Dr. Johnston,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Take Particular Notice.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfiting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and meiancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dispensia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

THE BELLES OF GLENLY WATERS.

BY C. CHAUNCEY BURR.

I'm thinking of the vesper belles,
That sounded in the village dells,
The belles of Glenly-Waters;
Those merry charming belles that rung
Along the fields when I was young,

With such incessant witching tongue,

The belles of Glenly-Waters.

I never more shall hear those peals,

The belles of Glenly-Waters,

O, sad and lonely my heart feels!

As they came out in linsey drest,

With each a rose upon her breast,

The belles of Glenly-Waters.

O, those were the bells I loved to hear!

Their tones so often called me "dear,"

The belles of Glenly-Waters;

When silent, still they looked a smile,

With hearts so glad and free from guile, The belles of Glenly-Waters.

And through the grove their voices flung, The belles of Glenly-Waters;

Then sung a little song the while,

At vesper time they always rung,

Out near the fountain in the glen,

And welcomed us, their little men,

But then the old folk often came

Lest they should turn aside to sin.

The belles of Glenly-Waters.

The belles of Glenly-Waters;

Once kindled by those tongues that came,

PAY AS YOU GO.

The New York Times has the following advice, which, if followed up, would prevent many an aching heart and sorrowful bosom. It reminds us of some of "What, not avail myself of this capital opportunity for a bargain just because the money is not in my pocket! There are a great many snug fortunes made by buying on time. But our mercantile friends who draw most largely on their credit, will agree with us in advising

a young man to 'pay as he goes.' A sixpenny loaf of bread without butter, and no debt on it, has a better relish than your best dinner that is to be paid for to-morrow. The potatoes that are paid for before cating them have no bitter taste, while a coppery flavor mingles with the vanilla of the creams that are bought on credit.

Cash lards handsomely the leanest beef. Credit makes the fattest slices shrink in the pan. If you pay as you go, very likely you will fall astern of your bold speculating neighbor, but you will have your vessel in better trim for a squall. Men do not always get rich very rapidly who adopt the motto, but they very selnot gratifying for the widow to have your debts to settle, and children come by degrees to think sented that cannot be met by his assets. Pay as you go, sleep sound o'night, and drive out the nightmare from your dormitory. You keep things snugger about the house. Your account-book will be a model of simplicity. You will buy what you want, and leave what is unneed-

THE SUSPICIOUS MAN.

This kind of individual is always smelling a continuous line of rats. He sees, hears, nor dreams of anything, in which he does not "smell a rat." The most harmless action of his neighbor, under his suspicious and inquisitorial disposition, is made a matter of serious investigation, because he knows there is something in the wind, for he saw his neighbor, Mr. B., speaking very confidentially to Mrs. S. that very morning in the market. He puts that and that together, as he calls it, and connects this whispering in the morning with something he heard in the barber's shop, some weeks before, and he is satisfied his neighbor B., is either going to fail in business, or abscond without giving his creditors due notice. The most terrible part of such a man's character is, that he places much faith upon the corollaries he draws from his false premises, that he does not hesitate to give wing to the base suspicions of his mind, and frequently is the means of bringing about a disaster which never would have happened but for him.

Many a happy fireside has been rendered desolate-many a prosperous young man brought to ruin-many a virtuous and amiable girl been driven to despair by the fiendish inuendoes of the Suspicious Man. No man, however upright and honest-no woman, however irreproachable-no maiden, however pure, is safe in the neighborhood of the Suspicious Man .-He has all the curiosity of Paul Pry, without his good nature, and the malignity of the devil, without his talent. If ever Lynch law is justifiable in a community, it is exercised on the Suspicious Man .-Rotten to the core of his heart himself, he has no faith in the virtue and honesty of others .-He exists in a state of continual doubt of the motives and actions of others, and in consequence his life is, at the best, but a prolonged misery .- N. Too many people look upon half the vicissitudes of life as excessive bores, and simply because, in their limited knowledge, they can see no essential use in a thing, which, for the moment, may cause them temporary annoyance, they unhesitatingly condemn it. Countless wealth lies hidden in all the creations of God, and every green herb and root contains uncounted riches for the use of | bite of a dog." man. How true it is, that in the perfect circle of creation, nothing could be spared, for there is design in all things. Man, in his weakness, would crush the myriads of insects that people the air, or fatten on decayed substances. He can see no use in the thistle that springs up spontaneously to mock the indolence of the husbandman; he questions the wisdom of Divine Providence when the pestilence claimeth its victims, yet he knows not but it sweepeth away a mightier and unknown curse. It has been beautifully said that the foreknown station of a rush is as fixed as the station of a king; and doubtless the sailing of a cloud hath Providence for its pilot.

Of all the numerous bores with whom society is afflicted, none is more pestilential than the sour man-the fellow who is always dissatisfied, grumbling and discontented. He is not satisfied with being uncomfortable himself, but he seeks to spread a shade of discomfort all around him. If he would be content to confine his mutterings and murmurings to himself, and to maintain a strict seclusion, he might be parloned and pitied; but when he thrusts his grievances upon society, he then becomes, as Dogberry eloquently observes, most infolerable and not to be endured." The sour man is always sour; the milk of human kindness in his breast is curdled—there is no sweetness in the acid principle of his composition; nature has given him a quantum sufcit of lemon-juice, but has forgotten the sacharine ingredient. He is sour from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same; in unshine and in moonlight, twilight and gasight. When he wakes in the morning, he grumbles because it is time to get up; his coffee is always too hot or too cold; his toast and steak either overdone or underdone; he finds nothing satisfactory in the morning papers; he is always in the opposition, let whatever party be in government. When he goes out he invariably grumbles at the weather-if it is a little cool, he calls it arctic weather; if it is mild, he compares it to the tropics; if it drizzles, he declares it rains pitchforks, and a gentle breeze is a hurricane. Those who assume a mournful and sad air, though they differ somewhat from the sour man, are much after the same school, save that the weeping philosopher is generally mourning for himself. He will never set out upon a journev without first fortifying himself, by bringing to mind all the horrible steamboat accidents, and stage-coach tragedics, and dismal robberies, and murders of travellers that have occurred within the last half century. He will thus be prepared to "sup full of horrors on the

When the engine whistles on approaching a crossing, he will immediately feel certain of a coming collision, and will screw his body into all manner of impossible shapes to meet it: while the ordinary signal of the engineer's bell on board the boat, will instantly suggest the explosion of the boiler, and the destruction of all the passengers. The porter who takes his carpet-bag will bear the aspect of a highway robber; and the pretty waiting-maid at the hotel, as she hands him his sugar for the coffee, will be taken for a Lucrezia Borgia in disguise, serving him with allopathic doses of arsenic or corrosive sublimate! The laughing philosopher is the very antipo des of both of the specimens referred to. He enjoys everything as he goes along; he makes fun of every little mistake he encounters on life's pilgrimage; and a tumble in a stage-coach, or books. Your wardrobe will be a collection of a slip from a rail, are regarded as a matter of course. His flow of spirits never slackens till the tide of life has ceased to ebb; hence he al ways appears ten years younger than he actually is. His hair never turns grey, or, at least, seems never to do so; his step never loses its elasticity; he trips through life as gaily and unconcernedly as he walks through a quadrille, and succeeds not only in making himself, but every one around him, happy; and as the pursuit of happiness is the main object of life, his philosophy, beyond a doubt, is the only true one. "They pass best over the world," said Queen Elizabeth, "who trip over it quickly; for it is but a bog-if we stop, we sink!"

[Gleason's Pictorial. BUSHING TOMATOES .- Those who love good tomatoes, will take pains to cultivate them as near as may be in their full perfection. There is no other fruit that delights more in air and sunshine than the tomato. They should have, therefore, abundance of room, and the vines be sustained from falling to the earth. Stout brush firmly set around the plants, answers the purpose better than any other method. The branches have room to extend themselves as Assets-Shining fields, waving with a golden | they like, while the limbs of the brush keep them in their positions. By this method the fruit is more fully exposed to the genial influences of the air and sunshine; whereby it attains a more delicious flavor, larger size, and comes quicker to maturity.

HYDROPHOBIA.

The Cincinnati Gazette refers to the fact that the number of reported cases of hydrophobia has been unusually large the present season, and comments on the subject as follows: "Now that public attention has been called to the subject of hydrophobia, it may interest some to know that an ingenious theory is held by some medical men, which rejects the idea that the madness of the biter has any effect on the madness of the bitten, and affirm that hydrophobia is as likely to result from the bite of a dog in perfect health, as from one that is mad. Their chief reasons are, that the effect of all other poisons are certain and determinate-no other poison can be received into ed. It was his greatest pride and pleasure to talk by the hour of "Massa Washingthe system with impunity—yet hundreds of persons have been bitten by dogs unquestionably mad, and no evil effects have followed.

Instances have been known where a score of persons have been bitten severely by the same dog, and only one has been effected by hydrophobia. So also many persons have died from hydrophobia where the animals by whom they were bitten were never known or even suspected to be mad. Other poisons have a specific time within which their operation begins and ends. In hydrophobia there is no such definite period—in some cases the effect shows itself immediately-in others not until the lapse of months and even years. "Ten animals—the dog, wolf, fox and cat: the horse, ass, mule, cow, sheep and pig; are all which are said to be susceptible of this disease, while the first four only are said to be able to communicate it. These four have teeth of a similar form; capable of making a deeply punctured wound. "From these facts the conclusion has been drawn that hydrophobia is a species of tetanus, resulting from the nature of the wound, and not from any poison injected into it. Tetanus, or lock jaw, often results from a wound made by a pointed instrument, like a nail, in the hand or foot, and the same result has followed other injuries to the nerves. The two diseases seem to bear a general resemblance. Both are spasmodic, both effect the muscles of the throat, and both are attended with the same

A TEXAN VISIT.

An entertaining work lately published, entitled "A Stray Yankee in Texas," says that when a gentleman pays a visit in Texas, no matter what press of business there may be, a certain ceremonial is always sacredly observed. The rider pulls up his horse, and shouts out,

Which means, "Good people, I am here, and here I mean to stay until you come out and keep the dogs off;" then, after an interval the proprietor makes his appearance, and very leisurely approaches the fence without speaking a word; he next throws one leg over the fence, then the other follows; and, having attained the top, sets himself very deliberately upon it, and kept by the Government, and open to and awaits the next move from the other party. The latter now brings his horse alongside the fence, and the conversation commences.

"How are ye, judge?" "I'm right peart; how's yerself?" "Oh, I keep a pushin'; how's the old woman and the boys?"

"Considerable sassy, only thar's been a smart chance of ager down in our neck of the woods." "Got a smart chunk of a pony thar?" "Yes, sir, he's some punkins, sure; offered ten cows and calves for him; he's death on a quarter." "Come from down the prairie?" "Yes, sir, and hurried up my critter right smart, I tell vou."

" How's the craps ?" "Well, they ain't nothin' to brag on, though we've got a gush of peaches." The gentleman upon the fence now descends from it with due deliberation, and, approaching the occupant of the horse, shakes hands with him in a most solemn and edifying manner: he then surveys the horse from stem to stern, probably examines his mouth to ascertain his age, and, having performed all these duties with due decorum, he next proceeds to

"Come, Judge, 'light and tie your horse out." Without any further remarks, the Judge did as he was desired; and, having found a stake driven in the ground, he affixed to it one end of the caberos (hair rope) which was attached to his horse's neck, took off saddle and bridle hung them upon the fence, and made for the

The great gravity with which such affairs are invariably conducted amused me very much until I became accustomed to it, and came to look upon it as a matter of course.

BRITISH PHILANTHROPY,

The Montecello (N. Y.) Watchman, referring to the reception of Mrs. Stowe in England, not When Washington died, Mount Vernon only rebukes her in severe terms, but likewise was a beautiful spot. Uncle Tom's Cabin is a Godsend to them. A write, the marble mantle piece and the key traitor to her country—her race; and to repub-licanism—the fabricator of the most formidable until recently they found there a grey-haired weapon that was ever wielded against Demonegro, a faithful and attached servant of cracy-is it strange that Mrs. Beecher Stowe is Washington who kept the key of the enclothe pet of lord and lady-of duke and duchess sure where his old master's tomb was situat-

But while they weep over the imaginary sor-rows of the American negro, or flatter Mrs. Beecher Stowe with their friendship and applause, would it not be well for them to have at least one eye to glance at the legitimate effects of British aggression and misrule? Can they find no objects of sympathy in the hells of London -in the damp, dark mines of Cornwall-in poor Ireland-in emasculated India-among

Where else will you find such multitudes of unfortunate women, who are compelled to starve, or to become common minions of man's lust-to sell their bodies and souls for population has disappeared?

America, where such a thing as starvation among bond or free is never known, certainly presents a pleasing picture when compared with Ireland, where the roofless cabin—the panper. burial place -all things attest the evil policy of its rulers. Here whole families do not starve while the land produces enough for the subsistence of its occupants. Here the atmosphere is never rendered pestilential by the malign odor prising from the remains of the victims of misgovernment.

CHARLESTOWN: TURSDAY MORNING, JULY 5, 1853.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

As we announced in our last issue we anticipate our day of publication, so as to afford those in our office, whose necessities require them to labor day in and day out, in heat or cold, sick or well, an opportunity of at least commemorating the day which gave birth to a nation, no less than liberty of speech and freedom to the press.

The arrangements as to the celebration at Shannondale, promise a rich feast of enjoyment, and a highly interesting and appropriate observance of the day. The last few days has congregated quite a pleasant and agreeable company at the Springs, and by the 4th there will doubtless be a company larger than has heretofore been known thus early

The celebration to be had near town, by the Teachers and Scholars of the Methodist Episcopal Sabbath School, will be a highly interesting and agreeable entertainment. Several addresses appropriate to the day, and illustrative of the great benefits resulting from Sabbath School instruction, will be delivered by those peculiarly fitted to do astice to their theme. This School already numpers 150 scholars as we are informed, instead of 100 as conjectured in our last paper.

A: Shepherdstown, the day is to be suitably observed, and at Smithfield quite an entertainment is to be had in the grove near the town. We should be pleased to be present at all these places, but as we are not possessed of the spirit of ubiquity, we must needs rely upon the kindness of our friends to furnish us some fitting notice of what may

The Rev. Mr. PLUNKETT is to be the Orator of the day in Martinsburg, and WM. L. CLARKE, jr., at Winchester.

APPOINTMENTS.

We are pleased to learn that our District has not been altogether disregarded in the distribution of the Federal patronage, though it has by no means received that consideration which it deserved, or its applicants for office that favor which their peculiar merits entitled them to receive. Messrs. John H Strider of Jefferson, and R. W. Varden of Hampshire have been appointed to Clerkships in the General Post Office, at a salary each of $900 per annum .-Mr. Michael E. Price of Harpers-Ferry, has been appointed Route Agent between Cumberland and Wheeling, and Messrs. James F. Divine and Col. D. C. Lee of Loudoun, have also received, as we learn, appointments in some of the Departments at Washington .-On the 1st instant the terms of all the old Clerks expired and only those re-appointed, or the new ones selected, are now on duty. The Clerical force of the different bureaus has been reduced from 1000 to 750, which makes it extremely doubtful whether Mr. Hunter's bill, as it is designated, will provide force enough for the daily increasing duties which are to be performed, even under the ten-hour system and the most rigid regime which can be introduced by the Heads

THE HARVEST.

The intensity of the heat, and the extreme dry weather under which we are still suffering, has very much prolonged the Harvest. From all parts of the county, have we learned as to the interruptions occasioned by the giving out of hands, and the little progress made on account of the severity of the heat .-Some few farmers, however, have already finished, and others are making every possible effort to complete their labors by the 4th.

A valuable servant of Mr. SAMUEL W. LACKLAND'S, his county, was taken sick in the harvest field on Lesday, with violent cramps, and died on Wednesday. He had no doubt indulged too freely in cold water whilst overheated. This, so far, as we know, is the only death which has occurred, though serious apprehensions were felt for the condition of others.

NATIONAL DEMOCRAT.

Among the leading Democratic journals of the country, there is none more deserving public support for the enterprise and ability which is displayed, the sound, conservative principles which are inculcated, than the " National Democrat." ### CLOSE OF VOLUME.

Had there occurred no interregnum in our issue by the unfortunate disaster which destroyed our of fice by fire on the morning of the 4th of March last, the present number of our paper would have completed its ninth volume. Having, however, lost a month by this occurrence, as well as our books of subscription, &c., we have deemed it best under all the circumstances to date the present volume from the first of January last, so as to make it end with

We have many reasons to congratulate ourself, no less than the friends of our paper, that though tem-porarily destroyed, it has again come forth and we hope and believe in no. ways impaired, so far as its patrons are concerned, by the misfortunes which befel it. Our journal is now not only the largest, but in point of typography will compare, with any country journal of the State. To effect even thus much, there are but few, we know, who will give us credit for half the effort, labor and anxiety which we have been forced to call into requisition. By the destrucof dollars which were due us, as honestly and as hard-Iv earned as ever one dollar was earned by another. Many, we take pleasure in saying, have come up like men, and paid us every dollar due, whilst from hundreds, yea the great bulk of our former patrons, we have heard nothing and time alone can show if we ever will. To our old patrons have we alone looked as the basis upon which to re-establish our new enterprise. The gratuities of our friends we have never asked and there are some who could not give us if they would. We are not even as yet, reduced to that servility, which would induce us to sell our birth-right for a mess of pottage. Editors, like other men. (though some choose to regard them but as-gally slaves) labor for the support of themselves and their families. A dollar due for a newspaper, is just as much a matter of debt, as though it were due to the merchant, the doctor or the mechanic, and upon every principle of justice should be as promptly paid. If you are conscious of receiving no consideration from the paper you receive, stop it, but don't we beseech you, when the Printer calls for his money, refuse to pay him, or if you do, have the presumption to suppose that he is a slave and you are his master,that he has sold his personal, social and political rights at the rate of two dollars per annum. We can better brook any thing under God's heaven than this and we can feel nothing else but the most ineffable contempt for any or all, who may thus endeavor to drive us to fall down and worship the golden calf .-

We "had rather be a dog and bay the moon." It is not, however, to such pairons as those, that the " Spirit of Jefferson" looks now, or has ever looked for its support. If it had, it would not require the ken of a prophet to discern, that whilst the promise was kept to the ear, it would have been broken to the heart. Since the day of its establishment until the present moment, the object and aim of its editor has been, so far as his feeble efforts and untiring exertions could effect that purpose, to render the paper acceptable to its patrons, of service to the party whose principles it advocated, and to one and all intrinsically worth, the 4 cents per week which has been asked in return. That there could be found men enough with hearts larger than a grain of mustard seed, Democrats enough, who had no selfish purposes to accomplish, no malevolence or personal our pathway, we have never doubted, and have thus far never been disappointed. To the good wishes and the kind offices of men such as these, have we been enabled to keep our flag still flying, our spirits buoyant and our prospects brightening. And as evidence, that our estimate of our own duties upon the one hand are right, and the principle by which our editorial course has been governed is correct, it may be barely proper for us to say, that scarce three months have passed by since the re-establishment of our paper, and we now number over eleven hundred subscribers. We are sure we can never become insensible to such substantial evidences of the good opinion of our friends, and their kind estimate of our services, as this statement will furnish, yet we are nevertheless not willing to be put in "leading-strings" to promote the selfishness of those to whom we are under no obligations personally or peeuniarily, who have never rendered us a service that they have not been doubly repaid, and whose principle of action is, "every man for himself

CHRISTIAN SHRODES, a German, in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, at Harpers-Ferry, came to his death by drowning on Thursday night last in the Government Canal. As had been his habit for the week or two preceding, he went in bathing, but by some accident got in at a point where the water was above his depth, and in addition to which, he seems to have been seized with cramp, and never more came to the surface. His clothes were found on the bank of the Canal, and on Friday morning his body was recovered, which evidenced cramp of marked severity. He was to have been married, as we

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

The New York Journal of Commerce has compiled from official sources the imports and exports from the United States for the fiscal year ending 30th of June. The total imports amount to $212,945,442, and includes $132,329,306 at New York and at ports within that State, $33,504,789 in Massachusetts, $14,-785,917 in Pennsylvania, $6,719,986 in Maryland, $54,142 in the District of Columbia, $735,858 in Virginia, and $300,488 in North Carolina.

The total exports reaches $209,658,366, of which $6,667,861 were from Maryland, $79,005 from the District of Columbia, $2,924,657 from Virginia, and $5,828,571 from Pennsylvania, and $87,483,456 from New York. In both the imports and exports specie is included.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER AFRICA.

The steamer Africa arrived at New York on Thursday, bringing Liverpool dates to June 18th. Her news is looked upon as important so far as regards the political affairs of Europe. The accounts are extremely conflicting, but it would seem that Russia had determined to occupy the Danubian provinces of Moldarva and Wallachia, which France declares she will regard as a violation of treaty stipulations. The English Government had taken no decided steps so far. The acceptance by Russia of the mediatiof Austria was doubtful.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, June 30. Col. Chas. K. Gardiner, who stinguished himself in the last war, has been appointed Surveyor General of Oregon.

Hon. W. J. Brown, of Indiana, has been appointed Special Mail Agent for Indiana and Illinois. The slaughter among the clerks to-day has been awful. In the Census Burean, 40 received notice to quit as the work is substantially finished, 14 on y being retained to finish up and superintend the printing. In the General Post Office, 17 clerks were removed, and in the Pension office 40 clerks were dropped a d 25 temporary clerks appointed. Various charg's were made in the City Post Office.

OF Upon Mr. Hawthorne's appointment, as Consul to Liverpool, the London Atheneum, remarks as follows:-"It is pleasant to be able to welcome this original and profound writer from the new country to the intellectual fellowships of the old; and yet more is it pleasant to point to this new instance of the American practice of sending abroad the literary men of that country to fill the offices of the republic. The Consulship at Liverpool is one of the very best posts in the gift of the American President; and Gen. Pierce's choice of Mr. Hawthorne, besides being a good thing in itself, is welcome as a practical refutation and rebuke of the more exclusive rulers of our own country." 63- W. N. NEWMAN has taken the place of Mr. Ro-DEFFER in the New Market Democrat. Mr. WALKER

itled "The Footsteps of God," preached on the last lational Anniversary by Rev. J. N. McJillon: "All this and more this day of freedom tells. It tells that the footsteps of mm whose way is in the sea, and whose path is in the great waters, have touched it, and left upon it the marks of their mysterious tread. It is wonderful; it is providential that John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, and James Monroe, three Presidents of the Republic to which it gave existence, that was declared free on the fourth of y, should have been taken from their labors to the ly, should have been taken from their labors to their reward on its anniversary. And the wonder is increased and providence rendered more mysterious, in the fact that two of them—Adams and Jefferson, the principal authors of the Declaration of Independence—were taken on the same day, and that the lifteth, the jubilatic year of the independence, for the securing of which they periled their fortunes and lives, and pledged their sacred borors. Surely these strangely coincident events could not have occurred by ly coincident events could not have occurred by mere accident; they must have been providential.—And as providential coincidents in relation to the anniversary of American freedom, they call upon the patriots of the land to consider them in connexion with their duties to their country, to their countrymen, to their God. If they are footsteps of the Most High they are intended for use. They are for admonition, for reproof of wrong, for encouragement of right, for direction in seeking our own and our country's good in His hallowed service."

STAND BY YOUR COLORS

The Boston Post, in a strong article relating to the dministration and the Democracy, the necessity of rganization, &c., says: organization, &c., says:

"Though now there is a truce in political strife, yet elements of opposition will combine and array themselves against the Administration. Every sign indicates that it will be a progressive Administration. Our expanding commerce will demand that the American flag be recognized as an emblem of power among nations, and this will stir up a timid conservatism. The national principles that have been laid down, will excite to action the whole abolitionism of the country. And the bold independence that characterizes the appointing power will array against it malcontents of all sorts—dismissed office-holders, thwarted speculators, and the selfish and dissatisfied office-seekers. There will be a common banner of change and overthrow. The President will look at the great Democratic party to meet the onset. The change and overthrow. The President will look at the great Democratic party to meet the onset. The friends of the new Administration ought to rally around it in a firm, consolidated phalanx, with faces forward, and not backward, and with a firm determination to uphold the national principles laid down at Baltimore and re-stated so nobly and clearly in the inaugural. These are the landmarks of the Democratic party. They constitute a standard of high-toned and progressive Americanism both as to do-mestic affairs and to a foreign policy. To maintain the President in upholding this, let there be due time, a well-devised, thorough, and efficient organi-zation of the united Democracy."

THE CRYSTAL PALACE. The New York Express furnishes the following information in regard to the present condition of the Palace will be, according to the announcement of the Directors, formally opened on or about the 15th of July. The dome is now almost completed, as also the whole outward structure. The additional wing on the north side will be finished in a short time. In fact the internal decorations and arrangements are the only obstacles that prevent its being opened this week, if such were expedient. The place is also be-ginning to lose that wild appearance which a short time ago it presented in consequence of the piles of lumber and building materials of all descriptions which lay about in every direction.

The greater portion of the iron railing by which it is to be surrounded has been set up and painted, and pardeners and laborers are busily at work laying out the enclosure, marking out the walks, &c. The main entrance on 42d street presented a busy scene for the last week, and a very large amount of articles intended for exhibition were received. Cart load after cart load, and bales and boxes innumerable were constantly arriving. Building operations in the imme diate vicinity are being carried on with redoubled activity. A large number of the speculators in that quarter had no idea that the Exhibition would be got inder way so very soon, and therefore did not think it necessary to carry forward their works with any very extraordinary expedition. It is only within the last two weeks or so that the opening of the Exhibition on the 15th proximo was generally considered a fixed fact." The building itself is now entirely officered, and about one-half of the police designed for its protection are on duty.

FREE NEGROES AT THE NORTH.

The condition of the free negroes of the North, as a mass, intellectually, morally and physically, is infinitely worse than of the slaves at the South. This is a matter susceptible of absolute demonstration. No candid and honest man, traveling over either portion of the Union, for the purpose of making examina tions, but what would say so. Every traveler North sees it and feels it in his preambulations. And the summer is the happy season for the poor, friendless, northern black. During the long winters, they suffer horribly, not unfrequently freezing and starving to death! As an evidence of their moral condition we submit the following facts gathered from the Annual Report of the Prison Discipline Society: "In Massachusetts about one-sixth of the whole number of convicts in the State prison are blacks, and yet the blacks form but one-seventy-fourth part of the population. In Connecticut one-third of the convicts are blacks, and yet the blacks form but one thirty-fourth part of the population. In New York one-fourth part of the convicts are blacks and yet the blacks form but one thirty-fifth part of the tion. In New Jersey the proportion of black convicts is one-third; of population one-thirteenth. In Pennsylvania the proportion of black convicts is onethird; of population one thirty-fourth. About onequarter of all the expenses incurred by these States for the support of persons is for colored convicts." In the South where the two races are about equal in numbers the foregoing statements might be rever-sed, and not more than do justice to the negro. We question if there are one hundred slaves in all the penitentiaries of the South, at this time. Slaves rarey commit offences that come within the purview of a court and jury, and are seldom to be found in our These significant facts are worth more, practically, than a thousand theories and ten thousand homilies.—New Orleans Bulletin.

THE AILANTUS TREE.

This tree would be a general favorite were it not for the disagreeable, and to some persons sickening effluvium proceeding from it whilst in flower. The editor of the New York Commercial states that it is only the male variety of the tree which is open to this ground of complaint. He says:

The greater part of the ailantus trees planted in our streets, appear to be of those which bear only staminate flowers—sometimes called the male plant. The ailantus is a dioccious tree—that is to say, the flowers which contain the fertilizing principle are on different trees, from those which bear the seed vessels. The trees which bear the staminate flowers are easily distinguished by their little green star-like blos such as lay strewn upon the sidewalks in such abundance this morning. It is these only that diffuse the odor which many find so disagreeable and even unwholesome. The plants bearing the pistillate flowers have no perceptible odor, and may be known by their bunches of seed-vessels resembling what are called maple kegs. At this scason, the kegs are small and of a green color, but perfectly formed; in a short time they will be of a reddish hue.

It is only ailantus trees bearing the pistillate flowers, that should be planted in our streets. As the roots of the ailantus throw up suckers with an extraordinary profusion, it is most easily and naturally propagated by transplanting the suckers. Thos which are taken from the roots of a tree bearing pistillate flowers, will in like manner bear pis flowers only, and in this manner the gardeners wil he able to furnish; with the greatest facility, a supply of the kind desired. The allantus is so rapid in its growth, and so perfectly free from insects, that it is one of the very best for planting in large towns, and we should be sorry to see any attempt to extirpate it If however, the ordering of the matter depended upwithout remorse, and their place supplied with those which bear pistillate flowers.

THE CHOLERA AT WILLIAMSPORT, MD .- It seems to be admitted that they have had, and still have, the cholera, or some other similar disease, at Williamsport Md. The Boonsboro' Odd Fellow, of Wednesday

After a strong and foolish effort was made to deny the existance of the cholera in Williamsport, the paper published there and the citizens acknowledged the fact. Since our last there has been numerous new cases and many deaths. on the 25th there were 5 deaths, on the 26th 5, and yesterday 3, up to which time there has been upwards of 160 cases and 55 deaths. Many of the citizens are leaving. We hope that the disease has done its worst and will sub-P. S. We go to press on Wednesday. Salisbury escaped, but was subsequently arrested at Bull Creek, Va.

MARYLAND COPPER ORE.

The Dolly-Hide-Mining Company, whose coppe nes, as we have before stated, are in Frederick co Md., only 37 miles from Baltimore, and 9 miles from Monrovia on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, is about opening books of transfer at the bank of the Repubic in New York. The company, which recently sold their first market supply of ore at auction in New York, it is said, has now another supply of 130 tons ready for market, besides 170 tons inferior surface ore. The ore of this company, according to a report of the company, is found in a vein of limestone, of which three feet are rich enough for mining, and two are good ore. The lode in the twenty feet level yields three tons per fathom of ore, of 18 to 20 per ent. richness. The vein is 800 feet long and 2 wide as ascertained, but extends further to an unknown epth. The report adds:

Large masses of ore have been found near the surface—one weighing 3,800 lbs. and yielding 40 per cent, and others, large, but of smaller dimensions, of the same productiveness. The earth about these masses contains 3 per cent. and upwards of copper, and the whole mass from the vein may be put to pile without paration, yielding 8 to 34 per cent. In one of the drifts a quantity of silver lead has been discovered; yielding, on analysis from 45 to 50 oz. to the ton of ore. The cost of bringing the oreto Baltimore, where there are extensive smelting works. is $4 per ton via railroad to Monrovia. The return ars take Cumberland coal to the mine, which is inluded, as we understand, in the cost of the copper ansportation. The Company own the lands in fe n which the mines are situated. They consist of about 282 acres. In the course of a few months, with he necessary machinery once up, it is calculated that the regular supply per month will be 100 tons. Dr. Diffendock, of Saxony, a celebrated geologist, who has examined the mine, says:

"The richer ores consist of purple copper ore, containing 50 to 60 per cent. copper; copper pyrites, containing 30 to 35 per cent. copper; sulphuret of lead, generally mixed with copper ore, which contains 45 to 50 oz. of silver per ton of ore." Besides these carbonate of lead (which is rare and malachite, or carbonate of copper, are also found.
Dr. Jackson confirms the above, and remarks that the ### purple copper ore closely resembles the celebrated purple ore brought from Valparaiso, S. A., in its appearance and in its association with a limestone guage.-Baltimore Sun. THE LIQUOR LAW IN CONNECTICUT.

The question of enacting a "Maine Law" is he fore the Legislature of Connecticut. A majority of the Committee to which the subject was referred have taken ground against the measure in a report concluding as follows:

"A law similar to that of the State of Maine is inconsistent with all the general principles that protect bersons, property, possession, and domicil; is inconsistent with the progress of liberty and free institutions in our republican nation; is at best of doubtful constitutionality or expediency; is subject to extensive abuse for the gratification of private malice, or the fanatical notions of coercive moral reformers; is not enjoined by any constitutional obligations to make such a statute; and cannot obtain the general acquiescence or support of the community in its en-forcement; that therefore it is calculated to unsettle the rights of property, the observance and respect for wholesome and just laws, and to bring into discredit he constitution, the laws, and the judicial tribunals. ithout offering any practical and certain benefit which are not better secured by laws made in accordance with those settled convictions of fundamental rights which have so long made the citizens of this eminent and venerable Commonwealth a law-respecting and law-abiding people." .

In accordance with these views, the majority

The junior-editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, was an applicant for office. His claims were rejected. He writes an article which breathes the right spirit. The following is his conclusionthe summing up:

Disappointment of office, in numerous cases, is a lessing in disguise. Let us hope that it will prove so to us. We have escaped the cares and vexations of office. We shall escape the insinuations of those who taunt office holder with fighting for the "spoils of office." We shall escape malignant criticisms.— We shall escape that state of solicitude which periodically is painfully exciting. Not only this, but in many cases we will select an employment more pleasant, more congenial, and pecuniarily more profitable. How many office holders will, in a year, or less time, probably, my friends, exchange with you?-They will have discovered their mistake in accepting office-their responsibility greater-their comforts fewer, and their compensation oated, and inadequate to their support. Let us disappoint the Whigs. They hope for success in the approaching election, relying largely upon the lukewarmness and hostility to the Administration of those whose applications for office have been rejected. They have precedent for it in the elections of 1849, after the inauguration of Gen. Taylor, when the Democrats achieved signal victories. Let us open our eyes to the impolicy of this course so confidently expected by the Whigs, who presume that our attachment to the Democratic party is even weakened by ailure to obtain the places we sought. We owe it to our own manly principle, to our par-

y, and to the success of the present Administration career of unrivalled greatness and glory. Forgetting the disappointment that has overtaken us, with good cheer, actuated by high principle and a patriotism unaffected by failure to receive office, let us go forward to fight with more zeal than ever, the battles of Democracy, the coming summer and fall.

TEA AT HOME.

It will surprise many to know that we need no longer rely on China for tea, but drink our home grown English, and so be independent of the foreigner—if such independence is worth caring for. Mr. Alexander Forsyth has addressed a communication to the Horticultural Society, in which he says that having considered that the tea of Paraguay is a spe cies of holly, he tried our common holly, and finds the tea, when washed, equal to ordinary five shilling tea. The prickles serve an important purpose, for they keep the leaves separated during the roasting, and thus serve the purpose of frequent turning. The smell given off is at first unpleasant, but it disapdrinkers, confirmed tippling tea drinkers, say to this?" observes Mr. Forsyth. "The very tea itself becomes cheap at last, and abundant, growing even in the garden hedge. A forest of tea trees in full leaf at our door? Such a harvest has never before been seen. Waste not the holly any more upon whip handles; peel it not for bird lime, as formerly; squander t not, even at Christmas; but reap it, roast it, again and again, for the store will be annually renewed, and the future foliage will furnish finer tex leave than those just gathered." What an opportunity here for the adulterators; they will doubtless take care that the public drink holly tea whether or no." Chambers' Journal.

SWALLOWED A PIN.-The Wilmington Republican states that a Miss Craig, of Delaware city, swallowed a pin some two or three months ago, which lodged in her throat, so as to destroy the power of speech. Physicians could afford her no relief, and it was feared it would result fatally to her. A few days ago, however, she visited Dr. Worrall's drug store, and being fatigued, the clerk tendered her a glass of water; while in the act of drinking she strangled and hrew up the pin. It was straight when she placed it in her mouth, but it came out bent into a half circle at the point, and much corroded.

DAMAGES FOR SLANDER .- A Vermonter, named Roinson, has been mulcted in the sum of $1,065, which, dering a female whom he had engaged to marry, and from whom, upon getting tired of his bargain, he had succeeded in obtaining a written discharge.

CHEAP TRAVELING.—Opposition runs high on some of the down East steamboats. The fare from Boston to Belfast, Maine, is only five cents, supper and breakfast thrown in, and we see it stated that one boat pays its passengers twelve-and-a-half cents each, in consideration of their going with them!

Wook-The Peru (Ill.) Chronicle says: Wool ontinues to come in in con prices range about as they did last week, from 30 to 45 cents. Nearly all large lots through the country have been sold, and at prices in advance of what can be realised now. We know of clips of 500 and 700 fleeces, of from half to full-blood merinoes, that were sold for 50 cents, which, if offered now, would not mmand more than 35 to 40 cents.

CUMBERLAND COAL TRADE.—It is stated that the oal trade over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has reased recently at least one-third, and coasting vessels are now in great demand to carry it off. The company has had a large number of new cars put on the road, whose capacity is much greater than the old ones, and with an equal number of cars at least one-third more coal is brought over the road. A New IDEA.—The newest "dodge" for turning a penny, is that which the Sixth Avenue railroad company in New York, are perpetrating; namely, letting out the pannels of the cars for tradesm in to advertise their goods—some in painted letters, some in gold leaf, according to pay.

PASSENGERS AT WHEELING.-We notice by the Wheeling papers that passengers over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, for the West, are still promptly taken on by the low-water Union line of steamers.—The Atalanta left Wheeling, on Tuesday, for Cincinnati, on the arrival of the cars. She drew-less than

THE OVERLAND EMIGRATION.—Up to the 31st of THE OVERLAND EMIGRATION.—Up to the 31st of May, there had passed Fort Kearny-4,987 men, 1,900 women, 2,630 children, 4,360 horses, 1,637 mules, 81,660 cattle, 2,984 wagons, and 11,000 sheep, en route to California. It is estimated that, up to the end of the season, the number of stock of the different kinds mentioned will amount to more than one hundred and fifty thousand, which does not include any that have passed on the north side of the Platte.

HORRIBLE DRATH.

The Telegraph reports gave an account of the eath of Mr. Winthrop Richardson, at Stonelium, Mass, by being run over by a railroad train, addthat his body way so mangled that no piece ger than his hand was found. We were dislosed to regard this as an exaggeration, but from he following account, which was taken from the Boston Courier, it appears to have been literally

As he approached the track, the Manchester express train hove in sight, and he saw it. He looked at it, as if to measure the distance, and then attempted to run across therails. He made several jumps, and succeeded in leaping upon the platform; but in so doing lost his equilibrium, fell backwards, and was struck by the locomotive. His body was mangled into pound particles. His head was crushed into atoms—the warm brain was found upon was mangied into pound particles. Mrs. Wood was a spectator at the estruction of her father, and two or three other persons were standing near the station house at the

RECAPTURED SLAVES,

A correspondent of the National Intelligencer re-cently inquired for information as to the mode in which the British government disposed of the slaves it recaptured on the coast of Cuba. In reply, another recaptured on the count of correspondent furnishes some interesting particulars which we briefly abridge. When a British cruiser captures a slaver and takes her with her cargo into any captures a slaver and takes her with her cargo into any captures a slaver and takes her with her cargo into any captures a slaver and takes her with her cargo into any captures. Cuban port, a board of commissioners, called comision mixta, or mixed commission, takes cognizance of the whole matter, and after a full investigation reports accordingly. This commission is composed of Eng-lish and Spanish officers. If the vessel be declared a lawful prize, she is retained as such by her captors, lawful prize, she is retained as such by her captors, and her slaves are landed and placed under the charge of the Spanish authorities. These slaves are known as Eminicipados, and are deposited by the authorities at the barricoons, to remain in the bonds of slavery for ten and sometimes fifteen years, for which time they are sold for the sum of eight doubloons, equal to one hundred and eighty-six dollars. For these emancipados there is always a ready sale, for though the stated term of service, the most unscrupu their return to the authorities. By the same means their children are also held in perpetual slavery.—
When, it is considered that the time of their capture and introduction they are mere savages, and speak no other but their native tongue, and that their new nasters are very careful never to inform them of their masters are very careful never to inform them of their condition as emancipados, but keep them in common with other slaves on their plantations, it will not be wondered that they remain forever in bondage, and thus the most solems compact is grossly violated, and African slaves recaptured by British cruisers derive no benefit whatever thereof, and their condition differs not from those who are successfully introduced by Spanish slavers. The number of emancipa-dos in Cuba in 1844 was calculated at from ten to fifteen thousand. Since then the number must have greatly increased, but what it exactly is now is not known.—Balt. American.

THE GERMAN JUBILEE.—The fourth grand Annual and National Jubilee of the Musical Association of the Eastern and Middle States, is still in progress in this city. Yesterday morning at seven o'clock all the singers assembled at head-quarters, the Chinese Museum, and at half-past seven a second rehearsal took place for the Concert in the evening. A processio was then formed, and the various Societies passed down Ninth street to Walnut, up Walnut to Eleventh, up Eleventh to Chesnut, and down Chesnut to the front of the State House. In proceeding through the Hall of Independence, the various Clubs were welcomed in a neat and appropriate address by the Mayor of the city, when they again passed through several streets, and returned to their headquarters. The Concert in the evening was a magnificent affair. The audience was immense, and the music was of the finest description. Several hundred vocal performers participated. The overtures were equal to anything of the kind that we ever listened to, and several of the drinking songs were truly thrilling. To-day the ingers will leave at half-past seven for Lemon Hill, where a grand pic-nic and concert will be given. At half-past twelve they will sit down to dinner, and during the afternoon they will engage in such enjoyment. At half past six they will have military music, after which they will fall into line, and return in procession to their head-quarters. There are upwards of a thousand strangers in the city, connected with these various Societies, or present as spectators, and thus far the utmost satisfaction has been felt and expressed. Most of the Societies have a peculiar ostume, at once simple and becoming, and taken as as a whole, they are a very fine body of men. The Festival, is one of a truly social and musical character and is intended to unite together many old friends and families and it is likely to increase in interest and popularity for many years to come. There is a season for all things, and it is well occasionally for the artist, the artizan, the mechanic and the day-laborer, to throw by the implements of toil and skill, for the purpose of mingling together at the social board, and indulge in kindly, sympathetic, and joyous human emotions.—Phila. Inquirer, 27th.

AN IRON SHIP AT NEW ORLEANS.-An iron ship called the Evangeline, has arrived at New Orleans from Liverpool. Her entire hull, with the exception of the deck-planking and some ceilings, says the Picayune, is of iron. The ship timbers, as well as the sheathing, are entirely of iron. The knee-timbers are all of iron, but not thicker than one's thumb, and so narrow and graceful as to look more like ornaments than the solid substance they are to so imnense a fabric. The lower deck has, in consequence a vast increase of light and space, which it is difficult to appreciate without seeing it. The main and oremasts also are of iron up to the cross trees; the opmasts, &c., being wood. These masts are hollow, They are used as ventilators for keeping the air fresh and pure. The water tanks of the ship are also of iron, and are situated in the keelson. They are capable of holding three thousand gallons, and are divided into three air-tight compartments, each of which is communicated with by a seperate pump.— The whole arrangment is unique, and the economy of space for burden is very great. The ship measures 1,000 tons, and costs $100,000.

MARRIAGE IN JAIL .- Joshua Anderson, in prison at Washington, on the charge of killing a slave of Mr. Sprigg, at Williamsport, and now awaiting the reuisition of the governor of Maryland, the Re-ublic says, was, on Tuesday, married in jail, by the Rev. John Scrivener, a local elder of the Me Church. The bride was desirous of having a bridesmaid, and the groom a groomsman, but, being assured that such arrangements were not actually required in such delicate matters, the knot was tied in the presence of two of the jail police.

WHERE IS THE WEST?-On Friday last, at 41, P. M., Samuel Lawrence, Esq., was in Boston, having left Lasalle, Illinois, at 3 o'clock, Wednesday, P. M. preceding. He came by way of Chicago, looked in upon Cleveland, called at Buffalo, was sped over the plain by the "lightning express" train to Albany, and whisked over the Western and Worcester Railroads to Boston. Once, and within the memory of the middle-aged man of this day, Buffalo was considered quite "out west." Chicago, but yesterday, was a "fa off land." Now, a merchant shakes hands and bids good-bye to his customers 180 miles west of that, and in two days and one hour and a half greets his friends in Boston! It is in fact only eleven hundred and fifty miles .- Boston Journal.

CHANCES FOR FORTUNES.

The Lake Superior Journal holds out strong in

in the bargain on his farm.

Every kind of product will command the highest prices, with a ready cash market. For example: oats will be worth for many years to come from six to eight shillings; potatoes from six to twelve shilling—they are now ten; hay from twenty to thirty dollars per ton, and garden vegetables, of all kinds, at corresponding rates. All of these articles of produce can be raised with the greatest perfection and quantity in this region; and we have become satisfied by long experience in the country that more money can be made by farmers at these prices than in any other portion of the United States. Add to this the perfect healthfulness of the country, and surely no greater inducements for farmers to go to a new country could be offered.

Mechanics of all kinds have equally as favorable chances before them of making money. New mines, mills, and buildings of all kinds, are being commenced in all parts of the country, all requiring med cal skill and labor, and affording good comp tion. Business of all kinds, says the Journal, is fully increasing on this Lake, and now is a favo time to come to the country; and we confidently believe that the population of the entire Lake Su perior country might be doubled this season with out any falling off of prices or in the demand for

A CHANGE IN PRODUCT. A writer in the Alexandria Gazette states that the people of the "Piedmont Region" of Virginia are "re-solved to convert that beautiful region of the State, solved to convert that beautiful region of the State, from a wheat growing to a wool growing community, for there is no portion of our glorious and prosperous Republic better adapted to wool growing than the Piedmont region of Virginia, embracing, in part, the counties of Culpeper, Rappabannock and Fauquier, being well adapted to the growth of the various kinds of grass, such as Timothy, Clover and Bluegrass. OPPRESSION. We hear much from time to time, about the half paid labor of seamstresses, particularly in New York city. That the oppression heaped upon this class of persons are burdensome and cruel in the exfreme, facts of every day occurrence fully illustrate. For instance, the Tribune, speaking of the "shirt makers" a day or two since, states the following among many similar facts: cents apiece, and some even as low as four; but tinue to be one of the most attractive and agreeable we will take the former price as being the more usual. For this sum the shirt has to be completed so as to be ready for wear and delivery, and a very expert needle-woman can make three between her hours of rest which are rarely sufficiently pro-longed to recruit her overtasked strength. Six days labor would thus produce ninety cents, but only if uninterrupted from other duties; but this sum, small as it is, is never attained at these prices, as the delay of seeking and returning the goods and probably several journeys for settler claim, will make a great inroad into her hours of labor, reducing her earnings one-half, or to about fifty cents per week! Another firm, reputed wealthy, and whose opu-lence has been mainly gained by this murderous trade, has probably attained the acme of perfection in the art of getting the greatest advantage at the least outlay; as in addition to paying mise-rable wages and requiring a deposit, it is stipulated that one-half of the amount earned by the seamstresses in their employ shall be taken out in other goods at this self-sacrificing house!

FLOUR TRADE IN CALIFORNIA.

The thirteen mills, called "mills of the interior, have not entered into the contract, and being comparatively without capital cannot compete in the purchase of wheat with the Association. There being then no competition, the mills of the coast will regulate the price of wheat at their pleasure, establishing a monopoly in their own favor. The Association will establish store houses in all the districts, offering better prices than the other mills can afford to give,

Notes will be given at these store houses of the interior exchangeable at other store houses on the coast, saving to the farmer almost the entire expense of transportation to the coast. Having thus broken down all opposing interests the Association will evidently possess the control of the market, and be able to elevate or depress the price of grain at pleasure. Fears are expressed among the millers and laborers that such an Association will prove ruinous to the country. On the other hand the millers of the coast declare their purpose to form a permanent market for the flour of Chili, breaking down all competition in the markets of Cali-fornia and New Holland. They will establish a fixed price for grain, also for flour, so that neither the United States nor any other part of the world can compete with them. The poor laborer, who now sells his grain to the merchant at 12 reals, will then sell to the storehouses at 20a22 reals the fano The sales will then be from the farmer to the n and the two will share the profit, there being no speculator between them. They say further that the Association will transport guano to the farmers and sell to them at cost prices. But what guarantee does the Association offer to the producers of grain, that their promises will be carried out, that it will not hereafter use its power to depreciate the price of wheat for its own benefit? Apparently none?— Whatever may be the character of this new combination, it is of great interest to the province, promising to accomplish for it either ruin or riches.

[N. Y. Courier and Enquirer. LOVE AND ROMANCE.

We published a few days ago, (says the New Orleans Crescent,) a short sketch with the above title. It gave the details of a romantic elop and marriage, the parties being a lady and gen-tleman from Texas.

A day or two after the happy pair had tied the knot hymenial, the brother of the young lady arrived in this city from Texas, and for the first time heard of the event. He immediately went to the St. Charles Hotel, where the young lady was stopping in company with Mrs. H— and her daughter, both from the same State, in whose charge the bride had been placed on her departure from home. Meeting Mrs. H—in the parlor of the Hotel, he upbraided her with having lent her countenance to the secret marriage of hissislent her countenance to the secret marriage of his sister, applying to her some very harsh epithets not set down in the code of etiquette. This aroused the ire of Miss H—, a young and blooming virgin of seventeen summers, who immediately approached the irraty brother, and shaking against his face her white and tine fist, "wished she was a man or even had a weapon, that she might kill him for his impertinence." Nothing daunted by her threaten irritated brother of the bride drew from his boson a Bowie Knife, and handing it to the juvenile Xantippe said, "Take this, Miss, and let me see if you are a lady of your word." With all the fire of a der young lady grasped the shining blade, and drawing it back with a movement as if to plunge it into his breast, was about to deal the fatal blow, when she was prevented by a gentleman visitor who grasped

The total number of deaths in New York during the past week was 561, or 232 more than that of the previous week. The great increase of mortali-ty was doubtless produced by the intense heat of the weather. The deaths among children under one year was enormons, numbering no less than 250. The number of deaths by sun stroke were 200. The number of deaths by sun stroke were 20; but this is a small proportion to those who died of other diseases caused by the extreme heat; 49 died from cholera infantum, 13 from debility, 28 from diarrhesa, 15 from dysentery, 51 from convulsions, 59 from consumption, 34 from congestion of the brain, 20 from marasmus, and 21 from inflam-

The fire originated on Mouday, May 10, about 10 o'clock, A. M., and was caused by fire which were kindled, in different places, for the pure dreds of families, embracing persons of all ages and sexes, literally pursued by the flames, had to flee in all directions, with nothing saved excepting the clothes in actual use, which, in many instances, were scortched and partly consumed on the backs of the fugitives. The devastation extends about seventy miles in length by forty miles in breadth, over a flourishing country, nearly one-half of which has been completely laid waste. We have as yet heard of only one fatal casualty—an aged man, named Thrasher, who perished in a vain attempt to save some of his property. The scene of the calamity being in the vicinity and on both sides of the Ottowa, many individuals took refuge in the river to protect themselves from the immense heat. ### MASONIC CELEBRATION.

Friday last (says the Staunton Vindicator) was the day set apart for the dedication of the new Masonic Hall and the laying of the corner stone of the Latheran Church about to be erected in our town. A large number of persons was drawn together to witness the imposing cermornies, many of them from a distance. It was a galaday and mirth and hilarity abounded. We regret our nability, being pressed for time, to give a more perfect sketch of the interesting ceremonies. It was a proud day for that time-honored Fraternity, the Masons.

The M. W. Grand Lodge of Va. was opened in ample form at the old Masonic Hall by the Grand Master, M. W. EDMUND P HUNTER, assisted by D. G. Master Leitch. The procession numbering about 200 was then formed by the Marshall, R. H. Kinney, Esq., and proceeded to the new Masonic Hall, where the solema ceremonies of the Masonic dedication were performed by the Grand Master. The odes were sung by a choir under the leadership of Messrs. Engelineant and Price, which added in no small degree to the impressiveness of the occasion. After the dedication, LEVI L. STEVENson, Esq., the orator, selected for the occasion by Staunton Lodge, delivered an address which received the most marked attention from the large audience assembled in

MUSICAL VISIT.

The "Cicilian Brass Band," of Martinsburg, Va., Mr. John H. Blendel, Leader, paid our town a musical visit on Saturday evening last, and treated our citizens to a number of favorite airs, performed with great skill and precision. Their errance produced quite a stir, and, as their wagon, drawn by four fine horses, moved down German street, the side walks were crowded with admiring listeners to the sweet sounds which fell muon the ear. Shortly after their arrival they were escorted to the room of the "Shepherdstown Brass Band," by some of its members, where a short time was spent in friendly chat, when they returned with each other to the hotel of Mr. D. Entler, both Bands playing as they marched along, accompanied, by this time, with a large number of spectators. Arrived at this place, a very handsome boquet was presented to the Band by the Ladies, through A. R. Boteler, E-q., as an evidence of their high appreciation of the compliment paid our town. The remarks of Mr. B. were brief, but most appropriate and befitting the occasion. He assured the Band that, although the flowers which composed the boquet might lade, the recollection of their visit would be perennial. Mr. Blondel, upon receiving the boquet, observed that though the Band had no orator to give expression to their thanks in words, yes they could and were determined to discourse in return some of their best and most choice music. A number of cheers were given by the multitude present at the close of the ceremonies of presentation, which, with other incidents of the visit, was of a truly pleasant and agreeable character throughout. As they were assured by Mr. Boteler, in his remarks, the "Shepherdstown Brass Band" will, we doubt not, repay our Martinsburg friends with a similar visit at an early day .- Shepherdstown Reg,

HAIR GREADTH ESCAPES.

The Dunkirk Journal relates the narrow escape from death of a woman and infant who fell between the cars tion. The woman had sufficient presence of mind to remain flat on the ground between the rails, holding the child in the same position; and when the train had passed, the horrified passengers, who expected to he-hold the mangled remains of two human bodies, found both the mother and child unharmed. A similar occurrence is recorded in the Rochester papers. Thursday morning, one of the passengers on the emigrant train; just entering the city, went to step from one car to another and fell between them upon the track. Some dozen cars passed over him, but he escaped with a few slight bru ses—having fallen lengthwise upon the track. It was a narrow escape.

John S. Wormley was hung at Chesterfield Court-House, Va., on Friday last, for the murder of Anthony T. Robiou, his son-in-law. The execution was witnessed by about 2,500 persons, whom the prisoner addressed for about a quarter of an hour. He confessed the murder of Robiou, remarked that under similar circumstances he would repeat the crime, and then gave the following account of the facts which led to the unfortunate event;

The evening of the fatal day he was in his yard with his gan, when Robion was in the act of passwith his gan, when Robion was in the act of passing; and as he imagined the wagon was approaching the side of the road next to his house, the idea flashed across his mind that Robiou was about to stop and indulge in some abuse towards him and his family, as had been his practice. Without thought or deliberation he raised his gun and shot him, and so in pulsive was the act that he did not raise the weapon to his shoulder, but fired without taking any aim from the eye.

Nor was it true that his daughter, Mrs. Robiou, entertained any deadly hostility towards Robiou, notwithstanding his gross abuse of her. Neither she nor Reed, or any other person, ever used any language or employed any effor a to stimulate him to the commission of the act, on the evening of that tatal day. And when, in an unguarded moment, he killed her husband, she exhibited the most profound sorrow, and showed all those tender feelings usual to the sex at the loss of a husband. He had taken a father's pains with his daughter, (Mrs. R.) and he bettered she was an injured woman. The r.mors put in circulation by her husband, Robiou, in relation to her intimacy with Reed, he believed to be false. In the presence of his God he solemn-ly declared his firm belief in her entire virtue and inn cence. In his (Wormley's) absence, Robion, a man 45 years of age, had married his daughter, a girl or only about 14 years, without his knowledge; and such was the disparity in their years, that the state of things that followed might well have been anticipated. The charges which Robion had made and industriously circulated againt his daughter were too gross and inuclicate for him to repeat. particularly in the presence of ladies, (the prisoner turning and pointing to some females near the gallows.) Those charges had been attempted to be proved, when the depositions in the ree case were taken; but there was an entire failure to substantiate any of them. He had taken pains in rearing his daughter, and endeavored to pains in rearing his daughter, and endeavored to instil into her mind correct principles.

He did not seek to alienate her feelings from her husband, or to produce a separation. He was absent when the marriage and when the separation took place, and Robiou had written a letter to his (Wormley's) sister, attributing the cause of their separation to Mrs. Wormley, the mother, and expressing a wish that he, her father, would return, to being about a reasonilistics. He did return in o bring about a reconciliation. He did return in July, 1850, with no feelings of resentment towards Robiou or any other person in the neighborhood; for he had been absent long, and Robiou and Reed, and all in the neighborhood were then strangers to him. He admitted, however, that his feelings were embittered against Robiou, in consequence of the gross charges he had made against his child-a daughter whom he loved and believed an innocent and injured woman. Only a week before the fatal Robiou came to his (W.'s) house to see his (R's) child, and while there repeated his charges, and declared that his (W.'s) house was a place of hawdyssm. Such charges and language did excite him, he admitted, but it did not cause him to form a determination to take the life of Robiou.

He also took occasion to exonerate James B. Reed, who had been tried as an accomplice of his, from all participation in the murder. Reed, since his acquittal, has married the widow of Robiou, the murdered man. The remarks of Wormley were delivered in a cool and impressive manner, and on concluding, he bade the spectators an affec-tionate farewell. In a few minutes after the drop fell, and his lifeless body was suspended in the air. He met his doom with extraordinary fortitude and

PAINFUL AND FATAL CASUALTY.

On Wednesday evening week about 5 o'clock, our town was the scene of a most printial and heartrendering casualty, the particulars of which, so far as we have been able to learn, are as follows:—Mr. Hooter, of Looney's Creek, who had been in Moorefield on business, during the day, was in the evening about starting home, and finding some children in his vehicle—a small one-horse wagon—consented, no doubt that they should ride down street with him. This is the supposition at least.—'There were three children in the vehicle, two of Mr. Berry's and one of Mr. Steene's. In crossing an abrunt Berry's and one of Mr. Steene's. In crossing an abrupt break in the street near the Court-House, Mr. Hooter was thrown from his seat on the thills of the wagon. was thrown from his seat on the thills of the wagon.—
At this the horse took fright, and immediately—before Mr. H. could recover his seat—started off at the top of his speed in the direction of the Virginia Hotel, at which place the wheels of the wagon struck a piece of temporary bridging on the sidewalk, and threw or bounced the children all out violently on the ground.—
Mr. H. was also thrown with great force from his position on the thills of the vehicle, down against the bridging and some rocks, which cut and bruised his head and face in a shocking manner. The children were immediately picked up and properly treated. Two of them, Mr. Berry's—were soon restored to consciousness, and found to be but slightly injured. But not so, alas! with Mr Steene's little boy. Notwithstanding every effort was made that affection or skill could devise, it was found impossible to resuscitate him. He lingered in a semi conscious state until Thursday morning about 8 o'clock, when he died. He was about 6 years cld.—This melancholy occurrence has thrown a gloom over our community in which all seem to partake.

Mr. Hooter we understand is badly though not dangerously injured.—Hardy Whig.

This is one of the benefits of the press. Every citizen is enabled to become a student of the theory of the Government, and also of every thing connected with its practical operation, with elections, with the day on which they occur, and with the principles involved in them All this is daily, or weckly, placed before the eyes of every man.

A Congressional steaker delivers an address at twelve o'clock. At breakfast the next day he reads it in the morning papers. The agency of steam carries it from the centre of the Republic to the extremities in a few days. There may be only a few hundreds who hear him in Congress, but his real audience is composed of twenty-three millions of people. Perhaps we should set this down as an evil of the press, for we question whether there would be so much speaking in Congress, were it not for the notoriety thus given to pressional orations.

There are no doubt many abuses of the per of the press, and it often mes proves itself as point tor evit as for good. There is much that is friver lous, mischievous, narrow, coarse and even brutal in a po tion of the periodical press. SINGULARLY TRAGIC INCIDENT. On Wednesday of last week a most tragic incident occurred on the Central Railroad at Tyrone Station, in this county, the particulars of which are about as follows:—An Irishman whose name we ave not learned, and who had been employed abont the road there for some time past, was waiting the arrival of the train to come to Altona; and while loitering about fell in with another man who was at work on the road; and the two by some means got into a good-pathred tossel when the latter ran boyishly away, the first pursued, and in the chase the foremost tripped and fell, the Irishman (being close upon his heels) fell over him, and by a singular fatality dislocated his neck and died instantly! Afflicting incident, surely! But how much more afflicting when we add that the very train for which he was waiting bore his wife and children, just from Ireland, on their way to meet him. MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT—
Every land has hailed with Xtacy this preparation whose Intrinsic merits has introduced its Curative powers to the notice of the whole American people. Rheumatism of long duration;
Neuralgia, with its tortures, have yielded to its Magical influence; cancers, contorted joints, Ulcerated and swollen limbs that have Suffered for years under the weight of disease,
Turn by its application to suppleness and health.
A remedy of such general usefulness that can restore Newness of action to the diseased nerves, arteries and Glands of the human body, is worthy of high praise.

Let the rheumatic, halt, lame and palsied Invalid examine its qualities, and they will Not be disappointed. Years of study and Investigation have enabled the proprietors of the Mexican Mustang Liniment to furnish a remedy, Extraordinary in its power over diseases, No matter of how long standing—sold at The agents in all parts of the union.

If any body has valuable Horses troubled with galls, chafes, scratches, sprains or bruises, let him read the certificates of the five Express Companies of New York City, that the Mustang Liniment has cured their horses of those complaints, and go and do likewise.

It is not a very difficult matter to produce a medicine above the knowledge of the "Profession," as is well proven by the new ingredients and chemical affinities produced in the Mustang Liniment, which supercedes all theold preparations in its surprising cures.

The Liniment is put up in three sizes and retails for 25 cts., 50 cts, and $1—the 50 cts, and $1 sizes contains three and six times as much as the 25 cts, size, and is much cheaper.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In the "Spirit of Jefferson," of April the 26th, and May the 3d, 1853, I offered to the public what I call a Check, or Rubber, to be used on Canal Boats. And in order to be able to suit all classes of Boats I now offer two more which I shall describe as briefly as possible. And first, on each side of the Boat is a rubber, bolted fast by one end, so as to open and close when required; within which, is an Iron Scutchen allowing the wood to rub the Mason-work of the lock vertically, to which is an iron rod passing up through the fenders of the Boat to the top of the deck. On the top end of the rod is a lever, working like the valve in a lockgate. And to the lower end of the rod, is a flange working at right angles with the rod so as to expand the rubber when required. The levers are attached to a slider or other fixture on the deck of the Boat, to be worked back and forward by a third lever, or any other device that will answer the purpose. Another has its rubbers bolted fast to the Boat as above described, with its levers working on the deck, and entering a wedge under the rubber so as to produce the required operation. These same rubbers will also answer for ship canals, as they require no openings to be made through the hulk of the Boat or vessels but operates entirely on the outside, effecting what is required by a direct and easy force.

The above Checks are now ready to be applied to use, by Mr. Samt. W. Staides, effecting what is required by a direct and easy force.

A Blacksmith Shop is being erected on the wharf at the Old Furnace, where all orders for the above articles, addressed to the aforementioned agent, will be promptly attended to.

I will also mention here, that I have invented a fixture which may be termed an ALARM, to prevent the collision of trains on railroads. It consists of a piece of mechanism operated on by the motion of the train, and a driver passing up through the rail, its machinery runs under the track, and will strike an alarm, or point to figure indicating the distance that the train is from the place of stopping. The bell to strike the alarm on, or the board with the figure on to tell the distance, may be placed in a house or on a bridge, or any other secure place that the company may elect. They may with safety be placed the entire length of the road, and so arranged as to tell at all times where the trains are passing. This being something of great importance, I wish to experiment on it more fully before applying it to use.

In striking beams, that knock a mortal down,
Or make the perspiration flow in streams,
In regal streams, descending from the crown;
My mind recals a fat and jovial one,
A jovial one that I did call my friend,
Who melted on a time beath such a sun melted on a time 'neath such a sun, Neath such a sun, just like a candle end.

I saw him for a moment stand alone—

Stand all alone beneath a hat of straw; A moment more and on the sidewalk stone,
That reeking stone, my wond'ring visuals saw
A heap of clothes, suspenders, hat and boots,
An empty wicker flask, and twenty smoked cheroots. 13-JOHN G. SAKE, the Yankee Poet, lets off the following stanza: Because you flourish in worldly affairs, Don't be haughty and put on airs With insolent pride of station: Don't be proud and turn up your nose At poorer people in plainer clothes,

But learn, for the sake of your mind's repose,
That wealth's a bubble that comes and goes.
And that all proud flesh, wherever it grows,
Is the object of irritation."

Washington, February 10, 1852-1y Five Hundred Dollars Reward. Five Hundred Dollars Reward.

IMPRESSED as I am with the controlling influence which is exercised by the fine arts upon the direction and destiny of human affairs, it has given me infinite pleasure to witness the bountiful manner in which, from time to time, painting and statuary has been encouraged and rewarded by the councils of the nation. But while the acknowledgment is due to the discerning and worthy patrons of the noble arts, it is an equal source of humiliation and sorrow to behold the apparent apathy and indifference with which they seem to regard the incomparably more valuable creations of poetry.

To see them adorn the walls of the Capitol with the To see them adorn the walls of the Capitol with the glowing revelations of the pencil, and decorate the public grounds with the costly cher progress of the chisel, is an omen of good which will be hailed and applauded by all as a cheering pledge of the progress of refinement. But, whilst they lavish their thousands upon these immobile products of canvass and marble, and bronze, they offer no reward for the more exalted, more enduring and renowned ovations of the pen.—No fostering hand from these high places has ever yet invited the Promethean fire of poetry to animate the history of our country, which with all its harmony of form and wonder of proportion, lies asleep around the humble vault of Mount Vernon, ready to spring into life and beauty at the first kindling touch of this genial inspiration.

It surely were a work of supercrogation to introduce the proofs that crowd the records of the past to show how far above all others stands the "divine art" of poehow far above all others stands the "divine art" of poesy. What are all the paintings, statues, and regalia of Versailles, of Fontainbleau, & the Tuileries, compared with the "Marseilles Hymn?" What the kingly panoply of gold and gems heaped up in the Tower of London; what the collections of the Royal Academy, or even the time hallowed shrines of Westminster Abbey, when compared with the songs of Burns, and Dibden, and Campbell? Or what has the world that we would take in exchange for "Hail Columbia" and the "StarSpangled Banner?" Well might the British states-Spangled Banner?" Well might the British states man exclaim, "Let me but write the ballads of a nation, and I care not who makes its laws."

As far as the living breathing man is above the cold, insensate marble that is made to represent him; as far as the radiant skies of summer are above the perishable canvass to which the painter has transferred their feeble resemblance, so far is poetry above all other arts that have their mission to console and elevate and inspire the immortal mind of man.

In view of these facts, and considering the lamentable paucity of patriotic songs in my distinguished and beloved country, and with the hope of being the humble means of arousing a proper public feeling upon this interesting subject, I have been induced to offer, and do hereby offer, the sum of five hundred dollars as a prize for the best National Poem, Ode or Epic.

The rules which will govern the payment of this sum

The rules which will govern the payment of this sum are as follows: lst. I have selected (without consulting them) the following persons to act as judges or arbiters of the prize thus offered, namely:

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their centents is devoted to political subjects. It is their Literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. BLACKWOOD, still under the fatherly care of Christopher North maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain, and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer,) "The Green Hand," "Kate Stewart," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE The Great Restorative & Invigorator, AND CURE FOR RHEUMATISM, DYSPEPSIA, SCROFULA, &c.

THIS Medicine is altogether from the Vegetab Kingdom, and may be used by any one without njurious consequences.

By a wise choice and combination of some of each class of co-operative simple remedite eaches all the essential organs of the humand thus it has proved itself so effectually reaches all the essential organs of the human system, and thus it has proved itself so effectually curative of the whole round of CHRONIC AFFECTIONS.

This article was discovered by Dr. Jesse Hampton, now in fine health in the 79th year of his age. He was born in Virginia in 1775, emigrated to Kentucky—then a wilderness—with his father, in 1779. In early manhood he was so reduced by disease as to be almost wrecked in constitution. He spent much of his living for medical advice and attention, and grew nothing better, but worse. Finding no relief from his physicians, he resolved to try the restorative powers of the roots, barks, leaves, plants, ect., of the forest. He then dwelt in the midst of the Red Men of the Western wilds. Having heard much of their skill in the use of vegetable remedies of the forest, and knowing their mode of medicinal practice must be one of practical experience and not of theoretical speculation, he made himself acquainted with their remedies, and also with the practical medicinal knowledge of the early settlers of Kentucky, had obtained from the 'medicines used by them, combined them according to the light he had received, used them as he had been taught, and had the cheering satisfaction of finding disease driven from his emacinted body, and vigorous health given in its stead. His case was of no ordinary kind, but astonishing to his friends and neighbors. The fame of it spread; the people far and near sent to the doctor for his successful and wonderful combination of Indian remedies; which was freely given them, until the cases became so numerous and the demand so great for his successful and wonderful combination of Indian remedies; which was freely given them, until the cases became so numerous and the demand so great that the doctor was advised by his friends, and induced through justice to himself, to put up his Vegetable Tincture in bottles, and charge a price for it which was freely given. Finding its way into the first and most intelligent families, and astonishing all by its wonderful cures; commanding certificates and testimony in its favor from the leading and some of the most talented men of the country.

WHY IS IT? That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life, broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buovency of spirits, and happy screnity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the cruses of her sufficience at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girthood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of enguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed.

IT IS MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING To behold the six ness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and con-trollable, easily rahedied—or better still—not incurred IF EVERY WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that comp. tence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work satisfied.
