

SPRIT OF JEFFERSON.

CHARLESTOWN: Friday Morning, December 24, 1847.

GENERAL TAYLOR.

However much they may be disgruntled some of our good CLAY Whigs, it is now about to realize the effects resulting from the course of some of them, by leading Gen. TAYLOR to believe that he was their chosen candidate for the Presidency.

It has been long denied that the Old General had any aspirations for the office—that he would greatly prefer the retrace of private life, and the comforts of domestic tranquility, when his term of service in Mexico shall have expired. That such a course would have been the true one, for his own peace and the country's good, must be apparent to every mind, not operated upon by political expediency, or swayed by a temporary enthusiasm, noble in its impulse, but evil and dangerous in its tendencies. Recent developments are shifting the scene. The ambition, natural it is true to every man, to occupy the exalted station of the Presidency—the longings after honor, and the desire of preferment and promotion, have been awakened, and Gen. Taylor now comes before the people as an acknowledged candidate for the Presidency, "Conventions" or "No Conventions."

So, we presume, so far as he is concerned, the question is settled. It now only remains to be seen whether that "Political Millennium" is now so high at hand, that both the great parties of this country are to surrender the principles which they have so long cherished, and for which they have so valiantly fought, to please the whim or suit the caprices of those who may expect to ride into power by singing psalms to "Good Lord, Good Devil!"

Our only objection, however, is to show that Gen. Taylor considers himself before the people as a candidate for the Presidency, and is determined so to remain.

The Washington Correspondent of the Baltimore American, the leading Taylor paper of Maryland, says:—

As the public mind is much agitated in regard to the true position and intention of General TAYLOR, I send you the following brief extract from a recent letter of his to a Whig member of Congress.

Speaking of a meeting of his "Whig friends" held in Western Pennsylvania, he says: "I have no wish or intention of changing the position which I stand towards the people of the United States, in reference to the Presidency, or the course which I have felt it my duty to pursue."

General Taylor is a candidate for the Presidency, and will remain so, according to his recent letters, convention or no convention.

The "Baltimore Clipper," another Taylor paper, has the following:—

GENERAL TAYLOR—NATIONAL CONVENTION.—The Washington correspondent of the American says, "there is a great deal of speculation in the city upon the question of a national (whig) convention, and the nominee of that convention."

But the same writer gives information, which we think will render it useless for either party to hold such a convention. It is, that a letter has been received, which states, that General Taylor regards himself as already nominated by a portion of the people in their primary assemblies, and that he regards himself as already committed by such nomination to the course which he will not decline in favor of any man. From information which we had received, we felt confident that he would take the precise ground which he now occupies, and that he could neither be coaxed nor driven from it. He is before the people of the United States as a candidate for the Presidency at their own solicitation and nomination, and will so continue, leaving it to them to elect or reject him at their pleasure.

Again, the same paper says:—

GOOD FOR "OLD ROUGH AND READY."—A Washington letter in the Journal of Commerce says, positively, that General Taylor has received, during a few months past, letters from men distinguished as politicians, soliciting his withdrawal from the canvass; and that to not one of these letters did he make any reply. He treated such applications with proper contempt, because it was already known that the result of the people he had consented to become their candidate.

It would seem from the above that the General has had intimations of a "backing out" by former friends, but he is not willing thus easily to let them off. The course of the Democratic party has been heretofore, as it is now, plain, open and undisguised. We go, without division so far as known, for a National Convention. Presuming that the nominee of that Convention, whoever he may be, will be sound upon all the great cardinal doctrines of our party—honest and capable—we pledge him our undivided support. As to the course of the Whig party, it is not our province to speak. If good or bad councils—union or discord prevail—they will at least have the consolation of having made their own election, without interference on the part of others.

THE VETO MESSAGE.

The Richmond Enquirer very justly says of the President's Veto Message, of the River and Harbor Bill of the last session, that it is an able, argumative, and masterly document, fully coming up to the standard of the Virginia Republican school, and confirming the opinion that no President has been more true than James K. Polk to the conservative States' Rights doctrine.

We are glad to see that Messrs. Bayly and Bedinger have come forward to oppose a plan involving the monstrous doctrine of national internal improvements, and that Mr. Elliott of S. C., "at the first," assailed the insidious and mischievous movement for a new committee on commerce between the States. We dislike the quarter from whence the scheme comes—it argues evil to the rights and interests of the sovereign States. Mr. Sims of S. C., also leveled an efficient blow at a proposition intended to be an entering wedge for infractions of the Constitution and invasion of the rights of the States.

A GOOD HIT.

The Baltimore Republican says:—"Mr. Clay said in a letter to a Southern friend during the campaign of 1844—personally, I have no objection to the annexation of Texas; on the contrary, I would be glad to see it."

He now says that the annexation of Texas was the primary cause of the war. Therefore, in 1844, he had, personally, no objection to the war; on the contrary, he would be glad to see it!—What a wonderful man this Mr. Clay is, truly—and how low a scoundrel the truth, too."

THE TAYLOR MEETING.

A Flash in the Pan!

Monday last was looked to as a day of some interest. It was to have been the period, according to the predictions of some of the warm admirers of Gen. TAYLOR, when old party lines were to have been broken down—former political differences obliterated—and the first dawning of a glorious political millennium, when all should have flung to the breeze the flag of "Old Rough and Ready!" The day came—the meeting was held—but lo! what disappointment. Clay Whigs looked angry—Democrats sat hands off—and the "Corporal Guard," with a Roman firmness, alone came to the rescue. With peculiar appropriateness, ASTOR KENNEDY, Esq., who in April last denounced the Mexican War as "iniquitous and unjust," was elected to the Chair, to preside over a meeting for nominating to the Presidency, one of the chief actors in this unjust War! He made a speech of some length in exposition of the objects of the meeting, very good in its style, but somewhat singular in its arguments. He said, among other things, that old party issues were obliterated, and that we were now fighting for a name. It fits so, as Mr. K. asserts, what becomes of his former wild declarations? In April he said Whig principles then, were the good old puritanical doctrines of the 17th century! Have they all become submerged in the wise policy and judicious acts of the present Administration?

Messrs. W. B. THOMPSON and J. H. KELLY also spoke during the continuance of the meeting. They appealed to men of all parties to come forward—party differences—sacrifice former principles—and elevate Gen. Taylor to the Presidency, without pledges or without commitment, as to one act of his Administration. A more full report of the speeches made on the occasion, will be found in the official account of the meeting, which we have been requested to publish, and cheerfully comply with. It may be proper to say, that ANDREW HUNTER and CHARLES B. HARDING, Esqs., were called upon to address the meeting, but neither of whom came forward.

Taken all together, this attempt to get up a demonstration in this County, in favor of Gen. Taylor for the Presidency, was a most miserable abortion. Even the resolutions which were passed, could not have done so, had not the Chairman of the Meeting decided, that none but the friends of Gen. Taylor for the Presidency, would be allowed to vote! A new modus operandi surely, to give expression to the opinions and wishes of the County!

For the gentlemen who are so zealous in this matter, we have the highest respect personally.—They may not thank us for the advice, yet we will nevertheless say to them, they had better let "well enough alone." The principle of electing a man to the Presidency, with his mouth sealed, his capacity untried, fresh from the field of blood and carnage, eager for power and ambitious for distinction has not yet, at least, taken foothold in Jefferson County. Men of neither party will have none of it—and though resolutions may be adopted, Committees appointed, State Conventions gotten up, yet the "world will wag on as usual."

FREE WINTHROP.

The "Free Press" now seems to yield the point, as it does not pretend to deny it, that Mr. WINTHROP, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, whom it last week extolled to the skies, is the author and finisher of the Wilmot Proviso.—It links entirely the only point at issue of the least importance, and finds in the fact of Mr. Winthrop refusing to answer the pertinent interrogatories of Paltry and other Abolitionists, justification for the Speaker's faithlessness and avowed hostility to the South. It is doubtless well for him that he did not answer the interrogatories, as he would most certainly then, have been relieved of the duties which he is now performing.

And for whom did Paltry and others vote?—Why for a Mr. Wilson, one of the rankest Abolitionists in the Union, and who voted throughout the presidency at their own solicitation and nomination, and will so continue, leaving it to them to elect or reject him at their pleasure.

Again, the same paper says:—

GOOD FOR "OLD ROUGH AND READY."—A Washington letter in the Journal of Commerce says, positively, that General Taylor has received, during a few months past, letters from men distinguished as politicians, soliciting his withdrawal from the canvass; and that to not one of these letters did he make any reply. He treated such applications with proper contempt, because it was already known that the result of the people he had consented to become their candidate.

It would seem from the above that the General has had intimations of a "backing out" by former friends, but he is not willing thus easily to let them off. The course of the Democratic party has been heretofore, as it is now, plain, open and undisguised. We go, without division so far as known, for a National Convention. As to the course of the Whig party, it is not our province to speak. If good or bad councils—union or discord prevail—they will at least have the consolation of having made their own election, without interference on the part of others.

FIRE IN THE REAR.

At the Clay Whig meeting in Philadelphia Mr. J. R. Chandler, the late distinguished editor of the United States Gazette, uttered the following sentiments, which beyond all doubt, were intended as a hit at "old Zac":—"We had been told—even by some who pretend to be our own friends—that Mr. Clay had killed himself by his speech. He thanked God for many things—but as sincerely for any other blessing, he thanked God to see so many of the people coming up to sustain principles, without reference to electing tricks. There might be, for all that he knew, some public men who shrink from the avowed of their sentiments, like a goose in a shower, and sought shelter in some obscure corner of a Southern State. But we are not speaking here of such. We are speaking of Henry Clay, who never refused to make known his sentiments, who never refused to stand forth for the right, at whatever hazard."

FOR MEXICO.

J. L. B. WASHINGTON of the Virginia Regiment, has opened a Recruiting Rendezvous in this place. He is anxious to obtain within a few weeks, some twenty-five or more recruits. This offers a fine opportunity to those who yet long for an opportunity to win laurels in defence of the honor and glory of their country.

Gen. JAMES H. CARSON of Frederick, is also making an effort, we learn, to organize a new company for service in Mexico. He has some twenty odd recruits, and a fair prospect of a full company at an early day. He is a superior officer, honorable, high-minded gentleman, a good and a reflect credit upon his corps, and the military glory of his State, should he be permitted to take part in our struggle with Mexico.

ELECTION OF CLERK.

On Monday last, THOMAS A. MOORE, Esq., the present efficient Clerk of the County Court of Jefferson, was re-elected for the next ensuing term. Twenty odd of the thirty-five Magistrates of the County were present, and Mr. Moore received the unanimous vote. This is a high compliment to Mr. M., for the satisfactory manner in which he has heretofore discharged the arduous and responsible duties of his office.

On the same day, Dr. J. H. STRAITH was elected Physician to the Jail, in place of Dr. Bousley, deceased.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

The Alexandria contested election has been the all-absorbing question in the House of Delegates during the last week. Our Richmond Correspondent, one of whose communications will be found on our first page, (intended for last week's paper), and the other on the inner form of to-day's, give a full and highly interesting account of the proceedings in this case, as well as a "bird's-eye view" of all things of interest passing in the Metropolis of our State. We invite especial attention to these letters, as we are sure that our readers will be both gratified and profited by a careful perusal. We are in hopes of being able, should his stay in Richmond be prolonged during the winter, of receiving at least one letter from him every week. He writes with spirit, point and interest.

The debate on the Alexandria question has been one of the most interesting and important that has occurred in the House for a long period. Many of the old members never acquitted themselves before with so much credit, and it has been the occasion of several of the new members making their first Legislative speeches. Among the latter gentlemen who have acquitted themselves with signal ability, and called forth the warm commendations of the Richmond press, we notice the names particularly of Messrs. A. R. Wood of Frederick, JAMES E. STEWART of Berkeley, and Mr. MOORE of Stafford.

A friend now in Richmond, writing to us as to the progress of this case, and the discussion which it has elicited, says, among other things:—"The Alexandria contested election, between Messrs. SPOWEN on the one hand and THOMAS on the other, has been the great question so far. It has called forth a most interesting debate than we have reason to anticipate again on any question, other than that of a Convention to remodel our Constitution."

I was not present in the House when Mr. Wood from your adjacent county of Frederick "flooded his maiden sword," but learn from all quarters that he acquitted himself with great honor. I am rejoiced that Frederick has so creditable a Representative. I was in the House to-day, however, when Mr. STEWART of Berkeley was elected, I believe, in opposition to the caucus dictate of that old Federal county, spoke on this same question. He makes a faithful and efficient Representative—attentive in his duties, obliging to his constituents—and a close observer of men and things. His argument in this case has done him great credit—it was forcibly put and marked with strong sense throughout. In his ardent style of oratory, manner and tone of voice, he reminds me very strikingly of the Rev. John A. Collins—

His argument in this case has done him great credit—it was forcibly put and marked with strong sense throughout. In his ardent style of oratory, manner and tone of voice, he reminds me very strikingly of the Rev. John A. Collins—

—I was not present in the House when Mr. Wood from your adjacent county of Frederick "flooded his maiden sword," but learn from all quarters that he acquitted himself with great honor. I am rejoiced that Frederick has so creditable a Representative. I was in the House to-day, however, when Mr. STEWART of Berkeley was elected, I believe, in opposition to the caucus dictate of that old Federal county, spoke on this same question. He makes a faithful and efficient Representative—attentive in his duties, obliging to his constituents—and a close observer of men and things. His argument in this case has done him great credit—it was forcibly put and marked with strong sense throughout. In his ardent style of oratory, manner and tone of voice, he reminds me very strikingly of the Rev. John A. Collins—

NEW MOVEMENTS.

The reader will observe with eager curiosity the subjoined resolutions of Mr. Calhoun, offered in the Senate on Wednesday week,—and the series of resolutions presented in the House on the same day by Mr. HOLMES of Charleston; both on the subject of the Mexican war.

Mr. CALHOUN'S are as follows:—"Resolved, That to conquer and hold Mexico either as a province or by incorporating it into the Union, is inconsistent with the avowed objects of the war, contrary to the settled policy of the government, in conflict with its character and genius, and, in the end, must be subversive of all our free and popular institutions."

"Resolved, That no line of policy in the farther prosecution of the war should be adopted, which may tend to consequences so disastrous."

The resolutions were ordered to be printed. On the same day, in the House, Mr. HOLMES offered the following:—"Whereas, The Confederacy was formed for the purpose of establishing a perfect Union and promoting the general welfare, it becomes those who are entrusted with regulating the Government so to direct its movements as to perfect that Union and advance that welfare:—"Resolved, That the Confederacy, fidelity, safety, and perhaps, national existence, are involved in the invasive war we are now prosecuting against our sister Republic of Mexico, this important consideration should lead us to the adoption of such measures as may result in doing justice to Mexico and promoting the lasting welfare of the United States. Therefore be it."

"Resolved, That it is inexpedient for the United States so to use its conquests as to extinguish the national existence of Mexico, but so to avail itself of the victories it has achieved, as to establish by treaty stipulations a lasting peace with Mexico upon the basis of holding land and exercising the rights of the Republic as exists between the several States of this Union."

"Resolved, That we agree to re-cede all the territory we have taken from Mexico beyond the Rio Grande, upon the condition that our citizens have free ingress and egress into New Mexico and California, and that we will hold land and exercising their religion, and of carrying on trade as fully as any of the Mexican citizens of those provinces."

"Resolved, That a further condition be the right of entry and departure of our shipping, both National and Domestic, into and from the Mexican ports as unrestricted as in the ports of the United States, with all the rights of breaking bulk, taking in, discharging, purchasing and selling of cargoes, as in our own ports."

"Resolved, That we stipulate for a right of constructing a Railroad from the U. States to the harbor of San Diego, and to any town in New Mexico or California."

"Resolved, That it is expedient to keep possession of the Castle of San Juan d'Ulloa as a hostage for the fulfillment of the stipulations above recited."

Mr. Calhoun's proposition (says the Richmond Enquirer) is indefinite, and can only be developed by debate. Mr. Holmes' resolutions, though sufficiently definite, at the first blush, strike us with no favor. If carried out, they would lead to all the evils of an "entangling alliance"—analogous to the "joint occupation" of Oregon policy. We have just passed through the ordeal of that unfortunate arrangement, and we should guard carefully against a renewal of a scheme calculated to lead to similar embarrassments.

In the meantime, we wait for further developments. We cannot, however, forbear from expressing our regret that any proposition of the character of the two movements alluded to above, should have been brought forward at this time. They are calculated to postpone and thwart the consummation of an honorable peace, which we all desire. We are satisfied that the means to secure peace, is not to repeat our too anxious offers, which Mexico has so constantly and so rudely rejected. The true policy, to make a speedy and honorable peace, has been so often and so earnestly declared in our columns, that we deem it unnecessary to dwell upon it at present. It is clearly and conclusively laid down in the President's message.

FOR CHRISTMAS.

As peculiarly adapted to the season, we give place to the following Recipes for making Cake. We hope some of our good friends will try the modus operandi here recommended, and furnish for our digestion during the Holidays, a specimen of their labors:—"To MAKE SPONGE CAKE.—Take fourteen eggs, with their weight in sugar, and half their weight in flour—the juice and peel of one Lemon, and one nutmeg; beat the yolks and white until stiff; and the sugar to the yolks, then add the whites; one minute before the oven is ready, dredge in the flour, and bake an hour."

"To MAKE SWEET CAKE.—Beat one pound of butter in an earthen pan until it has the appearance of thick cream, then beat in nine eggs till quite light, put in a pound and a quarter of flour, put it into a pan and bake it for one hour. A pound plum cake is made the same way, putting in one pound and a half currants and a half pound of candied Lemon peel."

General Intelligence.

LARGE HOGS. Notice on our exchange, numerous accounts of large Hogs having been slaughtered this season; but there have been killed in our own neighborhood, the last week, some equal in weight to any that we have heretofore noticed.

Mr. JOHN W. HOPKINS killed four weighing 1870 lbs.; Mr. J. W. McGRAW two weighing 650 lbs. Mr. SAMUEL WOODY two weighing 631 lbs.; Mr. F. ROBERT one weighing 365, and Mr. GARZON HOWARD one weighing 310. This is hard to beat by any of our neighboring towns.

The communication of "ALOXO" shall have place at as early a day as our space will permit. We have not yet had opportunity of examining the favor of "Y. J." Prose, however, is more in accordance with the taste of our readers, than poetry.

The Militia of Virginia.—According to the Adjutant General's Report the Militia of the State consists of 6,633 commissioned officers, and 115,193 non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates. The ordinance of the State consists of 32 brass cannon and 69 iron pieces.—The number of muskets 33,340.

By the recent promotions in the Army, by the President of the U. S., we notice that William E. Ainsworth, of Maryland, late First Lieutenant, to be Captain in 1st Regiment Artillery, November 20, vice Barlow, killed in battle.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD SURVEY.—The Cumberland Civilian says that the surveying parties under Messrs. Atkinson, Howles and Randolph, having finished the location of the road to the Virginia line, have been ordered to proceed to Wheeling immediately, to commence the surveys from that point eastwardly.

"THE CRAY IS STILL THERE COME."—We learn from the Cumberland Civilian that there are now about 9,000 Hogs, looked at the Railroad office for a passage to Baltimore. Besides these, large numbers have taken the turnpike on their way to the city. We learn in addition, that 10,000 more are on the National Road within 20 miles of Cumberland. These porkers afford a market at Wheeling for about $3,500 worth of Cotta weekly.
