quieting all claims held under patents and surveys of this description.—Referred to the C. for Courts of Justice.

Also one from the President and Managers of the Charlottesville Manufacturing and Exporting Company, praying to be incorporated as a Bank.—Referred to the Select Committee.

Also a petition from the counties of Culpeper, Fauquier, Prince William and Fairfax, praying that a permanent road be opened from those counties to Washington and Alexandria.—Referred to the C. of R. and I. N.

MONDAY, DEC. 18.

On motion of Mr. Atkinson, leave was given to bring in a bill, to amend the Act respecting the appointments and duties of sheriffs.

Petitions were presented from sundry citizens of Loudon and Stafford, suggesting the expediency of amendments to the Judiciary System, especially as relates to the County Courts, and the mode of procuring Juries—and proposing, that if nothing more be done, concurrent jurisdiction with the Quarterly Courts be given to the superior Courts of law.—Referred to the Committee for Courts of Justice.

Also one from sundry persons, representing that the Foundation of a Museum in the City of Richmond, will be attended with infinite advantages to the State at large, in diffusing useful and general knowledge; and therefore praying that a number of feet, on or about the Capitol Square, may be loaned to James Warrall, Artist, of said city, for the purpose of erecting a handsome edifice, always to remain as a public repository of natural and artificial curiosities: with a proviso, that if such building should not be erected in a given time, or should be used for any other purpose than a Museum, the ground and improvements thereon, shall revert to the Commonwealth.—Referred to the Committee of propositions and Grievances.

Also a petition from the President and Directors of the Loudon Company for the encouragement of Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures—praying to be incorporated, for Banking purposes in the town of Waterford.

TUESDAY, DEC. 19.

Engrossed bills, "Concerning Spencer Ball"—Releasing to Francis Thomas the Commonwealth's right to a tract of land therein mentioned—"To amend an Act entitled 'An Act concerning the emancipation of Slaves,' with a rider to the same, moved by Mr. Hill," were severally read a third time and passed.

[This last bill is intended to invest County Courts with the power of granting, under certain provisions, the right of residence to emancipated slaves.]

Engrossed bills, "Authorising Moses Ball to bring certain slaves into this Commonwealth"—"Concerning Connally Findley"—"Appointing Commissioners to ascertain the most proper place for holding Courts for the county of Russell."—"To amend the act, entitled An act to appoint Trustees for Morgantown, in the county of Monongalia, and for other purposes"—were severally read a third time and passed.—Sent to the Senate for their concurrence.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Governor, enclosing a Report from the President and Directors of the Literary Fund—from which it appears,

That the Fund—owns at present about $43,000—which, with the exception of about 2000, is vested in productive public stock.—From which "progressive augmentation of the Fund" the President and Directors flatter themselves that they may be enabled to establish a school, or schools, for the education of the poor in each county, sooner than was originally expected.—They still, however, most forcibly urge upon the Legislature the expediency of making further appropriations in aid of this fund. They particularly point out the propriety of disencumbering the Shares of Stock, which they own in the two banks, from their proportions of the Bonus due to the State—also, of vesting in them the Surplus of Militia Fines, &c. &c. They also reiterate in the most earnest terms against the 1st, 2d and 3d sections of the Act of February 8th, 1813, which operate against the extent and facility of Escheats and Land—the 1st Section releasing to all persons who have claimed title to any land not actually escheated, who though aliens at the time their title accrued, had afterwards become citizens or should become so, before the lands should be escheated.—The 2d section declaring that no inquest should be taken to escheat land claimed by a British subject, until two years after the conclusion of the late war.—The 3d, by giving validity to the claims of purchasers, lessees, heirs and devisees of aliens resident in the United States, puts in their power, in a great degree, to elude the escheat laws, the policy of which forbids that they should either hold real estate or exercise dominion over it."

On motion of Mr. Booker, ordered, that the Committee of the Trustees of the Theological Society of Virginia be permitted to be heard at the Bar of the House on Tuesday the 2d January, in support of the Memorial from the said Trustees.

Various Petitions were received and laid upon the table.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 20.

Many Bills of a local and private nature were read in their progress through the House.

The Report of the President and Directors of the Literary Fund was referred to a Select Committee, on motion of Mr. Scott, of York.

On Mr. Estill's motion, leave was granted to bring in a bill, the object of which is to increase the present very small salaries of the Clerks in the Auditor's, Treasurer's and Register's Offices.

Several Reports of Committees on Petitions were acted on; and sundry petitions were read and referred.

THIRD AND LAST REPORT OF FOUCLE, TO LOUIS XVIII.

[TRANSLATED FOR THE COLUMBIAN.]

SIRE—In placing before your Majesty's eyes the true, but afflicting picture of the moral and political situation of France, in pointing out the character and resources of the various factions which divide this unhappy country, I have only indicated the possibility of the existence of a court party which might counsel or favor a plan of counter-revolution.

"Every plan of this nature," I remarked, "would overthrow the throne with a tremendous crash, and would perhaps destroy our last remaining hope, the dynasty of our kings."

The existence of such a party is no longer a problem; it is generally known under the name of the PARTY OF THE PRINCES.

Europe knows, and France will never forget, with what a noble disinterestedness, truly French, your majesty defended the constitutional principles of the monarchy.

Called to the throne, your majesty followed the same system, and the constitutional charter, your work and our guaranty, proved that the happiness of the people continued to be the object of your views and meditations.

But it must be avowed, this confidence as extensive as it is well founded, inspired by the information and exalted virtues of your majesty does not extend to the members of your family.

The great majority of the French despair to find in those princes, who are to succeed your majesty, the same intentions and the same principles. This distrust, a stranger to the person of your majesty, cannot be so to your heart; and your goodness, sire, will not allow you to find enemies in those whom nature, misfortune, and gratitude have constituted your friends and protectors.

I am about to afflict your majesty; but I cannot, without betraying the confidence with which you honored me, suffer you to remain ignorant of the dangers that menace your most sacred rights. Can I fear to disclose to your majesty these evils which you alone can remedy?

Immediately after your majesty's return in 1814, a party pronounced itself emphatically against every thing that had been established since 25 years. It was enough for them to make France retrace her steps back to 1789; they wished every thing to be for the king and by the king; they sought to re-establish the Monarch with its Gothic institutions; hence those alarms so universal of the re-establishment of the feudal rights and tithes.

The French, happy in their affection for your majesty, opposed to these antiquated pretensions nothing but songs and epigrams. But soon more serious acts provoked a more serious resistance, and this conflict of force and reason, against the mad sallies of religious and political fanaticism, were suspended by the return of the usurper.

At this period, the partisans of absolute monarchy confounded in their hatred all who were not within their line, and openly boasted of the support of those persons who were nearest the throne.

All those whose interests and opinions attached them to the revolution, waited only for a chief, in order to defend their rights, which were thus directly attacked.

The elements of civil war, fermented in every quarter of France, when the usurper made his appearance at 200 leagues from the capital. He obtained, without apparent peril, without a contest, without opposition, what he would have vainly attempted to reach with a considerable army and the influence of his mighty fame.

The regrets, which then accompanied your majesty to your retreat beyond the frontiers had only your person for their object; after making the greatest efforts to maintain a footing on the French territory, the princes of your house found themselves in a most humiliating state of solitude in the south and west. Since the late return of your majesty, this party has assumed a most alarming aspect, and no longer listens to moderation or reason. The authority of your majesty has been despised, another royal government has been organized, the magistracies appointed by you were repulsed from the cities, the administration of which had been confided to them by your majesty. This government proclaimed, instead of your name, that of Monsieur and Madame. The public acclamation saluted them under the titles of king and queen of the south.—The colors of their house replaced the white of the lily, which is the national color.

Commissionaries, who usurped the title and powers of ministers, organized a magistracy and an armed force, equally foreign to your sovereignty and your will. These abuses have been confined to certain provinces, and have not passed beyond their limits. Your majesty has solemnly protested against these scandalous usurpations; but who among the guilty has been pointed out and punished? How can we confide in the sincere re-establishment of order, when foreign journals attack the personal right of your majesty to the inheritance of the throne? They no longer speak of a voluntary abdication in favor of another; but of a right independent of your will.

And this pretended right is invoked in favor of a prince in whose name was raised up that rival authority, the existence of which is proved by the numerous papers I have laid before your majesty.

What appeared, only two months since, a rash conjecture, is now an evident truth.—Who can have excited in the English journals those long discussions upon the Saïic law? In those discussions are disputed the principles of this fundamental statute of the French monarchy?

It is not a theoretical question of public law that the English journalists present this dissertation. They name you, sire, they name the princess, your niece, and doubtless without the knowledge of either.

And when we connect together the circumstances that have taken place in the south, and which have just transpired in certain parts of the north and west of France, can we for an instant doubt, that for fear of seeing a constitutional monarchy consolidated under your majesty's reign, its enemies wish to anticipate the order of succession consecrated by the usage of fourteen centuries? Was our age then destined to be that of political calamities?

The whole history of France replies to these daring innovators, whose works reach us through the English Gazettes, and which are supported and authenticated by forged acts every where circulated. Have they, then, forgotten that this law, constantly observed, by Jane, daughter of Louis Huttin? But notwithstanding these pretensions, was not Philip V. maintained upon the throne of France? Have they, then, forgotten that Edward, (king of England) vainly asserted the same pretensions as the son of Isabel of France, sister of Louis Huttin, of Philip the Long, and of Charles IV. who successively reigned and died without male children? The right of Philip of Valois, consecrated by the Saïic law, was it not proclaimed anew?

For the third and last time this law was again applied in favor of your ancestor, Henry IV. On the 28th June, 1593, a solemn act proscribed these same pretensions, hazarded by the chief of the Ligue [League] of that Ligue whose madness and fury are exactly copied by the party I have described. All these historical facts are well known to your majesty, whose profound erudition is admitted by all Europe.

Those who would trample on your legitimate right, must distrust those ministers who are most devoted to your person, and it is through the same channels that circulate the most virulent diatribes against us. Such attacks have no terrors for me; and at any other time I would not have impudently urged your majesty with them. But such is the nature of the projects formed against the right of your crown, that I am without authority as I am without enmity against their authors and protectors.

A solemn declaration, a formal disavowal, might cause every thing to be forgotten. But this declaration, this disavowal, who is to demand it? Where is information to be gathered? The attributes of my ministry cannot extend so far.

Sire, the public grief is at its height; you alone can console the French for all they have suffered. It would have been as delightful as honorable for me to have contributed to this object under your auspices.

I supplicate your majesty to receive the petition which you thought proper to confide to me, and to see in this request only an expression of my respectful devotion.

(Signed) THE DUKE OF OTRANTO.

† The dutchess of Angoulême, daughter of Louis XVI.

PARIS, NOV. 17.

It is reported that Monsieur will set off on a tour to the west at the end of the week.

The Governor of Valenciennes persists in refusing to let the Prussians enter that city.

A corps of 10,000 Russians is proceeding towards Paris to form part of the foreign garrison.

Jerome Bonaparte, who continues to reside at Elwangen, has been compelled to account to a person appointed by the king of Wurtemberg, for the large amount which he had in his hands. It has been invested in estates in Wurtemberg. The property that Jerome had bought at Trieste, and in the neighborhood, is sequestered, and will be sold. Only a small part of his property remains in his possession.

FRANKFORT, NOV. 9.

M. Carnot as well as M. Sieyes, it is ascertained, will retire within the Prussian domains, for which they have acquired the king's permission. M. Sieyes is to reside at Bonn, on the Rhine.

MURAT.—The following letter from Naples contains some particulars respecting Murat's trial and execution, not before published.

Naples, Oct. 20.

Murat landed lately on the coast of Calabria, near Pizzo, with 30 officers, mostly Corsicans—he was immediately seized and confined: on the 13th of October, at five in the evening, he was summoned before a court martial, and at 6 he was shot. 6 balls entering his head—he effected a great deal of fortitude, but on approaching the fatal scene, his firmness began to waver, and he said to the officers around, that they ought to wait the decision of the allied powers: however, finding all lost, his vanity came to his assistance, and asking those around him if he was afraid to die, and refusing to have his eyes covered, gave himself the word Fire, which was instantly executed, and he expired without a groan. He was some time before a Confessor, and wrote three letters during his confinement; and one to his wife, one to the Emperor of Austria, and one to the King here, beginning "Dear Cousin." I understand all these were instantly destroyed.

From the Liverpool Courier of Nov. 22.

France.—The trial of Ney has found its termination; not by the prisoner being found guilty or innocent, but by the court having declared its incompetency to proceed against him. The incompetency of the court was urged by the prisoner's counsel, who pleaded, that as a peer of France, he could only be tried by the Chamber of Peers. The court deliberated upon the question, and, by a majority, acknowledged the validity of the objection. Under some circumstances, perhaps this decision might have created no surprise, from the rank of peer or not is at least very disputable. If Louis has acknowledged the validity of the peerage of others of Bonaparte's creation, and still acknowledge them as peers, though they have involved themselves very considerably in treasonable practices, during the usurpation, we do not see how Ney can be considered by the French government, as no longer a peer of France; for though his conduct was more grossly treasonable, yet others were involved in the same principle, and still sit in the chamber. We apprehend, however, that the decision of the court has arisen from a disinclination in the majority of the court to finding him guilty, and that they were previously disposed to avail themselves of any plea by which they might rid themselves of an unpleasant affair.

Private letters are said to have been received from the South of France, stating the renewal of the persecutions of the Protestants in that quarter, if indeed they have been at all suspended. On the 17th of October, seven of the principal inhabitants of Nismes, protestants, were assassinated. A wretch of the name of Christian was the leader of the Catholic band of assassins on this occasion, and has since been arrested. On a former occasion, it is added, he was disclosed on account of his threatening to disclose the names of his employers. We shall now see whether the French government will bring him to justice. The duke of Angoulême is now in the south; we shall see whether this Prince so much flattered both by French and English newspapers, will clear himself of those suspicions which have been expressed respecting his political principles, by affording that protection to the protestants which the laws give them. Surely this is of sufficient importance for the interposition of the allied powers.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Nov. 17.

"The Court on both days of Ney's trial, presented a spectacle the most imposing; it was crowded with strangers of the highest distinction. Lord Castlereagh, Sir C. Stuart, the Duke of Richmond, and a great crowd of German officers of high rank, decorated with stars and ribbons, occupied the seats on the right and left of the bench. All the avenues leading to the court were strongly guarded; the force stationed in this manner must have amounted to very near 2000 men. The mention to rescue Ney is attributed to the Jacobin party. There has been a marked curious change in the tone of this party respecting him lately; when it was supposed that his life would be spared by the clemency of the king, they were clamorous for his blood; and now that it is proposed to let justice take its course, they talk of nothing but his valor, his services, and his devotion to France. This day, at 12 o'clock, he made his appearance; almost the whole audience rose from their seats; his presence produced a lively sensation, and a short pause followed. The President invited him to sit down in an arm chair placed on a small platform opposite the members of the court; he made a slight inclination of his body when invited to sit down. He wore a simple military cloak without facings; he had a piece of crape upon his arm, and also something in the form of a cockade in his cocked hat; he of course had not the white cockade. He appeared in good health, and not depressed, though occasionally agitated. He protested against the competence of the court to try him, with firmness, and in the most respectful manner; and after reading his protest from a written paper, concluded with asking the indulgence of the Court for his Advocate M. Berryer, and sat down with the utmost sang froid. A long discussion took place upon the admission of unauthentic papers, which were at length rejected by the Court."

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.

On the 5th of September, O. S. the great and venerable city of Casan was nearly reduced to ashes. A furious storm reduced all attempts to extinguish the flames fruitless. Above 1000 houses, and 21 churches, were prey to the flames. The rich depot of merchandise is also destroyed with all the goods it contained; almost all the public buildings, the buildings within the fortress, &c. The unfortunate inhabitants have made tents in the plains near the city. This dreadful catastrophe was caused by the fire in 24 hours. The storm threw fire brands through several streets.

THE REPOSITORY.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 4.

We have deferred publishing a regular detail of the debates in Congress hitherto, they having been almost exclusively occupied in receiving and referring petitions upon matters uninteresting to our readers, generally. The reports of the different Committees, however, will soon give a more interesting character to the Congressional Diary, when we shall make it our duty to publish them more in detail.

The lady of general Porlier, in Spain, like madame Labedoyere, has sunk under the weight of grief; she expired a few days after the ignominious exit of her husband.

DRUNKENNESS.

The Governor of Pennsylvania makes the following proposition to the Legislature:—"It would be a great measure prevent or at least tend to lessen the evil of drunkenness, if the property of habitual drunkards were placed in the hands of trustees, without whose consent debts subsequently contracted by such mentally diseased person should, by law, be irrecoverable."

Bourbon Piety.—Though Louis le Desirere had nothing for the body of general Labedoyere, he seems to have had a tender concern for his soul! A writer in the London Times of November 1, dating his letter from Paris, says:—"It is undoubtedly true that the king sent the sum of six hundred francs to each of the principal churches at Paris to purchase masses for the soul of Labedoyere." Oh! what a heavenly king!

ALGERINE SQUADRON

The Algerine Squadron, Cross of the St. Peter, arrived on Friday last, from the Mediterranean.

On the 13th of Oct. last, 36, between Cape de Gattand Malaga, Capt. Cross fell in with an Algerine squadron of eight frigates, was ordered on board one of them with his papers, detained but a short time, and very civilly treated. Said they were cruising for the Dutch squadron, two of whom (two frigates and a sloop of war) Capt. C. left at Alicante, Sept. 24, just arrived.

SPANISH AMERICA.

Extract of a letter from a Spanish Merchant House of great respectability at Monte Video, dated Sept. 10.

"The Revolution continues; and we are in possession of Potosi and Chuquisaca.—RONDEAU is at the head of the army which occupies those points, and an action is expected between him and the enemy. Flattering hopes are founded on it, and it is not to be doubted, if the result is happy, that part of our territory which is in possession of the enemy will be entirely free and the neighboring provinces belonging to the Vice Kingdom of Peru, will be laid open; which provinces, on two different occasions, have already revolted. No troops have been sent against us from Spain, since we have occupied Monte Video; but the interior dissensions and the variance of opinions paralyze the progress of liberty."

[In no part of the letter from which the above is extracted, is there any mention of a suspension of intercourse between Buenos Ayres and Monte Video, as recently reported. On the contrary there is mention of persons who have come from B. A.]

WASHINGTON, DEC. 27.

GENERAL JACKSON.—The General accompanied by his wife and son and Major Reid his aid-de-camp, left this city on Sunday for his residence in Tennessee. It is with great pleasure we add, that the health of the brave General is much improved since his late indisposition, and that there is every reason to hope the wishes of the people of the United States will be accomplished in his speedy restoration to perfect health. Such as only know Gen. Jackson's gallant defender of his country, will be perhaps pleased to hear that by those with whom he associated in this city, he will long be remembered with affectionate interest, for this benevolence of manners, his courteous and dignified simplicity.

WIFE ADVERTISED.

Whereas my wife Mrs. Bridget M. Dallogh, is again walked away with herself, and left me with five small children and her poor blind mother, and left nobody else to take care of house and home, and I hear, has taken up with Tim Guggan, the lame fiddler, the same that was put in the stocks last Easter, for stealing Barney Duddy's game cock.—This is to give notice, that I will not pay for bite or sup on her account to man or mortal, and that she had better never show the marks of her ten toes near my house again.

Patrick M. Dallogh.

Will be Sold, FOR the fault of the owner wanting money, a valuable young NEGRO MAN, well acquainted with the various work on a farm, and has for several years past in fall and winter, done all the shoe making for a large family. For his character and price inquire of the printer, which will be warranted, as given to him in writing.

OF THE American Revolution,

Comprehending all the Principal Events, both in the Field and in the Cabinet,

BY PAUL ALLEN, ESQ.

TO WHICH WILL BE ADDED The most important Resolutions of the Continental Congress, and many of the most interesting Letters and Orders of

GEN. WASHINGTON,

ACCOMPANIED by Documents from the Original Manuscripts of Generals Gates, Green, Hland, &c. &c. Together with many others collected by BERNARD HUBLEY, Esq. captain in the German Regiment of the Pennsylvania line, and member of the Society of Cincinnati; who, besides several Journals of his military affairs, obtained from general Edward Hand, the last adjutant general, all the General Orders, Papers, and Documents belonging to that department, from the time of the appointment of general Gates the first adjutant general.

Notwithstanding several copies of this revolutionary history have already appeared, a clear and distinct view of the sufferings and privations of the American army has not been given. The prominent events, it is true, have been fairly, faithfully, and impartially narrated, and these seem to have engrossed the attention of the writers so much that they have paid but little attention to the sufferings and privations of the army, which were so distinguished, as when our patriotic army had to endure all the rigours of an inclement season and the superadded miseries of famine and nakedness, with a victorious and insulting enemy in front. The patience, fortitude, and perseverance, with which they encountered these perils, is worthy of all praise; it is here that the character of Washington shines with its loveliest lustre. He remonstrated; he intreated; he remonstrated; and intreaty would avail, and he imposed a salutary severity which they would not. It is proposed to make this history severely American—to furnish to the reader a true picture of the sufferings of our patriotic army—to show with what invincible constancy and fortitude they encountered the severest trials; and this, it is presumed, may be successfully accomplished by the documents of the late captain Hubley.

Histories of this kind serve to establish this important fact, that it is for the government to give the tone of the nation. Amidst the dissensions of our revolutionary conflict, when nothing but famine, defeat and poverty threatened the army and the cabinet, it was reserved for a few choice and heroic spirits to be the harbingers of plenty, to reanimate confidence, and finally to give the tone of the nation. This History indicates the nature of the disaster to the country, and that our national disasters can never be too great for courage, patriotism, and political integrity, under the smiles of divine Providence to redeem. These interesting truths need no embellishments; they speak their own panegyric, and impart an impartial narrative is wanting to impress their conviction on the mind. History, when considered as a mere cold collection of facts, is scarcely worth the pains of perusal; it only demands our reverence when it enforces by example the great principles of law, justice, and policy.

CONDITIONS.

The work will be comprised in two octavo volumes, each to contain from 500 to 600 pages, printed on a fine wave paper and new type. The price to Subscribers will be three dollars per volume in boards, and three dollars and fifty cents neatly bound and lettered, payable on delivery. The Subscriber on forwarding the price received at the Printing Office, and Clerk's Office, Charles Town.

Valuable Mill Property for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his Mills on the Rappahannock River, in the county of Fauquier, eight miles south of the Court House, fifty three from Alexandria, and thirty three from Falmouth and Fredericksburgh. The improvements consist of a new Mill House, about thirty feet square, with two pair of five-foot stones, and all the necessary machinery for manufacturing flour—an excellent new Saw Mill, and a large stone Mill House, at present out of repair—There are FIFTY ACRES OF LAND attached to the Mills, but any further quantity desired might be had with them on either side of the river. The local advantages which this property possesses over any other water property in the Counties of Fauquier, or Culpepper, are universally acknowledged by all acquainted with it—Situated immediately at the ford, where the great road leading from the fertile parts of Culpepper and Shenandoah, to Falmouth and Fredericksburgh, crosses the Rappahannock, upon a constant and powerful stream, affording in the most trying seasons an abundant supply of water—entirely untroubled by any other mill, there being no manufacturing mill within ten miles in any direction, in a fine wheat country, the improvement of which is rapidly progressing from the use of plaster and clover, and having a most unexampled share of country work, yielding to its proprietor annually from 12 to 15000 bushels of all kinds of grain, with a constant and increasing demand, all times are increased so as to keep constantly employed any mill which may be erected thereon, holds out to a purchaser acquainted with the management of such property, the fairest prospect of a profitable investment of capital. The subscriber's price and terms of payment, which will be made to suit the purchaser, as well as the situation and value of this property, can be known on application to Casper W. Wever, Esq. near Charlestown, Jefferson County, or Charles Tyler, Esq. Alexandria, or to the subscriber residing at the spot.

JOHN C. SCOTT,
