My wayward youth, my wayward youth. Scenes of the past that now are gone— How bright and dear thy memory is— How changed the scenes where I was born. Oh yee, how changed—Oh yee, how changed is that green spot and "yon lone lale," Where set strangers pass, may wown or smile. Where, as strangers pass, may weep or smile Why is it then, why is it then,

Why is it then, why is it than, That strangers weep or smile to see That little riot where sugges rest— That cannot be forget by me ! Oh Time ! Oh Time ! thy stern hand The and it will will will duitout control, And give a warning voice to all, Like that I feel within my soul.

The silent tomb! the silent tomb! That speaks so load without a word, Warms all of what they soon shall be; But yot that warning's never heard. Oh days of pleasure, days of pleasure... Once in sport I wandered here : Now view the change that Time has wro Say who could brook without a tear !

The checkbod of the without a tear i The checkbod and a start of the start of the start of my dear Father-he who sleeps Where Lilies of the Valley bloom--Where that doer sister loved by ma, In her young grave in silence lain, Would grieve to know her, early death Had rent my bleeding heart in twain. Where there the bottles Cold here self. Where sleeps those brothers God has called, From manhood and from early youth To feel the will of his design. To know and feel the ways of ruth. I'll cherish still thy memories dear, As cherished long thy nixes shall be, Till death's cold hand has chilled my brow, Thy memories shall not fall from me.

Thy memories shall not hat from use. But fars these well, my bleeding heart, Can hardly brook the sight I see; But if all is peace beyond the grave, Why should I wish these back with me; The bright example thou hast been, Shall be my future guide alone, As polar stars upon the main. As lighting o'er my pathway thrown.

As lightning o'et my pathway thrown. Farewell, farewell, a long farawell, To thatsweet vale and Hawthorn Grove, The bright elysium of my youth, Where pleasare met my infant rove; Farewell companions of my youth, Who trod your childhood's paths with me, Who trod your childhood's paths with me, Who now lies robed in silent death, Whose face I would, but cannot see. Farewell, farewell, a fast farawell, Ta yon pale green enclosurp there, Where cold white marble tiecks the mound, Whose of my mother knell in prayer, While I her aprightly pratting boy. That strolled to place the roes by. The grass that decked my father's grave, Was watered by her weeping eye. How long, how how, will forget.

. How long, how long, till I forget. That silent requium breathed in prayer, By her fair heart who mounned the loss Of him who slept in silence there; O yes how happy would it be, To my dear failher now in heaven, To know he yet possessed the heart, Of her to whom his love was given.

The har to whom his fore was given. The har to whom his fore was given. To know the sweet devotion yet. Of that fair soul, who breathed the love, That never, never can forget: Oh 1 that sweet matron of my pride, Whose heritage I'm proud to be, And hope to heaven, that while I live, Her virtues be cutailed on me.

Farwell sweet domes, and hawthorn grove, Where first I drew my lafant breath, I now resign thy pleasures deer, As friends resign themselves to death : And if through life's cold dreary path, My warmest friend should recrease be Til mourn the loss of that dear friends. In a long, a last farewill to thes. Y. Shepherdstown, May 15, 1848.

DEATH OF RICHARD H. TOLER.

We are grieved to learn, from Richmond, of we are grieved to term, from Richmond, of the death of the senior editor of the Richmond Whig, Richard H. Tolse, Esq. after a short ill-ness. Mr. Toler was of delicate constitution, and being most industrious in his habits, sunk under the immense intellectual labor devolved upon him.

a gentleman of great private worth, whose death will be felt as a public calamity.

noon, thus notices the sad event : It is with deep regret that we are called upon to announce the death of Richard H. Toler, Esq. Senior Editor of the Richmond Whig. He ex-pired this morning about 6 o'clock. Mr. Toler was a titacked some days since by the disease which has terminated in his lamented death, but although his case was a tirat a danger-ous one, he seemed to revive, and there appaared to be strong grounds for believing that he would ultimately recover. In our last interview with him, yesterday afternoon, he appeared so much improved, so chearful, and indeed so hopeful, that we cannot express the subritise and the shock with which, at an early hour this morning, we learned that he was dead. It is not necessary to inform the public of the which at an early hour this morning, we learned that he was dead.

It is not necessary to inform the public of the form that it has sustained in the death of Mr. To-learne connected with the press of Virginia, first with the Lynchburg Virginian and afterwards with the Lynchburg virginian and a future virginia have sure combined in a single individual. As a man of untiring industry, we doubt whether he has left his equal, certainly not his subjerior, in the Union. It was perhaps to his habits to intense and unwarying labor, that he at last fell a vicitin, and in his fall, the W higs of Virginia have sustained a loss which cannot be repaired.
Mr. Toler leaves an afflicted wife and child to find the doss which cannot be repaired. Our deeperst sympathies are with them in the loss of one, whose intellectual qualities, great as they were virginate home a cherished and sacred place; and by devotion to that Holy Religion which exalted his character in life, and east its cheering beams of hope and consolation upon is dying pillow.

To the Editor of the Spirit of Jefferson : The writer of this having been requested by a friend in the West, to forward him " some information concerning JAMES RUMSEY's plan of propelling boats by means of steam," would respectfully beg the favor of the Spirit, th publish the following from Howe's History of Virginia. that State, for the space of 10 years from date.* In Jaumary, 1785, he obtained a patent from the General Assembly of Maryland, for navigating their waters. Through the whole of this year, he was engaged in working at his boat, but was not ready for a public trial until 1786, the year following. In this experiment he was eminently successful. He succeeded in propelling his boat, by steam alone, at Shepherdstown, against the current of the Polomac, at the rate of four or fice miles an hour. TRUE DEMOCRACY .- The following resolution, adopted by the last Democratic Convention of the State of Indiana, is worthy of being inscribed, in letters of gold, upon every public place in the wide extent of our country. "It breathes the true spirit of our party ; and would to Heaven that we could see those manifestations of devotion to the cause which distinguish our brethren of Indiana, in every part of the Union. Their motto is " Union, concession, harmony. Every thing for the cause -nothing for men.

-nothing for men." Resolved. That the great Democratic party of the Mississippi Valley knows no North nor South, but like her noble rivers they comprehend both extremes, and looking at the Constitution of these United States, that binds together the extremes of this Union, with its compromises, we regard every and any effort upon the part of the National Le-gislature (under present circumstances) to bind the future inhabitants of any portion of our terri-tory as to their local institutions or internal affairs, which are to exist in States hereafter to be formed, as improper, and calculated to create local and as improper, and calculated to create local and sectional divisions, and weaken the ties of this great Confederacy.

The substance of the Address, as published in the "Richmond Whig,"can be gathered from the extracts subjoined: ral attendance at the Democratic National Con-

To the Whigs of Virginin. For the extracts subjoined: The Whig state Convention which assembled in the city of Richmond, in February last, adopted a resolution declaring Gen. Zacmany Tayton the "choice of the Whigs of Virginia for the Presidency of the United States," and appointed delegates to the National Convention favorable to, if not under implied instructions to vote for his nomination by that body, as the Whig candidate in the approaching Presidential election. It is needless for us to alternpt to show that the Convention labored under a false impression in regard to Whig sentiment in Virginia. The fact, of which we were satisfied when the resolution was passed, has been practically demonstrated beyond the possibility of a doubt by the rocent elections. The Whigs of the State have emphatically declared that General Taylor is not their "choice," even as a candidate to the National Convention are, with a single exception, not only in favor of, but pledged to his nomination. one of these propositions has been established, or if there is any probability whatever that they will be? What evidence has been given to the pub-lic that Gen. Taylor is a Whig? There is no lic that Gen. Taylor is a Whig? There is no evidence of the fact whatever, except his mere declaration that he is "a Whig, but not an ultra one," although he has repeatedly declared that he knows nothing of politics. How many men have declared themselves Whigs, who, when vested with office, have utterly failed to practise upon their previous professions, either through design, or because they had ontirely mistaken the princi-ples of the Whig party? Experience has taught the Whig party the sad lesson how little reliance is to be placed in the mere declaration of a man that he is a Whig.

interesting. The weather is pleasant. Peas and Strawber ries are abundant in the market. HENRY. is to be placed in the mere declaration of a man that he is a Whig. In the record place, we ask if the promise has been redeemed, that in due season General Tay-lor would make an entirely satisfactory exposition of his political opinions? He has written as he says, his last letter, which, so far from being a full and satisfactory exposition of his Whig senti-ments, contains nothing more than some vague and general declaration about peace and war, to which even Julius Crear or Nanoleon Bonanarte Editors of Spirit of Jefferson and Free Press : stract from the circular of the statistics of Lowell, "Compiled from authentic sources, January, '47." which even Julius Casar or Napoleon Bonapate would have subscribed. Moreover, the Richmond Republi-can, one of his organs, and whose editors it would appear, are among his continuent at contribution appear, are among his continuent at contribution pents, has recently declared that "his cannor within and WILL NOT BE WITH-DRAWN." How then can the proposition be entertained for a moment, in the Whig National day. The important fact is before the country, that the Lowell Company about 25 years ago, cxpended a entertained for a moment, in the Whig National Convention, to nominate one who has declared, and whose "friends" have declared, that he will not abide its decision, but that he is a candidate "independent of party distinctions," and will not be withdrawn. We therefore maintain that General Taylor has furnished no satisfactory evidence whateverthat he was a Whig, but has declared that he will not, even if nominated by the Whig Na-tional Convention, and elected by Whig votes, be the ' exponent of the doctrines of the Whig party." He has the right to assume this attitude—no one questions it—but we maintain that in this attitude he cannot be the nominee of the National Convenvast amount of money in bringing the waters of the Merrimack River, (a stream very considerably inferior to the Shenandoah,) tributary to the Manufacturing interest, and that they derived questions it—but we maintain that in this attitude he cannot be the nominee of the National Conven-tion, and that the Whig party cannot and will not support him. And as to the Whigs electing him as an "independent candidate," we have no hesi-tation in saying, as recently affirmed by the Richmond Whig, that such an event would be a "rirtual dissolution and disorganization of the virtual dissolution and disorganization of the Whig party." -In the third place, we ask, has Gen. Taylor's expense of $500,000.

In the third place, we ask, has Gen. Taylors "availability" been established ? Let the recent disastrous election in Virginia answer. tion of the neck, and then cut his own throat most effectually with a razor. The Bath Tribune gives the following particulars of the sad affair: The father and two sons were in bed in one room, and the mother and two daughters in the same situation in another room. The house standing some distance from other dwellings, the awful deed was not discovered until some time on awful deed was not discovered until some time on Friday, when the mother of the man, having oc-casion to visit the house, found the inmates in the horrible situation described; not a soul being left to tell the tale of blood. But the mangled victims of a father's madness, the fath axe, the marks of blood upon the floor, the father's throat and the open razor, disclosed an awful tale; while a pa-per, found on the premises in the joint hand-wri-ting of the parents, revealed a condition of mind which shows how fearfully appalling are the fruits of religious error. of religious error.

The wife when found was in bed, partially and that they had mutually agreed upon the destruc-tion of the mail to be described by others. The paper to which we have referred, an exact copy of which was seen by our informant, contained a statement in the hand-writing of Mrs. P., follow-ed by another by her husband, setting forth that they had become tired of life—that there was no thing in prospect for them worth living for, and that they had mutually agreed upon the destruc-tion of themselves and children, requesting that they when found was in bed, partially un-dressed, the eyes as open as though awake at the moment of decapitation. The children were also in bed, probably sleeping, unconscious of any dan-ger.

The Doost or our Wonto.—The North Bri-tish Review says:—" What this change is to be we dare not even conjecture, but we see in the heavens themselves some traces of destructive elements and some indications of their power.— The fragments of broken planets—the descent of meteoric stones upon our globe—the wheeling comsts wielding their loose materials at the so-lar surface—the appearance of new stars and the disappearance of others, are foreshadows of that impending convulsion to which the system of the world is doomed. Thus placed on a planet which is to be burnt up, and under heavens which are to met away, thus treading as it were on the ceme-teries and dwelling on the mausoleums of former worlds, let us learn the lesson of humanity and wisdom, if we have not already been taught in the achool of revolution."

Place pieces of woolen cloth in bushes or trees infested with caterpillars; in the morning great numbers of the leaf devouring insects will be found on them and may easily be destroyed.

WILD CHERRY BALSAM. We speak in praise of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cher-ry because we believe from our own knowledge of the article, that is one of the best in the market for the com-plaints for which it is recommended. This medicine, coming from such a respectable source, and carofully prepared by sm experienced and skilled physician, is received by the public with confidence.— Its efficacy has been proved in many obdurate cases of disease, and its fame has rapidly scienced. It has been extensively used in every part of the constry, particular-ly in the Middle and Northern States; and attrong test-many from intelligent and highly respectable persons, has been adduced in favor of its merin as a remedy for olds and coughs, affections of the chest, diseased liver and dyspepia.

Ma. Eorroa .- In your last paper there is an om from the Philadelphia Sun, stating " that in the village of Bronton. Now Jersey, comprising a population of eight hundred inhabitants, there is not a drunkard, and no place in which intoxicating liquors can be obtained."

Now, sir, "I can tell you a story worth two of that. In this town, (Tisbury) containing one thousand seven hundred and forty inhabitants, one thousand seven hundred and/orly initialitants, one thousand of which are comprised in this village, we are not only without a drunkard, and without a place in which intoxicating liquors can be ob-tained, but we are also without a gambling house, without a billiard room, without a bowling alley, and without a house of ill fame; and also, as a necessary consequence, we are without an almo necessary consequence, we are without an alms house-it not being needed-and but two families that to our knowledge ever required aid from their neighbors. That we have five Churches, to-gether, with a " pretty smart sprinkling" of school houses, may serve somewhat to explain these ex-traordinaty moral phenomena to the "wiseacres" in political science.-Herald and Journal.

THEY ARE WITH US STILL .- We love to con nect together the living and the dead, to mote then still as one family, and feel that loved ones, re we love to sit down in twill be carly departed, and call up the loved forms of the early departed, and retrace with them the paths we once trol togethcr. We then leave the present, and live again in the past. Old familiar faces flit before the eyeved voices fall on the ear, and warm greet ings of hand and lip bless us as in happier days. We are again amid old scenes, and all ecoms un-changed. In such hours our sisters come around compet. In such norms our such as the second around us, even the grave keeps them not back. They come to brighten the golden chain of early affec-tion, to deepen the impression of words and infla-ences, which have controlled us from our boyish days. How kindly they whisper in those sweet tones, which we can never forget. How loving ly they look upon ús, in that soit expression of eye and face, which we love to cherish till the tear be dews our chack, and the heart melts within us We bless God for this victory over the grave; that death, when he seals the lip and chills the form, cannot hush that sweeter voice, nor blight that brighter vision, which lingers within the heart. For dark would be our way, could we not gather round us all the loved ones, and hold them in our afflictions, and feel that they all live unto Could afflictions. God, all live unto us: Andslid their influence die with them, how much would be lost of sweet sym-pathy and gentle restraint, which spirits, as way. ward as ours, could not allow to be broken.

ANCIENT POULTRY .- 'Speaking of geese,' said Axcrept Poutray. --- Speaking of geese,' said a wagto his companion, last Thursday, 'I remem-ber my mother reasted one of them birds, once; 'twas so almighty tough we couldn't carve it, but had to chop up the greature with a broad-axe, then boiled, broiled, and fricased it; but 'twas nd go -we couldn't cat it any how; I reckoned it might have been file game one whose cackle, saued Rome!' ' Very like,' replied the other, 'our folks undertook to cook a rooster-we hadn't the true record of his age, but I verily believe he was the same old cock which crowed when Peter, denied his master! he was a devil of a fellow for denied his master! he was a devil of a fellow for terrowing, any how-for after boiling him a whole crowing, any how-for after boiling him a whole day, when the lid was taken off at night, blow me, if the variated idan't by out of the pot, light on the crane, flap his wings, and scream—cook-a-doodle-do !!— Boston Bee

MESSRS. KNABE & G.EHLE, MANUFACTURERS of Grand and Squar Pianos, No 9, Eutaw street, Baltimore, beg leave to refer to the following letter from Mr Knoop, the distinguished Professor, whose Con certs in Baltimore, and elsewhere, have given a much gratification to the musical public :

Knabe & Gæhle's, Piano Factory In calling the attention of the public to this nanufactory, the undersigned is impressed with the belief that he is rendering a service to the lovers of music and conferring a favor upon the public, as by so doing he brings to notice an es-tablishment of unquestionable merit. During my stay in Baltimore, I have had an opportunity of examining its interior arrangements, and can, therefore, conscientiously give the assurance, that in all that imparts despatch, efficiency and power, combined with beauty in design and execution, the factory of these gentlemen is unex celled by any other in the United States.

The instruments made by Messrs. Knabe & Gable, are built with the most consummate care, Iaste and judgment; their finish is exquisite— their tone at once full, clear and brilliant. In a word, it is but justice to these gentlemen when I ay-that, while by their genins and acquirements, hey are competent-their industry, zeal and am-ition, are such as to ensure to the claborations of their skill a degree of mechanical nicety, as ionorable to them as workmen, as it must be gratiying to the ameteur and artist. The GRAND PIANO, which Messrs. K. & G. had the politeness to furnish me for my recent Concert, was of their own manufacture. The exècution of that splendid instrument elicited uni-versal admiration—its superiority was acknow. ledged by every judge present, and won for its constructors that applicase which discriminating minds never fail to award to distinguished merit.

Faid, that his income is still insofficient for his maintenance, and that in a year or two, if he sur-vives to long, he will be completely destitute.— It can, however, scarcely be the intention of the Preach government to sequestrate the private property not only of the ex-king, but of his whole family. The dowers of his son's wives are said to be almost entirely investigated either in French funds, or in land in France, and whatever claim the nation much have more the form. the nation may have upon the royal estates, car by no process that we are aware of be extended to property thus acquired ...

ALARMING STATE OF AFFAIRS IN CURA .- BU the arrive of the schooner Lee, Capt. Hilton, at New York from Cardenas, the editors of the Ex-press are informed that on the 14th, the white New York from Cardenas, the entors of the DX-press are informed that on the 14th, the white inhabitants were hourly in anticipation of a gene-ral insurrection among the negroes. The Go-vernor was using great efforts to suppress any at-tempt, and bad already imprisoned a number of blacks whom he supposed to be leaders in the disaffection. He also stationed troops apon many of the plantations in the neighborhood of the town.
