Take Particular Notice.

Take Particular Notice. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfiting them for either business or society. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects pro-duced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dis-pensia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Diges-tive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Con-sumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., and some of the evils produced.

Nervous Debility.

Nervous Debility. Weakness of the system, nervous debility and prema-ture decay, generally arising from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful evidence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become its victims from in ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and guar dians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, indigestion, derangement of the nervous system, cough, and symp-such as loss of memory, depression of spirits or peculiar fits of melancholy, when the truth is they have been in-dulging in pernicious but alluring practices, destruc-tive to both body and mind. Thus are swept from ex-istence, thousands who might have been of use to their country, a pleasure to their friends, and ornaments to society.

THE BREEZE OF SPRING.

Dull winter hastens to be gone, He's disappearing fast; The sunny hours are coming on, The stormy time is past. The ice no longer binds the rill, Nor snows their mantle fling; For every bleak and barren hill Has kissed the breeze of Spring.

I hear its music in the wood, Its sighs along the vale, Where summer flowers in beauty stood, It lingers in the dale; It plays upon the primrose banks, And rests its merry wing; The drooping snow-drop kindly thanks The western breeze at Spring.

Ah! well it knows where violets grow In the lone and shady lane; It bids its sweet, blue fav'rite blow, And onward speeds again. It wakes the flowers of the field; And they their offerings bring; The flowers their sweetst incense yield, To scent the breeze of Spring.

The blackbird from the hawthorn bush, Renews his lively strain; On topmost branches stands the thrush, And tunes his throat amain; At close of evening calm and mild, He makes the forest ring With native wood-notes, clear and wild— He loves the breeze of Spring.

The robin leaves his winter friends The robin leaves his winter friends For hedge-rows far away— Above his mossy nest he bends, And pipes his plaintive lays. The lark uprising with the light, a merry mountain wing— Strains all his might till out of sight, And hails the breeze of Spring.

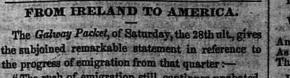

A hundred voices fill the air, The sun shines warmly down; Away with each intruding care, And leave the gloomy town. Come, roam along the wood-path green, Hear Nature's favorites sing, Enjoy the soul-enlivening scene, And woo the breeze of Spring.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION. Its Trials, its Duties, and its Prospects.

It is always a difficult task to discriminate be tween friends; to designate between "a blue and a better blue;" to select from a casket of rare gems, apparently of equal value and brilliancy, one pre-eminent among its dazzling competers. The father who sees two promising and equally loved sons on the brink of death, with a knowledge that he can the subjuited remarkable statement in reference to the progress of emigration from that quarter :--"The rush of emigration still continues unabated. Every American post brings its supply of remittance, upon the receipt of which crowds of emigrants hurry away. A communication by post does not receive a supply more generally than a letter from an Irish em-igrant in America is followed by the immediate de-parture of one, two, three or more of the relations at home. The peculiarity of this years exodus consists in the fact that those who compose it are not broken down tenants, tarrified by the pressure of poor rates and the fears of a future famine, or driven to despair by the mensces of a harsh landlord, and the frightful vision of balliffs and crowbars, who fly to emigration as their last desperate resource; but they are all per-sons well enough to do in the world, whom thesuccess of their friends in a strange land stimulates to follow them. If one may judge by the numerous instances which have come under our notice, the spell that bound the Irish peasant to his native soil is now bro-ken, and he is as ready to break every tie which at-tached him to his home, and to go forth in search of adventure, as a Scotchman or an Arab of the desert. A most remarkable instances of emigration, has been afforded this very day in an extensive migration which has taken place from the islands of Arran. has taken place from the islands of Arran. Seven years ago, even while famine scared them from a wretched home, to partfrom their native islands would have been a second death to these primitive secluded people. Now when they are in comparative affluence, able to satisfy all their moderate wants in a home, en-deared by the regard of kindred, and hallowed by many sacred traditions, a departure to a distant land causes them little or no emotion. To leave their friends at home and kindred here forever, apparently gives them as little concern as it would have afforded them a few years ago to leave their isolated shores for them a few years ago to leave their isolated shores for a fair in Galway, where they might be detained two or three days by some change in the weather. Some 30 or 40 of them who have left this town to day for Liverpool on their passage to America, seemed quite unconcerned at their expatriation. They were fine young men and women—admirable specimens of the Irish peasant be-fore famine had bowed his frame or crushed his spirit."

MORMON IMMIGRANTS.

From time to time, for nearly a month past the New Orleans steamers have landed at our port com-panies of Mormons recently arrived from England, and on their way to join their brethren at Salt Lake. The emigration from Europe is setting fairly in, and we may expect a large accession of these strangers from week to week. We see a statement to the effect that a considerable promotion of the senter and the effect that a considerable proportion of the newly arrived Mormons have seceded from their creed since they have been in this city. By close management the company who have taken in hand the removal of Eng-lish Mormon families to this country, it is said, are

SONG OF THE MOCKING BIRD.

I sing ! I sing ! when the sky is red With the crimson tint of eve; And happy I go to my harsh thorn bed, For I know not how to griere ! And I nestle down in my fibrous nest, With my blue eggs under my soft down breast, Like a babe on its mother's bosom caressed.

I sing ! I sing! with a varied song, And a new one every hour; For I mock each note of the vocal throng, With my storied mimic power! My musical throat merry sport giveth me-I call all the birds to some tangled thorn tree, And laugh when they're wondering who it can be.

And saugh when they re wondering who it can be. I sing ! I sing ! in the thicket deep, Away from the haunts of men; And flying far to the willows that weep Alone in some mournful glen, I wail in my song with a sorrowful tone, Like the voice of a mourner that sitteth alone, Scarce stifling her tears with a heart-stricken moar

I sing ! I sing with a scream of we, And a cry of loud alarm, When creeps the snake from his den below, With an eye of weirdly charm; I pounce on the foe that would do me a wrong, Like an arrow aimed by an archer strong, And change my shrill scream to victorious song !

SPRING.

An early Spring morning like those of the past week carries one away into old times and the country. The brooks are full from the recent week's rain, and you can hear them half mile off, so still is the whole country. And it on your face, and as you pass the oak tree you hear a rustling up among the branches as if there were a return of life into its dried old THE NEWSPAPER.

No association of my early youth and child-hood is more vivid in my recollection than the eagerness with which T have devoured the contents of the village newspaper. From its col-umns I learned to read; it was the director of my first buddings of thought and reason. The day it was issued was with me the most event-ful of the week. My childish impatience was so great that none dared to contend with me for the first perusal of it; and every line of prose and poetry was read and re-read. To me it was the oracle of the world, and the editor who wielded so important an engine was no ordinary man. I turned and looked after him, when he passed me in the street, as the crowd do upon an executive of the nation.

We had plenty of books in the house, and I read them; but I wanted something fresh and new to feast my curiosity upon, and tell me what was stirring in the world. It was enough for me that a thing was in the paper, to guar-antee its truth. In vain was I told that the badly written fictions that I devoured so greedily must not be believed. I would believe them and that was the end of it. Sometimes, when I was in the middle of a favorite piece, in would come neighbor B. to borrow the paper; and I, being but a child, would have to resign my right, and see it carried away; and a newspaper borrower never appeared more hideous in the eyes of any editor than he then did in mine. But I was soon after it, and had the pleasure of cutting off in return Mr. B., or some of the family, in the middle of the same piece, per-haps, and bringing the paper back again to re-sume my reading. I oftener took it to the barn, however, and read an hour or so, to avoid being scolded by our family for daring to go.

after the lent paper so soon. But not all the pages of literature that I can now peruse, will give me half the gratification that was then afforded me by the village newspaper. And I think no father would suffer his children to be without a paper of some kind, if yet there is a light breeze stirring. You feel he would but consider the eagerness of children, almost universally, to read newspapers, and their acquirement of the habit of learning to read, so useful in after life. I think the habit arms. In the hickory grove a grey squirrel sits on the very topmost branch of the tallest tree, wiping his mouth with his paw, holding fast with only one at a time; while farther down,

THE GARDEN.

The last number of Blackwood contains a capital article with the above title, and the season is one in which those who delight in this pleasant pastime begin to look around the garden. It is not unbecoming in one of the best writers who adorns the pages of the magahis companion is making the grove ring with anything else without blushing. He might be zine to say that he feels his affections gradually expected to be a subscriber for a newspaper as concentrating on his garden, for if divine dom placed the perfect man in a garden to much as his neighbor; his own money is worth dress and keep it, the place and duty must have been divinely congenial with the exercises no more than his neighbor's; but as regards other things, as implements of husbandry, &c., he, no more than his neighbor, can be expectof an unclouded reason and an undepraved ed to have everything he might require for an exigency. ELECTRICITY.

A CURIOUS AND BEAUTIFUL EXPERIMENT .- The Philadelphia Ledger speaks of a beautiful and curious experiment through the instrumentality of electricity, which the editors have seen, lighting gas with the tip of the finger. The Ledger says:

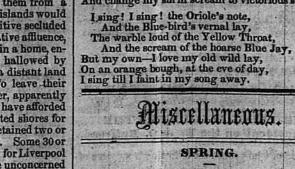

This experiment may be easily performed This experiment may be easily performed, and has been by Mr. James Swaim, of this city, repeatedly in connection with the beltings of the engine and shaftings of the Philadelphia Ledger press room, and it is far more astonish-ing than the spirit rappings, which are setting so many people crazy. Friction, it is well known, will produce electricity in certain sub-stances, and the friction of a gutta percha or common leather working halt upon the fiv stances, and the friction of a gutta percha or common leather working belt upon the fly wheel or pulleys of a steam-engine and shaft-ings produces it in considerable quantities.— If a person will insulate himself by standing upon a board fixed upon glass insulators—com-mon porter bottles would answer—and hold an iron bar, or a number of iron spikes in his hand, he may by extending the composite hand to a from bar, or a number of iron spikes in his hand, he may, by extending the oppposite hand to a gas burner, light it with the tip of his finger as easily as with a match. HOW MURAT MET HIS FATE.

From Lamartine's History of Restoration of the Mon archy in France.

The sentence of the military commission was read to him with due solemnity. He listened to it as he would have listened to the cannon of another battle during his military life, equal-ly without emotion or bravado. He neither asked for pardon, for delay, nor for appeal.-He advanced of his own accord toward the door. as if to accelerate the catastrophe. The door opened on a narrow esplanade, lying between the towers of the castle and the outer walls.-Twelve soldiers, with loaded muskets, awaited him there. The narrow space did not permit them to stand a sufficient distan death of a part of its horror. Murat in stepping over the threshold of his chamber, found himself face to face with them. He refused to let his eyes be bandaged: and looking at the soldiers with a firm and benevolent smile, "My friends," said he, "do not make me suffer by taking bad aim. The narrow space naturally compels you almost to rest the muzzles of your muskets on my breast; do not tremble, do not strike me in the face-aim at the heart, here if is " As he spoke thus, he placed his right hand upon his coat to indicate the position of his heart. In his left hand he held a small medallion, which contained in one focus of love. the image of his wife and of his four children, as if he wished thus to make them witnesses of his last hour, or to have their image in his last look, as in his last thought. He fixed his eyes. on this portrait, and received the death blow without feeling it, absorbed in contemplation of all he loved upon earth! His body, pierced at so short a distance by twelve balls, fell with the arms open and his face to the earth, as if still embracing the kingdom which he had once possessed, and which he had come to reconquer for his tomb. They threw his cloak upon the body, which was buried in the cathedral of Pizzo. Thus died the most chivalrous soldier of the imperial epoch; not the greatest but the most heroic figure among the companions of the new Alexander.

save but one, and that the other must inevitabl save but one, and that the other must inevitably perish, feels a pang that no pen can describe, in deciding whom he shall save, and who must be destroyed. This, in many cases, is the position of President PIEICE. For almost every post in the pift of his Administration, several excellent, worthy, deserving Democrats are applying, all of whom have strong claims, have rendered important ser-vices, and have powerful recommendations in their favor. Often, indeed, must the President and the dif-ferent members of his cabinet be forced to feel ferent members of his cabinet be forced to feel

"How happy they could be with either,

If t'other dear charmer were gone." Under these circumstances, many disappointment must naturally follow, many a true and faithfu man must be thwarted in the object of his ambi tion, many a heart be wrung, with anguish by unmerited failure. We believe that no one can re-gret more bitterly this state of things than the Administration itself. It is pleasure to reward, but asguish to reject its true and tried friends, Still, this ordeal must be encountered by every Admin-istration coming into power as has the present one It is passing nobly through it, gently but firmly discharging its delicate and painful duty. The gen-erality of its appointments challenge universal approbation. The propriety of its principal selections is unexceptionable. And if, in many cases, good and true men have been overslaughed, let them remember that their defeat was caused by no demerit of their own no ingratitude of the Administration, no want of appre-ciation of their services and merits but by sheer necesciation of their services and merits but by sheer neces-sity. Under these circumstances, we hope that no good Democrat, whatever may be his personal feel-ings of disappointment, will fail to meet his fate brave-ly and with a manly spirit. The true champion sa-crifices even himself to the cause he espouses, and sul-lies not the purity of his devotion to our great cause by discordant mutterings of discontent, or jarring and ungracious threats of rebellion. Let really deserving men not forget that if they " wait and hope" their hour, too, will come, and merit surely meet its just reward.

Let us not, then, in the general rush for official stations and necessary disappointments which must ensue, forget to preserve unbroken our noble organi-zation; for all our energies may yet be tasked, all our forces yet needed in the field of action, to consumour forces yet needed in the held of action, to consum-mate what has but began; to reap the fruit without which our victory will prove but a barren one; to carry out the great principles of our party in their purity and strength; to redeem our promise to, and meet the expectations of the people of the United The administration has before it a more than Her

Peculation and fraud upon the Government must cease to be every day occurrences, and honesty and virtue find a resting place in the hearts of those who administer its resting place in the hearts of those who administer its affairs. Extravagance must be cheeked, and econo-my become a living spirit, a presiding genius, not a mere mockery or a delusive phantom. The spirit of speculation and magnificent schemes must give way to sober reality, plain, common sense, and old fash-ioned prudence. It is very easy to talk of reform and retrenchment, but very difficult to correct existing abuses, to purge corruption, and to purify the pesti-leutial atmosphere that has been created by four years of Whig mal-administration. take this task, and if properly sustained, we believe he can and will accomplish it. We have but recently passed through a crisis in which our very National existence was imperilled.— The danger has been averted, and the storm dis-pelled. But the elements of discord, though broken and scattered, have not all been destroyed. Cunning demagogues, though baffled in their schemes, yet nour-ish mischief in their hearts. Deeply-rooted, and ill-founded prejudices, still cloud the reason and poison the mind of fanaticism. A lurking ambition to emu-late the miscreant who fired the Ephesian dome, yet haunt the brain of misguided traitors. It will be the province of the administration to fortify the Union and the Constitution against the attacks of all such foes; to guard with jealous care the rights of all sections, all classes, and all interests; to promote good-feeling among the different States, by dealing justly with all; and to draw so tightly the bonds of Union, that no impious hand can strain a single cord:

Peace is eminently desirawill be deeply involved. Peace is eminently desira-ble to us, and should be secured at any price short of the national honor. But there will be no more base truckling to monarchial arrogance, no more hu-miliating servility to aristocratic pomp and vanity, no more bartering away of American rights and sa-crifices of fundamental principles of national policy, at the exacting shrine of English aggression. No more cold-blooded indifference at the indiscriminate slaughter of American citizens, nor unatoned for in-sults heaped upon the bright banner of the stars and stripes. No more reckless and malicious publication of private State records to sacrifice national interests for the gratification of political animosities. While our own treaty stipulations will be faithfully observ-ed, we shall exact strict justice from other nations.— If acquisitions to our territory of an important and useful character can be made honorably and without injustice, no idle bugbear of the evils of territorial exuseful character can be made honorably and without injustice, no idle bugbear of the evils of territorial ex-pansion will make the nerves of this Administration quake with fear. What events may mount upon the bosom of the stormy sea of European politics, it is im-possible to foretel, but we feel confident that the pre-sent Administration will meet every exigency, at home or abroad, with a spirit of wisdom and firmness worthy of our country and of a Democratic Admin-istration.

enabled to put down the price of passage from Liver-pool to St.Louis, at the almost nominal rate of $40 per head. The temptation to profess Mormonism so as secure such cheap passage, has caused a temporary ab-juration of faith in favor of Mormonism in very many cases; and the journey having been accomplished, the new is again laid aside for the old. The Elder in this city is making arragements, we understand, for the early removal of several hundred Saints to Sait Lake. There are now in St. Louisfrom 3000 to 4000 Mormons all told .- St. Louis Republican.

"FEW DIE AND NONE RESIGN."

"Few die and none resign," is the remark attributed to Jefferson, in regard to office-holders. tenacious at once of life and of their clutch on the public treasury. A well-fixed ox is loth to leave the crib at which he has fattened so long. And an office-holder, upon whom the idea of living without work has grown and grown, until it has become a chronic disease, cares not for change of administration, cares not for principle, is willing to swear to any platform, only so that he might still be within reach of the treasury spoon and the pap bowl. A cat is said to have nine lives, and some snakes, before you can kill them, must be cut up into small pieces, from the fang to the tip of the tail; but snake and cats will die some time, a confirmed office-holder-never! He will die a thousand deaths in the attempt to hold office, and still be alive and hungry. As to resigning, there is no such word in his Dictionary; even if an ad-ministration against which he has cliqued, lied and yoted, resigns him, he is still himself by no means resigned to his fate. Certainly the Wandering Jew must have been a confirmed office-holder; for that individual, if we may believe all traditions about him, could not die, and would not resign .- Nat. Dem.

A NEW SECRET ASSOCIATION.—During the late trial of Archibald Seaman and Walter Burns, a charge of burglary in the Lorain county Common Pleas, Ohio, the existence of a Secret Society was disclosed, the designs and tendency of which one or two extracts from its preamble and constitution will sufficiently explain. In the first pledge, the member binds him-self to secrecy under a pledge of his "goods and chattels, lands and tenements, and his life and body." The preamble recites that "Whereas, all Governments are institued and controlled for the sole purpose to aid the learned against the unlearned, the strong against the weak," &c., &c. Pledge the second contains the fol-lowing clause: "I pledge further that I will disregard lowing clause: "I pledge further that I will disregard all State or National Law that has tendency or will all State or National Law that has tendency or will even permit the designing knave to rob the honest or the unsuspecting, and as my influence shall be against the wealth of the aristocrat, so it shall be in favor of the laboring poor." This communion of plunderers, the germ of which was thus brought to light in Lo-rain county, was to have branches in every State of the Union. It is said a gentleman who has been a representative in the Ohio Legislature was at the head of the band in this State — Ohio name

ing: I learn, upon reliable authority, that a new and magnificent first class hotel is to be erected in our city. A company, at the head of which is George W. Brown, of the firm of Brown, Brothers & Co., bankers, Johns Hopkins and Columbus O'Donnell, three of our weal-thies citizens, purchased the square of ground on Bal-timore street opposite the museum, where they pur-pose erecting a hotel six stories high with basement, to be built out of blue freestone, handsomely polished and ornamented, from the recently discovered quar-ries near Cheat river, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. STILL ANOTHER MURDER ATTRIBUTED TO SPRING.— According to the Philadelphia papers, Spring not only murdered Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Lynch, and the unfortunate Rink, but is now the suspected murder-er of Wm. Hope of Kingsessing, in Philadelphia coun-ty, about twelve years ago. Mr Hope was the pro-prietor of a truck farm, and kept a stand in Philadel-phia opposite the store then kept by Spring, who be-came intimate with him; and it is said that Hope who was a kind-hearted, honest man, often loaned money to Spring. The latter paid many visits to the truck farm, and was often seen in company with Mr. Hope both there and in Philadelphia. One morning

Hope both there and in Philadelphia. One morning Mr. Hope was found about twenty yards from his own gate horribly mangled and lacerated with an are, which was discovered a short distance off, and which was clotted with his blood. Spring it is alledged, was there the afternoon and the evening previous— but although the murder at the time created intense excitement, the author was never discovered. Mr. Hope had a large amount of money, which he kept in a stove, and, as it was not disturbed by the mur-derer, it is suspected that the conversation of Spring with his son, touching a murder he once committed without securing a large sum he expected to obtain by it, had reference to this murder. REGISTRATION OF BIETES, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES.— A registration law has passed the Virginia Legisla-ture requiring the Commissioner of the Revenue to ascertain the number of births and deaths of each family in his district, smongst the colored as well as the white population, during the preceding year en-ding the first of December; and to report them to the clerk of the court who is to make an abstract of the same and record it in his office and send it to the au-ditor of public accounts. Marriages to be ascertained by the clergymen and others, anthorized to solemnize marriages, who are required under heavy penalties to report them to the clerk of the court who is to make an abstract of the same, and record if in his office and send a copy of the abstract to the anditor of public accounts who is to report, at each session of the Gen-eral Assembly, synopsis of all births, deaths and mar-riages in the Commonweath.—Richmond Mail.

a shrill cherrup. You throw yourself down on the dry leaves and enjoy the sun on your face, and wonder how any one can have the heart to shoot a squirrel.

Just then a robin, the first you have seen flies into the tree above you, and a chirp and whistle are answered by a dozen others now coming. As you turn over on the leaves, a little blue bud of the liverwort shows itself among them, and as you touch it, it opens into starry beauty. So you gather it-the first spring flower-and cherish it carefully, that when you reach home you may give it to the sad-eyed girl that is watching the golden sun right through the window; for the first spring flower to such a one is redolent of purity, and beace and hope; but you are half sorry you brought it to her, for she looks so sadly from it out in the country and up into your anxious eves, that you don't know but you have saddened her with the thought that she may never gather flowers again in the wood, or feel the sunshine again except through the casement. And you sit down by her and talk cheeringof the coming summer; and as you see her eye light up you grow glad once more, and speak too cheerfully, and a sudden solemn shadow comes over her face, and you turn toward the hearth to hide your quivering lip. On the hearth the blaze is dim, and the fire smouldering under accumulating ashes. The smoke goes unwillingly up the broad chimney, and you stoop to blow the fire into a blaze with lips instead of the bellows, and you get your eyes filled with smoke, which makes an excellent excuse for your tears, though that hardly epays you for the fine ashes you have breathed into your lungs, and the choking cough you have thereby caused.

And now you catch sight of your trout-rod the President, in reply, "this man was nominain the corner, and seizing it and your dry tackle, ted by me, on your recommendation, and at you stroll down by the brook, and where the your solicitation, to an office under Governld mill stood you cast into the pool below the ment, and the nomination was confirmed by the roken dam, and hook a fine fellow that you Senate. You now say that his habits are inand with a self-important feeling as if no one temperate, and that he is unworthy of the situelse could hook or land a trout in that style .ation. But if I were to remove him now, the consequence would be inevitable ruin to him. Then you would walk down the stream, some times hooking a fish, but not often, for they are not yet plenty; and at length you pass around the foot of the hill where the church stands, and the grave-yard slopes down close to the brook, and you stop and look up and climb the fence, and leave your tackle on the stone-wall, and walk up to the hillock where since last autumn and become a sober and exemplary citizen. I the little one who never before had slept, save shall not remove him from office for this ofin his mother's arms or by her bedside, has been sleeping all the cold days and nights un-der the snow. You find that the frost has fence, but this, as it has been the first, so it moved the sods, and you place them straight, and cut a willow branch down by the brook and push it into the ground near the head of the little grave, where it will grow into a tree to shadow the mound; and you walk on then, but you don't catch many fish after that, and at length you lie down on a rock, and think and think till the sun goes westward. Verily there is no end to the thoughts which an early spring day brings inte life.—Jour. of Com. COURTING.

This is rather a delicate subject, we know; but then we dare say, a subject bearing this head will be read by the ladies, as quick as nything on which their eyes can rest. And t is for their benefit that we are now writing There is something in the idea of courting which causes an indescribable thrill. We have just read the following account of how the ladies do up these things in Rome, and which may offer them some useful hints:

She will say, without ceremony to a friend of the young man, 'Tell that gentleman I like him.' If the man of her choice feels the like my dear." There, that is coming to a point at once, and not going round about with blushes and simbering, and finally get out 'no,' when yes is ntended. What is the use of making such a stammering and stuttering about it when one is overjoyed with pleasure? The ladies at Rome do not seem to be at all The ladies at Rome do not seem to be at all troubled with any undue restraints of delicacy and modesty. They say what they think, and act accordingly. On the contrary, our Ameri-can ladies are so modest and bashful that they let all the good opportunities slip through their fingers, while they are blushing behind a fan. They would not for the world let a young man suppose they cared anything about him, though they might be dying with love. Now we think it best to split the difference. The Roman la-dies are other the fart and American ladies a little it best to split the difference. The Roman had dies go rather too fast, and American ladies a little too slow. Our advice is that you take for your 'platform' the 'compromise,' and unite the two. Medium ground is generally safe. But don't forget that time is flying. A bull fight was lately advertised at Pla ville, California; but the Americans, not og this Spanish amusement, lassed the

Let them shed around their homes the sacred influence of natural beauty, and deck the room devoted to family union, with flowers which charm and soften the erring or the tempted. No one can tell how much happier one can go forth from such a home than from one of wretched and squallid poverty, in which no form of beauty enters. The hours devoted to the garden wil not be lost. The pleasure thus gained will last when the wintry winds have withered up even the lilac crocus of autumn. There will still remain a breath of fragrance and a form of beau-

It is your duty to make the most of time, talents and opportunity. Alfred, king of England, though he performed more business than any of his subjects, found time to study. Franklin in the midst of his labors, had time to dive into the depths of philosophy, and explore an untrodden path of science. Frederick the Great, with an empire at his direction, in the midst of war, and on the eve of battle found time to revel in the charms of philosophy, and feast on the luxuries of science. UNNATURAL ALLIANCE.

The marriage of old men to young women are, for the most part, as objectionable in their motives as in their results; and the mistake of such marriages is generally as great as the moral misfeasance. There is no greater error of age than to suppose that it can recover the enjoy-ment of youth by possessing itself of what youth only can enjoy; and age will never appear so unlovely as when it is seen with such an illsorted accompanyment-

A chaplet of forced flowers on Winter's brow Seems not less inharmonious to me Than the untimely snow on the green leaf.

For the young women who make such manriages there is sometimes more to be said than for the old men. When the motives are mercenary, there is nothing to be said for them: and but little when the case is one of weak consent to the mercenary baseness of parents, or when they sacrifice themselves (as they will sometimes allege) in a rich alliance for the remain a breath of fragrance and a form of beau-

But cannot a young man man great set was a s maginative, and may suffice to sanctify the marriage vow. And there is another case, not certainly to be altogether vindicated and yet not to be visited with much harshness of censure, in which a woman who has had her heart broken, seeks, in this sort of rharriage, such an, asylum as, had she been a Roman Catholic, she might have found in a convent.

> DEATH FROM WANT OF SLEEP .- How Ion can one live without sleep? This question we have never seen answered. But an authentic communication has been made to a British so ciety, whose field of operations are in Asia, descriptive of a punishment which is peculiar to the original code of China. It appears from this communication, that a Chinese mercha had been convicted of murdering his wife, and of the privilege of going to sleep. This singu-lar and painful mode of quitting an earthly existence was carried into execution at Amoy un-

If your ambition is to be a well-bred lady, you must carry your good manners everywhere with you. These are not things that can be laid aside and put on at pleasure. True po-liteness is uniform disinterestedness in triffes, accompanied by the claim self-possession which belongs to the noble simplicity of purpose; and this must be the effect of a Christian spirit running through all you think, say or do; and un-less you cultivate and exercise it upon all occa-sions, and towards all persons, it will never be-come a part of yourself. When you try to ascome a part of yourself. When you try to as-sume it for some special purpose, it will sit awkwardly upon you, and often fail you at your greatest need. COUNTY CANDIDATES.

The County Conventions to nominate Candidates for the House of Delegates to represent Jefferson County in the next Legislature of Virginia, convened at the Court-House on yesterday. The Democratic Convention presented Messrs, JAMES W. BELLER and NA-T IANIEL SEEVERS, and the Whig Convention, Messrs JAMES D. GIBSON and CHARLES W. BUTTON. DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS.

Winchester has been agreed upon as the place of meeting during the next week, of two very important olitical Conventions. The first is to be held on Wednesday, 27th inst., to nominate a candidate to present this District in the next Congress of the United States, and the second is to be held on Thursday, 28th inst, for the purpose of nominating a canlidate for the Board of Public Works, for District No. 3, which embraces all the counties of our Congressional District, and extends West as far as Wheeling, and East to Alexandria. As to the Congressional nomination, there will be several candidates presented, though after the Convention have spoken, we can have no fear as to the result. If the Democracy of this District, with a clear Democratic majority of .1 100, have not the strength to ratify the choice of their servants, majorities are of no account and Conventions but a farce. For the Board of Public Works. the office is not only an important one as to the great interests of the State, but involves a considerable amount of patronage. The names of the candidates presented are legion, all good and true men, and after the Convention has compared the claims of the respective applicants, we have ro doubt a selection will be made satisfactory to the District, and of a man fally equal to the position and in every respect qualified for the office. We hope the Delegates appointed from our county, and the District generally, may be present on the days above designated, that they may give a full and fair expression of the public sentiment-We council in advance, harmony, concession and compromise, and a fixed determination not only to sustain, but triumphantly to elect, the nominees of the Convention.

The Committee not only extend a cordial invitation to the gentlemen of the County irrespective of party, but extend a cordial invitation to the Ladies, and hope the festive enjoyment may be greatly heigh-tened by their kind attendance and approving smiles. The Bands of both Martinsburg and Harpers-Ferry will be present, and by reference to another column the programme of procession may be found.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

The Richmond Examiner gives an interesting table as to the recent Apportionment of the State, with not only the Counties forming the several Districts, (thirteen in number,) but the Federal population of each, as well as the political strength of the two parties as compared with the last Presidential election. The following is the result in our own District, formerly

It will be seen that we have a certain majority in every District of the State, save one. That one is the First District, composed of Accomac, Northampton, &c.; but that is not less certainly Democratic in the next Congressional Election than the Tenth Legion itself. Mr. BAYLY always runs ahead of the Presidential vote, and there is no doubt but that he will do again what he has so often done before. The Demo-ratic party of Virginia has only to make an honest effort to secure an unbroken delegation of thirteen Democratic votes in the next Congress. To this it has a right. In the whole State it has fifteen thousand clear majority, yet Virginia has only thirteen Representatives. Each of these thirteen may therefore be elected by a majority of more than eleven hundred votes, with say that this State has been improperly divided to secure a Democratic delegation. The only Gerrymander of which our State is capable, is one which would make it give Whig votes. On a fair division of its acknowledged majority, it is palpably impossible that there could be one single Whig Representative from Virginia. Yet we know that the Whig minority in the fast Legislature had the face to propose an apportionment that would have given certainly three, and perhaps five Whig Districts. And these are the people to prate about Gerrymanders.

Jefferson County has but rarely had as her Representative, a man more faithful to her interests or more conscientious in the discharge of his public duties, than she had in the person of Major BENJAMIN MOOR. her late Delegate in the Legislature. His course, we have every reason to believe, has given entire satisfaction to his constituents, and faithfully reflected the sentiments and wishes of the County. Both himself and Mr. Gibson would have been again nominated on yesterday with unanimity by the Convention, but reasons of an imperative personal character induced them both to withdraw their names from the consideration of the nominating Convention. We gave last week Mr. Gisson's letter declining, and are to-day permitted to make the following extract from a letter of Major Moon's:

GENTLEMEN:-Your favor of March 30th, came to hand yesterday, and the assurance communicated, that my course had found acceptance with our friends of the county is appreciated with heartfelt thankfulness. My inexperience, in connexion with the requi-site anticipated gualifications, for an efficient discharge of the responsible duties of a member of the Legislature, was at the first proposition of my kind friends to become a candidate for the House of Delegates, almost an insuperable objection on my part, of which I never could have overcome, except at the pressing instance of esteemed friends. THRILLING ACCOUNT OF THE Late Accident on the B. & O. Railroad.

The person-who penned the following is a citizen of Louisville, and is now in Baltimore, badly bruised and sore, but in no danger:

I was asleep when we first got off the track, in the first seat of the second car—Mr. H., of Walker's sitting right opposite. I had time to jump off had I known how bad a fix we were in; but believing it safer to remain, on second thought, I did so. (The track was only 10¹/₂ feet wide, as measured after accident.) The cars immediately fell over the precipice. I thought of God, mother, and death. The first jump, about 20 feet, my hat saved me; the second I faintly remember ng women tearing their hair, and children scream-

No has the system even had the advantage of securi-unity in the action of her political parties as we have had occasion deeply to lament, in the loss of that State to the Democratic party, on several unportant occ-sions. Who would wish to see such a system of pi-ty tactics introduced here? Who would desire to sort to an admitted evil without necessity to just sort to an admitted evil without necessity to justify it; an evil too, which may impair, if not destroy, the vital spirit of our institutions? But, fellow-citizens, while I deprecate conventions called without necessity, I am for them when such me cessity exists. Does that necessity exist now? I think not. You have a strong Democratic majority. Now Whig will be in the field—in any event you must have a representative of your opinions, and in addi-tion you will be able by going to the polls without a convention undoubtedly to have your choice for your representative. A convention can do no more—it may do less, by selecting one for your candidate with a preference on your part for another. It may be said that a convention may prevent heart-

a preference on your part for another. It may be said that a convention may prevent heart-burning, ill-will and strife. I think there can be no-thing in this view of the subject, as experience proves it at a convention unnecessarily called is more apt to produce than prevent them. Even the convention proposed for you is patronized by some with a hope that it may be unable to agree in a selection from those placed in nomination, and that some gentleman net known are cardidate unit is proposed as your not known as a candidate may be selec not known as a candidate may be selected as your representative. But it may be said a convention is necessary to compare to claims and pretensions of those aspiring to represent you. Fellow-citizens, at no place can this be so safely done as at the polls.— Without the fear of a convention, however formed, I confess my experience teaches me to prefer the grand convention of the people. There all can be heard— justice will be done and no murmur of discontent will disturb the general satisfaction which must be felt at the wisdom of your selection. These are 'my views, but if yours are different, if you, you the people, prefer to sit in convention previous to the election, yours is the right and mine the duty offsul mission. Fellow-citizens: In looking over the field of my past Fellow-citizens: In looking over the field of my past life I see an unbroken consistency of political opinion and public conduct. In the dark hours of the Democratic party I was ever faithful amongst the faithless. When leader after leader abandoned the Democratic standard, and Gen. Jackson was unalle to preserve such great unanimity assigned him. But few public men in the nation have passed through so many important and responsible positions as Mr-King, and yet retained a character so pure and unsullied-the love and admiration of his political friends and associates-and the universal confidence and respect of his political opponents. The distinguished Senator from Missouri, DAVID R. ATCHISON, has already been chosen President pro. tem. of the Senate. and in case of the death of Mr. King would be the Vice President of the U.S. He is a statesmen of long experience, the most incorruptible principles, and eminently worthy the position which he is likely to be called upon to assume.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

The Richmond Enquirer, of Tuesday last, says :-The Legislature of Virginia finally adjourned last night, after a session, exclusive of the recess taken last summer, of nine and a half month's duration-The number of bills passed at its first sessior, of 1851-2, was about 475; and the number passed at the session now just closed, is over 600; making in all, about eleven hundred bills. The Degislature now dissolved, maugre all that has been said to the contrary, has been a working Legislature, as the immense amount of business despatched proves. We congratulate the members at the termination of their erduons and protracted labors and wish them a joyons welcome to their families and constituencies.

OUR NEW TYPES.

We have heretofore failed to notice, that for the beautiful types in which our new paper appears, we are mostly indebted to the old established Foundry of Mr. FIELDING LUCAS of Baltimore. His establishment is now mostly under the charge and direction of his son, HENEY LUCAS, a young gentleman thorough-ly acquainted with his business, of energy and indus-try qualifying him for the head of so important an enterprise, and withal a gentleman worthy the liberal support and encouragement of the craft. The Foundry now embraces every variety of types, which Printers may need for any description of work, made of the best material, and sold on as accommodating terms as they can be purchased at any regular establishment in the country,

A prospectus has been issued for publishing by subscription an octavo volume descriptive of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The work will contain about one hundred and twenty wood engravings, executed in the best style, of the prominent points of interest on the route between Baltimore and Wheeling. The work is designed principally to commemorate the opening of the Railroad to Wheeling on the 10th of January last, and will comprise all matters of interest connected with the work-historical, descriptive and statistical. The sketches were taken by Mr. Beaulieu, a French artist, Mr. D. H. Strother, of Martinsburg, Mr. Devereux and Mr. Lourie. The editorial department will be under the charge of Mr. E. Bowen, assisted by a gentleman of Baltimore. The general character of the work will be lively as well as ornan e stal and it will no doubt prove an accept-

COLONIZATION IN VIRGINIA.

A bill has passed both branches of the Virginia Legislature, setting apart $42,000 annually to be applied in removing free persons of color from the State to Liberia. A portion of the amount to be raised is to be derived from an annual tax of $1 each upon every free male person of color in the State between the ages of twenty-one and fifty-five years; $30,000 are to come from the State Treasury, and the balance from the tax on seals attached to registers of freedom.

I. O. O. F.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, has just terminated its session, after a most interesting meeting as we learn, and one at which a large amount of business of interest and importance to the Order was transacted. The progress of the Institution is steadily on the increase, and there are but few counties in the State where one or more Lodges have not been organized. The Delegate from Wildey Lodge. of Charlestown, was Mr. Peter Poisal, from Shep herdstown, Geo. Price, from Harpers-Ferry, Daniel J. Young and J. W. Deener-as also, Col. Nadeabousch W. Miller &c., of Berkeley. Our neighbor of the Free Press, H. N. GALLAHER, Esq., was elected the Grand Master of the State, a compliment justly due to him for his zeal and devotion in furthering the benevolent lesigns of the Institution. It is a highly honorable and distinguished position, and we are sure he will not only "wear his honors meckly," but will so administer the functions of his office, as to further the best intcrests of the Order, and diffuse the great principles of "Friendship, Love and Truth," throughout his territorial domain.

This step was for a time considered as unnecessary, if not superfluous, and, for two reasons or because I had always endeavored to indicate the fact to all with whom J spoke, the other, because our friends as I supposed judged as I did, that they want-ed a better candidate: It has always been my intention to do what I could to promote civil and religious liberty: the extension of the elective franchise, Democratic Republican principles, and that the will of the people, was the legitimate rule of the public servants, and hence in thus doing, I was necessarily opp consolidation, and the one man power, in whatey aspect presented to freemen; and I hope and trust what has been stated, will prove satisfactory to all. conclusion permit me to say to you gentlemen; and through you to our friends and fellow-citizens generally-hat whilst I had neither expectations nor any aspirations, for the honorable station to which by their liberal generosity, it has been their good pleasure to elevate me,-vet I should do violence to the finest sensibilities of my nature, did I not most

The Spring time is here again. The rivulet whose murmuring voice was hushed by the icy chains of Winter, pours forth anew its mellowing cadence.-The gay plumed songsters, driven to more genial climes by the cold breath of the hoary King, have returned to charm the ear with their music, and cheer the heart by their presence. The cowslip with her winning grace, and the velvet-hued violet shrinking in its modest worth, once more lift their heads from the apparent desolate earth, and smile at the dawn of Spring. All nature is in unison, and man, and bird, and stream, and flower, are vicing with each other in paying tribute to the first born of the year. Welcome, thrice welcome, gentle Spring. Welcome to thy April showers: welcome to the coat of green, with which thou art covering the earth ;- welcome to thy balmy winds and genial sunshines. How analogous is the Spring time of the year with the Spring time of life. That season when the affections are pure and have not been tainted with the baneful influences of the world :-- when the heart is free from care, and the passions have never been aroused by the angry stirs of men.-When all is sunshine and joy, and the withering hand of affliction and disappointment, has not weighed down the spirit, nor crushed the earliest and fondest hopes and aspirations. A recollection of those blissful days causes a sigh, and the heart grows sick when we compare them with the present-when we think of the corruption that meets us at every turn,-the deception we daily see practised, and the duplicity and crime that surrounds us. It is enough to change man, and why should we wonder that the finer feelings of the heart, and the noblest impulses of our nature are gradually lost. But we had no intention of moralizing when we commenced this article, and we shall therefore

Spring is the season of promises. The heart grows warm, and the imagination more vivid, as each succeeding day adds beauty to nature. Fancy that most ductile and maleable of all materials or incorporeals, is worked into a thousand shapes, and the very brain tires with the quick succession of ideas and phantoms that are originated. But alas! where there is one reality, one practicability, there is a thousand chimeras. It is the season of dreams and of pleasures, of rosy cheeks and of light hearts. It is not only the time for birds reck in June.

The third, fourth, and last jump, I know nothing about, only that I fell on my head and saw a thousand pieces of timber and iron flying in the air, and then fainted.

When I opened my eyes, Mr. T., who was lucky enough to have been in one of the cars that remained on the track, was at my side-my head was bleeding profusely; with that exception I felt pretty well; not ng then what I suffer now. Such a sight as I be held, I would not look at again for all the world, mutilated bodies, some mashed to atoms, lying under the wheels-fifty or sixty men and women, their faces covered with blood, running as wild as demonsmothers with bloody hands and faces, kissing the bodies of their dead or crippled children-one woman, with her dress torn off, screaming and trying to lift off the stone that had crushed her husband H. a merchant of Baltimore, his leg mashed, sitting on a rock-one man having lost all recollection, looking like an idiot-cries of agony and despair, and paths, mingled in the presence of death. God is merciful that one out of us all escaped. A worse place could not have been found, as we tumbled over rocks sharp and rugged.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

The New York Journal of Commerce thus briefly and very completely upsets Mr. Senator Broadhead's high-tariff calculations. Senator B. says, the " excess of imports over exports of the country, during the last fiscal year, was $40,000,000," and the statement is going the rounds of the papers, as if it were true Now, the fact is, that our imports during that year exceeded our exports only $2,929,522. Thus:

How does Mr. Brodhead contrive to magnify this ss than $3,000,000 into $40,000,000 ? By just anniilating $37,304,642 of specie which we exported more han we imported. Now, this specie was nearly all o together with a great deal more which still remains ith us, drawn from our own mines of California, and was as truly a domestic product as lead or coton. Moreover, it was paid for, to a large extent, by the very imported goods which Mr. Brodhead regard as such a calamity to the nation. If the mines had not been worked, these goods would not have been wanted; or would have been wanted only in part.-The Californians must have tea, coffee, sugar and forty other things which are not produced in this country besides many that are; and, having nothing else t pay with, they send us their gold dust, a part of which we transmit abroad, to pay for the goods which we purchase abroad for the Californians. That is the whole of the story. We have the freighting, the com-missions, and a good share of the profits, and the only trouble is, that we pay away for these goods precisely the same commodity(gold) which we receive for them reserving, of course, a handsome per centage for our trouble. What great unhappiness is there in this? GOVERNMENT SALE OF MUSKETS.

A merchant of New York, engaged in the sale of military goods, made large purchases of muskets; and he and a gentleman connected with the American Colonization Society were nearly the exclusive suc-cessful biddets. The prices ranged, for each gun com eighty-two and a half cents to one dollar and eighty cents; or, an average, upwards of one dollar and twenty cents. Fifteen hundred of those muskets will hereafter enter into the defensive operations the Republic of Liberia, together with the swords to which we have already referred; and the clothing nents intended for marines will adorn pro ably the land forces of the African sovereigns. Eight iron six and twelve pounders were purchas-ed by the New York merchant, at eight dollars each nd the balls were sold to other parties at eight cents

THE BANK OF THE UNION.

Some months have passed since the affairs of this funct concern passed into the hands of trustees, nd yet we have no exhibit of its condition. , however, that Messrs: Linton and Chilton two of the three trustees, have entered suit against forty-four of the debtors of the institution; but as no declarations have been filed in court, it is difficult even to conjecture when the public will have authori-tative information in the premises. We are inclined to believe that the trustees are not idle in the per-formance of their duties; but such is the slow pro-

the city of New York. The enterprizes requisite for this purpose are numerous; and will employ capital, uire time. But, still, they may be carried into and rec effect and Baltimore may already, in anticipation, claim to be the depot and entrepot of Southern and Western commerce.

The Alexandrians are beginning to derive some enclits from the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal trade The coal trade is rapidly increasing. The Cumberand coal companies have, after trifling for a while with the corporation and capitalists in this city, estalished depots in Alexandria.

If the product of the Cumberland coal fields even become very important, it must by means of the canal transportation. The Eric Canal, as stated by the State engineer of New York, in his last report, is equal in capacity for transportation to four double track

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal has a capacity for ransportation nearly double that of the Erie canal.-131 to 70. Therefore the capacity of the Chesapcake and Ohio canal for heavy transportation will be equal to about seven double-track railroads, such as the altimore and Ohio and the Virginia railroads. Washington derives no advantage from the canal and perhaps will not, for some years to come. But under a different state of things it may be made very beneficial to the District cities, as well as Alexan dria, and also to Baltimore, while it will secure th rapid development of the resources of the Cumberland

MEXICO.

Gen. Santa Anna arrived at Vera Cruz on the afernoon of the 1st inst. His reception is reported not to have been very cordial. He tarried only a short time in the city, having left the same evening for his hacienda near Jalapa. Information is given by Mr. Falconet to the English and holders, that he had been compelled to pay $60,000 to, buy members of the Mexican Congress t their interests. This statement created great excite ment in the capital. The press expressed indignation and members of Congress affirm that they are inno-cent. President Lombardini was thinking of giving Falconet a passport with an invitation to leave the the Republic, when Mr. Falconet came out in a card, and declared that everything said in relation to his buying votes was false and unauthorized. On the 18th ult., a conducta left the city of Mexico or Vera Cruz with $2,070,000 in specie, escorted by 50 cavalry, 150 infantry with one field piece. BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD .- The Wheelin Times thinks if the road were in a condition to do business, and would make proper exertions to obtain it, the receipts might be made one million of dollars per month, without doubt. As one evidence of what night be done, says the Times, we know one house in Alabama, desirous of shipping 8,000 tons of quer-citron bark, if it can be taken promptly and at fair prices. This road is committing, as we are satisfied. ne grand error towards its interests, in spen oney on the Parkersburg road, before it lays a dou ble track on this route. Such is the opinion of the best informed men in the West.

New ERA IN TYPE SETTING.—The recent strike by the printers induced the proprietor of the Day Book to advertise for female compositors. His call was an-swered by about one hundred girls, who were all anxious to be initiated into the mysteries of setting type. Out of this number, he selected six, and put them at the case, and the editor informs us that in two days they have made such proficiency that they will, in a short time, earn from eight to twelve dol-lars a week. SIR : Without intending to detract from the merits of any other gentleman who has been named in connexion with the office of Commissioner of the Board of Public Works, I would respectfully call the attention of the voters of the Third District to J. S. DAvison, Esq., of Warren ; who, it will be admitted by all is eminently qualified and fitted for that office by his intelligence, integrity and superior busin city. Mr. Davison has recently represented the conn ty of Warren in the House of Delegates with great fliciency and ability, as all who have served him will cheerfully testify. His name will be before the District Convention to assemble at Winchester on the 28th instant, and it is earnestly hoped that his merits will be duly considered by the members of that WARREN body. RAILROAD IRON.

The Boston Railroad Times calls attention to facts which are worthy the attention of those engaged in making new lines of railroads. The railways now in the course of construction in Europe and America will require for their completion no less than two millions and four hundred thousand tons of iron.--To make this quantity, will occupy all the rolling mills in the world, which are engaged in the manufacture of railway iron, at least six years—those o Great Britain furnishing three-fourths, and the U States, France and Belgium, the remaining fourth.— The best authorities do not estimate the lan tity of railway iron in any one year even as high as 400,000 tons, yet even at this rate it will take six years to furnish iron for the roads already begun.— The necessary consequence of this state of things is, that the price of railroad iron will not only be kert ip, but will advance, and be maintained at very high ices for a long time. This will make the ma ture of railroad iron the best manufacturing busin at can be undertaken in this country for some years, for, it is affirmed on the best authority, that the article which is now selling at $70, with every prospect of advancing to at least $80 per ton, pays a fair profi to the maker at $50 per ton. AN EXTRAORDINARY AMALGAMATION CASE.—The Court of Common Pleas of Pl il delphia is engage 1 in trying the validity of the will of William Johnson, colored, deceased. THE BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS.

Philo Jackson writes to the Savannah Journal an teresting account of a visit to General Jackson at he Hermitage in 1839, from which we extract the following:

"I longed to hear him speak of his great bat "I longed to hear him speak of his great battle, and one of the greatest battles too of modern history, the crowning exploit of his military life, the battle of the 8th of January, before New Orleans. He had just re-turned from his last visit to that city, and lamented the decease of most of his old compations since that battle. All the officers except Col. Tiebault, he ob-served, were dead. He then graphically described the field, the fortifications, as he laughingly called them, and the victory, in a manner I shall never forget.— 'Mr. Eaton, (said General Jackson) has greatly erred in his description of the American works. He save I 'Mr. Eaton, (said General Jackson) has greatly etred in his description of the American works. He says I had a strong breastwork of cotton bags. There was not a bag of cotton on that field, sir! I had some store boxes and sand bags, or bags filled with sand, and these were extended along the lines, but they were so-low, that at the close of the action, when the British surviving General in command, came riding upon an elegant horse to surrender his sword, when he got near me, I heard him exclaim, with mortified surprise, Barricades; by ----, I could leap them with my horse!" THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

The new administration, says the Richmond Ennirer, are winning golden opinions by their appointments to office, not only among their political friends, but smong intelligent and impartial judges of every faith and section. The New York Commercial Times, organ in that city of the Whig party, independent of the Tribune's isms, says in reference to the foreign appointments which have been made:

"If the President is equally fortunate in his domes-tic selections for office, he will have made a most pro-mising beginning in his new office."

The following is the first paragraph of an extended article upon the subject, in commendation of the wisdom and prudence of the administration, from the N. York Heraid;

GENERAL PREDCE'S APPOINTMENTS.—It is an old ad-age, well endorsed by experience, that "the proof of the pudding is the eating thereof." In fact, the trial of a thing is the only true test of its quality. And, upon this test, thus far, the new administration will here the prediction of its bear a pretty rigid examination in the matter of its appointments. It is simply impossible that all could be good. The President of the United States, were he as old as Methuselah, could not be expected to know every body. Of the claims of many persons for office he can judge only by the vouchers laid before him; and if it too often happens that they exaggerate the merits of the individual, it is but fair to assume that has made the best selections that he could from the lights before him.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Seven clerks, on repairing to the Pension Office this morning, found upon their desks yellow envelopes, containing printed billet dear, which informed them that their services were no longer required. It is rumored that more removals will be made in the same office to-morrow. It is reported that Ma Guthrie, the Secretary of the Treasury, has to-day issued orders to all the Auditors of the Treasury, directing them not to appoint any more New Yorkers to derkships in Washington, the New York castom-house patronage being deemed their full share in the apportionment of this species of Government patronage.

INDIANS OF CALIFORNIA.

From the report of Lieut. Beale, Superintendent of Indian affairs in California, it appears, that the Indians of that State have been in many cases, summarily dealt with by citizens, men, women and children having been massacred without warning or provocation. This is a horrible state of things, and should be arrested without delay? The details given in this re-! port are truly shocking and inhuman. It appears that Indians are not only shot or hung without justifiable cause, but are seized and dragged into slave- 15,600 for the annual sales.

SPRING SENTENCED TO BE HUNG. On Saturday, Arthur Spring, convicted in Phil delphia, of the murder of Honora Shaw and Elle Lynch, was brought before Judge Thompson, of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, to receive se The Bulletin says: There was a great crowd surrounding the Court-room, and the room itself crammed almost to suffoca-tion. The utmost decorum prevailed, and not a taunt-tion. The utmost decorum prevailed, and not a taunt-ing expression was heard to drop from the lips of any one of the auditory. The prisoner looked well, even better than common, and did not show the slightest trace of anxiety as he sat in his box. His counsel, eph M. Doran, stood near him, resting age box. On being asked if he had anything to say why the judgment of the law should not be pronounced the judgment of the law should not be pronounced upon him, he arose, and, in a manner partaking more of a flush than an excitement began a speech in a firm, rapid, but somewhat rambling manner. His firmness was remarkable. A quiet malignity perva-ded his speech, and there did not appear to be the slightest relation of father animating the breast of the elder Spring towards his son. After denying his guilt, and strongly asserting that he had no hand in the marder, he said:

the murder, he said: My son said he would take the money from the trunk of Mrs. Lynch; and I told him that as I was known there I would be suspected of it. He told me he took the money. He said that he went down there about 8 o'clock and took some brandy. He went away to Thirteenth street and stayed with the boys till a quarter of 10, and then went to Maguire's, and stayed there until Mr. Maguire went to bed. He went up stairs, but afterwards came down and went to the house of Mrs. Lynch. He got into the back-room and he waited till she came out of it and then went up stairs and broke open the trunk and took the money. stairs and broke open the trunk and took the money. He must have committed the murder, but he did not say so.

He next referred to various incidents connecting him with the crime, and concluded by again solemn-ly protesting his innocence, but expressing his wil-lingness to die. His remarks were delivered in a very nnected manner.

The Bulletin states that he would partly utter a sen-tence, and then re-construct it again, changing entirely the subject matter of it. Upon one or two occasions, it was the impression that he was about to commit himself, by giving an account of part of the marder-ous transaction; but after a moment's hesitation he fully recovered himself, and avoided the dangerous topic. This was the case when he spoke of the boy getting into the house of Lynch with the brandy on the night of the murder.

Judge Thompson, in a very feeling manner, pro-nounced the sentence of death, and immediately after Spring was conveyed back to prison. Before the prisoner left the Court room, his counsel, Mr. Doran stepped up to him, and said-"Mr. Spring, there is now no longer any hope for your life. You should send for a priest and endeavor to make the proper proparation for death and a future life." Spring, in the most resolute manner, turned his face towards Mr. Doran, and looking him full in the face, said, "I will not do it." A day or two since, Arthur Spring, jr., paid a visit to his wretched father in his cell at Moyamensing prison

The son offered to shake the hand of his father, and expressed a desire to be reconciled with him. The prisoner, however, refused to have anything to do with him, and reiterated the charge that he was the mur-derer. Arthur thereupon left the prison, and will start this morning for Washington

A colored man, who was in the cellar of the Hotel, when Rink was murdered, has positively identified Spring as the man who ran through the cellar a moment or two after the murder was committed.

TO ALL INDEBTED.

Since the destruction of our office by fire, on the 4th f March last, our time has been so constantly occ in the effort to re-establish our paper, and get it und in the effort to re-establish our paper, and get it under way at the earliest moment practicable, that we have made no effort even, to settle up old balances. Hav-ing accomplished this object, and we hope to the satis-faction of our friends, it now behooves us to appeal to the magnanimity of ALL, to come forward at once and square up old accounts. The amount in most instances, our necessities compel us to submit up your own discretion and your own sense of justice.

shall come at once. Now is the time that our necessi-ties beyond all others, appeal to your remembrance. We desire to close up by some means, every account that we are to realize, and if we are to get nothing, why the sooner we know it the better. We are sure a moment's reflection on the part of our friends, will convince them of the reasonableness of our request, and we shall confidently expect to receive a favorable response at their hands. As our time is so much oc-cupied, we hope none may whit for us to call upon them in person, but remit to us by letter, or private hands. J. W. BELLER. Strengt on Jaconson Options April 12 1853

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

House of REPRESENTATIVES, FEB. 18, 1853. To the Voters of the Third District in Vir-ginia for electing a Commissioner of the Board of Public Works:

Since declining again to run for Congress, I have un-expectedly received solicitations from various parts of the Third District become a candidate for the Board he Third District to become a contract of Public Works. If you think I can be of service to you in this new position, you are at liberty to command whatever of ability I may possess to promote in that connection the best interest of my native State. Most respectfully, your obedient servant, J. M. H. BEALE.

03-BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS .-- No icing that several gentlemen have been recommended by their various friends, in the Counties composing the Third section, for Commissioner in the Board of Public Works, and without disparaging the claims of either, we would respectfully submit the name of RIGHARD E. BYRD, Esq., of Frederick, as a gentleman whose talents and large experience in State Improve-ments, pre-eminently qualifies him for the responsi-bilities of the office. Not knowing Mr. B.'s wishes in researd to the subject, but believing that he would not regard to the subject, but believing that he would not refuse to serve, should he be the choice of the Convenn, we earnestly commend him to the attention of the Democracy of the Third Section, with the hope that he may be the nominee. MARRIAGE, HAPPINESS AND COM-PETENCE.

PETENCE. WHY IS IT? That we behold many females, scarce spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy screnity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant. Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected. IN AFTER YEARS, When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years ! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed.
IT IS MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still—not incurred IF EVERY WIFE AND MOTHER Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself YEARS OF MISERY, proach of winter, when they are turned off to starve. As an evidence of this fact, and of the good dispositions and honesty of these Indians, Lieut, Beale gives the following facts:

Copy of a letter from J. H. Jenkings to Superintendent Beale, dated San Francisco, January 13, 1853. "I have the honor of informing you that, in obedience to your letter of instructions of date Decem-ber 8, 1852, I went over to the San Pablo rancho, in Contra Costa county, to investigate the matter of alleged cruel treatment of Indians there. I found seventy-eight on this rancho, and twelve back of Martinez, and they were there most of them sick, all without clothes, or any food but the fruit of the buck-eye, Up to the fine of my coming eighteen had died of starvation at one camp; how many from the other I, could not learn. These Indians were brought from some place near Clear Lake by Californians, named lamon Brioues, Ramon Mesa, Jose M. Quiera, Jose Francisco, and Juan Bervesse, who have for some time made it a business of catching, and in various ways disposing of them, and I have been informed that many Indians have been murdered in these expeditions. These present Indians are the survivors of band who were worked all last summer and fall, as the winter sat in, when broken down by hunger and labor, without food oreloties, they were turned adrift to shift for themselves as best they could. Your time-Iv interference in behalf of these unfortunate people has saved the lives of most of them, for Indians could not have lived through such weather as we have had without any food, clothing or shelter.

"I distributed all the well among families around who are to feed, clothe, and to protect them till fur-ther orders. I have made provision for the sick to be fed. I am happy to inform you, to show the good character of these Indians, that when starving, and no complaint of their sterling. These people could easily be made to support themselves, and their con-dition changed for the better. The grand jury of the country has found bills against these men, and I presume their trial will come on next term."

SINGULAR COLVENCE-It is a little singular that of five of the presidential candidates-one, Webster, is dead; another, and the successful candidate, lost his little boy, soon after his election, by a most distressing accident, and his own and wife's lives were saved almost mitaculously; while the third, fourth, and fifth, viz: Fillmore, Cass and Donglas, have each had to mourn the loss of their wives since the canvass. Surely death strikes in high places.

HOLD Your Nost -The New York Tribune savs : " The Southern Slaveholder has made the very name of America an offence in the nostrils of the world." The Charleston Standard replies: "Then let the world hold its nose or amalgamate. More practice with less theory, and its nostrils would soon lose their excessive delicacy."

A FEMALE VOTER .- A woman has been sent to jail r voting in one of the wards of that city, at the late e'ection, by dressing in male attire, and passing hersecond time, when her vote was challenged, a row ensued, and her hat hat being knocked off, her sex was discovered, and she was arrested.

MARYLAND APPONYMENTS.—Jeremiah Kuhn, Post-master Sharpsburgh, Washington ounty, yice Henry I. Keedy, resigned. Henry Snyder, Postmaster, Hancock, in the same county, vice Henry Wells.

A STRANGE SIGHT .- The plate in the Cabin of the steamer "Victoria," wrecked near Howth on the coast of Ireland, has been recovered by a diver, but the man rotests that nothing in the world would induce him go down a second time, as the scene in the cabin was the most horrible he ever witnessed. He thought he had entered a wax work exhibition, the corpses never having moved from ther position since the vessel went down. There were some eighteen or twensy persons in the cabin, one and all of whom seemed to be holding conversation with each other; the gene-

..... The following morceau of scandal is taken from a letter from Paris:

The accouchment of the Empress is expected on or about the 1st of October; for the domestics of the Tuilleries have already spread the inferesting intelli-rence of her majesty's pregnancy among her loving bets. I regret to say that bets are positively of f red and excepted as to the time of the Empress' con-tinement, as there is a strong 'opinion among many that the ways a mother before interact of the the that she was a mother before she was a wife, and that the heir will be born a fortnight or so before he ought the heir will be born a fortnight or so before he ought to be. I believe this to be the purest and pettiest of scandal. Mrs. Howard has not yet left Paris. She is said to have given the Emperor till the 1st of May to be faithful to the Empress : after that he will come back to her. He has left her before, but has never season will average $175. Very few, compared with the whole number, are sold for less than a $100.-Such as are below that sum in value have no busi-ness here; their owners should keep them at home. The kind of horses mostly required for this market are strong, substantial animals, suitable for double or single harness. There is a large demand for a class of horses suitable for public carriages and light wagons; these must be docile, and capable of making a mile or two at a rapid speed. Great eaters are not appreciated in a where all kinds of food are sold at such high city prices as here.

These three classes are the borses which range from one to three hundred dollars each. To bring the latter sum they must be very superior. Very few, except fancy horses, are sold at prices over two hundred doilars.

It is said that horses are generally 10 per cent higher than last spring, and 30 per cent. higher than three years ago. The market for the past week has been unusually dull for this season .- N. Y. Tribune

MR. Soule on the PURCHASE OF CUBA .- The New York Times regards it as silly to suppose that Soule has been appointed Minister to Spain to facilitate the purchase of Cuba, as Mr.S. is opposed to such a purchase. To prove this, the Times quotes, from Mr. Soule's speech, of January last, as follows:

"Sir, I am against purchasing Cuba. Whoever knows anything of Castilian pride must be aware that Spaniards can never be brought to sell Cuba to us. And it seems to me strange that we should persist in seeking to purchase Cuba when Spain says she is unwilling to sell it-when her own Ministers have declared in the most solemn manner that they would sooner see that beautiful possession sunk into the bottom of the occan than to see it go to any other power. Your tender of purchase, therefore, can ef-fect nothing. No, sir, I have still another objection against purchasing Cuba. There is something there that speaks aloud for those suffering Cubanos who Meal call upon us for asssistance. They are proud and would not consent to this purchase. I am unwilling to move their susceptibilities; and thus, as far as a wish of mine can have any bearing upon any policy which might now or hereafter be pursued, the idea of pur-chasing Cuba has become an obsolete one and must be abandoned."

JENNY LIND GOLDSCHMIDT .-- In a letter written by Jenny Lind, from Dresden, 10th of February, to Mr. Zachrisson, the Swedish consul in New York, (a letat Cincinnati, for 20 days, on bread and water, for, ter of business, and having no direct bearing upon domestic affairs) there occurs the following passage, which puts to rest the story that she and her husband, Otto Goldschmidt, did not live together peaceably :--

"We are, God be thanked, quite well. Otto is very good and kind. He labors always, is at home always, is kind always, is the same faithful friend always, thinks only of my welfare and my happiness, and maintains a calm, still courage in all circumstances."

DREADFUL DEATH .--- Two young men of the village of Brandes, in France, lately perished in a very singular manner. They went out to shoot wild ducks, and in order to arrive at the ral appearance of the whole scene wasso life-like that be was almost inclined to believe some yet living. marshy ground which the birds frequented, they determined to proceed down the canal in a boat, and then crossing over to the other side to walk the rest of the way. The waters being unusually high in consequence of the rains, the young men found that they could scarcely pass under the arch in their boat. They thought, it is supposed, that by lying down in the boat they could pass. It so happened that the wa-ter was higher than they thought, and was rising every moment, so that when the boat had

tled, and the possession of which would secure happiness of himself, wife, and children. SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands. In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is

In view of such consequences, no whe or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that know-ledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and pros-perity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a lit-ile work entitled tle work entitled

The Married Woman's PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION. BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

Professor of Diseases of Woman. One Hundredth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 cts.

ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1.00.] First published in 1847, and it is not surprising or 10 nderful, considering that every Female, whether married or not, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly half a million copies should have been sold. It is impracticable to convey fully the various sub-jects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intend-ded for the married, or those contemplating mar-riages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement. (T Upwards of one hundred thousand copies have been sent by mail within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

YOUTH AND AGE.

The following beautiful lines originally appeared in the Etonian, a periodical started about twenty years ago, by the boys of Eton College. For truth, ess and melody, they are incomparable

I often think each tottering form That limps along in life's decline, Once bore a heart as young as warm, And full of idle thoughts as mine! And each has had its dream of joys, Its own uncounled pure romance, Its own unequalled pure romance First thrills at lovely woman's glance.

And each could tell his tale of youth, Would think its scenes of love evince More passion, more unearthly truth, Than any tale before or since. Yes, they could tell of tender lays, At midnight penned in classic shades, Of days more bright that modern days— And maids more fair than modern maids.

Of whispers in a willing ear, Of kisses on a blushing check; Each kiss, each whisper, far too dear, For modern lips to give or speak, Of passions too untimely crossed; Or passions slighted or betrayed— Of kindred spirits early lost, And buds that blossom but to fade.

Of beaming eyes and tresses gay, Elastic form and noble brow, And forms that have all passed away, And left them what we see them now And is it thus—is human love So very light and frail a thing? And must youth's brightest visions r Forever on Time's restless wing?

Must all the eves that still are bright, And all the lips that talk of bliss, And all the forms so fair to sight, Hereafter only come to this? Then what are earth's best visions worth, If we at length must lose them thus? If all we value most on earth Ere long must fade away from us?

THE SONG OF LABOR.

Drive the plough, the shuttle throw, Wield the woodman's axe, Delve and dig the earth below— Exertion ne'er relax. The tree was made for man to fell, The mine for him to sink, His task to clear the wooded dell, And dam the river's brink.

Brothers, come! let's reap the corn, And stack it high and dry; We'll gather ripe and luscious fruit, Beneath the autumn sky; From every field, and every dale Let sounds of labor rise; 'Twill make us manly, noble, hale, And all life's blessings prize.

Let drones, who dream away the hour Of dull, insipid ease, Do as they will—our labor pow'r Shall alway rise Oer these, Then quick ! beat out the molten bar, And make the anvil ring— We're happier than the drone by far, And labor as we sing.

BERRYVILLE HOTEL.

BERRYVILLE HOTEL. THE subscriber having leased the above well known Hotel, in Berryville, Clarke county, begs leave to inform the travelling public, that he is now ready to receive guests. He is also prepared to accommo-date Boarders, either by the day, week, month, or year. HIS TABLE will always be furnished with all the varieties which the season and market will afford; his Bar with the choicest Liquors, and his Stable with the best hay, grain, and ostler. As he intends to make this his permanent residence, he will spare no pains in endeavoring to render those who give him their custom, both comfortably and happy. He flatters himself, from his long acquaint-ance with business, and the manners of the world, that he can please the most fastificus. His charges will be as moderate, as the expenses of any good pub-lic house in this section of country will pustify.— He, therefore, invites all to extend to him a share of their custom. WM.N. THOMPSON. Berryville, April 5, 1853.

BARNUM'S HOTEL.

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE. ESTABLISHED 18 years ago, by Dr. Kinkelin, N. W. corner Third and Union streets, between Spruce and Pinests., Philadelphia. Eighteen years of extensive and uninterrupted practice spent in this city have rendered Dr. K. the most expert and successful practitioner, far and near, in the treatment of all dis-cases of a private nature. Persons afflicted with ulcers upon the body, throat or legs, pains in the head or bones, mercural rheumatism, strictures, gravel, diseases ari-sing from youthful excesses or impurities of the blood whereby the constitution has become enfeebled, are all treated with success. He who places himself under the care of Dr. Kinkelin may religiously confide in bis honor as a gentleman.

BEGGARS OUTWITTED .- Many years ago'an ingenious plan was adopted by the Grand Duke to rid Florence of beggars. It was proclaimed that every beggar who would appear in the grand plaza at a certain mentioned time, would be provided by the Duke with a new suit of clothes free of cost. At the appointed time, the beggars of the city all assembled, and the Grand Duke, causing all the avenues to the square to be closed, compelled the beggars to strip off all their old clothes, and gave each one, according to promise, a new suit. In the old clothes thus collected, enough money was concealed to build a beautiful bridge over the Arno, still called "the beggar's bridge," and the city, for the time being, was relieved of the beggars by which it had been previously overrun, as none would give to the well dressed individuals who implored charity, not believing their tale of distress.

DAVID CROCKETT .- An anecdote is related of this remarkable man which does him infinitely more honor than any office he ever held. Before he was a candidate for office, or expected to be, there was a season of scarcity in the end of the State, where he lived. He went upthe Mississippi, and bought a flat boat load of corn, and took it to what he called "his old which will add to the comfort and convenience of your stamping ground." | When a man came to him, to buy corn, the first question he asked was, "have you got any money to pay for it?" If "have you got any money to pay for it?" If the answer was in the affirmative, Davy's reply was, "Then you can't have a kernel. I brought. it here to sell to the people that have no money." It was the foundation of his popuit here to sell to the people that have no money." It was the foundation of his popularity.

"IT WILL NEVER DO."-That is what the croakers say about Ericsson's Caloric Engine. That is what the inquisition said, when Galileo affirmed that the earth went round the sun.—

"It will never do," said Lord Jeffrey, when Wordsworth wrote the "Excursion;" but it did do for all that. "It will never do," said Dr. the North Bolivar Company on the same day, at 2 Lardner, when it was proposed to cross the Atlantic in a steamship-but it did do, and will continue to do, till something better drives it out of fashion. "How I hate that expression," said Hayden (the artist) in his famous lectures. "It will never do," has always been the favorite watch-cry of those in all ages and countries, who look on all schemes for the advancement of mankind as indirect reflections on the narrowness of their own comprehension." Of this or that new mechanical principal or scientific project, it may be, "it does not do yet;" but who dare say, "It will never do ?"

inspiration. It surely were a work of supererogation to introduce the proofs that crowd the records of the past to show how far above all others stands the "divine art" of poe-sy. What are all the paintings, statues, and regalia of Versailles, of Fontainbleau, & the Tuileries, compared with the "Marscilles Hymn?" What the kingly pano-ply of gold and gens heaped up in the Tower of Lon-don; what the collections of the Royal Academy, or even the time hallowed shrines of Westminster Abbey, when compared with the songs of Burns, and Dibden, and Campbell? Or what has the world that we would take in exchange for "Hail Columbia" and the "Star-Spangled Banner?" Well might the British states-man exclaim, "Let me but write the ballads of a na-tion, and I care not who makes its laws." a lady after 35 years of suffering: NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, April 3, 1952. Messrs. Tyler & Adair: I have been afflicted with rheumatism at times from my twelfth year. I will be fitty years of age the 18th of this month; the attacks were so severe at times as to render me helpless. I have tried various remedies to very little effect. Last October I was attacked in my shoulders, sides, back and hips; I could not rest day, or night; I could not move any part of my body without crying with pain. At this time I also tried many remedies, internal and external, without relief. I was at last advised to try HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. Before 1 had taken one bottle of which, I felt much better, and as I continued taking it I felt strength coming into my back and limbs, and my stoniach strengthened and revived every way. I have taken five bottles, and am much better than I ever expected to be. I intend to use it whenever I need, and would recommend it to the afflicted, believing it unequalled. Yours, ELIZABETH BAGWELL. Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray : Mrs. Elizabeth Bag-well is a lady of the highest respectability, wealthy and influential. The cure in her case speaks volumes in favor of this wonderful Tincture. Several other persons we have heard of, have derived great benefit from its use in our courty. Ac. Messrs. Mortimer and Mowbray-Gentlemen: It is with pleasure I can testify to the great healing powers of HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. My wife had been afflicted for three years, laboring under a constant hacking cough, with a most violent pain in her right side, neuralgia in the head, and a dimness of sight; very little rest day or night, and much emacia-tion, and to all appearances a rapid consumption inevi-table. We had the most eminent physician in Annapo-lis, but his medicine did not give her any relief at all, but growing worse if any change in the heast; and af-ter having read one of your pamphlets, in July last, she concluded to try Hampton's Vegetable Tineture, and after taking but two bottles of which (under a kind Providence) we perceived a great change for the bet-ter; her appetite improved, her skin became quite clear, coughs, puins, neuralgia, &c., entirely left her, and by the time she had taken a few bottles more she was completely cured, and is now in the enjoyment of most completely cured, and is now in the enjoyment of mos I have seen also its beneficial effects on several other ladies of Annapolis, and I think I can say from what I have seen of the Medicine, I do not believe its curative powers can be equalled. Baltimore, May 1st, 1992. Wonderful cure of hereditary scrofula by Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. This certificate is from the pen a gentleman whole name appears on the journal of Congress, one who is extensively and favorably known: "It affords me pleasure to state that Dr. Jesse Hamp-ton's Tincture has effected a most extraordinary cure of my slave boy, Albert. The patient was three years old, and had the scrofula-- (his lather was scrofulous.) The boy was a moving mass of sores from head to foot; the upper lids of his eyes were much swollen, and turned inside out, exhibiting horrible mattering ulcers that protruded over the eye halls so as to produce blindness. It is strange yet true, this child, that I felt resigned to see die as a relief from suffering, has been restored to health under the treatment of Dr. Hamp-ton. W. P. THOMASSON. Morisville, March 20, 1851." This wonderful Tincture is unequalled for cure of Diarrhoza, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, &c, and for all seases of females it stands unequalled.
