A Cure Warranted or no Charge, in from one to two days. The many thousands cured at this Institution, and the very extensive practice of Dr. Johnston (exceed-ing all others) is a sufficient guarantee that he is the only proper Physician to be consulted. Dr. Johnston, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spentin the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadel-phia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most as-tonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled puna and cusewhere, has effected some of the most as-tonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with a ringing in the cars and head when askeep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended some-times with derangement of mind, were cured immedi-ately. ately.

A Certain Disease. When the misguided and impudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriendhim, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face, and extremities, progressing on with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to their dreadful sufferings by sending them to " that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore, Dr. JOHN-STON pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable servecy, and from his extensive practice in the first hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend the most safe and speedy cure to the un-fortunate victim of this horrid disease. It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness or ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or makes the residue of his life miserable.

It would appear, by a late article in the Ediaburg Review, that the wealth of the English Church has been greatly exaggerated. The whole number of parochial ministers is 17,155, including 4,885 eurates, who have, in the aggregate, an income of £3,479,460.-About £283 a-piece, is the average annual in-Yet careless of its mansion new, For the clear region where 'twas born, Round itself incloses: And in its little globe's extent, Frames as it can its native element. This is but little above the average income of the clergy of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America, or even of the clergy of the Presbyterian Church, when the difference in the cost of living, as between England and the United States, is taken into consideration. Like its own tear, Because so long divided from the sphere. Moreover, these incomes are more equitably distributed than is the popular impression -For instance, out of the 12,270 benefices in England and Wales, there are only 174 which amount to a thousand pounds a year, and only So the soul, that drop, that ray Of the clear fountain of eternal day, Could it within the "human flower" be seen, Remembering still its former height, Shuns the sweet leaves and blossoms green a thousand which bring in five hundred pounds a year. > United States. As compared with other professions in England, the Church, according to the Edinburg Review, is really worst paid of all. That jour-nal instances a case in which a rector receives a thousand pounds a year, and proves that, after making necessary deductions for poor rates, charities and inevitable charges on the income, the nett amount is but £625. The rector in question, according to the Edinburg Review, has a brother who is a county judge, and receives £1,000 salary; but in this case the deductions are slight, so that the nett income is £950. The parallel, if carried up to the dignitaries of either profession, exhibits similar results. There are twenty-eight bishops and archbishops in England, receiving incomes of about five thousand pounds a year. There are twenty-two principal judges, however, who receive an average of six thousand pounds apiece annually. Moreover, these twenty-eight mitres are competed for by 17,-155 clergymen, while for the twenty-two judgeshpis these competors are but 4,000. The chances of winning one of the great "prizes" is consequently four to one for a barrister as against a clergyman. These statements are verified by official documents and

FROM THE WASHINGTON SENTINEL OF APRIL 5. A practice has been gradually growing up in our government, and has attained such proportions that it may be rightfully characterized as an oppressive and grievous abuse.-It has increased, and is increasing, and it ought to be diminished by a summary process which would put an end to it at once and for-ever. We allude to the practice of giving military men the supervision and control of public works and authority over citizens employed as laborers on such works. The whole system is wrong, radically wrong, mischievously wrong. It ought to be discarded at once and without a moment's hesitation .--People pay military men in consideration of military services. The people pay naval offi-cers in consideration of naval services, to be rendered to the people and to the nation. Let them do what they are paid to do, and confine themselves to the walk of life they have selected, and to the duties they are competent to perform satisfactorily. If they would pursue this course, there would not be so many complaints, and the army and the navy could be placed on a betclergy are, therefore, not so very much greatter footing. But when we are told that officers er, after all, than those of their brethren in the of the army or navy must be given the superintendence of civil business as a matter of economy, because they have no other work to do, with what reason can we be asked to increase the army or add to the navy? This question may be susceptible of a satisfactory answer; but we do not think it is.

We believe that it is false economy to employ military officers to control works beyond the line of their profession. Educated for a profession, and practising that profession, as a general rule, they know nothing of other matters-nothing more, we mean, than gentleman of like intelligence. A lawyer might as well undertake to adjust a compound fracture, or a surgeon to prepare a case of ejectment, as an army or navy officer to manage civil business. We have known a lawyer who could adjust a broken bone; we have known a surgeon-nay, even we know a preacher, fully versed in the most abstruse provisions and technicalities of the law; yet exceptions do not constitute the proper foundation for rules, although some one, for a reason we could never clearly understand, declared that exceptions prove the truth of rules.

However this may be, we are fully convinced that the army and navy were not intended INTEMPERANCE-IS THERE NO REMEDY ! [FOR THE SPIRIT OF JEFFERSON.]

NO. 40

It has been said that " the object of Government is a very simple affair-it is protection of the people. by a union of the people-all are shareholders in this great company of citizens, and all have an equal interest in its prosperity." If we admit this, then there is a remedy and that a legal one-to deny it, is to strike at the principle upon which rests the foundations of civilization, at the primary cause of the first organization of society. It is not our purpose here to consider in how far the people of other countries have failed to profit by this principle, to increase their prosperity, or to protect themselves, by the establishment of the institutions and governments under which they live-the right, the power and the will resides in them-if they have failed to exercise their inherent, their "inalienable rights," the consequences must rest with them. We believe the principal and true object of the Government of a free people is "protection of the people by a union of the people," and that the people of the United States, having the right and the power, exercised the will in the formation of their Federal and State Governments for the protection of all rights necessary to their happiness, their religious, social and political freedom.

In the exercise of these rights, the people of the State of Maine, suffering under the infliction of maalfold evils, produced by intemperance, determined by a union of the people, to protect themselves, their nterest and prosperity, and to restrict or remove by egal enactments, the cause productive of so much evil-so detrimental to their prosperity and destructive of their interest, their happiness and welfarefor this purpose they placed in the hands of their legal epresentatives the power and demanded the passage of a law, known far and wide as the " Maine Liquor Law," and which, the more its principles and operation are being understood, is gaining ground and finding favor with the people of the different States. We have frequently read and more frequently neard it asserted, since the advent of that law, that the people had no such right or power, and that any such exercise of their will was arbitrary and unconstitutional. We do not understand how this can be, if the object of Government be the protection of the people, by a union of the people, and yet the people have no right to protect themselves from a cause, so universally admitted to be productive of evil. What right then of protection have they? Protection from what? If not from every cause producing taxation without corresponding good ; to deny this is to deny their sovereignty, the right of self-government, is to deny that they have any rights at all.

cholera-no-neither can they prohibit in ance, unless perhaps by purshing the plan at one time adopted in New York, of fixing the occupant of a house in which a man got drunk, and if that could not be ascertained, fine the occupants of every house in the street in which the drunkard was seen. That was prohibition with a vengeance, certainly unconstitutional prohibition. But they cannot prohibit it, We admit it, it is a trath, and a melancholy one, that men will get drunk, they have the right, certainly, nobody disputes that. What then can the people do, and do legally ? Prohibit the cause-will they do it ? Do they will it to be done? If they have the will, let them remember that the object of government is protection of the people, by a union of the people, and with a view to the attainment of this let them hereafter have an eye to the opinions of their representatives, and in this respect, at least, select a Southern man with Northern principles.

People of Jefferson ! have you an interest in this mestion? Are the commercial interests of the cities of Virginia of more importance to you than your own, or of the general interests of the State? Is an increase of the State revenue to be put in competition, and every interest dear to you made subser-vient thereto? Has the traffic in ardent spirits and increase of intemperance been of any advantage to you-has the use of it improved your health, advanced your social position, made you a better citizen, a more affectionate husband, a kinder parent, a more dutiful son or brother? Has it increased your domestic happiness, the love of wife and children, the comforts of home, the pleasures of life? Has it lessened your taxes, or enabled you to pay those you have been assessed with? If so, cling to it as your best friend and look upon him who now warns you against it as your worst enemy. Consider this question, reflect whether a prohibitory law might not prove advantageous to you, to the Old Dominion ; the principles upon which it is founded are being better understood. It is finding hosts of friends every where, starting in Maine, it has reached Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and other States, modified in form, but still stringent and calculated to do good. Virginia needs it no less than other States, it has friends here, they want but union. It is demanded by the tears of the drunkard's wife, by the cries of his starving children, by their helplessness, by their rags and by their crimes ; religion invokes it, humanity implores it, interest imperiously demands it; but in vain, unless youvote TREMEN.

THE BRITISH QUARTERLIES,

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continues to Re-publish the following British Periodicals, viz:

1. THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW, Conservative.

2. THE EDINBURGH REVIEW, Whig. 3. THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW, Free Church.

4. THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW, Liberal. 5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, Tory. 5. BLACEWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE, Fory. THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude apeculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, writ-ten after the living interest and excitement of the most of the time shell have averaged great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable his. tory of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theolo-gical character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public. Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies. when they are ill! Blessings be on the gentle, loving home-mother. Angels must look with love upon her acts. Her children shall rise up and call her blessed, and the memory of her kindly deeds will enfold her as a garment."

"THEY SAY !"

What a rascality of a fellow that "They Say" is. With his nose in everybody's soupdish, and his fingers in everybody's pie, and you can't catch him at it, that's the worst of it. He is a very convenient friend tooa cloak for all sorts of rumors, and evil reports. He is about the only one I know of who dares think loud enough to be heard by every one! If a neighbor has been slandered, and you chance, by accident of course, to repeat the dose, why, "they say" is the only authority you can quote. I wonder who he is, and where lives ? Has he a sister or has he a mother,

Or has he a dearer one still than a brother? His shoulders ought to be broad, for he has great deal to bear. Scandal is busy disseminating its disgusting poison—all right though! You can't catch "They Say" napping!— Characters are torn to shreds—the pure are calumniated-the inocent mantled with guilt -the honest leagued with the vile-no mat-ter! "They Say" is the scape goat upon whose back the calumniator rides out of harm's way. There is only one way to get the upper hand of him-cut him, and every one acknowledging acquaintance with him is dead as mutton ! Give no ear, much less credence to anything emanating from his neighborhood. For myself, "They Say" is enough to make me shut my best friend up inconti nently. I have no faith in him, or in any one using his name. Let each one act upon the same principle, and take my word for it, a very troublesome fellow will be very speedily exterminated. So mote it be .- GAY SPANK-

"COME KISS ME." "COME KISS ME." This is the name that should be given to the fashionable modern bonnet, which, lightly resting on the back of the head, affords no protection to a pretty face-but on the contrary, increases the attractions which, under any circumstances, invite the stamp of kindness and affection ! How different from the odious "poke bonnet," used five and twenty years ago, which formed a projecting line of circumvallation around bewitching featuresa chevaux-de-frise which the most ardent and presumptuous admirer of beauty would hardly attempt to pass-when even To undertake the pleasing process, Required an elephant's proboscis. correct ideas about the English Church, which have been widely disseminated, and which have often brought it into undeserved discredit.

LIKE THE ANGELS.

"Why! you would have me like the angels;" exclaimed a young girl with whom a friend had been talking.

Truly would we have women like the angels. And why not? Is it any harm to be like an angel? We read that they are very beautiful -full of love, truth, purity, compassionate, single. Are these forbidding traits? Angels slander not each other. They have no circles in their glorious home where characters are picked to pieces. Angels never wreathe the face by smiles when envy is gnawing the very heart-strings in twain. Angels never rejoice over the downfall of another. Angels lure not with the eye, and then coldly cast off with the lip. Angels suffer not passion to paint the brow dark with discontent and hatred.

Would you not wish eventually to become angels? Or does this thought never enter with the multitude that cross the mind's threshold ? Why not prepare then, for this high destination ? Why not discipline the sublime thoughts, and beautiful in good deeds? Cultivate your affections, be pure in thought, gentle in spirit. Banish forever deception. evil speaking, inordinate love of pleasure ! Why not become as near as you may be, angels on earth ? Ah ! young ladies, believe us when we tell you there is no harm in striving to be like the angels.

> There is at least one discreet and sensible clergyman in New England-the evidence of the fact being found in his refusal to co-operate with his brethren in their impious protest against the Nebraska Bill. In reply to a circular inviting him to sign the protest, he severely denounces the interference of these ministers in political affairs, and says: "I have neither signed nor returned the protest," nor shall I assume the responsibility of thus protesting, in the name of God. against the passage of a bill which right and justice demand should become a law. It would be an act of shameless blasphemy for me to do so, and it would be well for each individual of that protesting committee to adopt, in their own case, the words of the collect in the Episcopal Church-"Lord! grant me a right judgment in all things."

.... A novel case of adultery was before our police court a short time since, in which the wife of a John Bennett, formerly of Exeter. N. H., resorted to the same course in unveiling her husband's falsity that was used upon one of old-she plowed with his heifer. John had vielded to the weakness of his nature, and became enamored of a Miss-, whom he took to Haverhill, to spend the Sabbath with the "old folks," at home, passing as their son-in-law, showing a forged certificate of marriage. His watchful wife, understanding the matter fully, took occasion while walking in the street to inform him that she was knowing to the facts, when he knocked her down, and upon complaint was locked in jail for thirty days. While he was in prison the shrewdness of the wife manifested itself. Dressing herself in male attire, she visited his paramour, as an attendant at the jail sent by Mr. B., saying he was afraid the presents he had given her might be used against him if he should be tried for adultery, and requested that he should let his friend, the bearer, take charge of them, which was accordingly done, and they were handed over. Before leaving, and after some very severe remarks about the jealous wife, part of a "fugitive slave," and a white man was engaged to act the part of a Southern claithis assumed jail-waiter said Mr. B. requested mant. The African was to run through the him to bring one kiss from her, which she streets into the Park, the claimant and one or consented to give, and wished to send a thoutwo other sham Southerners after him. Arsand by the same bearer! The visit was rerangements were made for a mob to assemble, peated several times, the girl completely blindset the 'darkey' free, and menace the 'claimed till the facts were obtained, nor till then did she discover that she had been completely sold !-- Newburyport Herald. James Raymond, the well known manager of the menageries, who died in Putman county, N. Y., on the 28d ult., leaving prop erty valued at $1,500,000, has left, it is said, a bequest of $18,000 to Col. Alvah Mann, to indemnify him for his loss in erecting the Broadway theatre, in New York. Mr. Raymond, during his lifetime, endowed a seminary for young ladies near the village of Carmel, N. Y., and would have conveyed the property to the institution forever, had the Legislature by an act remitted the taxes upon it. It will now revert to his heirs, who are a it. It will now revert to his heirs, who are a son and three daughters. to superintend civil business, and that the officers of the army and navy were not educated with a view to qualify them to build capitols or construct waterworks, or erect custom houses. If the officers of the army and navy have been specially instructed in this particular, then the schools at West Point and Annapolis have been preverted to wrongful uses, and ought to be suppressed as mischievous in their tendency. and mischievous in their practical effects.

Neither the army nor the navy has a right to interfere with civilians in civil employment. Even if an army or a navy officer bethorough ly qualified for the performance of civil duties, he should be denied the privilege of proving his qualifications, except in cases of extreme necessity. He should be kept to his proper and legitimate work. He has no more right to seek the control of civil business than an ambitious hod-carrier has to seek the command of the army of the United States.

It is said that the government has to pay the officers of the army and navy, and it is economy to employ them in civil affairs .---This is mere nonsense, not worth a moment's consideration, for there is no truth in it .--There is plenty of employment, and most surey is there plenty of employment for officers proessing the character and acquirements necessa ry for the supervision of important government works.

But, independent of all these things, it is an offence to the republican sentiment of the country to give the military the control of any portion of the people working for a living .-An army and a navy must be essentially despotic. Without a practical despotism, neither an army nor a navy could exist. In both, command must be followed, not only by obedience, but by prompt unquestioning and uncomplaining obedience. To question or com-plain is insubordination, and will be punished as it ought to be punished. Men reared and educated under such a system are not fit ter either way, it is your dog. But then you have to superintend and overlook our laboring population. They are disqualified by their trainng and habits of life.

We believe that the officers of our army and the officers of our navy are equal to the officers of any other army, and of any other navy, in the line of their respective duties. But because a man can plant a battery with skill, it furnishes no proof that he can plant tobacco even as well as a Virginia negro. A man may sail a ship well, even better than Columbus sailed his, but that does not prove that he can rightly lay the foundation for a log-cabin, or direct the building of a worm-fence. The truth is, that the whole system of employing military men in civil matters is ill-judged, expensive, and wrong. It ought to be abolshed, and finality ought to be stamped upon it speedily. It is a nuisance that ought to abated; an evil that ought to be checked; an abuse that ought to be corrected without delay. Year after year it has been growing .--By gradual encroachments it has made great dvances; and if it is not resisted, it may become too powerful to be resisted with success. The people must understand these things, even if their representatives refuse to notice them. It will not be our fault if the people are not fully informed.

MANUFACTURING PUBLIC OPINION.

It is said that the violent opponents of the Nebraska bill in New York city, last week, concocted a scheme, which fell through, in-tended to show that the fugitive slave law cannot now be enforced in that city. The details of the scheme, which have leaked out. are said to be as follows :

"A black man had been hired to play the

But say the opponents of this law, " they have no right to interfere with the private rights, habits, tastes, or pleasures of any individual, and that they might just as well prohibit the culture and manufacture of tobacco, or its use, as to prohibit the manufacture and sale of ardent spirits." Certainly not. we admit, so long as those rights and pleasures affect only their own interests. But whenever by the indulgence in those tastes and habits the people at large are made the sufferers, by an increase of taxation for the support of those individuals or for the maintenance of others impoverished by them, then it becomes a matter of public consideration, then a union of the people is necessary for the protection of the people.

They do not interfere with your private rights, they but protect their own; they do not say you shall not drink; oh no, not at all, they only say that you shall not drink at their expense; and if in their individual capacity they have the right to say this, it is none the less their right collectively. And here, we do not hesitate to say that whenever similar results are produced, affecting the public weal, by indulgence in tobacco, either by chewing, snuffing, or smoking, a prohibitory tobacco law will become as necessary, and will doubtless receive at the hands of the highest judicial tribunal, known to the constitution and the land, the same sanction bestowed by it on the "Maine Liquor Law," that of the Supreme Court of the United States, and for the same identical reasons, the right of the people to protection, by a union of the people against causes affecting their public interest, their prosperity, or their happiness. It is your property, it is your dog that has gone mad, you have the right to keep it in your cupboard or in your cellar, and if you love it, to fondle it as much as you please and whenever you please; if it bite, and you alone are the sufferer, the injury sustained by the public will perhaps be very inconsiderable, so slight indeed as to make no impression or the mind of the community; indeed, we are not altogether satisfied in our mind whether there would not be more sympathy felt for the dog if bitten by you, than for you if bitten by him; it is a small mat-no right to turn it loose into the street for the purpose of biting others or of spreading consternation through the community, whenever this happens your private right ceases to exist, and the protection and safety of the public demands its death ; and if even only suspected the cry which follows it, is like that which pursues a Malay, while running a muck, kill, kill, kill.

This is a free country and you are a free man ; true, but you are infected with a contagious disease, the small-pox, for instance, that kindred-repelling, beauty-destroying and loathsome disease; it is your misfortune, you have committed no crime, violated no law, yet the interest of society demands the restraint of your personal freedom, in consideration of the welfare of others. The Cholera approaches, by sea, quarantine laws are rigidly enforced; it appears in some particular location, a cordon is established, the people are warned and flee from the pestilence. But a destroyer, more dangerous, more destructive, than these, and of all others united, pays its entrance fee into our ports, its licence into the treasury of the State, and straight-way commences its errand of ruin, desolation, death. It enters the city, the police is trebled, but what of that ?- the police are its victims. It is arraigned before the magistrate, the lawyer, the judge, the jury, but what of that ?- the magistrate, the lawyer, the judge, the jury, they are its victims ; it is denounced from the pulpit, the preacher is its victim; it fearfully increases the records of crime; it fills prisons, almshouses, insane bospitals, and houses of refuge with its victims, and increase the burdens of the hard-working, sober and industrious, by demanding taxation for their support. It spreads every where, it infests the towns, it goes into the country, its stalks boldly into the palace, it creeps

DARING ROBBERY.

A most daring and outrageous robbery, the partie-ulars of which have just reached us, was committed in Wetzel county, recently, not more than ten or twelve miles from the county seat, and immediateweive mites from the county seat, and immediate-ly upon the public highway, the State turnpike road leading from here to the Ohioriver. An indi-vidual called one evening at the house old Mr. Mor-gan, [Paddy Mort, they call the old gentleman,] and requested permission to stay there all night, which was readily granted. During the evening, he went was readily granted. During the evening, he went ont and returned several times, without exciring suspicion, he having complained of being unwell, and asked the privilega of unrestrained egress and ingress. The night waned, however, and the vil-lain thought it time to carry out his purpose. He accordingly went out once more, and after staying some time, returned with an accomplice-the twain o the teeth. But why should the ladies wear any bon net at all? The present fashion affords no more protection than a hair-comb. Why not adopt the Spanish veil or the German cap, or the Italian bare head; and let their beauties come out in all their naked loveliness. These mere apologies for bonnets, worn, as Punch says, on the "small of the back," affording no protection from the weather, are the most protection from the weather, are the most costly items of a lady's dress, ranging from $10 to $20 in the Bowery, and from $25 to $50 in Broadway; and of course they must be changed with every season, if not with ev-ery month in the year. What with "Spring hats," "Summer hats," "Fall hats," "Win-ter hats," "Riding hats," "Opera hats," "Traveling hats," "Fair weather hats," and "Foul-weather hats," a fashionable New York lady is obliged to spend more on the outside of her head than the inside may be worth.

Is not intemperance a more fearful evil than they? We protest against any such doctrine as this, and hall continue so to do until it is satisfactorily estalished or proved that there is a good time comingwhen not only the revenue of a State and the com-mercial interests of cities, but the whole interest, the general welfare and happiness of the people are to be promoted, by the prevalence of cholera, of smallpox, or the manufacture and traffic in ardent spirits.

Until then, we think the People are perfectly justifia-ble in the enactment of such sanitary regulations or laws as in their opinion are best calculated to pro-tect them, in the application of such remedies as in on are best calculated to check the spread of a discase so loathsome and contagious as that of in-temperance. Of course, being old and infirm, and hav-ing no one to help him but his aged wife, he could do nothing but submit to be robbed. He told his, wife to get the money for them. She went to the bureau, and handed out to them several bags and parcels of gold and silver, but took care to throw out of sight a roll of netes amounting to some $400, and which she thus saved. They took most of the specie but when two have each containing some cherish. And notwithstanding we are told that the people have no right to protect themselves against it, that to do so is arbitrary and unconstitutional, and when found that would not do, we are informed by a deliberative body of the State of Maryland-the Senate-by a vote of 18 against 4 in favor of a pro-hibitory law, which had passed the House of Deleates, "that it would prove injurious to the revenue cie, but when two bags, each containing some $30 in silver, were presented to them, they threw both down, declaring that they would not overload themselves. We lay before our readers, on the first page of today's issue, an able and stirring article from the Washington Sentinel of the 5th of the present month. It shows how rapidly this subject is beginning to swaken public attention and to assume its importance amongst the political questions of the day .-The Washington Sectinel occupies a high position before the country. The great ability with which that journal has been edited-its lofty moral toneits fearless and self-sacrificing spirit-its sound and conservative republican principles give great weight to its opinions throughout the Union- With such a champion embarked in this righteous cause of Free Government, at the seat of the Government. the mechanics have no cause for despondency.

SMALL NOTES.

On the first of June next the new law goes into operation, subjecting every person to a fine of ten dollars who passes a bank note, or other of the trash called small notes, of less amounts than five dollars. The law contains provisions for its enforcement, iutended to leave violators but a small chance for escaping the penalty. There is a clause that does not go into effect till 1858, requiring of all merchants and others licensed to carry on their trades, an oath to keep the law .-But no other part of it is thus postponed.

OVERTURES FOR A DIVISION OF TURKEY. In the discussion between the Russian and British papers on the Turkish question, it appears that the present Emperor of Russia had frequently endeavored to tempt the cabinets of Europe to join him in a division of the Turkish Empire; that he made overtures of this kind to the British government during his visit to England in 1844; and that a secret correspondence had been held with the British minister at St. Petersburg on the subject, during the last year. The fact is stated by the London News, and seems to be admitted by Lord Aberdeen.

THE WAR STRAMERS. The action of the United States House of Repres tatives, on Friday week, in favor of the constructio of the six steam frigates recommended by Hon. J. C. Dobbin, the Secretary of the Navy, in his annual report, (says the Washington Union) is a faithful reflection of that powerful public opinion which demands large additions to our steam marine. The heavy vote by which the main proposition was carried shows the necessity and the propriety of the recommendation of the energetic Secretary. Great credit is generally and justly awarded to the chairman of the committee on Naval Affairs [Mr. Bocock] for the skill and ability with which he defended the report of his committee, and for the promptitude and correctness he displayed in answering the various questions raised during the debate. He had studied his subject well, and we congratulate him on the favovable impression he has made.

The present condition of the governments of the Old World is full of interest to the people of this country. Exactly in proportion as our own comnerce has extended and is extending, it is our duty to encrease the means of protecting that commerce and of vindicating all the rights guarantied under the American flag-always the symbol in foreign lands, and often the pioneer of the American constitution. Apart from other considerations, therefore -considerations possibly more weighty, but not more closely identified with practicable resultsthe necessity of being ready and able, at all times to protect our citizens and our commerce in distant seas, is primary and inevitable. Let us be fully prepared for this duty, and we connot be taken unawares should we be called to play a part in the great drama upon which the curtain is soon to rise in Europe-a drama in which Kings will be the actors and empires the scenes-a drama which may end in the overthrow of all those painted follies and hollow mockeries which flaunt and fester under the names of prerogative and power. THE ARMORIES. We publish below (says the Loudous Democrat) a memorial which is being offered for signatures throughout the United States. As an appeal of the Mechanics in the employ of Government for a redress of grievances under which they have labored for years, it comes home to every American Mechanic and should demand his hearty approval and cordial co-operation. We learn that but a few weeks ago some two hundred operatives in the Gosport Navy Yard, for daring to petition Congress for an advance in their wages during the high price of provisions, were thrown out of employment by an edict of this military despotism. The memorial can be found at our office :

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled :

We, the citizens of _____beg leave to it, and i represent to your honorable bodies, that while tative." we have a profound respect for the military organization of our country, in the legitimate sphere of their army duties, we deprecate in solemn terms the practice which exists of placing military men over citizens-mechanics, in the armories, arsenals, custom-house and hospital structures and other works of a civil character in the United States. The exalted position of our country in the arts and sciences is to a great degree the result of the intelligence, genius, and enterprize of the American mechanic, and we therefore claim as our just right, an

HARDER CONTRACTOR STATES OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY AND THE PROPERTY pressive and grievous pr A most oppressive and gravous practice has for-some time been growing in regard to the superin-tendence of our public works. We refer to the prac-tice of placing military men as overseers over cilizens engaged upon the public works. The system is one which is unfounded in reason or necessity, and cries aloud for a remedy. The only way to better it is to get rid of it entirely. Our military officers are educa-ted and paid for military duties. Let them stick to their Mintary duties, and leave civil duties to those better qualified by education and practice to perform them. We regard military or naval offi-cers as the last class of men who should be placed in superintendence over any of the practical affairs of life. Educated to certain formulas, and taught a swaggering, overbearing manner by the intrinsic nature of their military training, they are in every nature of their military training, they are in every way unsuited to direct the operations or to command the esteem of our independent, high-strung artizans. Their employment as overseer over our indepen-dent, intelligent mechanics is a violation of our re-publican institutions, and should no more be endur-ed than any other abomination. The republican in-dependence of our mechanics cries out against the system. Let it be abolished. [Baltimore Ledger, April 7.

FANATICISM. The following paragraph from the New and a most devotional and tender season; and at the close, standing as it were over the body of our slain Lord, I asked the church if they wanted heathenism introduced into a country as large as all the free States, in the very heart of our country; if they wanted men and women bought and sold there like brutes, forbidden the Bible, and the marriage state abolished by law. INCENDIARY ATTEMPT.

An open attempt to create another fire on the square occupied in part by the Valley Bank building was made on Wednesday night of last week. A line of cot-ton wick, prepared with ethereal oil and powder, was extended from a back-building on the bank premises, over a lot some thirty or forty feet, to an out-building connected with Hooven's Tavern, where it was attached to a cotton bat, similarly prepared for combustion. Fortunately, the string burned only a yard or so, and the whole arrangement was ex-posed to detection next morning. A few more at-tempts will suffice to put the officers on the proper-trail.—Winchester Republican.

Campbell's in this county, by which a little girl, about five years of age, was so badly burned from her clothes taking fire, that she died a few hours after. The mother was absent from the house only a few minutes, but returned too late to prevent the severe inies that resulted in death .- Win, Republican,

On Monday, the 27th Match, after the per-sonal discussion in the House, Mr. Cutting ad-dressed a note to Mr. Breckinridge, in which he demanded of him a withdrawal of the word " false," or that he would made such explanation as was due from one gentleman to another, and he referred to Mr. Maurice as his friend to act for him. Mr. Breckinridge replied to the first part of this note, that the word "false" was used by him in consequence of a previous expression made use of by Mr. Cutting, and until that was withdrawn he could not withdraw the word complained of. With reference to the second part of the note, Mr. Breckinridge considered it a chal-

the alternative proposition suggested in Mr. Cutting's note. This Mr. Maurice declined, but presented a letter from Mr. Cutting, which

Col. Hawkins considered could not be received, on the ground that no additional note could be accepted until Mr. Breckinridge's re-sponse to Mr. Cutting's challenge had been re-ceived by the latter. Thereupon both gentle-men separated, and Col. Hawkins delivered Mr. Breckinridge's note to Mr. Cutting in person. Mr. Maurice did not deliver the note he eld from Mr. Cutting to Mr. Breckinridge. Mr. Cutting at this stage of the proceed-ngs, substituted Col. Monroe for Mr. Maurice as his friend, who waited upon Col. Hawkins, and demanded the terms of the

Hawkins consented to a postponement of the meeting till the following morning, and it was agreed that the friends of the parties should meet that evening and make final arrangements. In the evening Col. Monroe presented a paper in writing, claiming that his principal was the challenged, not the challenging party, and, therefore, had the choice of weapons, which he named-pistols, at ten paces. Col. Hawkins declined to accede to this view of the case or yield the right of his principal to name the time, place and weapons, as the challenged party. Col. Monroe took the ground that neither he nor his principal conidered the first note a challenge, but asked for time to confer with Mr. Cutting. Col. Monroe the next morning stated that he was authorized by Mr. Cutting to declare that

The French regard this as the signal for war. The Frence expeditionary force for Turkey will stop for rest at Gallipolli, a town near the mouth of the Dardenelles. The English force will establish itself on the Bay of Enos, at the mouth of the river Maritza. The French army will afterwards proceed either to Adrianople of the Crimea.

The latest item of news set afloat by the reliable Washington correspondents of the New York Herald is that "the President soon expects to receive an answer from the Spanish government, positively refusing to accede to the demands made with regard to the Black Warrior affair, together with information that England and France have despatched strong fleets to reinforce their squadrons in the West Indies, thus carrying out the terms of their secret treaty to upbold the Spanish Cynasty over Cuba."

DEATH OF AN EDITOR.

The Hardy Whig of the 31st ult., is in mourning for the death of the editor, James H. Baker, who departed this life in Moorefield, Va., on the 27th of March. Mr. B. faithfully served his country as a volunteer in the Jefferson company, (Capt. Rowan's) during the late Mexican war, and was beloved and respected by his brother-soldiers. He established the Whig about four years ago, and conducted it in a manner well-pleasing to his friends, up to the time of his death.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Executive Council, and many members of both branches of the Legislature were present. Eighteen military companies and several Masonic Orders were in the procession, and it is estimated that some 6,000 strangers were in the town. The ceremonics were generally of a Masonic character, the deceased having been a Mason. The Rev. George M. Randall, Grand Master of the Lodge of Massachusetts, delivered the funeral sermon.

James Ross Snowden. Director of the United States mint, sends to the Secretary of the Treasury an interesting statement of the expenses of the mint for the past six years. For the first five years mentioned in the statement-namely, to 31st. December. 1852-the actual expenses over and above the charges amounted to $305.812 90-being an average expense to the U. States, during that period, of $61,162 58 annually. During the past year-namely, to 31st December, 1853-the coinage at Philadelphia, instead of being an expense, has been a source of profit; the sum of $102,420 96 having been realized therefrom, over and above the expenses.

THE COMET.

The Cambridge correspondent of the Traveller writes that the comet now so conspicuous in the evening near the western horizon, as seen through the great refractor at Cambridge, presents a blazing nuclues and a tale which may be traced to the extent of ten degrees. The tail is curved toward the north. and has a strongly defined outline about the head and on the south side; but this outline is traced with difficulty on the north side. SPRING HAS COME!

The Rockingham Register very happily says, that Spring, with its smiles and bright face is here! The darkness and gloom of winter has passed away, and the light of Spring shines around us! The chilling winds of winter are hushed into silence, and we here the sighing of the soft zephyrs of spring. The howling blast of March is settled, and the sweet carols of the spring-birds enchant the ear. The robin, with its rosy breast is singing welcome to spring-the birds that when winter frowned, winged their way to the sunny south, have come back to their homes and the merry chirping of the martins call us up to behold the smiling morn of spring! All nature seems glad-and earth and air, and even the sea, seems full of the gladness of the season. But there is sadness in our hearts when we look at the green grass and the budding flowers-and think that they bloom o'er graves which hold the treasures of our home. The rose blooming so sweetly, and the violet which glows, point out the spot where a friend is entombed ! And yet we remember that this is the winter of human existence, and soon the spring of immortality shall open, and the flowers of beauty and immortal bliss shall bloom in a world where no storm shall break

THE ARMORY QUESTION.

We had designed presenting somewhat in detail our views upon the question now before Congress as to the Military or Civil Superintendence of our National Armories, and other public posts. We give one of a series of articles from the Sentinel in our paper of to-day, and shall publish the remainder in our paper of next week.

1830 to 1840. The number of whites attending school during the year. "as returned by families," was 109.711; and the number of white adults who cannot read and write 77,005. The latter melancholy list exhibits an increase since 1840 of 18,218, ever, that the returns of 1840 embraced all over twenty years of age; while the "adults" of 1850 are probably not younger than twenty-one. With the growing density of our population, the working of free schools becomes easier and more effective; but they cannot work at all unless they be first established, and under a liberal and judicious system, too .-The additions made to the yearly appropriations for public schools under the new constitution have not yet had time to show their results. They will do good, doubtless; but the State and the counties are still far-very far-from the proper scale of expenditure for this transcendent object.

THE ACCUMULATION OF WEALTH

In this country has been vast, and some estimate of its extent may be formed if we recur to the official figures within our reach in relation to some items of fixed capital the large amount of which invested in manufactures, ship-building, railroads, houses and stores, has all been derived from home resources.

The number of houses in the United States, by census, is 3.363,427, and free families 3,597,240, or nearly one for each family. If the dwellings increase in the proportion of the population then the number of houses built in the last six years was 663,000; at an average of 1,000 each, this would give $663,000,000 or $700,000,000 with furniture. The tonpage of shipping built has been 1.921,439; worth, at an average of $60 per ton, $115.286.340; the value of railroads $287,100,000; new banks-capital at $65,000,000 --These items alone make the following aggregates: Houses built, 1848 to 1854$400,000,000 Shipping...... 115,286,340 Railroads...... 287,100,000 Banks 54,000,000

$1,167,386,340 In addition to this, all the vast sums for factories nsurance companies, mines, &c., will swell the aggregate without having made any perceptible in crease in the amount of stocks held abroad. The rapid increase of inhabitants in the United States requires the more rapid absorption of capital for new dwellings, irrespective of the rebuilding of stores and old ones. The department reports the ar-rival into the United States last year of 400,777 persons, who will require, in the above proportion, 66,000 houses, and the persons will bring most of the necessary means. Amid this rapid conversion of floating into fixed capital, the money market has re-tained, on the whole, a position of ease and plenty.

of the dreadful preparations. Arrived upon the ground, there was a long dispute as to who should pace the fatal distance, in consequence of a difference of something like a foot in the altitude of the seconds. It was decided at last by leaving the pacing to the undertaker, who gave them all the distance that a pair of legs that looked like the stilts of an ostrich would allow. Marks were made, and teh principals stationed, each armed with a single barreled shooter, not of the largest size by any means.

The day was cool, the place lonely, almost as retired at this season as that visited by

Burr and Hamilton; and but few persons beyond the immediate neighborhood got wind

One of the doctors attempted to get in pills instead of bullets, but the seconds objected. on the ground that they would certainly be fatal, while the lead might wound enough to heal the honor without destroying the life of the recipient. We did not hear the report of the firing, but we understand only one round was got off. Upon the sound of the word "three," the seconds, pistols, and doctors went off, leaving the principals all in a shiver, and the undertaker eclipsed in the smoke. One of the Hotspurs escaped unharmed and the other unarmed for the time, having received a scratch under the arm, which, upon due consultation, the doctors pronounced just enough to make both the men gentlemen and men of honor. The parties immediately shook hands, swore eternal friendship, sealed the pledge with Otard pale all around, and then started in triumphal procession for home ; the doctors with crossed lancets in front, the seconds each with an empty pistol on either side, and the undertaker with a reversed spade bringing up the rear.

The immediate cause of this "deed of high emprise" was of course a woman, said to be young, beautiful, romantic, rich, of partrician blood, and—but that is enough for twenty duels, and we forbear. It is hardly worth while to give the names of the parties; they of removals from the District. are no doubt quite sorry by this time, and will do so no more. It is said that the fair cause of this rash proceeding does not care a fig for either of the boys, but laughed heartily at the joke when the story came to her knowledge. -N. Y. Tribune.

MARRIAGE, HAPPINESS AND COM-PETENCE. WHY IS IT? That we behold many females, scarce spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant. Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected. IN AFTER YEARS, When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands. In view of such sonsequences, no wife or mother is excussable if she neglect to avail herself of that know-ledge in respect to herself, which would spare hen much suffering, be the means of happiness and pros-perity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price-healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a lit the work entitled
