A GHOST STORY. A GHOST STORY. The life of a physician brings him into contact with many strange events, and that of country practitioners is often made up of as great variety of inoidents as the city could afford. The following incident the writer can vouch for as having occurred as related, and if it did not turn out a real chost at least it cause yeavy near being out a real ghost, at least it came very near being out a real ghost, at least it came very near being one. The initials of the parties only are given. Dr. G — was the principal, physician in the town of S — Massachusetts. He had been at-tending an infant child of a young couple whose residence was a mile from the yillage, but the child died and was buried, and the mother was more than usually afflicted at the loss of her first born. Cone night or two after the burial of the child, the worthy doctor was riding at a late hour of the the worthy doctor was riding at a late hour of the night past the village burying ground. The moon was shining brightly, and a cool March wind was whistling through the tops of a couple of tall pines which ornamented the grave yard. (Some Van-dal hand has since destroyed them.) The doctor was musing upon what we know not—when sud-denly his white horse pricked up his ears and be-mere to supply a grave unwall moment. The doctor gan to snort in a very unusual manner. The doc-tor looked around, but could not discover any thing. The old nag, with instinct more acute, began to shy away from the grave yard fence, as if he had no intention of coming in contact with any spirits which might walk there. The doctor was not superstitious; he got off his horse and elimbed the fance into the grave yard to see what climbed the fence into the grave yard, to see what had affrighted his staid and steady animal.

The doctor was a man not easily frightened; but it must be confessed that his hair almost stood up, and he clutched the end of his riding whip up, and he clutched the end of his riding whip convulsively, as he looked and saw among the tall white tomb-stones a figure in white, with long dishevelled hair, faceling beside a new made in-fant's grave. The figure was rocking to and fro as if in pain or grief, and was so near him that he could see that its white drapery was scanty and thin, and the cold wind tossed the long hair about wildly. A moment and his resolution was formed —carefully and firmly he approached and spoke, but he received no answer. He laid his hand upon the figure ; it was evidently flesh and blood. The doctor was relieved. A second told him that it was a female, clad, notwithstanding the cold it was a female, clad, notwithstanding the cold fant child. at its death, that even when sleeping she was not perfect mistress of her actions. She had risen from her bed and walked more than a mile to the burial ground, without waking, and, as may be supposed, was horribly frightened when she found herself among the tombs. The good doctor quiet-ed her fears, and wrapping her in his ample cloak and placing her behind him upon the horse, he re-turned her to her residence. Her husband had not wakened during her absence, and could scarcely believe the story that the doctor told him.

The Washington Union.

THE daily paper will be published as hereto-fore, at $10 per annum, payable in advance. Its character hitherto has been almost exclusively political. It is the purpose, in future, to devote a portion of its columns to domestic news of general interest, and to miscellancous literaturewhich, without impairing its political influence, may render it the more acceptable to an extended class of readers.

The Semi-Weekly Union will be published every Monday and Thursday during the recess of Congress, at $5 per annum. This contains all the matter contained in the "Daily Union," except local advertisements. SONGS OF LIFE. What say the woods when soft winds sigh Their gentle evening lullaby---When every leaf on every spray Catches the zephyre as they stray---What is their language, poet, say I They sing of life, They sing of life.

The thrush and linnet in the thorn, Raising their songs to greet the morn; The skylark as he shakes the dew From off his wings, and flies, from view, To sing his lay in either blue— All sing of life, All sing of life,

The soft sweet breath of gentle Spring, Calling the earth to blossoming ; Calling the earth to blossoming : The nectrous drops of summer shower Opening the leaves of lovely flower, To smile upon this earth of ours-Doth sing of life, Doth sing of life.

The bees, which store their waxen cells With honied spoils of forglove bells: The flies, which, on the sun's bright ray. Wanton their thread of life-a day-In restlesses and sport, away-All sing of life, All sing of life.

The gentle ripples of the sen, Its mountain waves, in maid ning gles, Dashing their foam wreaths o'er the shore, Calling on cliff and rock so hoar To echo their tre lous roar-

Doth sing of life, Doth sing of life,

What sayeth you bright-hair'd happy boy, With bounding step and look of joy-Dreams he that aught but joy can be t His loud mild laugh of artless gliee, His gladsome voice is sweet to me-It sings of life, It sings of life.

All things which meet the wand'ring eye From flowery earth to starry sky; The joy of morn, the calm of even— All on the earth, in air, in heaven— All which a bounteous God hath given— Doth sing of life, Doth sing of life.

THE CAPITULATION OF MONTEREY. The editor of the 'Portsmouth (Ohio) Tribune' commands a company in the Ohio Volunteers now in Mexico, and was present at the siege and capture of Monterey, of which he has written an interesting narrative for the paper of which he is proprietor and editor. We copy the following account of the capitulation, which we dare say will interest most of our readers :

"The cannonading and bombardment continued until Thursday morning, when a flag of truce was sent to Gen. Worth, and another, borne by Col. Moreno, to Gen. Taylor, with proposals for a sur-render. The negotiation was opened that day; on the next the articles were duly signed, and on Saturday they surrendered in fact, and retired from their powder-blackened dens of destruction, from which bolts of death were driven upon our brave troops who marched in and hoisted the stars brave troops who marched in and hoisted the stars and stripes with hearty and prolonged cheers.— The ceremony was a deeply interesting spectacle, as I am told by those who witnessed it. I rode through several of the streets that after-noon. The whole place was marked by indica-tions of universal mourning. The inhabitants were busily engaged in moving into their homes. A deep gloom had settled upon their swarthy coun-tenances. The officers, many of whom are Cas-The officers, many of whom are Castenances. tilians of high rank, education, and fortunes, were dressed in mourning, and moved about with a dis-pirited air, with their heads covered with crape, apparently overwhelmed with affliction. The la-HAVE just received a large assortment of Stoves, which I will sell low for cash. rowful visages were all the fashion on that woful day. I was not surprised at this exhibition of feeling, knowing the confidence in absolute security that had been inspired by the extensive preparations for defence. Many a battle has been fought under the walls of Monterey, and yet it was never taken. It withstood a regular siege of fourteen days, in the last revolution against Spain, and the republicans held the place unharmed. And then it is a beautiful city, surrounded by the lofty peaks of the Sierra Madre, with a spacious valley, fertile as any portion of the earth, and full of all that wealth and luxury command to make life plea-It holds. I understand, many families of education and refinement. Its gardens are full of the orange, pomegranate; fig, grape vine, and every description of fruit belonging to an almost tropical latitude. A canal of crystal water gurgles through the cool shades, supplying an abundance of pure, cool water, fresh from the mountain side. The houses are all white, the streets well paved with mestone pebble, and stretch out for miles, filled with multitudes, hurrying to and fro in confusion. The soldiers of both armies meet in silence, and pass with mute but courteous salutes. Ill suppressed smiles of triumph light up the counten the Americans, and contrast with the sombre saddening expression resting upon those of the Mexi-cans. There is much here I would like to write of, and some day may describe for the readers of the Tribune." SAD EFFECT OF A FALSE CHARGE. The captain of the steamboat Chancellor, on his departure from New Orleans, a few days ago, took on board three sick volunteers. During the trip to Louisville, one of them named Ritchie, charged one of his companions, a youth from Kentucky, of only 19 years, with robbing him of $100. A search was instituted by the captain, which established the innocence of the youth, and also the belief of the insanity of Ritchie, produced by sickness. The Louisville Journal says: The parties were now placed in different state rooms, but the accusation of robbery had such an effect upon the mind of the youth, that he became a maniac. Ritchie persisted in his charge for a day or two, but afterwards retracted it and repeatedly asked the young man's pardon. The retrac-tion, however, had no effect upon the mind of the young man, who, in his delirium, was constantly deprecating the dreadful charge, and begging that he might be taken home to his mother. Matters continued thus until the boat stopped at a wood-yard, a little above Grand Gulf, when the young man suddenly ran and leaped into the river. Every effort was made to save him, but he disap-peared before a skiff could possibly reach him. NEW CLUB HOUSE.—A plan lately suggested, and acted upon in. London, of building splendid palaces like the Athenaum and other large club-houses—" for the married." In these houses, suites of rooms are to be arranged, consisting of one, two or three, with kitchen, offices, &c., to be Description of the second of the se

A POWERFUL APPEAL. The Washington Union, in commenting on the probable political complexion of the next Congress, makes (says the Lynchburg Republican,) the subjoined eloquent appeal to the Democrats of the Old Dominion. The venerable Editor of the Union was for forty years, the honored leader of the Republican party in Virginia. In prosperity and adversity,-in sunshine and in storm, he has steadfastly adhered to the great landmarks of the Virginia school of politics. Under his valiant lead, the Democracy of Virginia have marched on to victory, almost times without number in days gone by, and will they not now, in this particular crisis in their country's history, hearken unto the voice of their ancient leader ? The Whigs are already boasting that they will carry six or seven of the Congressional districts next spring. Will the Democracy permit such a state of things as this to exist in the Old Dominion ? If they but do their duty, the thing is impossible. We know that the Republicans of Virginia must go into the canvass next spring under peculiar disadvantages-having nothing to gain, and everything to lose. But our cause is the cause of truth and justice. We have nothing to fear from an open field and a fair fight. If the Democracy will but go to work, in the spirit of the following patriotic appeal of him, who has been aptly styled the 'Napoleon of the press,' all will be well, and whiggery will meet, as it did two years ago, with a Waterloo defeat.

From the Washington Union.

We have a word to say specially to the Democ-racy of the Old Dominion. She stands now with racy of the Old Dominion. She stands now with but one solitary Foderlist in her delegation. Thus ought she to stand in the 30th Congress, and thus too we sincerely hope she will stand. For years has she battled nobly for her rights, and trium-phantly has she sustained them. The tariff that her democracy have advocated has been granted. The cry of "repeal and "restoration of the set of The cry of " repeal, and " restoration of the act of '42," will be raised in the next Congress, and it will require men of the sternest stuff to withstand the effort Federalism and its adjuncts will make to restore the power of the lords of the loom and the spindle.

We approach this good "Old Dominion" with feelings which we cannot adequately express.— Whilst a citizen and a resident within her honored Whilst a citizen and a resident within her honored borders, we fought with her; we fought by the side of her democracy; we fought under the ban-ners of Jefferson and Madison—not because they were her banners exclusively, but because they had inscribed upon them the great principles of the republican party. We contended for no con-tracted, sectional, southern influence, but for the great and fundamental principles of the Union— for the interests of the whole nation, which were involved with them—for the purity of the provi-sions of the Federal and limited constitution, with specified powers, as set forth by the authors of that sions of the Federal and limited constitution, with a specified powers, as set forth by the authors of that inestimable document. In every stage of our po-litical action—in the midst of the various struggles which we have witnessed—in the war of 1812, and amid the traitorous deliberations of the Hart-ford Convention—amid the thrones of the Missouri question ; amid the excitement produced by an excessive tariff and nullification ; amid the storm of abolitionism; at every moment and in every crisis we have kent our eve incessantly fixed upon the sheet anchor of our prosserity and our hopes, and, next to Liberty herself, the great element of glory and our bleesings-upon this succession itself. We have left the "Old Dominion," Union itself. We have left the "Old Dominion," but the same principles which have guided the re-publican party for more than fifty years, continue to be the polar star of our own humble barque.— We sent them forth in the prospectus which ush-ered this paper into existence. Yet since the 1st of May 1845, we have forborne to take any par-ticular part in the politics of Virginia. We have interferred with none of her elections. We have meddldd with none of her appointments; not from any want of sympathy for her sons; nor for the principles which her democracy has maintained; but from considerations which every consider-ate man well know how to appreciate. True we had changed our theatre, without changing our principles; and as far as man is capable of know ng himself, we have varied not a hair's breadth ing himsell, we have varied not a hair's breadth from the doctrine of the great republican school, in which we were originally indoctrinated. For the first time, therefore we would most respectful-ly address ourselvs to the people of Virginia, whilst we are appealing to all her sister States. We appeal then; as we have a right to do, warm-ly and earnestly to the democrats of old Virginia, to bastis themselves in time to not down even bestir themselves in time to put down at once all improper aspirations, if any there be; to unite as a band of brothers; to organize in such a manner as will bring every democrat to the polls in April next. Let every district select its strongest candidate, and let the democratic voters stick to im. We hope; we know, indeed; that there is chivalric feeling enough among the aspirants for office there, to induce any one to withdraw from the canvass, when convinced that his party has a preference for another. We implore our friends It is known to all that, at the next ression of the Virginia legislature one senator in Congress is to be elected, and possibly two. We will not sup-pose that aspirations for this high office can lead to divisions which may affect the April elections. We will however, most respectfully beseech the riends of the eminent and honorable individuals who, we presume, will enter the arena as candidates for the place, to unite and select a candidate, and let his election take place by united republi-can action, harmonizing all personal feelings. If the democracy of Virginia will do its duty, and we cannot doubt that it will, we see no reason why a single member from that State shall be lost om the democratic ranks. To the entire democracy of the Union-east, west, north and south-we say rouse up-awake -organize-circulate documents-gather togeth-er often-read and understand the position of af-fairs, and meet every federal fallacy with strong democratic facts and arguments-form democratdemodratic tacts and arguments—form demodratic tacts and arguments—form demodratic tacts and arguments—form demodratic tacts and arguments—form demodratic tacts and arguments and energetically to work, and victory is certain 1
If you do not wish to see the country ruled by grinding protectionists, who aim to make the rich richer, and the poor poorer—by overgrown bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank aristocrats, who would rule by the power of bank and join them in their unholy crusade against 'law index' and order—by men who would, if they could, tear the constitution in fragments and tramassociations, and go actively and energetically ple it under foot, overthrow the temple of liberty, and revel amid its ruins! If you democrats of this glorious Union, do not wish to be governed by such men, again we say, arouse—wake up— bestir yourselves, and save your country from fed-eral domination, and the oppression of the masses by a few favored manufacturers and national bank monopolists, and the prostration of the constitu-tion itself. on itself.

Jefferson.

We might enter into argument to convince you We might enter into argument to convince you of your duty, but we deem it unnecessary where the right is so apparent. We might allude to the unholy and un-American opposition to the present war, and to the reckless misrepresentations uter-ed by Daniel Webster in Fancuil Hall, relative thereto, but will not do it now. We will close this atticle, by reminding you that the federalists have determined to stop at no mean act or falsehood which will bring about. A repeal of the tariff of the last session; A repeal of the independent treasury law; An embarrassment of the administration in car-rying on the war with Mexico; A sentiment among the people that that war is odious and wicked; The cowardly feeling that we, as a nation, must

The cowardly feeling that we, as a nation, must suffer insult rather than defend ourselves ! To prevent these results—to save the constitution from violation-and the republic from a disthe normalise back, it is only necessary that every democrat should do his duty. Now is the time when principle, honor, and the great interests of the country demand it. Be ENERGY and ACTION our watchwords, and ALL WILL BE SAFE.

AMERICAN BEEF .- The Liverpool Albion stated its intention some time since of subjecting American beef to the only test which could prove its merits. Accordingly a quantity of it was soaked during about thirty hours, the water being twice changed and it was afterwards slowly boiled two hours. The experiment proved favorable, and the Editor has now no hesitation in saying that it is equal to any beef he ever tasted. The belief that it is at all inferior to English pickled beef, arises he thicks thinks from mere prejudice or from the meat not having been properly treated.

An INCIDENT.—At Memphis, a few months since, a respectable widow lady, after retarning to her room, from which probably she had been designedly called, found a sweet little infant.— With a mother's feeling she nursed the little stranger. Very lately a beautiful young lady came and claimed the babe, it being her natural child. She was scarce 18, and the father of her child was her sister's husband. The parties are wealthy Cincinnatians, and their case had been carried to Memphis, where they were pronounced guilty.... The agony of the toster mother at giving up her child was very intense. The parties rewarded her by a munificent gift for her care,

JOHN JACOB ASTOR .- The Philadelphia Inquirer says, this wealthy gentleman is about to estab-lish an institution for the advancement of honest lish an institution for the advancement of honest and deserving men, by supplying them with capi-tal varying from one to 5000 dollars, wherewith to commence life and forward themselves in their respective callings. Attached to this institution, will be a board of gentlemen, whose duty it will be to examine and report on the character, talents, age and claims of each applicant for a portion of the donor's bounty, and in case they report satis-factorily, the money will be forthcoming, on per-sonal security, and given for an unlimited period of time, without interest. of time, without interest.

SINGULAR DISEASE IN VIRGINIA .- We learn from an article in the Romney Intelligencer, that a destructive malady, called "sore throat," is rag-ing in the neighboring counties, Hampshire and Pardleton in Vienicia Pendleton, in Virginia, Mr. David Smith has lost two children ; Mr. Wm. Cunningham, one ; Cap-tain A. Ketterman, one ; Mr. Isaac Conrod, three; Mrs. Mary Whetsel, three; Mrs. Ratcliff, two; Mr. Layton, two; Mr. Van D. Bond, two; Mr. John S. Bond, three; Mr. Jacob Wise, one; and Mr. Martin Wise, two or three. The disease is represented to be a loathsome and wretched malady, which has thus far bafiled the skill of the edical faculty. A REMARKABLE ACTOR.—A young printer of Baltimore, named ROGERS, recently made his de-but as an actor in the character of Shylock, before said to have been a stammerer from infancy, and is so still, to such a degree, as to be almost unable to converse with any person who is not intimate-ly acquainted with him ; yet upon the stage, his voice is melifluous, his enunciation clear and his reading judicious !- This seems to be almost incredible; but the respectable press of Baltimore make the statement with an air of seriousness, which forbids the idea that they do not believe it. He has appeared several times, and is said to be very successful, and rapidly improving. [Richmond Compiler. ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS .- Hon. Mr. Ashley, dem., has been elected U. S. Senator from Arkansas, in place of Mr. Yell, resigned. Hon. Willeie P. Mangum, whig, has also been re-elec-ted for six years from the 4th of March next from North Carolina.

A FASHIONABLE STRANGER.

The Baltimore Clipper says that some time since, a gentleman, in all outward appearance, the city of Baltimore, and took rooms a one of our first hotels. In due course of time he made the acquaintance of a number of our " young bloods," and was introduced into several of our most respectable families, all being under the im-pression, from information derived from himself, that he was a young foreigner of wealth and dis tinction. He managed to comport himself so well, that a short time since he had so engrafted himself in the affections of a handsome heiress, of some $80,000, among the "Upper Ten Thousand," that a pledge of reciprical love had passed between them, and they were engaged to be wedded. But "the course of true love never did run smoothe," and so before the nuptials were celebrated, a ruand so before the nuptials were celebrated, a ra-mor came, and then a positive assertion, that the young cavalier was not what he professed to be, but an imposter. Inquiry was made by the friends of the lady, and it was most positively asserted that the "foreign gentleman," had in time past, explated a crime by a life in the galleys of a fo-reign nation, and that at best he was only one of reign nation, and that at best he was only one of the lowest representatives of his nation. The match " in course" was broken off, and the " handmatch " in course" was broken off, and the " hand-some young foreigne" saw proper to make off with himself also, leaving behind him numerous unpaid bills, aid being the debtor of the hotel some few hundred dollars, his bill having been permitted to run up so high in consequence of his supposed respectability, judging from his conversa-tion and the company he kept. Whither he has wended dis way, no one knows, but there is very little doubt, that he will try to play the same game somewhere else, in this land of freedom, where an honest mechanic is not always respected by the wealthy, but where an upstart foreigner is too often caressed and made a fool of. The lady ceroften caressed and made a fool of. The lady ce tainly made a narrow escape, and the lesson, has taught, will probably be beneficial and result in good.

ONE FAULT.—He who will turn away from a friend for one fault, is a stranger to the best feel ings of the human heart. Who has not erred, a least once in his life? If that fault were not over looked, to what depths of infamy would not thou sands have descended? We know not the pecu sands have descended? We know not the pecu-liar and pressing temptations to which another may be exposed. He may have fought manfully for months against the sin, and still kept the se-cret locked in his bosom. At last he was over-come. In a moment he yielded. He would give worlds to recall the act. He has mourned over it in secret, and repeated in dust and ashes. Shall we forsake him ? Earth and Heaven—justice, humanity, philanthrophy and religon, cry out,— "Forgive him ?" He who will not forgive must possess the heart of a demon. Surely, the love of God is not in him.—Portland Bulletin.

BEARS.—North Mississippi is said to be actuall overrun with these "varmints" of the wilderness Thousands of them, it is said, are making thei way from the Mississippi bottoms to the hills.

CAUSES OF FAILURE IN BUSINESS.—An excellent writer in Hunt's Magazine enumerates the fol-lowing causes of failure among business men :— 1. The leading cause is an ambition to be rich —by grasping too much it defeats itself. 2. Another cause is aversion to labor. 8. The third cause is an impatient desire to en-joy the luxuries of life before the right to them has been acquired in any way. 4. Another cause arises from the want of some deeper principle for distinguishing between right and wrong, than a reference merely to what is ea-tablished as honorable in the society in which one happens to live. CHRABLIESTOWN: Friday Morning, December 4, 1846.

THE NEW TARIFF.

The new Tariff went into operation on Tuesday last, 1st inst. Inasmuch as the Panic Makers have been so signally foiled, there seems to be a disposition among the discreet and reflecting of all parties to give it a fair trial. Of its beneficial operations we have not a shadow of doubt. Whilst its main object is revenue, incidental protection, varying from ten to two hundred per cent., is afforded to American labor and skill. If this be not sufficient to satisfy the cormorants who expect to fatten on federal bounty, then let the issue be distinctly made up, and the free, unbiassed sentiments of the American people expressed.

In arranging the details of any Tariff, slight discrepancies or injudicious discriminations, may be found. This can only be remedied by experience, and the exercise of a wise and discerning judgment. So far as this may be necessary to perfect the bill of the last session, we are sure the sagacious head of the Treasury, and his experienced friends in the two Houses of Congress, will most devotedly strive to accomplish. Its basis is the true one, and it will prove invulnerable to all attacks from the common enemy, or pretended friends.

A great revolution in public sentiment is taking place throughout the whole civilized world, as respects the restrictions placed upon trade. [The old theory has been found utterly worthless, and is giving place to a more enlightened policy of liberal commercial intercourse. No Government has so much to expect-so many advantages to reap -from the blessings of "Free Trade," as the U. States. The immense productions—the diversity So far as we are concerned, we are disposed to of soil, and indomitable energy and industry of let "by-gones be by-gones." He has gone to our citizens-render us peculiarly suited to reap the rich harvest which is yet in store for us. And. until this period shall have arrived, the American States will never reach that high destiny, and noble and exalted position among the nations of the earth, which they have a right to expect, and it is their province to fulfil.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE.

The Journal of Commerce publishes what purports to be extracts from a correspondence between an Agent of the Mexican Government and the American Secretary of State, having for its object the restoration of peace between the two countries. Independent of the absurdity of supposing that an The Mexican Agent talks of " negotiating a peace on terms on which the two governments may reasonably agree to, with honor to both," but does not state the terms. The American Secretary fabrication. replies with dignity and ability, exhibiting a conciliatory spirit. Ignorant of the articles of the proposed treaty, though "he can express no opinion on the subject." It is to be hoped that the object will be honorably accomplished -a desideratum with the Administration from the beginning

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY. The following tribute to the ability and industry of Mr. Walker, the Secretary of the Treasury, in no doubt richly merited. We presume that no Administration has over been more violently and constantly opposed and abused than the present, and of all the members of the Cabinet, probably Mr. Walker has been made more conspicuous than any other for the vindicitive spirit of the opposition which has been waged against him. He has been the special object of abuse and ridicule day. Speculations are rife as to the various pro by the Whig party; he has been denounced in every possible manner, and in order to make him and a few days will show what foundation they ojectionable, in some way or other to the American people, he has been dubbed by some of the Whins with an English title. Notwithstanding all this opposition, abuse and ridicule, he has firmly, steadily and successfully performed the important and responsible duties devolved upon him by the Constitution, without " fear, favor or affection," show ing to his enemies that he little regarded their sneers, and proving to his friends and indeed to the world, that his allegiance to the principles of his party was by no means incompatible with his loyalty to his country, and that he has served both with a zeal, ability and success which must com mand their highest admiration and increased confidence.

We take pleasure in copying the following from the Washington Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun :-

Mr. Walker is busy in making out his reports. From his scknowledged ability we may prepare for reading a valuable State document. If the Secretary of the Treasury manages to financier through this war, he will deserve the acknowledgments of the country. No government has as yet managed so ably to defray the expenses of costly armaments without a great central institution or the aid of the great capitalists, as ours. We have the financiers of the country opposed almost to a man to the financier of the government, and yet the latter preserves its credit in the midst of the most savage

CIN SCOTT

We learn from the New York Sun, of Saturday that Gen. Scott, with his staff, left that city or Friday, in the steamer Southerner, on their way to the seat of war. We are pleased, also, (says the Richmond Enquirer,) to learn, that Gen. S. leaves with a mind satisfied as to the position to which the Administration has thought proper to call him. serve his country, and, so long as he faithfully discharges his duty, he will not find us backward in awarding the proper meed of praise.

MR. BANCROFT.

It seems that the story about Mr. Bancroft's statements to the British Ministry relative to the supplies of grain in this country, turns out says "The Union" to be a silly and a sheer fabrication. It was said that his revelations on this subject were made to a Cabinet Council in London, held on the 29th of October, while the fact is notorious, that he did not arrive in that City until the 30th. American Minister would be called upon by a

THE MEXICAN WAR.

"Every casualty of the war, every trifling circumstance of disagreeable import which happened in its progress, was worked up by these political panic mongers into paper pellets, to bur at the wicked administration' which had plunged the nation into this impious war! If a soldier died, and was buried in the best manner the nature of the country, and the circumstances of the case would admit, the Secretary at War was a monster not to have foreseen the want, and sent out a shin oad of coffins, as a part, of the camp equipage of inere perusal of what is stated in the Mexican journals, cannot convey an adequate idea of the position of the Government. The revolution in parations !) If the camp fever broke out among our troops, and prostrated and killed many, again the wailing note was raised, 'Oh! this wicked administration!' If the President, after a suc-cessful battle, humanely anxious to terminate a war which he always regretted, offered the olive branch to the infatuated Mexicans, it was, 'Oh the cowardly administration !—Mr. Polk is sneak-ing out of the war'—(vide Columbus Enquire.) If when the overtures were rejected, the Govern ment girds up its loins for renewed efforts to 'con-quer a peace,' it was, 'Oh ! this rash and fool-harinistration, will it never cease to lavish the blood and treasure of the country ?' In short, do what it would, the administration never could please these fastidious Whig gentlemen, for the simple reason, that they were determined not to be pleas-ed with any thing from the first."

CONGRESS AND THE LEGISLATURE. The second session of the Twenty-ninth Con gress, and the meeting of the Legislature of Virginia, will commence on Monday next. A MEAN ROBBERY.

One of the meanest and most despicable robbeies ever perpetrated in our county, was committed on Thursday night last. The corner-stone of the new Factory at Harpers-Ferry was recently laid with highly interesting and appropriate ceremony. As usual, upon such occasions, the Masonic Fraternity deposited in the stone, various documents pertaining to their order, the Manufacturing Company, and general statistics, &c. of the country. A small deposite of American coin was also made, amounting, we learn, to $1 80 .-To obtain this, the stone was thrown from its place, the box abstracted, and its contents made way with. We trust the contemptible villains may be detected, and their rascality punished in a manner they so richly merit.

STAUNTON CONVENTION.

Wednesday last was the day of meeting for the Staunton Convention. The "Democrat" of Monday stated that a number of Delegates had arrived, and the Convention was likely to be well attended. Jefferson, we fear, has been thinly, if at all represented. If the people are willing to rest under the yoke which is imposed upon them, be it so, we for one, will not tamely submit. A day of reckoning will yet come, and Western Virginia will assert, and successfully maintain, her just rights.

THE VAN NESS CASE,

Is still in progress before the Circuit Court of Washington. The evidence is very contradictory, and it will puzzle the Court to decide. We are inclined to the opinion that Mrs. Conner was at least led to believe by Gen. Van Ness that she had been legally married, if such was not the case.

IF Among the passengers lost on the Atlantic steamer, on her trip from New York to Boston, is a Mr. JAMES GIDDINGS. We have fears that it may possibly be JAMES GIDDINGS. President of the Harpers-Ferry Manufacturing Company, who started North some days ago to purchase the Machinery necessary to be placed in the Factory.

The Martinsburg Republican of Wednesday. states that Capt. ALBURTIS expects to have his company full by the 10th inst. Those who purpose joining Capt. A., must needs be in a hurry. A meeting of the citizens of Berkeley county con vened on Friday last, to take into consideration such measures as were proper to be adopted, in raising a volunteer corps from that county. CHAS. J. FAULKNER, Esq., delivered a highly interesting Cabinet Council for such information ; this fact of and patriotic address on the occasion. A similar itself proves the whole story to be a ridiculous meeting should be held in Jefferson, and committees appointed to assist Capt. Rowan and Major Hamtrauck in organizing their companies, and performing such other incidental duties as may be necessary.

"On Monday last, (the first day of the term of our Circuit Court.) Capt. REUBER N. Downing ar-rived here. You know he is Clerk of the Court, as well as Commandant of the Fencibles. Yes-terday, for the first time, I had an opportunity to converse freely with him-and then but a few ninutes. He spoke in the highest terms of your ormer townsman, CHARLES GIBBS. During all the privations and hardships of the camp, he was never known to complain, and uniformly executed all orders given him. In the battle at Monterey, was cool and efficient. Capt. D. assured m hat Charles killed one Mexican at the distance of that Graves Rilled one Mexican at the distance of 216 yards with his yager. He told me, also, of a very perilous exploit which he commissioned C. to perform. He detailed him, in company with one other, (a little fellow named Russell,) to haul over a 12-pounder to the camp, with some mules --which mules, as well as the 12-pounder, had just been captured. Charles and Russell harnessed the mules and adjusted the gun carriage, being assisted by D. himself as well as he could aid them, he being wounded. They started, and shortly af-ter they left Downing for the camp, they attracted the attention of a Mexican battery, which poured upon poor Charles and his team a shower of grape and canister. Two of his mules were killed be-fore he had gone a hundred yards, but he succeeded in getting the gun off in perfect safety to the camp, a distance of four miles. "Capt. Downing has suffered much from his wound, but it is getting better. He looks well. His Colonel (Jefferson Davis) gives him a high character. He will return after Court is over-i. e., in about three weeks. His furlough is for 90 days. He says Taylor cannot possibly advance before the 15th January.

THE SOUTHERN AND WESTERN LITERARY MES-SENGER AND REVIEW .- This valuable and interesting Southern publication makes its appearance post. regularly the first of every month. We have received the November No., and take pleasure in copying the prospectus for the new volume commencing in January next. The "Messenger" has claims upon the liberality and patronage of the South and South-West, which we rust yet to see fully appreciated.

THE HON. HENRY CLAY, in a recent letter, in eply to a friend, advises that there be no agitaion of the Presidential question among the Whigs, at present. He most likely desires to have anoher chance, but thinks that it is necessary to watch the events of the next year to decide whether he recent victories, were really Whig victories !

THE HON. GEO. McDUFFIE. The country is about to lose the benefit of the ceived a letter containing several items of interest, splendid talents and high character of George as to the recent battle at Monterey. By the 'McDuffie, Esq. In a letter to the Governor of South Carolina, he resigns his seat in the U.S. Senate. No man has done more to give success GIBBS, formerly of this town, now a memoer ischard to the inclusion of the "Raymond Fencibles," and present at to the great principles of Free Trade, and now the late battle, demeaned himself in a manner that he has witnessed their triumph, he retires into private life, with the proud consciousness of having "fought the good fight" and gained a moral victory, which will enure to the permanent benefit of his country. As the South Carolinian says, with as much truth as force and beauty :

" Bold and vehement in debate, his argumenta tion, has never been the result of mere impulse; but conceived in the calmness of philosophic se-clusion and enforced with the resistless energy of an attack in the field. To no one in this confederaan attack in the field. To no one in this confedera-cy has more universally been awarded the credit of a high and unquestionable devotion to the in-terests of his country, while to his own Slate he has bore a love so pure and true, that no one will ever live in her bosom whose life will have been more usefully spent—whose success shall be dear-er—or who in retirement, shall more richly cur-tain a life of labor and usefulness, with the love, the confidence, and the esteem of every son of hers—without distinction of party. We have all been accustomed to pause in admiration before that picture in England's History, where one of her sons, whose name is forever identified with her sons, whose name is forever identified with the proudest days of her national glory, breathed out his life in the debate with which he had fashioned her fortunes-his spirit, fled with the lightning flash that came from his own soul. As beautiful and touching will be the picture in which his cotemporaries and posterity will see illustrated the character of GEORGE McDUFFIE. Not suddenly extinguished, but gently and gradually will the curtain of life, be drawn around him, gradually obscuring, but never impairing the brilliancy of an intellect, that knows no superior; the devotion of a soul, spurning the seductions of power or place." Who will be his successor, is of course yet in doubt. Many distinguished persons are spoken of-but the correspondent of the Charleston News refers confidently to the election of Col. F. H. El-

From the Richmond Enquirer, of Tuesday. VOLUNTEERS.

We are glad to learn that the President and Secretary of War have cordially assented to the suggestion of Governor Smith ; and the battalion of volunteers for Mexico from Eastern Virginia will rendezvous at Richmond, and be at once mustered into service in this city, and put into quarters to be drilled, until transports can be got either at Richmond, Old Point, or Wilmington, N. C .--The latter point may be preferred, as the North Carolina Regiment is to rendezvous there, and they can all sail together. The troops may be taken by the Railroad to Wilmington, and thus avoid the hazardous and unpleasant navigation around Cape Hatteras. We presume that the Railroad will transport the troops without charge.

We cordially respond to the sentiments of a friend who writes, as follows, from Washington city, and we cannot doubt that the Old Dominion will do her whole duty :

"They here expect that Virginia will furnish fine, a very fine Regiment. She has now a chance to show what she can do and is willing to do,-She can sustain her high standing in the States and I pray God public expectation may not be disappointed," We are pleased to have it in our power to an

By the arrival of the U. S. steamer Mississip-i, Com. Perry, at the S. W. Pass, news was re-eived in New Orleans, on the 20th inst., of the apture of Tampico by the U. S. squadron on the 14th inst. The New Orleans Picayune, of the 21st inst.

gives the following particulars of the events as well as of preparations making in that city for reinforcements of men and munitions of war: The fleet sailed under Commodore Conner on the 11th and 12th instant. On the 14th Commo dore Perry crossed the bay with the Spitfire, Viz-en, Petrel, Bonita and Reefer, reinforced from the Camberland, Mississippi, Princeton and St. Ma-ry's. There was no opposition made to the Ameri-can arms. The town was surrendered unconditionally, the garrison having been previously withdrawn. The Mississippi sailed immediately for the Ba-lize for troops to garrison the city. In coming hither Com. Perry touched at the Brazos and de-spatched a Lieutenant to General Patterson's spaced a Lieutenant to General Fattereon's camp, to obtain troops for the garrison. The Mississippi then came to the Balize for the same 5 object. A detachment of these troops has already a varied. already arrived; the remainder are expected to-day or to-morrow. Besides these, four companies of the new regiment of mounted riflemen, under Major Barbidge, will be sent to Tampico as soon as they arrive. They are hourly looked for. Capt Hetzel, of the Quartermaster's Depart-

Although the city was taken without the ross of blood, it is manifest that it is not to be surren-dered without a struggle before peace is declared. The town is now in the possession of the marines and sailors of the fleet, who cannot be we'l spared from their ships. As soon as the place is suffi-clently garrisoned by land forces, the squadron will proceed to other business. A change has come over the fleet and we doubt not of its future asefulness. Many of our naval officers regret sequence to the intended operations upon the interior. The secretaries, nevertheless, keep driving their quills in making out their reports; and the open-ing of the concluding session of Congress will show an amount of administrative talent scarce-ing is a complete the service talent scarceshow an amount of administrative talent scarcer-ly if ever equalled by any previous administration. It must not be forgotten that the position of the present administration is one unparalleled in the annals of the country. It had to close the last unsettled account between Great Britain and herformer colonies; it had to defy the meddlesome interference of the States of Europe in the affairs of our continent, and it had to vindicate the national honor, and defend the territory of the Union against the assaults of an overbearing and inso-lent foe. And, in the midst of these foreign transactions, which by themselves would have an honorable peace conquered from the Mexicans. The appointment of General Scott has given rise to various comments. It is admitted that it is the best appointment which could be made under the circumstances, and with a view to a speedy settlement of the Mexican difficulty. On the other hand, the politicians are not quite satisthe other hand, the politicians are not quite satis-fied with it; alleging that is giving a new shuffle to the cards and calls for a new deal. Nothing is now wanting but that Commodore Nothing is now wanting but that Commodore Stewart should be called to the command of the Gulf Squadron, to make the measure of judicious appointments complete ; and I venture to predict that before another month "Old Ironsides" will take a peep at " that Castle down there." THE REMAINS OF RINGGOLD .--- We learn that The REMAINS OF RINGGOLD.—We learn that the last news received from the "Ringgold Com-mittee," renders it highly probable that the re-mains of this gallant officer will be received in Baltimore by the 10th or 15th of December, should no unforseen circumstance intervene. result of a coalition between the federals and the moderate party, that it was impossible that harmony could last long amongst materials of so heterogenous a character.

A new element of discord has now arisen up amongst the chief parties. The federalists are subdivided into two castes-that is to say, puros and moderados. One wishes to hurry every reform, real jacobins ; the other, more prudent, are desirous to await the meeting of Congress, that they may have at least the symbol of legal authority, to consecrate the acts they contemplate. In the meantime, the distant departments, catching the infection of independent action, show a disposition to be released from all obedience to the capital, and offer their necks submissively to the yoke of a military despotism.

Nothing flourishes amongst them ; the treasury is empty, the people are impoverished, and the only portions of the country where anything like tranquility reigns, are in the possession of the enemy.

GEN. CASS.

The Circleville Watchman, edited by SAMUEL ALBURTIS, Esq., formerly of Martinsburg, has hoisted the name of Gen. Cass for the Presidency, subject to the decision of a National Convention The editor, in concluding a well written article upon the subject of his preference, says :---

" In looking around the political horizon, we se no one, upon whom the eyes of the people look more intently, than upon this distinguished states-The interests and honor of our country man. seem to direct public attention to Gen. Cass, as the statesman in whom combines the ability to advance the one and the firmness to guard the other.

"But, should any other good Democrat receive the nomination of the National Convention we shall as willingly and cheerfully, put our shoulder to the great Democratic Car, and assist in elevating him to the Chief Magistracy of these United States, as we would were he the man of our own choice:

ANTI-RENTISM.

We learn from the New York True Sun, that upwards of one hundred thousand dollars have been expended by the State, in Columbia and Delaware counties alone, in suppressing anti-rent riots .-Such, reader, is a speaimen of the character of the faction whose chosen champion, the self styled 'law and order' party have elevated to the first office within the gift of the Empire State ! Oh, shame, where is thy blush ?

THE "SOUTHERN STANDARD."

We find on our table this week the " Southern Standard" the new Loco Foco paper recently start-ed at Richmond, and said to belong to the CALed at Richmond, and said to belong to the CAL-nous wing. It is well edited, as any one acquaint-ed with its Editor, C. T. Borrs, Esq., may well judge. The Chivalry should give it a strong sup-port. If we are rightly informed, the Palmetto is taking root in the Democratic soil of this Con-gressional District. Perhaps some of the support-ers of R. M. T. HUNTER, Esq., for U. S. Senator, ers of R. M. T. HUNTER, Esq., for U. S. Senator, hereabouts can tell. Are we right friend BLLER, of the "Spirit of Jefferson ?"-Martinsburg Gaz. Sorry to say it, but can't answer, 'pon honor.

We have been struck with the truth and force of the above language of Major Forsyth, of the Columbus (Ga.) Times, (just returned from the seat of war, and therefore qualified to judge of the actual state of things,) in reading the bitter assaults of the Whig press upon the Administration, on the occasion of the late call for nine regiments of volunteers to prosecute the war with Mexico with additional vigor. We will not doubt the patriotic professions of the Whig press in their avowed anxiety to press the war vigorously ; but when we see them, like the Times, degrading our Goyernment below the standard of Mexican imbecility and fatuity; when we see that paper utter in relation to those who are entrusted by the Constitution with the direction of this war, such opprobrious language as the following-"The inconsistences and vacillations of the policy which has been pursued, would disgrace the councils even of the distracted government which we are endeavoring to destroy"-we are forced to infer that, in their zeal to injure a Democratic Administration. they throw difficulties in the way of a speedy termination of the war, and, by damping the ardor of those who have to fight our battles, virtually encourage the enemy in his mad, insolent and sui-cidal course.—Richmond Enquirer.

BALTIMORE. FOREVER.

The city of Baltimore is about to organize a new company of Volunteers for service in Mexico. As soon as 100 names are procured, they intend to embark for the seat of war. They have already 50 names, and declare, if their services are not accepted by our government, they will fight on their own hook !

ROBBED.—'The dwelling of Mr. John V. Swear-ingen, at Williamsport, Md. was broken into on Saturday night last, and robbed of seventy dollars in cash

SPECIE .- It is calculated that two millions of specie from France and England will be received in New York and Boston before the 1st of January next.

COMMERCIAL FORESIGHT .---- A respected and vealthy merchant in Detroit, had a very large amount of flour on hand in New York, when the prices went down to the lowest point last winter. le set down his loss at some 80 or $100,000; and turned over his stock to his agents in New York and Liverpool. They assumed sole super-vision of it—kept in boud for ten months, and sold the whole of the large stock, a few weeks since, at 33 shillings a barrel. Mr. B. was entirely ignorant of the course pursued by his agents, ntil he received information of the sale of the flour, by which he saved over $40,000.

DEATH OF THE WIDOW OF BLACK HAWK .-The editor of the Louisville Journal has received a letter from Dr. Volney Spalding, surgeon of the Sancs and Foxes, mentioning the death in the Sane camp, on Kansas river, on the 29th of August, of As-Shaw-E-Qua, (Singing Bird) widow of the distinguished war chief Black Hawk, aged 85 years.

RUMORED ABDUCTION AT GEORGETOWN .- It is umored, says the Washington News, that a very handsome young lady, about fourteen years of age, who attended a French class at Georgetown, as been missing from her home and friends since Friday evening, the 20th instant.

MR. BANCROFT IN ENGLAND .- The "Times," aking its cue from the New York Express and taking its cue from the new fork papers and other kindred prints, is outrageous at the faux pas that Mr. Bancroft committed in advising the Eng-lish ministry not to open the English ports. He has ruined the Agricultural prospects of the country, and deserves the execration, as does of course the administration that sent him there, of every heart that rejoiced in our prospective commercial prosperity. Aye, but was the Times' one of these hearts? Did they not contend that the repeal of the English corn laws, which is pro tanto the opening of the English ports, would bring with it no advantage to the American producer Were we not told that the foreign market was of no value, that it was the home consumers that the agriculturist must look to? How then could it be so very bad in Mr. Bancroft to spoil that which was good for nothing before ? But who believes this idle and improbable story about Mr. Bancroft? Admitting that he is not a Solomon, surely he is neither the simpleton nor the impertinent interferer with British Councils that this story would make him. It is possible that the English ministry, unwilling to open the ports, and yet desirous to stifle the importunate claims for bread, may have given as an excuse for the failure to adopt this measure for relief, that the American Minister brought news of great preparation on the part of the American people to sup-ply the English demand. But we see it stated hat Mr. Bancroft had not even reached London when the British Council were last in session.

ROYAL FLOUR AND A ROYAL PRICE .- Last fal Mr. Henry Smith, an enterprising miller of Le Roy, (N. Y.) sent six barrels of the choicest su-Roy, (N. Y.) sent six barrels of the choicest su-perfine Genessee flour, manufactured at his mill, to Queen Victoria, and for which, in due time, he received from her Majesty the comfortable little sum of three thousand dollars. The flour was put up in highly finished barrels, neatly varnish-ed, inclosed in sacks, and forwarded direct to the Queen at London. This fortunate experiment upon the appetite of Royalty seems to have suited her Majesty's palate so nicely, that in addition to the ample remuneration for his first adventure, he has recently received an order direct from Lon for three thousand barrels more " of the same sort" which he has promptly forwarded.

STEAM MANUFACTURES .- Brassclocks are now

nanufactured by steam in New York! One firm employs twenty-five men, and complete in one day, one hundred clocks, beautifully finished, A large sheet of brass is put into a heavy press, and after a few twistings, comes out in the shape of highly finished wheels, at the rate of 60 per minute. A LARGE ORDER.—The London Times of Oc-tober 22d, a journal by the way, which never makes random statements, remarks, that "one of the greatest capitalists in England or the world, had sent out an order to the United States, for 500,000 quarters of wheat—equal to 900,000 barrels of

NEW YORK ELECTION .- The official returns from this State, show that the entire vote cast for Wright and Young was 385,895, of which Young has a majority over Wright of 11,329.— The vote for Lieutenant Governor exceeds that for Governor only 39 less than 3,000; and of those Addison Gardner has a majority over Fish of 18,492. The total majority in favor of the new constitution is 128,801, and against free suffrage to negroes 138,816.

PENNSYLVANIA.—It is said that Gen. Cadwal-lader is to command the PennsylvaniA regiment destined for Mexico. Fourteen companies have tendered their services, being four more than the Governor is authorized to enrol.

FIRE AT FREDERICK.—The dry goods store of Mr. Tobias Myers, at Frederick, Md., was de-stroyed by fire on Wednesday night. It was in-sured in the Baltimore insurance office for $3000.

WHIG VICTORIES .- It is one of the curious acts in our history of parties, (says the Charles-ton Patriot.) that though the Whigs gain frequent and great victories, they do not often gain them at the right moment. If, instead of sweeping New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, at thi time, they had postponed the victory for two years, it might have given them famous results. Now, with no spoils to divide, the Democrats must unite for their own safety, to say nothing of success and all the discontents of the dominant party will unite with them as a matter of course.

DUTIES RECEIVED AT NEW YORK .- The re celpts of the New York custom house during the past week have been $125,000. The number of arrivals have been 39; of passengers, 1,851; of clearances, 36; tonnage, 12,615.

JOHN RANDOLPH'S SLAVES .- The Randolph slaves, some four hundred in number, who were prevented by the mob from settling upon their own lands in Ohio, have been better accommodated by the people of the adjoining county, where they have been distributed among families, who are teaching them to read, and training them to habits of industry and frugality.

To KEEP THE PEACE.-Lord Brougham says, that England is under recognizances to keep the peace in the sum of £800,000,000, that being the amount of her sational debt.

WRECK OF THE ATLANTIC ! LOSS OF FORTY LIVES!

The New York papers of Saturday record a terrible disaster on the Sound. The beautiful steamer Atlantic, Capt. Dustan, left Allyn's Point, for New York at 11 o'clock on Wednesday night, with an unusual small number of passengers, (mostly from Boston,) which with the officers and (mostly from Boston,) which with the olincers and crew numbered about 80, and in the gale on Thursday was driven ashore, nearly opposite New London, and on Friday morning went to pleces, about forty of her passengers and crew finding a watery grave, while those who escaped, had to endure intense suffering. Mr. Marsh, of Haverhill, Mass., has furnished the following ac-count of the catastronice.

Haverhill, Mass., has furnished the following ac-count of the catastrophe: The passengers left Boston at half past five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. They proceed-ed over the Worcester and Norwich roads, and reached Allyn's Point at half past eleven on that night. There they went on board the Atlantic. She left for New York between 12 and 1 o'clock on Thursday moraing. There were between seventy and eighty per-sons on board in all, including passengers, officers, town and acremits.

The Atlantic got well under way, and was run-ning along finely, when the steam chest exploded, and almost at the same moment the wind shifted from the north-east to the north-west, and blew almost a perfect hurricane. The steamer was thrown into the midst of dark ness and confusion, and the air resounded with the cries of the scalded. It was a frightful scene to behold. Capt. Dustan instantly called all hands to the fore deck, and ordered them to heave over the anchors, but it was found almost impossible for a man to stand on deck, in consequence of the violence of the gale, the sea continually making a breach over her bows. Owing to this, it took a breach over her bows. Owing to this, it took nearly an hour to get out the three anchors. The fires were all putout at daylight on Thurs-day, and troin that time to the period of going ashore, the passengers and crew suffered from the intense cold. The only means of keeping warm was to wrap themselves in blankets and warm was to wrap themselves in blankets, and warm was to wrap themselves in blankets, and walk briskly around the steamer. About midnight she parted one of her cables, there being four out, one attached to thirty huu-dred weight of furnace bars, and the others to anchors. After this the gale continued to increase and blew a perfect hurricane. She was driven still nearer the shore, but pass-id a brist there all nearer the shore, but passed a point that all expected she would strike upon. She then drifted about eleven miles more, making She then dritted about eleven miles more, making in all twenty-two miles which occupied about forty-eight hours, of terrible uncertainty and suf-fering. She then struck, stern first, on a ledge of rocks on Fisher's Island. A tremendous sea threw her up to the very top of the ledge. This was the crisis in the disaster. In five minutes after she struck she was in pieces. In these five minutes at least one half of those on board the Atlantic were taken from time into eternity. The screams, the crash, the roar of the sea, were dreadful.

There were six females, four children and two infants among the passengers. All the females were drowned or crushed to death. Only one of the children was saved, and he was the only one of the family of which he was a member. father, mother, married sister, and a younger sister, and two young brothers, were on board. The poor 'little orphan thus saved, and thus thrown alone upon the world, is only twelve years of age. The two infants were drowned, frozen, or crushed to death.

In connection with the terrible disaster noticed above, the New York Express has the following

But one scene in the drama, our duty, though not our will, compels us to publish. While the hand of death was busy in this place of sorrow and disaster, the hand of man was engaged in robbing the victims of the storm. As the bodies were washed ashore, there were beings in human form, who could, with a callousness of heart al-most incredible stord down and plunder them of most incredible, stoop down and plunder them of every article of value to be found. The clothes of some were cut, and watches, money, jewelry, anything convertible to gold, was stolen. Did we not know this statement to be true, we should hardly dare to believe it.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION .- Twenty or Thirty lives lost, and Twenty or Thirty scalded .- A slip from the office of the New Orleans Picayune, dated Sunday, Nov. 22, 11 o'clock, P. M., furnishes the following particulars of a dreadful steamboat vice. Orders for the march to the place of renaccident on the Mississippi :---

TO THE PATRIOTIC!

The following appeal to the brave and patriotic sons of Jefferson and the neighboring counties, is put fourth by "A Volunteer," and will not, we are sure, be without its good effect.

is put fourth by "A volunteer," and will not, we are sure, he without its good effect. Fellow-Citizens of Jefferson in particular, and of our Congressional District in general: Now is vour TIME 1 The two companies from Jefferson, and one each from Berkgley and Frede-rick have respectively offered their services to the Executive of Virginia; but the difficulty seems to be, that no one Company of the four is yet filled, and it is high time that they should be. How is this to be accomplished? Does it not seem that a true spirit, by which all should be governed, would dictate to those who profess to take interest in raising the company, that they should set aside all prejudices, whether personal, local, or political, and direct their efforts to the one object of raising the company? And, cannot this most readily be done by uniting the several companies not yet filled?—and then, let the majority of the compa-nies thus united, say, what officer shall command them. Let each one feel willing to yield his per-sonal pretensions to the will of the majority. We can't all be officers: And he who freely comes forward, ready and will receive as much, as he who is Captain. In making this call upon our countrymen, we do not appeal to such as have occupations at home by which they can render themeseves particular-

The contemplated expedition may be consid-ered as one affording an opportunity of heroic adventure; It is thought to be for the purpose of an attack on Vera Cruz, that the present call for troops is made. The journey thither will be novel and interesting—the climate, when we arrive there, will be found delightful during winter—our expenses will be noted the the beginning.

Remember, that this may be the last opportunity, ever afforded within the lifetime of any of us, of gaining glory on the field of danger, in our country's cause!— Rouse up, then, and shake yourselves! Let us see whether some of the heroism which animated our Revolutionary Fathers does not lurk in the blood of some of you! Do not pretend to call in question the justness of the war, or the purity and correctness of the intentions, on the part of Government: But let-" Our Country! right or wrong!" be our motto, and the essential article of the faith of out Patriotism be-when at war to Concourse our particitism be-when at war to concourse our exemits! Come forward, then, Sons of Virginin! and en-rol your names! No matter on whose list. Any one of the gentlemen would no doubt make us a good Captain. Let not doubt or hesitation for a moment occupy your minds! Let nothing cause you to delay! Come forward, one and all, ye who feel the love of country burning in your hearts, and sign your names !

The Infantry Regiment of Volunteers required the Governor's Proclamation, will consist of : 1 olonel, 1 Lieutenant Colonel, 1 Major, 1 Adjutant (a Lieutenant of one of the Companies, but not in addition.) 1 Sergeant Major, 1 Quartermaster Sergeant, 2 Principal Musicians, and 10 Companies, each of which to consist of 1 Captain, 1 First Lieutenant, 2 Second Lieutenants, 4 Sergeants, 4 Corporals, 2 Musicians, and 80 Privates.

Companes wishing to enter the service, will or-ganize with all possible despatch, elect their officers, and cause the elections to be certified to the Governor, that commissions may be issued without delay. Elections to be superintended by the com-mandant or other field officer of the Regiment where the Company is raised, or by such officer dezvous will be sent with the commissions. It is

INCIDENTS OF WAR. The Louisville Journal publishes the following extract of a letter from Monterey, describing a most touching incident in the great battle. The poor victim should have a monument crected to her memory :--

her memory :--"CAMP MONTEREY, OCTOBER 7, 1846. "Hungry and cold I crept to one corner of the fort to get in the sumshine, and at the same time to shelter myself from the bombs that were flying thick around me. I looked out, and, some two or three hundred yards from the fort, I saw a Mexi-can female carrying water and food to the wound-ed men of both armies. I saw her lift the head of one poor fellow, give him water, and then take the handkerchief from her own head and bind up his menule i attending one or two others in the same wounds; attending one or two others in the same way, she went back for more food and water. As she was returning I heard the crack of one or two she was returning I heard the crack of one or two guns, and she, poor creature, fell; after a few struggles all was still—she was dead! I turned my eyes to heaven and thought, " Oh God, and this is war!" I cannot believe but that the shot was an accidental one. The next day, passing into another fort, I passed her dead body. It was lying on its back, with the bread and broken gourd containing a few drops of water. We buried her amidst showers of grape and round shot, occasion-ally dodging a shell or twelve pounder, and expect-ing every moment to have another grave to dig for one of ourselves."

DENTISTRY.

D.R. McCORMICK respectfully informs the citizens of Jefferson, that he will visit Charlestown, professionally, on the 14th inst., and remain two weeks only. December 4, 1846. To the Young Men of the 16th Brigade: Your Country invites you to arms—to an ex-hibition of Valor and Patriotism, which I am sure you are eager to display. It is no despot commanding you to obey: your voluntary services are requested. Now is the time to seize the op-portinity—to serve your country—to gain ap-plause. Your own, the honor of the community is which you live, and of the whole country, is at plause. Your own, the honor of the community in which you live, and of the whole country, is at stake : How proud will be the reflection that you marched in its defence ! One Infantry regiment of volunteers, to serve during the war with Mexico, unless sooner dis-charged, it is now the privilege of Virginians to form. They are gathering with alacrity—four companies in the Sixteenth Brigade are striving which shall be first ready to march. Under the companies in the Sixteenth Brigade are striving which shall be first ready to march. Under the spirited auspices of Captain Alburtis at Martins-burg, Major Hamtramck at Shepherdstown, and Captain Rowan, at Charlestown, Companies are forming for the War. Hasten to fill up their ranks—help on their Patriotic efforts. I com-mend them to you as officers worthy of the high-st confidence. More than sixty are also enroled in the Winchester Company,-my solicitude to complete it is known to you. Remember-it is your country that invites—the dictates of honor you know how to interpret. JAMES H. CARSGN, Dec. 4, 1846. Brig'r Genl. V. M.

TO ARMS! TO ARMS!!

HAVE received information from the Adia-L tant General of Virginia, informing me that the company under my command, will be accepted as one of those comprising the Regiment from this State, so soon as it shall be organized according to the General Orders from his Department. It is necessary, in consequence of the change in the time of service, that a new enrolment should be made. To accomplish this, and to fill my compa-ny according to the requirements of law, one more appeal is made to the brave and patriotic sons of the Valley. There are yet laurels to be won, and the sons of Virginia should be permitted to wear them. Now then, is the time, for her brave and mallant defenders to some forward and methods in the gallant defenders to come forward and sustain the honor of the good Old Dominion.

My place of rendezvous, for the present, will be in Charlestown, where enrolments can be made and full explanations furnished. I also purpose visiting the neighboring towns, and will be pleased to meet with any who may be desirous of join-ing my company. Quarters will be furnished at once to all who come from the country, and every comfort provided. It is necessary that immediate application be made, as there is no doubt or uncertainty now, but we will and must take part in defence of the country, her honor and glory. Nov. 27, 1846. JOHN W. ROWAN.

morning from Vicksburg, brings the particulars of a terrible steamboat accident which occurred on the 21st inst., about seven miles below Natchez, in the bend of the river, by which some twenty of thirty lives were lost and a great number of per sons were severely scalded.

The Sultana, bound down the river, came in contact with the steamer Maria, Capt. T. W. Dunnica, bound up, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon striking her just forward of the wheel house, an by the violence of the shock broke the connection pipe of the Maria, by which the chief clerk, the second engineer and between twentyfive and thirty second engineer and between twentyfive and thirty deck hands and deck passengers were scalded, many of them so severely that there was no pros-met of their severely that there was no prospect of their recovery. The Maria sunk to within about two feet of her cabin floor within five minutes after the collision; drowning between twenty-five and thirty persona who were on the lower deck. It is thought that Capt. Dunnica was drowned, but is not certainly

Capt. Dunnica was drowned, but is not certainly known. The cabin passengers were all saved. The steamboat Talma, Capt. Hite, came down the river soon after the accident, and took on board the wounded and conveyed them back to Natchez to be placed in the hospital. The Sultana remain-ed by the side of the wreck till sunrise the next morning, rendering every assistance in their pow-er. We are unable to furnish a list of the names of killed and scalded. The Maria will be a total loss, it is thought. The bows of the S. were much injured.

BULL FIGHTING A LOCOMOTIVE-As the train of cars of the Rensselaer and Saratoga road were passing at a moderate rate near Mechanickville, bull was walking leisurely on the track-no being disposed to give way, the engineer quick-ened the speed of the engine. The bull faced about, and encountered the engine at full speed. The concussion was so great as to throw the en-gine off the track, breaking it into pieces and se-riously injuring the cars, without hurting the pas-sengers. The bull then took up his quarters in a neighboring field, and surveyed the scene of devastation and rain with calm indifference.

THE PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS.—A gentle man in Philadelphia has received a letter from a friend at Harrisburg, who is well informed on this subject, says the Ledger, stating that the Penn-sylvania regiment is now full with the exception sylvania regiment is now full with the exception of one company. Among the companies offering from this city, the following are set down as posi-tively accepted; Company, A, Capt. Binder; com-pany B, Capt. Hill; company C, Capt. Bennet; company D, Capt. Small; company E, Capt. Chandler, and company I, (propably.) Capt. More-head. The other companies are from the interior of the State.

ANOTHER HOXT CASE .- The elopement of a respectable citizen of Henrico, with the young sister of his wife, has made a painful sensation in Richmond, (Va.) The guilty pair left the city on Tuesday night. It seems the transgressor was the husband of the third wife—herseli an in-teresting young woman—and has left his family of seven or eight children, to go off with the vic-tim of his guilty passion.

MONTEREY.—An officer writing from this place, after giving an account of the wonderful strength of the city, and its fortification, adds—"I do not consider it any boasting to say, that thirty thou-sand European troops could not now drive us from this town, and it would take all Mexico to do it."

Rev. Dr. Plumer of Richmond, has accepted the pastoral care of the Presbyterian Church in Baltimore, formerly Dr. W. L. Breckenridge's.

General Order of the 23d May last; and arrange-ments will be made, if practicable, to supply it at the place of rendezvous.

The act of Congress provides for the clothing in money) and subsistence of the non-commis-sioned officers, musicians, and privates, as follows: The volunteers to furnish their own clothing, for which purpose there will be allowed to each noned officer, musician and private three ommissi ollars and fifty cents per month during the time is shall be in the service of the United States.— That the volunteers may be enabled to provide themselves with good and sufficient clothing; the commutation allowance for six months, (21 dollars,) will be advanced to each non-commissioned officer and private after being mustered into serice, but only with the express condition, that the volunteer has already provided himself with six months' clothing : this fact to be certified to the Paymaster by the Captain of company; so that the amount so advanced shall be applied under the supervision of his Captain to the object contem-supervision of his Captain to the object contem-plated by law. The six months' commutation of clothing will be sufficient to procure a suit of uniform. Subsistence before arriving at the place of ren-dezvous, and for travelling home from the place of discharge, will be allowed at the rate of fifty cents for every twenty wiles distance for every twenty miles distance. Arms and accoutrements will be furnished by the United States.

It is confidently expected that the Virginia Re-giment will be at least as early in the field as those from any other State.

SUPERIOR MODE OF CURING HAMS .- Agrees bly to your request, I herewith send you the pro-cess of curing the hams I sent you in March, hich recently called forth the admiration of the American Agricultural Association and Farmer's Club at New York. I made a pickle of two quarts of salt, to which I added one ounce of summer savory, one ounce of sweet majoram, one ounce of allspice, half ounce of saltpetre, one ounce of allspice, half ounce of saltpetre, one pound of brown sugar; boiled the whole together, and applied the mixture, boiling hot, to one hun-dred pounds of ham, and kept in the pickle three or four weeks. My process of smoking was not the most expensive, but may not be the less avail-able on that account. I smoked the hams in a seed cask with one head in, with a small hole for the smoke to mass out hours are human to the head the smoke topass out, hung my hams to the head, and used about a peck of mahogony saw-dust for fuel. I smoked them but one week.

LAmerican Agriculturist. Cost. Moore.—It was stated, a few days ago, in speaking of Alvarado, that Commodore Moore, of the Texas navy, had once taken it with two Baltimore built schooners. This was an error.— It was Tabasco that Com. Moore took, and levied the sum of $25,000. His force was one ship of 20 guns, one brig of 9 guns, one schooner of 7 guns and one steampship of 8 guns. The steam-ship was a powerful one, with double engines of 42 inch cylinders. The vessels had to be towed against a strong current, and the water one foot lees in depth than on Alvarado bar. Notwith-standing the difficulties he met with, he succeeded in his design.

MEXICAN OFFICERS.—The Mexican army ap-pears to be well provided with officers, such as they are. At Tampico, it is stated, there are no less than four Generals, two hundred and forty-five commissioned officers, to command one thou-and and ten privates. sand and ten privates.

DIED,

DIED, On the 24th November last, in this county, Mr. FREDERICK SLEPPY, an old and respectable citizen, be-ing a resident for the last 51 years, (having removed from York, Pa.), after a sickness of about a week, in the 89th year of his age-leaving his wife and children to mourn his lues.

year of his age-leaving his wile and children to mourn his loss. In Shepherdstown, Nov. 7th, Mrs. HANNAH MILLER, wife of Mr. John Miller, aged 60 years. In the decesse of Mrs. Miller the Church has lost an exemplary member, the community an obliging neighbor; a hisband, a help-mate indeed; and three devoted children, an affectionate mother. Our joy is, that our loss is her infinite gain. In Shepherdstown, Nov. 18th, Mrs. ELIZABETH WIRS, wife of Mr. Samuel Wies, considerably advanced in age. Mrs. Wies was for many years a member of the house-hold of Faith, and it is to be hoped is now in the enjoy-joyment of heavenly rest. Near Millsville, Loudoun county, on Thursday morn-ing, the 12th ult., Susaw Francus, daughter of Mr. Bash-rod Anderson, in the eighth year of her age. Departed this life, at the residence of his uncle, near Lectown, on the 28th ult., MEREDITH HIEM, Jr., son of Mr. William Heim, of Nelson county, in the 20th year of his age.

Mr. William Helm, of Nelson county, in the 20th year of his age. In Slieplierdstown, on Saturday last, at an advanced age, Ma. PERAV ORNOMPS. He participated in many of the scenes of the last War, and was under the command of Gen. Harrison at Fort Meigl. His remains were inter-red by the "Potomac Rifle," with ceremonies appropriate to the soldier and the veteran of other days. Found dead at Zimmerman's Hotel, Frederick City, Md., on Friday morning last, ROREAT H. McFARLAN, Esq. of this county, in the 24th year of his age. Mr. M. was a young genileman of commanding talents, kind, no-ble, and generous heart, but the fell destroyer, Interpe-rance, has blasted all the bright hopes of future useful-mess, and brought grief, deep and poignant, upon a fond mother and attached boother. We deeply sympathise with his many warm friends, in their affliction, and trust the impressive lesson which is afforded, may not be with-out its good effects upon his early companions, and the as-sociates of his latter days.

LOVE'S SEASONS. There is an hour for the bud To burst from theswollen bark; There is an hour for the flowd To break from its ice-womb dark: There is an hour for the bird From the sunny palms to roam, When its wandering heart is wildly stirr'd With a voice from its northern home : It is the time of Spring

And in the heart there is a budding time Which longs to burst into its fullest prime; A dawn which promises a summer day Whose genial warmth cau never pass away; Love then unfolds his wing.

There is an hour for the leaf To put on its darkest green: There is an hour,—why so brief? For the flower's most vivid sheen. There is an hour for the wood To teem with perfume and song : here is an hour for river and fload To swarm with the finy throng : It is the Summer's bloom !

And in the heart there is a time of bliss, When the number fails to mark each burning kiss, When there's a spell, a load-star in the eye, The loss of which would make you long to die; Love broods then o'er his hor

There is an hour for the grass To sicken beneath the sun ; There is an hour when the glass From the summer wave is gone : There is an hour for the leaf To cripple and drop from the tree ; There is an hour for the dead-ripe sheaf To be carried from off the leaf; Then Autumn chills the sky.

And in the heart there is a time of wo, A madd'ning time, of which few know, When eye meets eye, but with a chilly stare, When breast meets breast, but love is now not there His wings are stretch'd to fly.

There is an hour for the tree There is an hour for the tree To stand with a sapless heart: There is an hour for the bee To die 'neath the frost's fell dart: There is an hour for the wreath Of the white snow to bury all: There is an hour for! Earth's king, old Death, To cover her face with his pall; When Winter holdeth sway.

And in the heart there is a rayless time, When sight, or sound, or action, most sublime, Cannot awake the soul from out the sleep Of black despair. How could it wake, how could it weep, When love hath flown away ?

Old Lady—Females? Let me see, there ain't none but Biddy the hired gal. Marshal—I understood you to say that your children were all girls. Old Lady-La! yes! Well, dy'e count them too? Marshal-Certainly I do; I count all who make their home in your family-old and young,-men women and children. Old Lady-Snakes alive ; Then you want to put down the old gentleman, I suppose ; don't you? Marshal—What old gentleman ?

in the family. Old Lady—So I did; but I din't 'spose "males" meant decript old men, like my husband. Poor dear! He's been all but dead with the palsy six years next hoeing. Marshal-Now for the females.

Old Lady-We'll there's Biddy, and Prudence, and Grace, and Jemima; and that's all four of them

Marshal-But you havn't included yourself

here. Old Lady—Gracious ! D'ye nut down the Old Women too ? Peers to me the State's mighty curious this year.

Congressional Globe and Appendix.

Congressional Globe and Appendix. Congressional Globe and Appendix. Construction of the two Houses, having authorized a hypeshois at its last session, through the Joint Library Committee of the two Houses, having authorized a hypeshois and the Senate, by resolution, having direct-ed the mode of preparing the reports of its proceedings, and anthorized the Secretary of the Senate to contract with the undersigned, stipulating that the reports when written out shall be subject to the revision of the speak-ers, the Congressional. GLOBE AND APPENDIX is now offered to the public, not only as an authentic, but as an official report of the proceedings of Congress, made under the eye and published by authority of the body offered to the public, not only as an authentic, but as an official report of the proceedings of Congress, made under the roceedings of Congress, which, thus adopted, is to the proceedings of Congress, which, thus adopted, is to he proceedings of Congress, which, thus adopted, is to the proceedings of Congress, which, thus adopted, is now the spear of Congress, a brief of all the debates; every important vote; and an Appendix, including at full length all the revised speeches delivered during the session. The bound a most perfect political history. The Senators from the States and the Representatives from overy sec-tion of the Union bring with them into Congress a know-ledge of the feelings, sentiments, and interests of their systemal constituencies. Public opinion and the public formation, as it exists among those they represent, are modeded by them; and in the crucible of Congress the whole, and all its component parts are made to move in cooperation. The press cannot be more usefully employ-ed than in condensing and again spreading abroad the intelligence of our free country, tending to such happy realts through our almost miraculously adjusted State and Mational institutions.

intelligence of our free country, tending to such happy results through our almost miraculously adjusted State and National institutions. Having identified ourselves with the plan of advanc-ing the usefulness of Congress by publishing full and im-partial reports, and having a large mass of the CONGRS-stoRAL GLOBE AND AFFENDIX, issued during the last twelve years, which would be impaired in value to us and utility to the public if the work were discontinued, we have a double motive to prompt us to extend it through a new series. We are resolved, if possible, to give if permanence, and to hand it down to successors as a standard work, worthy of being maintained and improv-ed. We shall enter upon our new undertaking without being distracted or burdened by any associate labors of the press; and, thus unencumbered, shall hope to make the new series a step in advance of the former in all points of execution. With a view to accomplish this, we shall be (one or the other) in attendance on Congress. The reports will not be affected by our party bias. We believe every member of Congress will bear witness that our reports are full and fair. The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily pro-ceedings of the two Houses of Congress, and printed on superfine double royal paper, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil.) in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto fairs. The species of the mem-bers, in this first form, are condensed—the full report of the prepared speeches being reserved for the Appendix. All resolutions, motions, and other proceedings are given in the form of the Journals, with the yeas and nays on every important question. The Appendix is made up of the President's Annual every important question. The Appendix is made up of the President's Annual

The Appendix is minde up of the President's Annual Message, the reports of the principal officers of the Government that accompany it, and all speches of members of Congress written out or revised by them-selves. It is printed in the same form as the Congres-sional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages during a session. During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe and one of the Appendix; but during the remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter. for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be unusually in-togesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make near 1500 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpa-reil. We furnish complete Indexes to both at the end of a session.

reil. We furnish complete Indexes to both at the end of a session. We have on hand the Congressional Globe and Appen-dix for the last fifteen sessions of Congress, making to-gether fifteen large royal quarto volumes, which we will sell, unbound, for $41; or bound, with Russia backs and corners, for $55. Those who want the back volumes should apply for them immediately, as they are in de-mand. Congress subscribed for 341 complete sets during the two last sessions. The proceedings of Congress for the last nine years cannot be procured from any other source-Gales and Seaton having stopped printing their Register of Debates in 1837. We will endeavor to print a sufficient humber of sur-plus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply ALL the lost numbers. If you should be so un-fortunate as to have two lovers, you must exert all your arts to keep them both strong in their at-tachments; with this view you must be peculiar-ly gracious to each when the other is absent—by a judicious equipoise of this compensating balance, you may keep them in order for a long time, so that you may not only have "two strings to your bow," but two beaux to one string. If one of your admirers should become unruly, treat him with disidain and indifference. If he should be much disaffacted, prove the extent of chased a piece of wild and not far from the Ken-nebec, and went to work to clear it up. After cutting down the large growth and burning up the underbrush, they proceeded to contrive a plan to get the fallen trunks together in a pile for the purpose of burning them also. The land lay upon a side hill, and they concluded that if they could roll a large log which lay near the summit and place it about half way down, they might pile the rest against it, and thus secure their object.— I But how were they to prevent it, when once un-der way, from rolling to the bottom, and thus de-feating their plan? To accomplish this, they ob-tained a rope, and making one end fast to the log, one of them was to hold on to the other was to start it. Fearing that he might not be able to pre-vent the rope from slipping through his fingers, vent the rope from slipping through his lingers, Jimmy, who was the steersman, tied it to his body. "Start him asy, Phelim," said he, after convincing himself that all was right and tight...... Phelim did start him, and as the log commenced should be much disaffected, prove the extent of your coldness by eating ice-oream with his rival. and Lungs, Broken Con-stitution, &c., &c. THIS "Celebrated Remedy" has now, by its intrinsic virtues, acquired a celebrity which can never be shaken by the many quack "Nostrims" with which the country abounds. The public are fast learning that this is the only remedy that can be relied upon for the speedy and permanent cure of all Diseases of the Lungs. It is hterally sweeping Consumption from the land; wherever it is introduced and becomes known, all others dwindle into insignificence. The public have been "humbugged" long enough, and now resort to a medicine which the testimony of the most eminent physicians in the land has placed beyond the reach of criticism. It requires no bolstering up, by publishing columns of forged hours by the use of this all-healing compound.— Its healing qualities are wonderful. One bottle of this is worth ten dollars worth of all other salves and remedies in existence. The most severe cut, which by delay might disable the patient for days.

named, which havé bafiled the skill of the most learned practitioners for ages heretofore. DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY was the first preparation from that valuable tree which was ever introduced to the public, and ample proof is afforded of its success by the country being flood-ed with "Balsams," "Candles," and "Mixtures," of Wild Cherry, not one of which is prepared by a regular physician, although they have assumed the names of re-spectable physicians to give currency to their "Nostrums." Therefore the public should be on their guard, and not have a worthless mixture palmed upon them for the original and genuine preparation, which is only prepared by DR. SWAYNE, N. W. corner of Eighth and Race streets, Philadelphia.
