GIVE HIM THE BAG.

A young female Michiganian was sent to Massachusetts a few weeks ago by her parents to be educated at a boarding school near Boston. Awkward, perverse, illiterate, and very green, she was at once the aversion, and the butt of the other girls. It happened that a frequenter of the board-ing school was a good looking Boston dentist, of some pretensions, who wished to get him a rich wife from among the pupils. Aware of his mer-cenary motives, and determined to punish him, the young ladies led him to believe, that their new classmate from Michigan was an heiress.— This was enough for the handsome dentist. He This was enough for the handsome dentist. The immediately laid siege to the heart of the 'Wol-verine,' and confiding in her ignorance of etiquette, made her a present, among other things, of some money to buy her a bag with, meaning something of the reticule order. Highly delighted with the liberality of the 'hose with store clothes on,' (as she first called him,) the girl confided the fact to three or four of her new companions. Coffee bags had already become quite fashionable for her skirts, and her companions requested her to procure one, 'to make her dress stick out,' as he was pretty smart himself, and doubtless desired "his girl' to appear so. A few evenings after-wards the dentist escorted the Wolverine to an evening party, in which there was a fair repre-sentation from the boarding school. Every thing went smooth with him, until his partner threw off her cloak and bonnet, and entered the room where the company was assembled. Here his attention was attracted by the half-suppressed tit-tering of the school-girls, and the wonder express-ed in the eyes of the others. Glancing inquisi-tively at his companion, who felt as grand as Lu-cifer, he was mortified and enraged to see her ague-marked complexion set off in horrible contrast with a profusion of green ribbon bow knots on her head, while her dress stuck out like the famous Spouting Horn of Nahant. Mad as a March hare, he soon left her with an expression of disgust, and passed the remainder of the evening at a whist table in another of the suite of rooms The Michigan girl who was clear grit, was mad enough to tear the eyes out of her' true heartmad enough to tear the eyes out of her 'true heart-ed false lover,' but she was persuaded by her con-fidents not to do any thing violent. Their advice was that she should return his present, and 'give him the sack' or dismissal. 'Return him the pre-sents and give him the sack too ?' said she; 'Dod rot him I'll do it 'fore the hull crowd.' She went Gala Pl out, and in a few moments went into the room, where the companions were gathered around the card tables expecting a scene. A wonderful change had taken place in her dress, and she was now straight up and down as a loon's leg. Ad-vancing to the astonished dentist with a queer looking bundle under her arm, she threw down a pencil chain and locket on the table, exclaiming contemptuously, There's your presents, Mr. _____, and there, continued the indignant Wolverine unfolding the mysterious bundle, before the as-tonished company, and throwing it over the head of the petrified dentist, there's your old coffee bag! won't w'ar it another minute. Everybody was convulsed with laughter at this new method of 'giving the sack' except the un-fortunate dentist. He sloped immediately and has not been seen in this village since. [Boston Bee.

THE HERO'S ORPHAN GIRLS. On, lady! buy these budding flowers; For I am cold, and wet, and weary; I gathered them ers break of day, When all was lonely, still and dreary; And long have sought to sell them here, To purchase clothes, and food, and dwelling, For Valor's wretched orphan girls-Poor me, and my young sister Ellen.

Ah ! those who tread life's thornless way,

In fortune's golden sunshine basking, May deem that misery wants not aid, Because her lips are mute---unasking; They pass along, and if they gaze, "Tis with an eye all hope repelling; Yet once a crowd of flatterers fawned, And fortune smiled on me and Ell

Oh, buy my flowers! they are fresh and fair As mine and morning's tears could keep them; To-morrow's sun will view them dend, And I shall scarcely live to weep them! Yet this sweet bud, if nursed with care, Soon into fulness would be swelling, And nurtured by some generous hand, So might my little sister Ellen.

So might my little sister Ellen. She sleeps within a hollow tree— Her only home—its leaves her bedding: And I've no food to carry there, To soothe the tears she will be shedding! EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.—Gen. La Vega, it is understood, has been officially notified by his Government, that Captain Carpender and the crew of the Truxton have been exchanged for him and his fellow prisoners of war, who were taken at Resaca de la Palma, and they are only waiting the ratification of the agreement by our Government, to leave for their country.

NEW RAILROAD INVENTION .- Mr. Joseph Gre-nell, of Newark, (N. J.,) has invented and patented au improvement in the method of constructing the rails of Railroads, which promises to reduce the cost, and at the same time, increase their sta-bility and security. The plan, among other ad-vantages, allows of the same rail being used on one edge first, and when that is worn on one sur-face to be changed top and bottom, and again and vantage is built and bottom, and again and security and pain and guilt which she the face to be changed top and bottom, and again re-versed; by this he has four wearing sides or sur-faces, to one rail. The mode of fastening the face to be changed top and bottom, and again re-versed; by this he has four wearing sides or sur-faces, to one rail. The mode of fastening the ends of the rails together is said to afford perfect security against looseness. ROTARY STEAM ENGINE.—Among the many at-tempts made to perfect a rotary steam engine, we believe the most successful has been brought out in this city within a few days. The engine to proceed to be the most successful has been brought out in this city within a few days.

we are assured they can, Dr. Schnebley's discov-ery will rank equal to Watt's. For steamboats, locomotives and factories, the Rotary Engine is a desideratum; for it occupies only one-tenth the space and saves at least one-fourth the fuel required for an engine built in the ordinary mode. vantages so important as these will be appreciated by every person interested in machinery N. CARGO OF YANKEE NOTIONS .- All Yankeedom was represented in the cargo of the packet ship St. Petersburgh, which sailed from Boston on Satur-day, with 20,500 bushels Indian corn, 300 hlds. tallow, 1500 barrels flour, 1200 do. naval stores, 500 do. apples, 400 do. sperm oil, 300 do. lard, 100 do. grease, 30 do. shoe pegs, 100 do. onlons, 60 cases clocks, 150 rocking chairs, 15,000 lbs. wool, besides sundry small lots of Yankee notions, and 50 steerage passengers.

SNOW ON THE MOUNTAINS .- In Delaware county, N. Y., last week, the mountains were covered with snow, the thermometer down to 20, and ice halfan inch thick on the ponds.

MRS. MYERS-JUST SENTIMENTS. The following very just remarks concerning the recent unfortunate affair at Richmond, are extracted from an article by the editor of the New York

Mirror : * * "Mrs. Myers was a woman of respectable talents and some cultivation ; but it must strike every one who reads her letters, that she was of a romantic rather than of a passionate nature. Her mind must have been poisoned by the perusal of bad romances. Her letters might be incorporated into a Bulwer novel, without producing an incongru-ous effect. They are compositions rather than outgoing the reason of the second second believe the most successful has been brought out in this city within a faw days. The engine fo which we allude is the result of many years labor and investigation by Dr. Schnebley, the editor of the Hagerstown (Md.) Pledge. Celebrated engi-neers in this country, as well as in England and France, have given the most favorable opinions of it; and so far as we are able to judge, from wit-messing experiments with a small engine of one and a half horse power, we are very favorably im-pressed with its utility. If the same proportionate results can be accomplished in a large eugine, and we are assured they can, Dr. Schnebley's discor-ery will rank equal to Watt's. For steamboats, ments have been made in the physical and mental education of girls; but still there is a frightful amount of suffering, disease and vice, caused sole-ly by the errors of education, which are not suf-mental to have a gain the sole of pected to have an existence, until some startling exposure, like the recent tragedy in Richmond, gives the alarm to the public, and people look about them and begin to inquire why it is that such un-natural monsters are found in the most highly favored and best educated families in the country. There are many blessed exceptions, we know, to the general rule ; and we know, too, that much is done by many noble minded women to reform the abuses which have been so prolific of vice and wretchedness. But much remains to be done, and every man and woman who preceives the evils of society as at present constituted, and can trace them to their true source, is bound to become a reformer, and by personal industry, simplicity and truthfulness, to set an example which will act more powerfully upon the minds of others, than any sermon that was ever preached behind a vel-vet cushion."

EXPENSES OF THE WAR.

Several of the partisan newspapers are greatly alarmed about the expenses of the present war. They tell us that the Treasury is or will soon be empty, and that the war, should it continue for six months longer, would involve the nation in a debt entirely beyond its resources. This would indeed be a terrible catastrophe to a nation which, since the organization of its government about sixty years ago, has never been delinquent in a single instalment of interest. We should then forced into it by the beginner, Mexico, with arms enough for a million of soldiers, and munitions enough to supply them during a long campaign. Our arsenals contain more than a million of muskets, and swords, and other equipments in due proportion. The arsenal of Washington alone contains powder and ball enough for ten years of war with Mexico ; and all the other arsenals contain enough to supply a hundred thousand men for five years. In "shooting irons" of all kinds, from bombs and "peace makers" to horse pistols. in cannon carriages, in swords, cutlass es and IRELAND—Deplorable Picture.—The National Intelligencer publishes the following extract of a letter from county Roscommon, in Ireland, to a citizen of Washington, dated Oct. 30, 1846: "Never had we such accounts to send as in this have a provision sufficient for a war of five years present year. Ireland is visited from north to south, from east to west, with a most direful fa-mine: the poor are living in many parts on cab-bages and salt, and many of them dying on the highroads, in the fields, and in the towns, of Irish expenses for the army will be those of subsistence and transportation, while those for the navy will not much exceed the appropriations required in peace. What then will be the necessities of new expen diture? About 20,000 men are already called out: and 20,000 more may be required for the next six months, though we do not believe it.... These 20,000 officers and men will require during that period, for clothing, pay and subsistence, about $150 to each, or $3,000,000. They will also cost for transportation, at $20 to each, $400, 000. They will require 500 baggage wagons at $150, or $75,000; 100 mules at $75, or $37,000; 1000 horses for wagons at $50, or $50,000; 3000 tents at $10, or $30,000; 3000 horses and equipments for dragoons, cavalry and artillery at $100, or $300,000; $1,500,000 for the purchase and hire of steamboats and other vessels, and $500,-000 for contingencies. This makes an aggregate of about $6,000,000. Then if 40,000 men are in the field for the next six months, at about $12.in the field for the first six months, at about $12, 000,000, and the 20,000 already out since May, or six months, have cost $6,000,000, the whole expenses for one year for 20,000 men in the first half of it, and 40,000 in the second, will not ex-ceed $18,000,000. And if only 20,000 men are in the field for the next six months, the whole ex-mands and the field 0000. pense will be only $12,000,000. Our readers will remember that $10,000,000 were appropriated for the war, beyond the ordinary expenses of the ar-my and navy in peace. And hence they will per-ceive that when Congress next meets, little more than half of this sum will be spent. Beginning the next session with about $3,000,-000 of the previous appropriation, and requiring less than $6,000,000 for a war during the size months ensuing, with an annual revenue of about $25,000,000, we shall not be so terribly in debt as these croakers predict .- Ledger. NEWSPAPERS .- The newspapers are the chroni-NEWSPAPERS.—The newspapers are the chroni-cles of civilization, the common reservoir into which every stream pours its living waters, at which every man can come and drink.—it is the newspaper that gives to liberty its practical life.— its constant observation—its perpetual vigilance. The newspaper is a daily and sleepless watchman, that reports every danger which menaces the insti-tutions of our country, and its interests at home and abroad. The newspaper informs the Legis-lature of the public opinion, and informs the peo-ple of the acts of legislation, thus keeping up con-stant sympathy between constituents and repre-sentatives, which conducts to the maintainance of order, and prevents the stern necessity for revoorder, and prevents the stern necessity for revo-

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

This very popular aphorism (says the Scientific American) which was first rendered popular by Franklin, takes a new impulse every now and then, and still keeps passing round, but we consid-er it a very mean and injudicious maxim, in its er it a very mean and injudicious maxim, in its common acceptation, nevertheless; for it invaria-bly implies inattention to anything pertaining to other people's affairs. Hence, if one presumes to take motibe of any of the common abuses of privilege practised by others, the response is, "mind your own busines." The miser who has hoarded up heaps of gold, when solicited to re-lieve the suffering family of a sick neighbor, says, "The every man mind his own business." The earman who is complement of for driving furiouscarman who is complained of for driving furiously through the streets, really wishes that people would mind their own business. If a rum-seller is reproved of for dealing madness, misery, and death, to his imprudent neighbors, his first thought and desire is, that folks would "mind their own

And even if a public preacher, in the course instruction and enlightening his audience, ances to allude to the errors of another denomination, or bears too hard on the follies and vices of a portion of his congregation, the first expression of sentiment that is heard from those interested, is, that the preacher should just " mind his own business." If a man abuses his family, his apprentices, his slaves, or his horses, and any no-tice is taken thereof, he is fully convinced that it is proper for every one to "mind their own busi-hess.". In fine there is no parameters and inhe popular sentiment, that every man should "mind his own business."

tiful or exquisite that I know of, than that which is derived from the change of the seasons—from the second life that bursts forth in spring, in objects apparently dead; and from the shadowing forth, apparently dead; and from the sliadowing forth, in the renovation of every thing around us, of that destiny which Divine Revelation calls upon our failt to believe shall yet be ours. The trees that have faded and remained dark and gray through the long and dreary lapse of winter, clothe them selves again with green in the spring sunshine, and every hue speaks of life. The budy that were trampled down and faded, burst forth once more in freshness and beauty ; the streams break from the ley chains that held them, and the glorious sun himself comes wondering from his far journey, giving summer, and warmth and fertility, and magnificence, to every thing around. All that we see breathes the same hope, and every thing we behold rekindles into life.

ored Spaniard, with eyes and gestures, and the occasional aid of an interpreter, so vigorously urg-ed his suit, that on the second day out from New Orleans the widow surrendered, and on the following day, there happening to be a Justice of the Peace on board, they were married. The joyful bridegroom regaled the passengers and officers of the boat with champagne and other delicacies, and spent his money freely. And well he might, for, with the buxom widow, he also got possession of forty thousand dollars in gold, which, on his coming on board, she had deposited in the clerk's office.

"Never had we such accounts to send as in this present year. Ireland is visited from north to cholera and various other complaints, in consequence of such food, and very many have not even much of that sort, bad as it is. The potatoes in toto perished; indeed, they are totally in Ireland. I had myself ten acres of the finest seed in the country and the most promising appearance, and in two nights the blight visited them and they were reduced to snuff. I will not get one stone of potatoes in the whole field.--Such is the state all over the country-hundreds of acres rotted in twenty-four hours. The poor (that is, five-sixths of the whole population) are living as above on bad vegetables or Indian meal, The poor to which there was in the beginning the greatest possible objection, but hunger and the want of better overcame every reluctance. For the last month there was no importation of Indian meal, For the las and the people congregate in hundreds and thou-sands, break into mills and bakers' shops, and sands, break into mills and bakers' slops, and force away all the meal and bread they can lay hold of; the military and police are called out to protect the property of those persons, and in many places lives were lost; the unfortunate people fired at and stabbed by the military. Such is the awful and deplorable state of this your native country. God only knows when this awful and appalling state of things will case. Life and appalling state of things will cease. Life and property are at stake. "Will you write to me and inform me what prospects there are of our getting a sufficient sup-ply of Indian meal or potatoes from the U. States? Was the harvest of this year in America abun-dant or defective ? I have seen in a Washington paper that in 1845 the official returns of the In lian meal was fifty-two millions of quarters, and this year's crop would exceed it by eighteen mil-lions. This, if true, is consoling; as, if that be so, we may hope for a sufficient supply from your present country."

Excessive EATING .- Commissioners have been appointed to examine into the accounts of the agents having the Camanche Indians in charge .-agents having the Camanche Indians in charge.— One of the witnesses Mr. Robert Cook, said I have seen a Prairie Indian eat and destroy, upon his arrival in camp, fifteen pounds of beef in twenty-four hours. I am further of opinion that they will eat, daily, ten pounds through the year. Major Armstrong stated that they each consume from six to eight pounds of meat per day, and generally they eat meat alone. Capt. Duvall, who has lived 20 years among them says that a Prairie Indian. 20 years among them says that a Prairie Indian, particularly the Osage, often eats from ten to fif-teen pounds of meat in the course of twenty-four hours, and when greatly fatigued, could consume from five to six pounds at a meal.

CALL OF TROOPS.

The Washington Union of Monday, states that requisitions have been sent out from the War Department, calling into the service of the United States nine additional regiments of volunteers to serve during the war with Mexico, unless sooner discharged. They are asked for from the following States :

One regiment of infantry from Massachusetts : One regiment of infantry from the State of New York :

One regiment of infantry from Pennsylvania; One regiment of infantry from Virginia; One regiment of infantry from North Carolina One regiment of infantry frem South Carolina; One regiment of infantry from Louisiana ; One regiment of infantry from Mississippi ; an

One regiment of mounted men from Texas. From the above it will be seen that an opportu nity is yet to be offered the brave and gallant sons of Virginia, to take part in defending the rights and the honor of their country. We doubt not as to the response which will be given. Jefferson should share in the glory of furnishing at least one company in the proposed Regiment. Capt. Rowan was among the first to report his company to the Executive of the State, and if, by any cause he has been disappointed in raising the requisite number, immediate steps should be taken to make up any deficit. We have heard also a project suggested, to raise an additional company, to be placed under the command of an officer of experience, and one enjoying in a high degree the confidence of the community. Should this effort be made, we doubt not its entire success. Be active then, as no time is to be lost. The "Potomac Rifle," of Shepherdstown, a new and beautiful company just organized, under the command of Major Hamtramck, will doubtless proffer their services, as we learn that the company was mainly gotton up with a view to taking part in our Mexican difficulties, should occasion offer.

STAUNTON CONVENTION.

In consequence of the course pursued by many of the counties in the State, leaving the Delegates appointed to the August Convention to represent them in the one to be held at Staunton on the 2d December next, no meeting was held at the Court-House on Monday last. Again, the Court being in session near the whole day, and the speakers expected to participate in the meeting being professionally engaged, it was found impracticable, and deemed unnecessary, to convene a meeting merely for the purpose of appointing Delegates. Our friends of Berkelev, who were appointed in July last. expect to be in attendance at the Convention in considerable strength, and we hope this county may be fully represented. Below we furnish a list of Delegates previously appointed :-

the greatest portion of Munster presents, at this moment the appearance of a slumbering volcano. The difficulties of the Ministry.—Lord John Russell and Lord Cottenham, at the cabinet coun-cil on Wednesday, urged earnestly the constitu-tional necessity for an early session of Parliament, before Christmas, not only to obtain an act of inbefore Christmas, not only to obtain an act of in-demnity for Lord Blessborough's extension of the labor-rate act, but also to obtain a parliamentary sanction for the reduction of the 4s. duty on im-ported grain. The council broke up without com-ing to any definite resolution. At the meeting of the Ministry on Thursday, the subject was resumed, and on this latter occa-sion the opponents of an early session had the advantage of Mr. Bancroft's arrival from the Uni-ed States with intelligence that the meeting of ted States with intelligence that the supplies of grain collected in the American ports for exportagrain collected in the American ports for exporta-tion is so ample as to render it extremely prob-able that the supply was equal to any demand that could be made, consequently this removed ne-cessity for the reduction of the duty, thus relievfor calling an early session. Another step in what he is said to call the administration of a despotism. The objections to an early session have been most anxiously pressed by the Irish secretary, and the other ministers connected with the govern-ment of Ireland, and with some show of reason they allege, with reasons that an early session must embroil them with Mr. O'Connell and his must emotion them with Mr. O'Connen and his adherants and thus depressing the cabinet of its principal support. It is not only on the side of Ireland that there are such difficulties threatening the administration at the assembling of Parlia-

the administration at the assembling of Faria-ment, whether early or late. We have the testimony of the Mill Owner's Journal to the fact that a feeling of the necessity of reducing produce and wages between thirty and forty per cent., for such must be the effect of working four days instead of six, is rapidly spread-ing and here in a such a such a such as the series of the se ing, and becoming almost universal. This seri-ous reduction in the amount of wages contempo-raneous with a steady advance in the price of the principal necessaries of llfe is not calculated to of the popular branch of the legislature.

A third objection to an early session may come from Lord Palmerston, who may not be desirous of explaining the process by which he has man-aged to give the French government and people a triumph. Destructive Floods in France.-We have most disastrous and melancholy accounts of the conse-quences of a flood which had occurred in the Loire, the waters of which had suddenly risen to a height exceeding any thing known for a centu-ry back. The Loire and its tributaries have been the principal theatres of this phenomenon, and have produced inundations exceeding any known by the oldest citizens of the department of Allier, Leeir and Elochien. In a single night the waters of the Loire itself rose twenty French feet.

Young's majority for Governor 10,876. The Whigs and Abolitionists have elected 74, and the Democrats 54 members, to the Assembly.

We would especially call the attention of our Whig friends, who are crowing over the great victory in New York, to the following extract from the Express, one of the leading Whig papers in New York. Our defeat, as this extract proves, was caused by a combination of "half a dozen different parties." All the isms, in New York, were brought to bear against us. Abolitionism, Anti-Rentism, Fourierism, National Reformism, &c., &c.

If the Express is to be believed, Mr. Clay will not rejoice as much at this glorious victory as some of his late warm admirers have done.

"If the Whigs have succeeded in electing their candidate for Governor, we shall watch with some in which he will develope curiosity the manner himself. He has half a dozen different parties to please, besides a controversy with the friends of Mr. Clay to manage. He is brought forward by that faction of the Whig party who are determin-ed to push Mr. Clay aside as a candidate for the Presidency, and will be a tool in their hands throughout the term of his office."

NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

The N. Y. Commercial Advertiser says that "negro suffrage has been decided against by a large majority." Young, the Whig Antirent candidate openly avowed himself in favor of that suffrage, and thereby secured the support of the Aboditionists. Hear what he says in a speech in reply to Mr. Comstock, of Oneida, upon certain proposed amendments of the Constitution, in Assem bly, April 7th, 1845:

"But he [Comstock] also fears the Abolitionists. I do not exactly understand the position of that gentleman, and I do not know but what he may call me an Abolitionist. 1 never heard there was any apprehension of danger from the enlargement of suffrage. Neither do I know any reason why the color of the skin should determine the right of a man to vote, nor how far that principle ould be applied to the Anglo-Saxon race, and how little tinge there must be in the skin before a man is allowed to vote. If this is the Abolition ism he fears I frankly tell him that I do not fear it. If we open wide the doors to adopted citizens. why shall we not embrace the same benevolent object. those who only happen to differ somewhat from us in color? What else Abolitionism has to do with our Constitution, I leave to the ingenuity of the gentleman to settle. On THE BROAD QUESTION OF THE RIGHT OF THE COLORED MAN TO VOTE, I CAN ONLY SAY THAT IF HE DENIES IT, I DIF-FER FROM HIM.

JOHN S. PENDLETON, ESQ.

This gentleman is out in a long address in the Alexandria Gazette, in which he declares himself a candidate for Congress in the Loudoun district .-Mr. Pendleton argues ably and eloquently, and disinterestedly we doubt not, in favor of what he calls the Virginia custom of re-election. He advocates conventions, and seems a little afraid that Col. McCartey will run on his own hook.

Sickles, Rutherford and Carpentier. To make up Mike's loss on the Democratic side, however, he received a very extensise support from the whigs, who had tickets with his name in the place of one of their own men, at every poll in the city It was boasted by his friends that his whig gain would more than counterbalance his Democratic loss, and some bets were made on that issue.' We think the success of the blackguard Mike

Walsh, almost as much to be deplored as the defeat of the talented Wright.

FINE SHEEP.

The enterprising and intelligent farmers of Clarke county, are giving, as all should do, proper attention to the crossing of their Sheep, Cattle, Horses, &c. The Sheep spoken of below, were purchased but a short time since by Mr. Otterback, at about $10 per head. ' The citizens of Washington will enjoy a rich treat, when they are privi-

The country cannot produce better .-I shall have (during this winter) the finest and the best mutton that was ever exhibited in our mar-ket, or any where else in the United States, according to the number. I have purchased several lots of as good graziers as any in the country, which reside in Clarke county, Va. A lot of thir-ty head, of Col. Josiah W. Ware, I dare the country to beat. This stock of Sheep is said to be o Cotswold breed. I have another lot of Col Edward J. Smith, sixty head in number, which is hard to beat. This stock is of the Bakewell and Southdown. Also, another lot of Dr. McCor-mick, of the best Southdown ; and several other notes, of the same quality, all of which I shall ex-hibit at my Stall during the winter. I have spared no pains in selecting them myself. ELECTION OF COMMISSIONERS .- Messrs GEORGE W. P. CUSTIS, FRANCIS L. SMITH and ROBERT BROCKETT, were elected on the 11th, to represent the interests of the Town and County of Alexandria, before the Legislature of Virginia, at its next against all our endeavors for peace, and while we were defending our own soil, which it would have the names of wells been highly criminal to abandon to foreign invasion. While, then, we have no hope of convincing the Republican of the justice of the war, we deem it proper to recapitulate the grounds upon which we base our claim to the territory between the Nueces and the Rio Grande, which General Taylor was ordered to hold and protect. First, the Treaty between Houston and Santa Anna, by which the Rio Grande, throughout its whole length, was made the boundary between Texas and Mexico, and this boundary was also recognized by the Texan Congress of 1836. deed, the territory between the Nueces and the Rio Grande, was represented in the Convention in Texas, and in the Texan Congress, and called San Patricio. After the Annexation of Texas, the United States' revenue laws were thrown over it, and provision made for a superintendent or inspector, South of the Nueces. It was part and parcel of the ancient province of Louisiana, ceded by France to the United States, for a valuable consideration. Jefferson and Madison recognized the Rio Grande as the true and original limit of Louisiana, and contended that Spain never had a right to any possession beyond that river.

We admitted Texas with that territory into the Union, and, as such, she was previously recog-nized as an independent nation by England, France and Holland.

In sending our army, then, to protect that territory, which was clearly a part of the U. States, the President acted in exact conformity to his solemn oath.

But, says the Republican, had Gen. Taylor remained at Corpus Christi, (itself beyond the Neuces,) there would have been no conflict of arms .-This theory is disproved by the fact, that des patches from the Mexican President to General Arista were intercepted, in which instructions were given to the latter to cross the Rio Grande, which was accordingly done, and the first act o war consummated on the part of Meixco. For our lives, with these facts before us, we cannot see the "flagrant injustice" of this war, as far as our country is concerned.

ATTACK ON ALVARADO.

Com. Conner made another attack on Alvara do, but like the first, it has proven abortive. The channel was so filled with sand bars, that the vessels under his command ran aground, one of which was exposed to the Mexican fire for some hours but was at length gotten off safe. It was a blood less attack, as no lives are believed to have been of the preparation of Cotton as a substitute for lost on either side.

The failure of this enterprise is attributed alto gether to the natural defences of the place, and the inefficiency of means at the disposal of Com. Con-enough to pass the bar of the river. It will yet be taken, however, in spite of all obstacles that may be presented.

Commodore Moore, of the Texas Navy, took Alvarado at one time with two small Baltimore built vessels, and levied a contribution of $50,000

paratory to the opening of the session, on the 1st Monday (7th) of December next, and many mem-bers are already in Washington. Among those who have arrived is Mr. J. W. Davis, the Speaker of the House, EXPORTS .- During the first five days of the present month, there were shipped from New York, near 100,000 bushels of wheat and corn, and upwards of 15,000 barrels of flour. The value of exports from Philadelphia during the month of October, amounted to $1,730,000, nearly the whole of which was in breadstuffs and provisions.

A PITIABLE SIGHT .- Last Saturday evening the cars from Manchester to Concord, N. H. brought three young boys chained and handcuffed together, the oldest about 16 and the youngest about 10 years old. They were on their way to the State prison, to serve three years for steal-

MEXICAN FLAGS .- Commodore Sloat brought with him to Washington the flags which he took at Monterey, on the Pacific. The Union states that they are the coarsest, flimsiest, most unsightly pieces of bunting which ever bore the name of a national flag. How different from the brilliant stars and stripes of our own country !

GEN. KEARNY is not a Whig but a Democrat. So says the St. Louis Republican. But no matter, he is a brave man, and a genuine patriot. That is sufficient, let his politics be what they may.

OF We are pleased to have it in our power to announce that the revival of religion in the M. E. Church in this place, still goes on. Up to this time, there are about forty converts, and many mourners are still at the altar of prayer. We rejoice in the prosperity of this holy cause ; and we have great hope that the work is real, and will be young. The revival possesses this peculiar char-

That is the way to conquer the hearts, as well as the country of our enemies !

EXPLOSIVE COTTON .--- A letter from Berlin in the Boston Courier unravels the whole mystery

"The preparation is said to be much stronger than powder, and possess the great advantage of not soiling the gun barrel. Professor Otto, of Brunswick, has disclosed the whole mystery ; say ng that as soon as he heard of it, he went to ex perimenting, and having succeeded in his research es, he publishes the results immediately, in detestation of a scientific man, who would make science built vessels, and levied a contribution of $50,000 on the inhabitants. Commodore Conner has twice failed, in consequence of having no vessels small enough to pass the bar of the river. It will yet becomes as explosive as gunpowder, and if fine and well prepared, it will explode by being struck with a hammer upon an anvil."

from Europe to the East Indies. Mr. Whitney's suggestion is, to take Lake Michigan as the starting point of the Railroad; but a writer in the American of Friday last, proposed a location which if he be correct, would be superior, and more decidedly to the interest of Baltimore. He suggests that the contemplated road to Oregon can be made to connect with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. We give the following extracts from his communication :- Baltimore Clipper.

In cheapness, greathess, and national advan tage the following may surpass the plan proposed and prove, under our Constitution, the only feasi ble plan. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, when completed, will unite one of the safest and best ports of the country with the Ohio River. The ine of communication from the Ohio will be the

by the Oregon to the Ocean. The distance from the points of the navigable water of the Branches of the Missouri and Oregon is less than three hundred miles; and along the pass nature has per formed nearly every preparation required for the laying of the road.

The formation of this road, requiring so compa ratively little labor and expense, will at once give to the trade and travel of Oregon communication with every important point in this country-and to the East India trade a direct and cheap route to Europe. B.

EXPLOSIVE COTTON .- A correspondent of the New York Commercial, alluding to some recent experiments with gun cotton, says that by the nicest tests, it was ascertained that the explosive power of the gun cotton was greater than of gun-powder, in the proportion of fifty grains of the for-mer to one hundred and twenty of the latter; that is to say, that 50 grains of the cotton are as effi-cient as 120 grains of the powder. A ball was fired from a musket with cotton through an oak plank five inches thick. DEAD .--- We notice among the deaths at San Augustine city, Texas, that of Mr. Samuel Benton, only brother of the Hon. Thomas H. Benton aged 60 years. He was at one time a member of The Texas Congress.

ARREST OF RICHARD J. TURNER.—This young man, formerly clerk in the Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore, charged with defrauding that institu-tion out of a large sum of money, and for whose arrest $1000 was offered, has been takon prisoner. Ho was arrested on Saturday last at Kingston, Canada, by Jacob Cook, of the firm of Cook, Zell & Ridgley, Baltimore, assisted by Mr. Germine, an officer of the Province. He was taken on board a steamer about starting for Upper Canada. Mr. Cook had no difficulty in bringing him back to Baltimore, where he arrived this morning. The accused was committed to jail by Justice Dural. We learn that John Nelson, Esq., is his counsel. [Baltimore Patriot.]

and thrilling interest. A Russian deserted to the Circassians, Baki Delifusengi by name, who, obtaining influence with the various tribes, has been raised to an important command, has made a successful razzia on the Russian possessions. London Corn Exchange, Friday, October 30.-A liberal arrival of foreign oats has completely frustrated any advance generally asked for Irish during the week, and we experienced a slow trade at our previous currency. White peas are in good request. Egyptian beans are from 1s. to 2s. dearer. No change in the value of other grain. Liverpool Corn Exchange, Friday, Oct. 30 .-At this day's market the millers, who are now tolerably well in stock, appeared determined unanimously to remain on the reserve. The wheat trade was consequently languid and had sales been feasible beyond a very limited amount, many holders would have accepted easier terms. flour, was unaltered in value ; but States and Ca-nadian being more difficult of sale than usual, all description of this article, both free and in bond, much higher rates, but having little or none o prime quality remaining here no certain prices for the moment can be formed.

Grinding Barley, Beans and Peas, attended by occasional sales, fully sustained last current rates; and Oat Meal meeting very little notice, this morning were in turn cheaper. Indian Corn would be taken freely for Ireland, there being several cau-ses, which in the absence of supplies cannot be executed for the present, although if practicable, somewhat higher prices might be obtained.

ARRIVAL OF THE ACADIA.

Four days Later-Price of Flour, Corn, Cotton, &c.

From the Baltimore Sun of Wednesday. The steamer Acadia arrived at Boston yesterday morning at half past 9 o'clock, having sailed from Liverpool on the 4th instant, and making the passage from shore to shore in the brief space of twelve days and eighteen hours.

The Acadia having left Liverpool only four days behind the Great Western she brings but little later news, and her political news is of but slight interest. Our correspondent at Boston having received the news by the Great Western, by telegraph, previous to the arrival of the Acadia, has sent us only the variations in the prices of the market quotations, which are as follows :---

Flour and Grain .- American flour in bond, 33s. per bbl.; free flour, 34s. to 34s. 6d. per bbl., corn (duty paid) 35s. per 480 lbs. Cotton.—Ordinary Orleans and Mobile 5d. to 5§d.; do. fair 6‡d. to 6įd.; do. good from 6įd. to

From the above it will be seen that there has been no material change in the price of either cotton or flour during the time, intervening be-tween the departure from Liverpool of the steamers Great Western and Acadia.

THE SELF-MADE MAN .- John Young, the Governor elect of New York, was born of poor pa-rents; he qualified himself as a teacher in a Com-mon country school, was elected a member of the State Legislature, then a member of Congress, and is now Governor of the principal State in the

For the Spirit of Jeffersor CONVENTION-No: 2.

MR. EDITOR :--- In my first number on the subject of a Convention, I attempted to prove that the Legislature, in its attempts to regulate by law, the basis on which the proposed Convention should meet, had attempted the exercise of a power not given it by the Constitution or Bill of Rights ; but in violation of both, as well as the rights of a majority of the people-and that this question of organization belonged exclusively upon every consideration of right and justice, to the Convention when it assembled. I do not propose to discuss this question further at the present time, but rather in this No. to call the attention of your readers to one of the reforms which should be recommended by the Convention when it meets, viz : the extension of the right of suffrage. I am in favor of universal suffrage." I hold it to be the right of every free white man, inhabiting the Commonwealth of Virginia, to have it in his power to say yea or nay as to who shall rule over, govern and legislate for him, and that cilizenship gives evidence sufficient of " permanent interest in," and " attachment to" the community in which such man resides-that this right flows directly from the nature of the principles which lie at the foundation of our government .--and that every infringement of this right, is in direct opposition to the cardinal principles of Republicanism. The first government that ever was formed, owed its existence to the consent of the governed-thus writes every writer on the subject -this consent of the governed is also acknowledged by every American politician, as necessary to the formation of every political association .-We are not informed how many were required to consent, but only that the consent of the governed was necessary. As all were governed, the conclusion would seem to be, that all consented. By what parity of reason, then, can it be shown, that all the citizens should not have the same weight, influence and interest in the future management of that government, which they had in its formation ? If you can deprive one man of the right of suffrage, you can, by the same law, deprive five out of six, and thus throw the whole authority into the hands of a small minority. But surely this is not Republicanism, and still less is it in obedience to the received doctrine that a majority shall govern.

This thing called government was instituted This thing called government was instituted to protect persons as well as property—liberty as well as title deeds—political as well as civil rights. We declared in the days of our Revolution that re-presentation and taxation should go together, which simply meant, that we would not be taxed without our consent. If there was truth in the sentiment then, time has hallowed that truth, and made it concales. made it gospel now. All persons are the subjects of taxation, whether they have or have not proper-ty. All then should be entitled to participate in this representation, that is, to say who shall represent them, and what the character of that representation shall be. But in this State, a large number of citizens have no vote—they are never-theless the annual subjects of taxation, but have no share or lot in the management of State affairs. Virginia, by thus disfranchising a portion of her citizens-denying to them the most valued of political rights, does violence to the principles she valiantly maintained in the days of the revolution.

She commits the same outrage on her citizens, of taxation, while she refuses a large portion the privilege of voting on any question of representation or legislation whatever. The object of government is to promote the of good government. Would the government se-cure the devotion and love of her citizens, it will best be done by filling each and every one with a generous consciousness of his independence, and carefully removing whatever can impede his exertions. But there are other considerations, more immediately connected with the State, which imperi-tively require a radical change of the present suf-frage law. There is no fact better attested, be-There is no fact better attested, be-rights of a majority, and every principle of Re-publicanism, which Virginia, in her best days, nobly advocated, and as valiantly illustrated. It works injustice, and is the fruitful parent of perworks injustice, and is the irritial parent of per-jury and fraud. The war-worn veteran returning from the field of his glory and his labor to his peaceful home, asks for participation in the politi-cal affairs of that people for whose preservation he staked his life,—the laborer, pursuing his peace-ful and daily avocations, contends that poverty is no crime, and demands equal rights in that State which his toil has enriched.

which his toil has enriched. Reason, right, and the people demand the re-peal of this law. Let Virginia then act in ac-cordance with the principles she once maintained —let her extend this great right to every son within her broad domain—for in so doing, she will best maintain that character for justice, diminerate second for each which shead dignity and regard for equal rights, which should belong to the "Mother of States and Statesmen."

VERITAS. LATE FROM SANTA FE.

By the arrival at Fort Levenworth, on the 30th October, of Lieut. Col. Ruff, of the Missouri volunteers, we learn, says the St. Louis Republican, that Gen. Kearney left for California on the 25th of September, taking with him companies B. C. G. K and I. 1st United States Dragoons—in all about 400 men, mounted on mules. The route of this small command was consider ed by many of the oldest and most experienced mountaineers and traders, as one of great hardships and suffering, if not absolutely impractica-ble—being down the Rio Grande to Socoro, (an old Spanish town, formerly of much importance from the large garrison stationed there,) about 200 miles south of Santa Fe; thence west to the 40 Cill. cause it is yearly brought to our attention, that the present suffrage law of Virginia, independent of its injustice, is full of doubt and uncertaintyoften the parent of perjury, and the incentive to fraud and injustice. The Legislature of Virginia for years past, has consumed more time at each annual session in deciding upon lawful and unlawful votes, growing out of contested elections, than would have required them to remodel the whole organic law of the State. Is it not remarkable that in this enlightened age of intelligence, there should exist a law like this, affecting the political rights of the people, so full of uncer-tainty and doubtful meaning, that of all the learn-ed political doctors in the State, no two of them can agree in their construction? The Legislature as much at sea upon its meaning, as any private individual. Its defects-the injustice and oppression of permitting a man to vote in every county where he owns a few acres of uncultivated waste where he owns a few acres of incurivated water the fraudulent perversion of its meaning as seen in the system of pocket deeds, are felt and ac-knowledged by all, and still it continus to be law, in violation of justice, common sense and the natural rights of the people. The rights of voters under the law as it now stands, are as doubtful and precarious as the law itself. Because the Legislature, whenever in their wisdom it shall seem proper so to do, can either increase or de-crease the number of voters. "If the tax on clocks or watches be taken off, the voters are decrease in number some 5,000, as has been shown by cal-culation. If a head tax be imposed, the number of voters is increased 2,500 more than at present." And thus the right of suffrage, the greatest a citizen can exercise—that right which puts in motion the whole machinery of government-the source of all political power, instead of being held source of all political power, instead of being held by the people of Virginia, universally, by virtue of their independence and equality, is held by them as tenants, by virtue of the courtesy of the Le-gislature. But again—who are the men to whom you de-ny this right of suffrage? Not only those who have rendered themselves infamous by crime, (for this would be right and proper,) but those also whose daily walk in life, afford the surest guaran-tee of honesty, independence and worth—mechan-ics, merchants, laborers and many professional men—the very men who, in the hour of danger, tee of honesty, independence and worth—mechan-ics, merchants, laborers and many professional men—the very men who, in the hour of danger, when we are threatened by invasion from without and insurrection within, we look to, to wird off the one and suppress the other. We trust them when our property, honor or life is at stake, but lear to trust them with their own natural political rights, unless they own a foot of land and pay a little tax. But look at the absurdity of the present law.— Before a man can vote for a member of the As-sembly, he must furnish a test of his patriotism by the possession of land, or some other qualifica-tion under the present law. Yet no test is required of your Governor of this character, for aught the Constitution contains. Surely this proves the ab-surdity of this qualification law. If you can trust your Governor to execute your laws, and to temper them by the high prerogative of mercy, in the exercise of the pardoning power—if you can trust your lives, your liberty and your proper-ty to your Judges—the defence of your homes and of ur firesides to military commanders and milith men, though they be as poor as Lazarus— in the name of common sense, why cannot you trust a citizen to vote in the election of public functionaries, without being tied down by some aries, without being tied down by some free-hold test ?

The present law is vain, absurd and inconsis tent. No man can understand it-no Legislature can interpret it-it violates common sense-the VANDALISM .- We were informed the other day, that week before last, some villian or villians, en tered the Mount Zion Baptist Church, in this county, and tore up the Bible, and cut to pieces the curtains around the pulpit-entered the Grave Yard and threw down a number of Tomb Stones. Who would have believed that such abandoned wretches lived in a community like ours? No punishment, in our opinion, would be too severe to be inflicted upon such beaven-forsaken scoundrels. But they will be rewarded sooner or later for this sacriligious outrage.-Martinsburg Rep.

STRANGE EPIDEMIC AT JERSEY CITY .-- It appears from the Jersey City Sentinel, that for some months past, a strange and distressing disease of the eye has been stealthily spreading amongst the inhabitants of that place. Its approach is very insidious, generally attacking its victims in one corner of the eye, indicating its design by a tickling or itching sensation, sometimes accompanied by extreme pain, causing weakness within, and inflamation without—frequently closing the eye-lids, so that the sufferer is unable to discern any object. The victims of its prey are scarce aware of its approach—so rapidly does it advance—before they find themselves almost totally blind.

The Cincinnati Advertiser of the 20th says : The Cincinnali Advertiser of the 20th says:— An elopement took place on Thursday, of last week, between a young gentleman from Pennsyl-vania, Rd, and a young lady living in the north-ern part of the city, who is represented as beauti-ful and an heiress—inheriting, jointly with a sis-ter, property worth $300,000. Her father had forbidden the addresses and visits of the lover.— The lady was sent out to milk in an adjoining lot The lady was sent out to milk in an adjoining lot. —instead of doing which, she threw down the bucket, jumped into a carriage, awaiting in the vicinity, drove to Fulton, where passage was obtain-ed on a boat bound up, and with her lover arrived at Maysville. THE BULL-SKIN FACTORY .- This establishment tuated on the Bull-Skin Creek in the County of situated on the Bull-Skin Creek in the County of Jefferson, is under the direction and management 1 of its enterprising proprietor, Mr. C. C. Porter, and, 1 judging the tree from its frnits, is in a most flour-ishing condition. We know not the quantity of fabrics annually manufactured by Mr. Porter, but 1 we have seen many samples in our stores, of his Tweeds, and Flannels, and there is no doubt, that for fineness of texture, compactness of web, ele-gance of dress, and durability in wear, they cannot be surpassed by any fabric of the kind in the United States. He has brought his manufactures to such perfection as to defy competition from shread, and States. He has brought his manufactures to such perfection as to defy competetion from abroad, and with or without the benefit of legislative aid, he must always drive a lacrative business. We have also seen a specimen of his Blankets and they are fully equal in all, and in some respects decidedly superior, to any imported fabric we have ever ex-amined. The country should sustain an enter-prise which does so much credit to it. [Winchester Virginian.] [Winchester Virginian.

From the Dublin Nation. THE IRISH EMIGRANT. AIR_"The Dear Irish Boy."

An outcast away o'er the momittin I wander— The last view I take of my cot from the brow, And never my heart of that cottage was fonder, Nor dearer the scenes of my childhood, than now. Below in the valley almost I can number The broad village oaks that the old church-yard shade, Where, for ages, the bones of my fore-fathers slumber, And beneath the green shamrocks my first love was laid.

But the' banish'd afar, in a foreign land roaming, Or dash'd by the winds on a yet unknown shore, I'll see those I lov'd in the shades of the gloaming, And hear song of home in the grey ocean's roar. By the light of the moon, when the weird breeze is play ing, Seem sea-spirits wailing along the loud main-Till the gens on the robes of the night are decaying, I'll weep for thee, Erin, beloved in vain!

Hearbroken, MayounsEst I leave the in sorrow, No more, never more, thy rich vales to behold; The stormy Atlantic shall bear ma to-morrow, And dash its cold spray on a boson as cold. I'll lean o'er the ship, that they won't see me weeping; The roaring of waves and remembrance shall aid; And I'll think that I see the old church-yard, where sleeping.

DARKNESS MADE VISIBLE .- Some time since business called us to the city of Lexington, Ky. that Athens of the West, which the farmer o Ashland has rendered immortal. After finishing the work which called us thither, we engaged passage in the Mail Coach to Maysville, which left Lexington about 2 o'clock in the morning.— Among the passengers recognised by us was Major T., of Harrodsburg, a lawyer of high stand-ing, and somewhat celebrated for the politeness and urbanity of his manner. A few moments after we had left the hotel, the Coach halted and a lady and child ascended the steps. Maj. T., with his true politeness, tendered her his place on the back seat. The night was very dark, and the lady so completely muffled in her cloak that we could not catch a glimpse of her features. Certainly whispered the Major, she is beautiful as an angel. At length her child began to cry, when the Major again true to his character. begged to be permitted to relieve the fair mother of her burden.' With becoming modesty, she consented. From that time till daylight, his attentions to the mother and little one were most devoted-now adjusting the cloak of the mother, and then singing a lullaby to the babe. Finally day began to break ; and just at the moment that old Sol peeped over the eastern horizen, the coach stopped at a hotel. In a moment the Major had the door opened, and leaped out of the coach, and extended his hand to the lady when lo! the rays of light penetrating the interior, disclosed the ob ject of his attentions, in the person of one of the deepest-dyed daughters of Ethiopa that ever dwelt on Columbia's shore. The Major bolted; and when the coach-man sounded his horn, like the Irishman's pig, he ' came up missing.' [Cincinnati Chronicle.

THE FOUR AGES OF MAIDS .- A German writer says that maids have four ages-the golden from 16 to 21, the silver age from 21 to 26, the plated from 28 to 35, and the iron age from 35 to the end. The thirty-fifth he considers the equator of haman life, which divides into the Southern and Northern Hemispheres. On the Northern there is no paradise for girls. They now write their farewell letters to all hopes and wishes. They conform to iron necessity and resign themselves to the iron tooth of time

A farmer who had at times been sorely tried by his wife's constant clatter of " tongue and tin ket-tles," threatened never to speak to her again unless she complied with certain regulations which to comply. From that time to the present—a pe-riod of nearly ten years—notwithstanding lie has constantly shared the same bed, ate at the same fable and attend the same church, his wife declares positively, that he has never spoken to her ! This man lives in Newbury, Orange county, Vt., and, for so crnel and relentless a husband, bears a very decent reputation as a citizen.

THE DECEIVER.—There is something awfully impressive in the following verse. Let those who, for their own selfish or ignoble purposes, who, for their own selfish or ignoble purposes, lead others into temptation, consider well the mag-nitude and responsibility they bring on their souls: Oh! If there be a doorn more dread Than others on the judgment day, If sure must be for him who led A pure and genile heart astray. There may be pardon for the knave, And mercy for the wretch that stole; But Heaven, I fear me, ne'er forgave, The murder of a human soul?

New Piano Forte Ware-Room. No. 151 Pratt St., adjoining the Railroad Depot,

THE undersigned, having obtained the agency for the sale of BACON & RAVEN'S celeprated French action Pianos, of New York, now offers to the public a really superior instrument, which for beauty and durability of finish, brilliancy and richness of tone, cannot be surpassed .-Professors and amateurs who have as yet tried them, pronounce them the very best instruments

A SETTLER.—A good specimen of the late Lord Ellenborough's pungent humor, not always observant of the time and place, is given by Lord Elden. Upon the occasion of a royal marriage, there being much talking during the ceremony in one corner of the drawing room, his lordship ex-claimed, "Be silent in that corner of the room, or you shall be married yourselves." A DISCERNING JURY.—A young man was tried for murder at Macoupin, Ill., lately, and acquitted on the ground that there are, in every community, some individuals who ought to be killed—and the unfortunate victim happened to belong to this class.

Young Ladies Boarding School. BY REV. L. EICHELBERGER,

Winchester, Va.

A NGERONA SEMINARY.—The exercises of this Seminary for Young Ladies will be resumed on Tuesday, the 1st September. The instructions of the institution will embrace, as heretofore, the various branches of English, Classi-cal and Ornamental Education. Pupils will have he benefit of the personal instructions of the undersigned, and as only a limited number will be admitted, each pupil will receive such attention as must secure satisfactory progress.

Heretofore, the expense in most institutions, has been so great as to deter parents from sending their daughters from home to enjoy the advantages of good education. Anxious, as far as prac-ticable, that this difficulty should be obviated, young ladies will be admitted into this institution at an average expense, not exceeding $120 for the scholastic year of 10 months, or $100 to pupils inder twelve years of age, and in case of two or more pupils from the same family, $100 each, this to include the entire expense of board, washing, light, fuel, and tuition in all the branches o English and Classical education. Reference to circulars, furnished on application to the undersigned, either personally or by letter. L. EICHELBERGER, Principal.

Winchester, Aug. 28, 1846-3m. Drugs, Medicines, &c.

"Skip the hard words, honey dear," said an Irish school-mistress to one of her pupils ; "they're Going to Law.—The following illustrative anecdote may prove new to some of our readers : Two Dutchmen, who built and used in common a small bridge over a small stream which ran through their farms, had a dispute concerning re-pairs which it required; after a time one of them declined to bear any portion of the expenses ne-cessary to the purchase of two or three new planks. Finally, the aggrieved party went to a neighboring lawyer, and placing ten dollars in his hands, said : "Til rays you all dish moneys, if you'll make only the names of some foreign countries, and ye's never'll be in 'em."

A soldier who was wounded in battle set up a terrible bellowing. An Irishman who laid near, with his legs shot off, immediately sung out, "Bad luck to the likes of ye-do you think that nobody is kilt but yerself."

To take lamp-oil from carpets or wearing ap-parel, make a paste of rye flour, of the consisten-cy of a rather stiff batter, and apply it to the place; when dry, it will rub off, and take the grease with it. A second application may be necessary in some cases, but not often.

NEW ESTABLISHMENT.

THE undersigned takes pleasures in announ-cing to the citizens of Charlestown and its vicinity, that he has opened a BOOT and SHOE SHOP, in the building in the rear of Mr. N. S. A youthful witness was on his examination in a court of justice. The lawyer (who by the by had an unfortunate obliquity of vision,) was anxious to have the boy's answers directly addressed to the judge. After a while, the learned counsel said, "Look at his honor, as I do now, and repeat your answer." " Look as you do sir," answered the boy, "I can't do it, 'case you squints!"

TIT FOR TAT .- The editor of the Albany Herald says that he once knew a widow who cut out her own daughter in the good graces of her lover, and married him herself ! To obtain revenge for the mean unmotherly trick, the daughter set her cap for the young man's rich father (of whom he was the only heir,) and actually married him, and had children, to the infinite annoyance of the other parties. This occurred in Onondage county.
