THE WORKMAN'S SONG.

BY CHARLES MACAY.

Who lags for dread of daily work, And his appointed task would shrink, Commits a folly and a crime;

A clog upon the wheels of time,

With work to do, and store of health,

The man's unworthy to be free.

That he may live, His daily toil for daily fee.

No feud with rank-

With mill or bank-

No envy of a lord's estate,

If we can earn sufficient store To satisfy our daily need,

A fraction, we are rich indeed

No dread of toil have we or ours,

And to the corn that's coming in!

And joy to him who o'er his task Remembers toil in Nature's plan!

PASSING AWAY!

the round of pleasure, time with its rapid, noise-less pinions, is swiftly passing away. When we gaze upon the matchless beauties of the garniture with which nature clothes the earth upon the approach of spring, our hearts are pained at the thought that they are evanescent, and will quickly pass away. Wherever we turn our eyes, we find "passing away" indelibly written upon all the elements of nature. Joy passes away, and is quickly succeeded by sorrow; hope is succeeded by fear; and life itself is swallowed up in death. The bud of spring, the flower of sum-we too are passing away. Soon will our bodies be laid beneath the clods of the valley, and our gave them. Where are thefriends of our youth,

A FEW LEFT .- The Democracy of Nashua, N. H., had a celebration of their triumph in the election of General Pierce, a few evenings since; the Hon. Charles G. Atherton presiding at the table. The fourth regular toast bore rather hard upon the coalition Democrats in Massachusetts, as follows. It is a small broadside from Pietce himself:

"The Union Democrats of Massachusetts-It s gratifying to know that there are a lew in the Old Bay State who have not bowed the knee to Baal, but stand erect, flinging to the breeze the broad flag of constitutional liberty, and the sovereignty of the States."

In the afternoon they were promenading Baltimore street, when the young man's father unexpectedly made his appearance-having just arrived in the cars-and collaring his son, told him to leave that "gal" and return home. "You are too late, father," answered the son, "I am married." "Eh! what! married are you; take that," and the youth's cheek received the open hand of his father. The old fellow pulled and tugged, and finally succeeded in separating his from the bride, and the two started down the street. Arriving at a pump, the old gentleman took a drink of water, and again collaring his son, he proceeded on his way tollowed by a large crowd of men and boys. Near the public square, he lectured his son upon the sin of running off concluded by slapping his jaws, when a crowd interfered and seperated them. The National Intelligencer says it has the very best authority for saying there is no foundation for the statement going the rounds of the press, purporting to be an extract from a Madrid letter, that heed merican Minister to Spain had lately renewed the ouer of 180,000 duros—as before offered by the Government under President Polk—as a price for the sale of the Island of Cuba. No such offer has been made by the present administration.

SLAVERY.

BERKELEY COUNTY.

The National Era, heretofore the organ of abolitionsm in Washington, comes out with the following temperate remarks, for which it will no doubt be read out f church by the ultras :

"There is progress in the south; and, after all, to whom are we to look for the emancipation of the negro race, if not to its citizens. We declare that our only hope for the peaceful redemption and improvement in the slave population is in the south itself. Congress can do nothing more than withdraw Federal support from the system; it has no constitutional power for its abolition. The free States cannot legislate on the subject; their citizens can do no more than discuss the question, and separate them-selves, politically and ecclesiastically, from all responsibility for it."

GREAT HAUL OF WILD DUCKS.

We learn from a friend at Hamburg, that the Blue Mountain, in the vicinity of that borough, took fire from a locomotive on last Monday night, and burned for several hours with great fury. A number of citizens of Hamburg and vicinity turned out to stay the conflagration and after laboring assiduously for six or eight hours, succeeded in she must have looked forward to this time! putting it out before it had reached the most valuable timber in its course. A singular circumstance connected with the fire, was the capture next day of a large flock of wild ducks. These ducks were attracted by the the fire during the night, and had their wings and feathers so hadly singed and burnt, that they were prevented from flying, and were of sourse easily caught. The chase was kept up all day Tuesday, and the number taken was between fifty and sixty. They were all in good condition and of the largest size. - Reading, (Pa.) Journal.

MEETING OF CONGRESS.

The second session of the thirty-second Congress will commence on Menday next, and be concluded on the third day of March next. As there was a gross neglect of the public business during the last session, it is hoped that members will apply themselves diligently to their legitimate duties. There are several matters of vast importance to the country, which require to be promptly acted on.

As a quorum of the two Hoases will most likely be present on Monday, the President's Message, we presume, will be delivered on that day, and we hope to lay it before our readers through our next paper or by means of an Extra on Tuesday. This Document will be looked for with some considerable interest, as the condition of our foreign relations is in many respects in a very critical condition. The object of the Administration seems to be, to fight off all responsibilities until after the 4th of March, and if it leaves to Mr. Pierce the legacy of a war or two, it imagines they can hoodwink the people by the syren song, "well, we dien't do it, get out of it as you best can." The country, however, will hold the present Administration responsible for the consequences which are to follow, as the result of its miserable bangling and truckling

ILLUMINATION, TORCH-LIGHT PRO-CESSION, &c., AT HARPERS-FERRY.

On Thursday night last, the Democracy of Harpers Ferry had a grand Torch Light Procession, and one of the best arranged and most brilliant illuminations, we have ever witnessed .-The evening was exceedingly unpropitious, it having rained for several days preceding, but nothing seemed to daunt the courage, or cool the ardour of the sterling Democracy of Harpers-Ferty, Camp Hill or Bolivar. At an early hour in the evening, an immense concourse of persons assembled in front of Mrs. Carrell's Hotel, where they were eloquently and appropriately addressed, by J. RANDOLPH TUCKER, Esq., the Democratic Elector of the 10th Congressional District .-Though his address was brief, we have but rarely beard a more beautiful tribute to Democratic principles, or a more belitting compliment to those who had stood firm and steadfast in the hour of trial and danger, than was paid by Mr. Tucker. Throughout the whole line of procession, the houses were not only brilliantly but most beautifully illuminated. All in all, it was a most creditable exhibition to the people of Harpers Ferry, and we only regret that the evening was so unfavorable that the entire Democracy of the county were not able to be present to witness it. Every thing passed off in the best spirit, and at an early hour the town resumed its usual quiet, both Whigs and Democrats feeling gratified at the creditable exhibition which had been made.

OUR RAILROAD COMPANIES.

Numerous complaints have been recently made to us, as to the amount of injury and inconvenience under which our people are now laboring, for the want of sufficient accommodation at the hands of our Railroad Companies. The complaint as to our own Company is, that sufficient Cars are not furnished to take off one third of the wheat and flour which is now accumulating at the different Depots on the road, whilst preference is given to the through freight from Winchester. At this particular juncture, when almost every day brings a change in the price of Flour, Pork, and other produce, a want of ready transit must of course operate greatly to the detriment of our farming interest. The chief matter of complaint, and which by the way is a most serious one, as to the Baltimore Road, is that no Cars are permitted to unload Coal this side of Baltimere, and consequently hundreds in this county whose only reliance for fuel at this lockement period of the year, is placed at the mercy of the Baltimore Railroad. If these Companies are so disposed, we believe both these evils may be corrected, without detriment to their interest, whilst they will greatly subserve the necessities and wants of a small, but nevertheless the be and most profitable community on their route of travel. It is necessary at times, for Corporations like individuals, to keep an eye to their interest, and not tax too severely the good opinion of the people, to enure especially to their own advantage. BALTIMORE Rail Road to WHEELING.

It is expected that the entire line of this road will be completed about the 1st of January, and passengers, as well as freight, be transported in cars from the city of Wheeling to Baltimore, where there are connections by railroad with Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and other points. This annuancement, says the Louisville Courier. will be hailed with plaasure by every citizen of the Southwest, and especially by a large body of merchants who have to travel at that season of the year to make their spring purchases in the Eastern cities. .

The Directors of the company have also chartered a sufficient number of first class steamboats to form a daily line to connect at Wheeling with the road for the transportation of passengers and freight direct to Louisville.

The Louisville Journal expresses the greatest satisfaction at the completion of the road, and predicts for it the most triumphant success.

CHARLES HARPER, of Phepherdate we price or at any other.

Mr. Buchanan says in his letter that the ed States can never consent that Cuba sha come a colony of any other European power Spain. He goes on to show the danger to our domestic and foreign commerce and even to the Union of the States which he apprehends from the acquisition of Cuba by any powerful maritime State. He then exhibits its advantages to as, if annexed to the United States. The population in 1841 is supposed to have been only 1,007,624; but it is believe to be capable of autaining for millions of person. Were Cuba says Mr. Hachanan, "a portion of the United says Mr. Buchanan, " a portion States, it would be difficult to estimate the amount of breadstuffs, rice, cotton, and other agricultural as well as manufacturing and mechanical productions; of lumber, of the prod eries, and of other articles

Mr. Saunders' account shows a pretty desperate state of the finances and public debt of Spain. The foreign debt is estimated at four hundred millions of dollars, of which the Agent of the English creditors claim four hundred and fifty miltions! The domestic debt is stated at three hundred millions. The average receipts for the last tour or five years preceding the date of Mr. Saunders' letter were sixty five millions of dollars, and the expenditures seventy millions. The army is computed at 150,000 in the Peninsula, 15 or 20.-000 for Cuba, and 15,000 for the other colo nies. The Spanish government place a much higher estimate on the revenues of Cuba than Buchanan's calculations. "They place it at twelve millions of dollars; and, and after ducting the expenses of the civil and m claim for the treasury six millions. Bes the orders or rents on the treasury, pay navy, and employment to persons who wo entitled to retiring pensions at home, together with the profits from the flour monopoly, make, according to the estimate here, some fifteen or twenty millions annually."

It is pretty evident from these documents that Spain, Great Britain and the United States have a very deep interest in Cuba, and that it is not likely to change hands very soon, with the consent of its present owner or of Great Britain.

Appeal from Judge Paine's Decision:

The case of the Lemmon slaves has been appealed to the Supreme Court of New York, which is to meet in New York city on the 19th of December next. If Judge Pathe's decision should be reversed, it is not at all probable that the slaves will be within reach; nor would Mr. Lemmon, says the Journal of Commerce, have any objection to relinquish all claim to them, after receiving the indemnity money which is in process of collection, were it not that such formal relinquishment at this time would repair it impossible to test the important legal question involved, by prosecuting the case in the higher courts.

Art. 7. The constitution of the 15th of Januaw, 1852, is maintained in all provisions which are not contrary to the present Senatus consultum; there cannot be any modification made in it, except in the forms and by the means therein mescribed. Art. 8. The following proposition shall be pre-seated to the acceptance of the French people in the form determined by the decrees of the 2d and wh of December, 1851: "The people wish for the re establishment of the Imperial dignity, in the person of Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, with bereditary right in his direct descendants, either legitimate of adoptive, and give him the right to regulate the order of succession to the throne in the Bonaparte family, as provided for by the Senatus Consultum of the - of November, 1855." M. Mesnard, first Vice President of the Senate, or presenting the above Senatus consultum to. the Prince President, addressed him as follows: Monsigneur-When a greet country like France makes its voice heard, the first duty of the political body to which she addresses herself is to listen and reply. Such were the ideas of your Highness in calling for the meditations of the Senate on this vast movement of public opinion, which has manifested itself with so much ensemble and energy. The Senate has understood that this striking manifestation is justified at the same time by the immense services which you have rendered, by the name which you bear, and be the guarantees which are given to the future by the greatness of your character and the wisdom and firmness of your mind. It has understood that after so many revolutions, France feels the want of putting her destines under the sheller of a powerful and national government, which only holding to the past by the sourceirs of her glory and the legitimacy of her origin, now again, finds in popular sanction the elements of ats force and of its duration. The Senate glories,

Also seigneur, in being the faithful interpreters of the wishes and sentiments of the country, in placing in your lands the Senates country in which calls you to the Empire.

The Prince made the following raply:

Messieurs les Senateurs—I thank the Senate for the readiness with which it has responded to the wishes of the country, in deliberating on the re-establishment of the Empire, and in drawing no the Senatus consultum which is to be submit Led to the acceptance of the people. When, forty eight years since, in this same room, and under analagous circumstances, the Senate came to of-ter the crown to the chief of my family, the Emperor replied in these memorable words: " My spirit will no longer be with my posterity from the day when I shall cease to merit the love and the confidence of the great nation." What now most affects my heart is the thought that the spirit of the Emperor is with me, that his ideas guide me, that his shade protects me since by a rolemn proceeding you come, in the name of the French people, to prove to me that I have merited the confidence of the country. It is not necessary for me to tell you that my constant pre occupation will be to labor with you to promote the grandeur and prosperity of France.

Not the least remarkable feature of the Senatus consultum is the power it gives to the President over every member of his family, and the absence of all mention of Prince Jerome Bonaparte by name, or of his son. Prince Jerome resigned his functions of President of the Senate, on the plea that, "in the new organization of the government, the Presidency of the Senate belongs to the Emperor himself. This is the ostensible, but not true reason of the resignation. The ex-ning of Westphalia will, it is said, be appointed to the office of Grand Con stable, or some equally high, lucrative, but not laborious post; and, it is to be presumed, his son will obtain some other post which may not give him much political importance. I believe my informant perfectly correct, when he stated that the mention by name, in the Senatus consultum or Plebiscite, would be attended with the loss of many votes to Louis Napoleon. It is said Louis Bonaparte will now certainly marry the Princess Vasa. M. Lamartine has publicly denied a report that he was to be called to the Senate under the new Jerome Bonaparte, with his son Napoleon, went to St. Cloud to remonstrate with Louis against the exclusion of his family from the immediate succession to the throne. Both were received by the President with the warmest demonstra-tions of cordiality. Louis Napoleon threw the whole responsibility of the rejection of Jerome's, pretensions to rank as heir apparent to the throne, upon the Senate. But he informed his uncle and mate felt justified in coming to another conclusion, his respect for the constitutional attributes of that august body was too great to interfere with their resolution.

The "swell mob" of London do perpetrate robberies with the most singular ingenuity and address, and appear never to be at fault. A lady alighted at the bank, ascended the steps and entered the vestibule, and, presenting a check to the paying teller, received a very large amount of bank notes, which she deposited in her purse, and returned to the carriage. Just as she had taken her seat, a gentleman came down the steps of the bank without his hat, wearing spectacles; and having a pen behind his ear, esid: "Madam, we have torgotten to take the number of those notes; will you allow me to take them off?" She handed him the notes, and he ascended the steps of the bank and en tered the building. The lady having waited and he ascended the steps of the bank and en tered the building. S. mails were not sent by the Cherokee, nor was there any freight on board. As the insurance companies have refused to insure on shipments by any of George Law's steamers touching at Havana, a banking house in this city was unable to ship $200,000 in specie by the Chero. kee, as was intended. Se veral passengers went out in her, but they were all, with one exception. bound for New Orleans. A large concourse of persons assembled on the pier to witness her departure, and to get a sight of the celebrated Purser Smith.

LIFE IN NEW YORK.

The Express, speaking of the rapid growth of New York, says: " Another povel feature of the city is the underground building which is going on round about us. In some parts of the city balf as much bus! ness is transacted under ground as above it .-Two stories downward are lighted from above, and here are at work, in rooms exceedingly well fitted up, all sorts of people uponall sorts of jobs Some of the best warerooms and sale-rooms are below the surface of the earth. The printing of newspapers is nearly altogether a subterraneau business and thousands of people, too, live in the first and second pasements of cellars, and some of them far into the bowels of the earth. We are often thankful that New York, crowded and walled in as it is, has a hole at the top, from which decends a little of God's daylight, for if it had not what would become of us?"

NORTH CAROLINA TWINS. Dr. Gooch, editor of the Tethoscope, a medical journal published at Richmond, Va., gives the tol-lowing, in his account of the North Carolina "These two children were born in July, 1851. The mother is a stout negress, aged 31; very fats and of large frame. They are remarkably sprightly and healthy children, of natural size, one somewhat larger than the other, and are perfectly farmed, but they are united at the sacra—the love er termination of the back. The bond of union seems to be chiefly cartillaginous, but the sacra are to closely approximated, that some suppose there is osseous union of those bones. The ani tomical confirmation has some strange peculiari ties, interesting to professional men, which we omit. Their usual position is on their sides, (the right side of the smaller, and the left of the other.) with their necks bent of as in put the face up-wards. Having new grown for a year in the to-campent posture, thus bent, their faces and heads have become somewhat distorted latterly. The mother nurses them by lying first one side then about 35 years of age.

They must sit back to back on one comnon-seat, and take it by turns which is to walk forward a la militaire. They are far more wonderful than the famous Siamese Twins, and are owned by Mr. Purvis.

It appears his prayer was answered, and God did have mercy on the foe. The fire of the Whigs had no more effect on the Democra's than so much saw dust. Are the prayers of the editor of the Journal always so effectual?

FRANK PIERCE'S COAT-OF-ARMS -The Boston Chronicle states that the committee having in charge the building of a carriage for Gen. Pierce, wrote to him to ascertain what was his family coat-of arms, probably with a view of painting on the panels of the coach. The General replied that the only coat of arms which he knew his family ever possessed, was that of his father's shirt sleeves, in which he fought at the battle of

The Washington Hotel proprietors are considerably perplexed in regard to the designof the President elect; as to where he will put up on his arrival in Washington, Mr. Polk so-journed at the "National," General Taylor, at "Willard's," and now, it is said, the "United States" claims the honor fand the accompanying emoluments) especially, inasmuch as it was the only hotel in the city, illuminated on the occasion of the democratic terchinglit procession.— Well, nous verrons.

Few and short were the prayers we said,
To GREELEY'S "Amen," round the corner,
A plate of hot soup we placed 'Leath his head,
And Bill Seward was there as chief mourner;
The NATIVE AMERICANS gathered around,
And a few select friends as pall-bearers
Fred Douglas, the pious, Hunt, Corwin and Brown,
And old Joe Hoxie, The SWLARER.

The coffin was made of GALPHIN PINE,
The shroud was of Lawrence's weaving,
The corpse was preserved in government wing
That was left on Crawford's leaving—
Gladly and gaily we laid him down.
And we spoke not a word of sorrow,
For we joyously felt that by doing him brown
Our country we saved on the morrow.

PARTING SONG.

Tens-" Old folks at home." 'Way off upon the big Salt River,
Far, far away,
There's where the Whigs are going forever,
There's where they're bound to sizy,
All along those big Salt waters,
Sadly they'll roam,
Still longing for their old snug quarters
And for the offices at home.
All the world will be sad and dreary,
Wherever they roam,

Wherever they roam,
Oh Coons! don't your hearts grow weary
Away from the old folks at home. Every wheres around the land you wandered Many songs you sung,
Lots of California gold you squandered,
Out amongst the UA folks and young.
Greely, Seward and Thad Stevens,
Led the great Coon clan,
But they lied so, folks would not believe 'em,
The Locos would'nt trust their man. From each mountain, hill and valley,
Poured the Democratic throng
For gallant Pierce and King they rallied,
With banners, shouts and songs.

On the First Tuesday of November, Eighteen fifty-two, How Scott was licked, oh Coons don't you remembe Ah we are very sure you do You'll ne'er forget the licking we gave him, Was'nt it a second Waterloo?

Poor old fellow, "burnt brandy could'nt save him,"

No wonder that you look so blue. And now farewell! your going grieves us, For up Salt River you must row,

Oh Coons! ai'nt you going to leave us

A lock of your hair before you go? If when you reach the head of Salt River, Any good Democrats you chance to "diskiver," ent there some four years ago, Tell them all the glorious tidings—
Tell them no longer to roam—
Tell them that the Democrats have given Scott a hiding,

And are anxious to have them back home. Farewell once more, don't look so dreary, For along Salt River you must roam, And when your hearts grow sad and weary Think of the old folks at home.

THE GLOBE; The Official Paper of Congress CONGRESS has made the Gloss its organ of communication with the country. To facilitate this important object and diminish the expense to the people, the Congressional Gloss and Appendix which contain the proceedings of Congress revised by the members, are henceforth to be conveyed through the mails free of postage. At the latesession of Congress the following Joint Resolution was passed:

lowing Joint Resolution was passed:

JOINT RESOLUTION providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the Debates thereon.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and constituent bodies:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That from and after the present session of Congress, the Congressional Globe and Appendix, which contain the laws and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails so long as the same shall be published by order of Congress: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the Daily Globe free of postage.

ly Globe free of postage.
Approved, August 6, 1852.

The Globe will now, I trust, enter upon a new and more extended career of usefulness. Congress, which draws into its focus all the important topics and events of the times for its discussion; and acts on them with a view to the interests of the Republic, has provided a mode through which, without cost for the delivery, all that is said and done by the body which speaks and acts for the nation, shall be put within the reach of the poor-The liberality with which Congress patronizes the

The liberality with which Congress patronizes the work, enables the undersigned to report the proceedings, and deliver full sets of both the Congressional Globe and the Appendix, containing the proceedings, daily debates, the written-out speeches, the Messages of the President of the United States, the Reports of the Heads of Departments, and all the Laws passed during the session, for Three Dollars—a price which barely pays for the printing the copies subscribed for by the people. Every one who will compare the price of this work with any other, taking into view the amount of matter and style of publication, will find that it is the cheapest circulated from any press in the world; and if the country culated from any press in the world; and if the country places the true value on its political institutions—on the action of that representative body which moves and maintains them,—which brings under review, discusses, and acts on all the interests of this wide-spread and maintains them,—which brings under review, discusses, and acts on all the interests of this wide-spread Republic, presenting to the people every event, foreign or domestic, that can, however remotely, affect the public interest—it may be called the BEST, as well as the cheapest publication in the world.

The approach of a new Administration imparts peculiar importance to the next session of Congress. Throughout the whole country there will be solicitude to know what shape Congress will endeavor to give to the national affairs to meet the incoming Administration. The debates of the next session will, no doubt, as heretofore, foreshadow its policy. It is one of the admirable features of our institutions, that the popular body and executive Head, both gifted with independent power and both representing the people and the States, shall act and react on each other. It is in this way the sovereign authority, exerted through different agents and from different quarters, gives that direction which its superior force compels sometimes even dissenting departments of the Government to adopt. Those, therefore, who would understand well the policy which is likely to bear upon the next Administration, eaght to scan the debages of that Congress which immediately precedes it. Not measures only, but the men who are to give them effect, will depend much on the next Congress; for without doubt, it will have its due influence on the acts of the new President, whoever he may be, in regard to all that may interest the constituencies represented by its members in regard to the greatest, as well as the smallest matters and appointments affecting them.

as the smallest matters and appointments affecting them. The proceedings of Congress are first published in the Daily Globe, which is laid on the deska of all the members, to let them see the reports and make what corrections they think proper, before they are printed in the Congressional Globe of the Appendix. The Daily Globe is published during a session of Congress at the rate of Ten Dollars per annum.

The Congressional Globe of the Appendix are printed on a double royal sheet in royal quarto form, each number containing surfeen page. The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses; and the Appendix embrares the long speeches withheld by the speakers for revision, the Messages of the Heads of the United States, and the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments.

The laws passed during a session, and an index to them, are printed as soon as possible after adjournment, and sent to all subscribers for the Congressional Globe and Appendix.

This certificate is from the pen of a gentleman whose name appears on the journal of Congress, one who is extensively and favorably known:

"It affords me pleasure to state that Dr. Jesse Hamp ton's Tincture has effected a most extraordinary cure o my slave boy, Albert. The patient was three years old, and had the scrofula—(his father was scrofulous.)—

The boy was a moving mass of sores from head to foot; the upper lids of the eyes were much swollen, and turned inside out, exhibiting horrible mattering ulcers that protruded over the eye-balls so as to produce blindness. It is strange, yet true, this child, that I felt resigned to see die as a relief from suffering, has been restored to health under the treatment of Dr. Fiampton.

SCLEINTIFIC EVIDENCE:

BARON ELEBIG in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An artificial Digestive Fluid, anabous to the Gastrie Juice, may be reachly prepared from the mucous membrane of the stomach of the Call in which various articles of food, as ment and egg, will be softened, changed, and digested just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."

Dr. COMBE, in his valuable writings on the "Paysiology of Digestion," observes that "a diminution of the due quantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all prevailing cause of Dyspepsia;" and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, finding every thing else to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomachs of living animals, which proved completely successful."

Dr. GRAHAM, author of the famous works on "Valent and the stomachs of animals, macerated in water impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various ticles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestive process."
