CHARLESTOWN, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1855.

A Poem for the Times. " BORRROBOOLA GHA." A stranger preached last Sunday And crowds of people came, To hear a two-bour sermon With a barbareus-sounding name; 'Twas all about some heathen, Thousands of miles afar, Who lived in a land of darkness,

Called "Borrroboola Gha." So well their wants he pictured, That when the plates were passed, Each list'ner felt his pockets, And goodly sums were cast; For all must lend a shoulder

To push the rolling car That carries light and comfort To "Botrroboola Gha." That night their wants and sorrows

Lay heavy on my soul, And deep in meditation I took my morning stroll; Till something caught my mantle With eager grasp and wild, And looking down with wonder, I saw a little child.

A pale and puny creature, In rags and dirt forlorn; What could she want, I questioned, Impatient to be gone, With trembling voice she anwered, "We live just down the street, And mammy she's a dyin', And we've nothing left to eat."

Down in a wretched basement, With mould upon the walls, Thro' whose half-buried windows God's sunshine never falls; Where cold, and want, and hunger, Crouched near her as she lay, I found a fellow-creature,

A char, a broken table, A bed of dirty straw, A hearth all dark and cheerless-But these I scarcely saw; For the mournful sight before me, The sad and sick'ning show— Oh, never had I pictured A scene so full of woe

The famished and the naked. The babes that pine for bread, The squalid group that huddled Around the dying bed; All this distress and sorrow Should be in lands afar; Was I suddenly transplanted To "Borrrobools Gha?"

Ah, lo! the poor and wretched Were close behind the door, And I had passed them heedless Alas for the cold and hungry That met me every day, While all my tears were given To the suffering far away ! There's work enough for Christians In distant lands, we know, Our Lord commands his servants Through all the world to go, Not only for the heathen ; This was his charge to them-"Go preach the word, beginning First at Jerusalem." Ol-Christian, God has promised Who'er to thee has given A cup of pure cold water, Shall find reward in Heaven. Would you secure the blessing, You need not seek it far : Go, find in yonder hovel, A "Borrroboola Gha,"

"We'll all meet Again in the Morning." | Mr. Jefferson and his Daughter Martha. Such was the exclamation of a dying child, as the red rays of the sunset streamed on him through the casement. "Good bye, Papa, good bye | Mamma has come for me to-nightdon't cry, Papa ! we'll meet again in the morning !" It was as if an angel had spoken to that father, and his heart grew lighter under its burden, for something assured him that his little one had gone to that bosom of Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me. for such is the kingdom of Heaven."

There is something cheerful and inspiring to all who are in trouble in this "we'll meet again in the morning." It rouses up the fainting soul like a trumpet-blast, and frightens away forever the dark shapes thronging the avenues of the outer Life. Clouds may gather upon our paths—cares press their venomed lips against our cheeks—disappointments gather around us like an army with banner, but all this canthis motto upon our lips: "All will be bright in the morning."

Here is one who is doomed to roam awhile in a foreign land, far from the scenes and friendships of his earlier years. Day by day, as he trudges on his pilgrimage, meeting only the cold smile of the stranger, his heart yearns for the communion of the loved ones at home. and silent prayers steal up from his lips that the Good God will watch over and protect them from every peril. To such a one how preciously dear is the thought that though the darkness may now shadow his path, and distance lie like a Dead Sea between him and his friends, he shall yet "meet them all in the morning !"

Yonder is one who sets over a desolate hearth-stone. The wife of his love-she whose voice has cheered him on to great and noble deeds-whose sympathies have been an Ægis, protecting him from every storm of Fatewhose prayers brought down balm from Heaven for his every sorrow-this one has broken away from the home-shrine, and wandered out in the Shadow-Realm whence none can ever return. Day by day, hour by hour, he has watched the shadows creeping toward her, the sunshine fading from her life, and now as her coffin lies before him, it seems as if there was not one bright hope left for him for the morrow. But the spirit of the departed one, hovering yet around him, whispers a moment in his ear, and he rouses up from the lethargy of grief, strong still in the hope that he shall

In the superb new work soon to be issued by the Appletons, under the title of 'The Re-publican Court, or American Society in the Days of Washington,' by Rufus W. Griswold, we find an interesting letter from Mr. Jeffer-son to his eldest daughter, addressed to her when she was at school, in Philadelphia .-This daughter was afterwards married to the Hon. Thomas Mann Randolph, of Tuckahoe, who became Governor of Virginia. Dr. Griswold says of her:

NO. 29.

While Miss Jefferson, in 1783, was at school in Philadelphia, boarding with Mrs. Trist, (grandmother of Mr. Nicholas P. Trist, who is now the husband of the grand-daughter of Mr. Jefferson,) her father addressed to her the following letter, which has never hitherto been published, and is very interesting as an illustration of his domestic character, and his views of the education of women :

Pretty Thoughts.

What is crime? A wretched vagabond traveling from place to place in fruitless en-deavor to escape from justice, who is constant-ly engaged in hot pursuit; a foe for companion of poor innocence, which is too often made to suffer for the guilty. What is thought ! A fountain from which flows all good and evil intentions—a mental fluid electrical in the force and rapidity of movements, silently flowing unseen within its avenue; yet it is the controlling power of all ani-mated nature, and the chief main-spring of all our actions.

What is happiness ! A butterfly that roves from flower to flower in the vast garden of existence, and which is eagerly pursued by the vain multitude in hope of obtaining the prize; yet it continually eludes their grasp. What is fashion ? A beautiful envelope for mortality presenting a glittering and polished exterior, the appearance of which gives no cer-tain indication of the real value of what is contained therein.

What is wit? A sparking beverage that is highly exhilerating and agreeable when partaken at the expense of others ; but when used at our own cost it becomes bitter and pleasant.

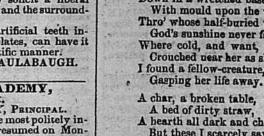

What is knowledge ? A key that unravels all mysteries, which unlocks the entrance, and discovers new and unseen, and untrodden paths in the hitherto unexplored field of science and literature.

What is fear ! A frightful substance to the really guilty, but a vain and harmless shadow to the conscientious, honest and upright.

What is joy! The honey of existence re-ally beneficial and agreeable ...when partaken of in moderation, but higly injurious when

What a beautiful aspect does all nature wear, when the sun has just entered the gates of the east, or is sinking below the horrizon parting with you, which my love for you has in the west! The heathen personified the rendered a difficult thing. The acquirements morning twilight as a goddess, an! assinged which I hope you will make under the tutors to her the office of opening the gates of the east, to introduce the chariot of Apollos Phosbus. In the evening, after sanset, the rays of the sun still continue to illuminate the atmosphere, till he sinks below the horrizon, when the twilight becomes deeper, till it is lost in dark night. Our hearts should expand in love to that great Being, who is the 'author of every good and perfect gift,' and from. whom all our blessings flow, when we look upon the great canopy, spangled with brilliant stars, which are placed there, not only for ouradmiration and delight, but supposed to be inand that her displeasure or disapprobation, on habited by immortal beings, whose organs are adapted to their peculiar circumstances. And which, should you be so unhappy as to incur by any unguarded act, think no concession too while receiving so many bounties from the hand of our Heavenly Father, we should love much to regain her good will. With respect and never cease to thank him, for all his kindto the distribution of you time, the following ness towards us. is what I should approve : From eight to ten, practice music. MENTALLY.-The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Dr. Jehasten's Invigorating Remedy for General Debility. By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who tad lost all hope, have been immediately relieved.--All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Trembling and Weakness, or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, are speedily cured.

Young Men

Young Men Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a babit frequently learned from evilcompanions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be matched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of mature, and indulging in a certain secret habit.— Such persons before contemplating Marriage, 500 steel plate Engravings, brilbio Steer plate Englavings, bin-liantly colored in oil, rich gilt frames, 24x30 in. each......

Such persons before contemplating Marriage, should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the hap-miness of another becomes blighted with our own -piness of another becomes blighted with our own-Weakness of the Organs piness of another becomes blighted with our own.-Weakness of the Organs immediately cured, and full vigor restored. To Strangers. The many thousands of the most desperate and hopeless cases cured at this institution within the last twelve years, and the numerous important Surgi-cal Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reportars of the papers and many other persoas notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. We who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston may religiously confide in his honor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician. There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks copying Dr. Johnston's advertisement, and advertising themselves as physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of the already Afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation that his cre-dentials or diplomas always hang in his Office. AND CHEMICAL ACADEMY, NEAR ALDIE, VA. NEAR ALDIE, VA. In this Institution thorough instruction is given in all the branches of Mathematics of Science useful to the farmer and the man of business. The students are not taught the theory only, but they are instruct-ted in the PRACTICAL APPLICATION of their studies to the every day affairs of life. They are made ac-quainted with the phenomena of nature, taught the properties of soils, the requirements of plants, the composition of minerals, the utility of different kinds of rocks, laws of mechanical forces, calculations of the strength of materials used for building and other purposes, surveying farms, levelling water courses, the strength of materials used for building and other purposes, surveying farms, levelling water courses, laying out roads, making maps, mechanical draw-ing, calculations required in the construction of ma-chinery, &c. Agricultural Chemistry is thoroughly taught, and illustrated by thousands of interesting experiments in the lecture room, in the laboratory and on the farm. The advanced students are taught how to prepare pure chemicals, analyze soils, mine-rals, marks, &c.

A workship is farnished with a Turning Lathe and a great variety of tools for working in wood and me-tal. Hence the students have an opportunity of wit-messing all the branches of mechanism from the fell-ing of the timber to the polishing and finishing of handsome and costly apparatus, every part of which is familiarly explained. Good Humor.

Good humor, which is good nature polished and consolidated into habit, consists in the amiable heart, and in suavity of manners. A person of good humoris pleased with himself? he is pleased with others ; he cherishes humanity, benevolence, candor; and these qualities. infused into has dispostion and conduct, shed around him a chastened gaiety, and he feels complacence in general happiness. Mirth is the glaring solar beams of summer; wit is the gleam of departing clouds on the autumnal plain; good humor is the balmy and genial sunshine of spring, under which we love to recline. Mild and genuine good humor has of expression: fashionable politeness puts on its semblance, but, as in the case with every species of hypocrisy, it fails by its overacted efforts to please. This amiable quality is consitent; no latent frown blends with its smile, feigned officiousness contradicts the language of the lips, its expressions are faithfully to its sentiments, and it is perenial as the source whence it flows. Good humor is estimable as a social virtue; is equally estimable as a personal quality. High reputation and superior attainments have naturally a dazzling splendor, which is only approachable by confidence, when sub-dued by the refreshing softness of good humor. Moderate abilities with assumed pretentions, provoke censure or excite ridicule : but adorned with good humor, they insinuate themselves into esteem even more than eminent but austere attainments. The show of distinguished qualities humbles mediocrity, and generates the dissatisfaction of jealousy; the display of witty and confident assurances silences modes ty, and produces a feeling, which has perhaps a tincture of envy; a vein of satire, which elicits occasional hilarity, arms all with the precaution of fear.

Hints to Fashionable Ladies.

Madame Fontenoy, a French lady, has written a book on New York Society, which she mistakes for America. Amid much that is false and absurb, she has the following true remarks on the habits of American ladies, in celebrated for her luxurious prodigality, intel-ligent and handsome. She was handsome as American girls are handsome ; possessing a regular form, splendid hair, determined and forward bearing, an inviting eye, white and and poisoned by these things, but if all is purired skin, fine mouth and teeth-in short, ty, sincerity, and truth, contentment and piety, she possessed all the charms which make the

A pilgrim is wandering over Life's dreary wast, hopeless and cheerless. To him, earth's choicest fruits have been as poison as asps, and its greatest conquest but gilded mockeries, withering as flowers do within his grasp. And now as Age seatters its dead blossoms in his way, he is growing footsore and weary, and he longs to sit down and enjoy the calm of Death. But even as he sinks fainting at the road side, there is a rustle of wing around him, a whispering of sweet words, and with the strength of a giant, he leaps again upon his way, singing the song of the thanksgiving and deliverance. Hope has risen from the dead, and he feels that "all will be bright in the morning !"

So it is ever. Trouble may come upon 115 and for a while obscure the brightness of our lives, but it will not last forever. The cross we bear upon onr shoulders may be heavy-our faith in Heaven may have gone down in doubt and darkness, but all is not vet lost; some one star still twinkles in the Heaven above us. CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS-SECOND SESSION.

On MONDAY the Chair laid before the Senate com nications from the Secretary of War and the Secretary of State; which were haid on the table and ordered to be printed. Mr. WELLER submitted a resolution directing the Secretary of War to inform the Senate what progress has been made by that department in the defences at the harbor of San Francisco, Californis, and what is the present condition of said work : agreed to. The Senate considered and passed the joint reso-

Jution in relation to sending relief to the Arctic expedition, under command of Dr. E.K. Kane, and the bill to amend an act to establish a land district in the State of Florida, to be called the district of Tampa. The House bill making appropriations for the transportation of the United States mails by ocean steamers, and otherwise, during the fiscal year ending the 30th of June, 1855, was taken up on motion by Mr. Hunter, and debated at some length by dessrs. Mason, Weller, Brown, Toucy, and others; after which, on motion by Mr. Rusk, the bill was indefinitely postponed. The bill to amend and modify the judicial system of the United States was then taken up, and sundry amondments were adopted; after which the further consideration of the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

After considering and passing the joint resolution in relation to the lithographing, engraving, &c., of the maps and charts required by Congress, the Senate went into executive session, and, after some time, adjourned.

On MONDAY the Speaker laid before the House communications from the Secretary of State, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Interior, and the Secretary of the Treasury, containing statements of expenditures made and estimates of appropriations needed; which were ordered to be printed and appropriately referred. Three bills were introduced making appropriations for the improvement of the Ohio and Missis-sippi rivers, and Boston harbor, in the State of Massachusetts; which were severally read the first and second times and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. LETCHER, from the select committee appointed to investigate into the conduct of patentees in obtaining a renewel of their patents, submitted a resolution to enable that committee to compel the attendance of W. B. Chase, who has twice disregarded the summons of the sergeant-at-arms, to give in his testimony with regard to the extension of Col. Colts patent; which, after being discussed by Messrs. Letcher, Bayly, Stepens, and Walsh, was postponed antil to-morrow.

The House then, as in Committee on the Whole proceeded to the consideration of the Pacific-railroad bill, when Mr. Stephens made a speech in defence of the South, and in reply to the speech made the other day by Mr. Campbell. Mr. BOYCE followed with a speech against the acquisition of Cuba. The committee then rose, and the House took a recess until 7 o'clock, P. M,

During the evening session, the Committee of the Whole House resumed the consideration of the Pa-cific-railroad bill, and Mr. Smith, of Alabama, made a know nothing speech, advocating the repeal of our naturalization laws and the exclusion of all foreigners from the ballot-box. He was followed by Mr. Hamilton, who addressed himself to the subject before the House for consideration-the Pacific-railroad bill-and made a constitutional argument against it.

Mr. BENTON obtained the floor; and the House adjourned to meet to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. THE BEST PAPER IN PENNSYLVANIA 'TO ADVERTISE VIRGINIA LANDS IN, IS THE VALLEY SPIRIT, published at Chambersburg, Pa., by P. S. Dechert & Co. Its cir-culation is three times as large as the average circula-tion of County papers in Pennsylvania, and care has been evercised to have it extensively circulated umong the agricultural community, they being geb-erally the most substantial patrons. It is generally believed that an advertisement of Real Estate in this paper, will be read by more Farmers, and therefore by more persons disposed to purchase that kind of of property than if inserted in any other journal in this part of the country. The Valley Spirit's circula tion lies mainly in the rich and populous counties o. FHANKLIN and CUMBERLAND, but yet it is not confined to those counties. It circulates also in Ad-ams, York, Lancaster and Lebanon on the East, Ful-ton, Bedfordand Someräet on the West and Hunting-don, Junista, Perry and Centre on the North. From these parts of our State many Agricultur-ists have removed to Virginia, and others, it is not to be doubted, will year after year follow. Mr. FESSENDEN introduced a bill making appropriations for the continuation and repair of certain public works in the State of Maine, heretofore commenced under authority of law. Mr. MALLORY submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on Naval Affairs to inquire and report as to the value to commerce and navigation of Maury's Wind and Current Charts, and upon the names as endersements had passed round. justice and expediency of making suitable remuneration therefor : agreed to.

Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads to inquine into the expediency of introducing into the mail service of the United States Allen's air and water-tight mail-bags in place of those now in use: sgreed to.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to increase the compensation of the judges of Supreme Court and members of both houses of Congress; which was discussed at some length by Messrs. Badger, Butler, Shields, Johnson, Mason, Geyer, Stuart, Clayton, and others. The further consideration of the bill was postponed until to-morrow, and, after the consideration of executive business, the Senate adjourned.

On TUESDAY the Speaker laid before the House a message from the President of the United States, transmitting a report from the Attorney General on the subject of the construction of the Minnesota railroad ; which was appropriately referred.

Mr. BRECKINRIDGE, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported back the Senate bill nonly known as the Texas bill, with certain amendments; which, together with the substitute proposed to be submitted by Mr. Smyth, of Texas, were ordered to be printed.

Mr. SHANNON, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a bill for the relief of Samuel A. Beldin, on account of property destroyed by Mexi-cans: referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

The House then proceeded, as in Committee of the Whole, to the consideration of the Pacific-railroad bill, when Mr. Benton made a speech in favor of withdrawing the subject from the consideration of Congress, and of allowing the road to be constructed by private enterprise. Mr. McDOUGALL then spoke at length in reply to the remarks of Messrs. Benton and Hamilton, and in advocacy of the bill.

After the offering of various amendments, some of which were adopted and some rejected, Mr. Dunbar submitted an amendment as a substitute for the bill; which was pending when the committee rose and the House adjourned

In the Senate, on WEDNESDAY, On motion by Mr. Bayard, the bill to anthorize the enlargement of the General Post Office building was taken up and pass-

Mr. WADE reported a bill for the relief of James Pool: which was read three times and passed.

Mr. DAWSON introduced a bill making an appropriation for the removal of obstructions in the Saanah river below the city of Savanah, Georgia; which was read twice and made special order for Wednesday next.

Mr. WELLER submitted a resolution setting apart Friday of each week during the present session, from and after the 20th instant, to the consideration of the private calendar, in preference to any other business : agreed to.

The bill to increase the compensation of the judges of Congress was briefly discused and laid on the table

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the bill to amend and modify the judicial system of the United States. Mr. Bell, Mr. Chase, and others expressed their views upon the subject at some length : and Mr. Weller then moved that the bill and all the proposed amendments to it be recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary, with instructions to report a bill which shall relieve the judges of the Supreme Court from the performance of all circuit duties. The motion was not agreed to-yeas 21, nave 25. After refusing to adopt the amendment of Mr Douglass and refusing to lay the bill on the table, the Senate adjourned without disposing of the sub-

On WEDNESDAY the Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Hon. Rufus Choate, tendering the resignation of his office as one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. MEACHAM submitted a resolution to refer the communication to a select committee of five, whose duty shall be to investigate the matter; and inquire whether any forther legislation is necessary to carry out the objects of the founders of that institution ; which was agreed to-yeas 93 nays, 91.

the above gentlemen had no idea of the way their. The manner in which the frauds have come to light tion therefor: agreed to. Mr. CASS submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads to aquire into the expediency of introducing into the renewing the paper, so the notes were provested, and the endorsers notified thereof, to their pedaliar astonishment. The forgery now because evident and J. W. Rice, seeing that he could not save the plot from bursting to his ruin, bade adieu to Petersburg early last week. Since then, the subject has been the theme of the astonished community, and none were more aston-ished at the fast than Mr. J. W. Rice's brother, and his partner, Dr. A. Whitehead, who had not the remotest notion of the manner in which he was privately carrying out his fraudulent plans, till Wednesday last. The dry goods firm of Greenway & Broth-ers, (Virginians,) in New York, let him have $15,000, and would have granted him more on the securifies he held forth to them. We understand that a party has started off in quest of Mr. John W. Rice, to try and arrest him and bring him back for trial and punishment.

Tribute of Respect. The Judges of the Court of Appeals and Circuit

Courts, held in Richmond, Members of the Bar and Officers of those Courts, having met together in the room of the Court of Appeals, at the State Court House, on Friday, the 5th day of January, 1854, On motion of Geo. N. Johnson, Mr. Wm. H. Macfarland was called to the Chair, and Powhatan Roberts requested to act as Secretary."

Mr. Johnson, in feeling and appropriate remarks, announced to the meeting the recent and sudden death of John R. Cooke an old and distinguished member of the Bar, and offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adop

It having pleased Almighty God to remove from us, by death our friend, John R. Cooke, a distinguished member of the Bar of our city and State: Resolved, That in this dispensation of Providence we mourn the decease of one whose high intellectual endowment and cultivated mind commanded ad miration and respect, whose legal attainments and powers as an advocate were of a high order, and whose amiable and generous heart endeared him to those who had the privilege of knowing him. Resolved, That a mark of respect for his memory, we will wear the usual badge of mourning for thir-ty days.

Resolved, That these proceedings be presented by the Chairman of this meeting to the Court of Appeals;

that the Court be requested to cause them. to be en tered upon its records, and that they be published in the newspaper of this city. Whereupon, on motion, the meeting adjourned. WM. H. MACFARLAND, Prest

Queer Matrimonial Freak.

A letter from a citizen of Livingston county, Ky., of the Supreme Court and members of both houses to the Danville Tribune, relates the following bit cers; $100 to the sub-officers; $100 to the crew of family history in that neighorhood :

"A widow lady took an orphan boy to raise, quite small, and when arrived at the age eighteen she married him, she then being in her fiftieth year. They lived many years together, happy as any cou-ple. Ten years ago they took an orphan girl to raise. This fall the old lady died, being 96 years of ago, and in seven weeks after, the old man married the girl they had raised, he being 68 years old, and she

CHARLESTOWN:

The Rights of the States, for the Sake of the Union. TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 23, 1855.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. FOR GOVERNOR. HENRY A. WISE. OF ACCOMAC. FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR E. W. MCCOMAS. OF KANAWHA. FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL, W. P. BOCOCK. OF APPOMATOX. . /

What is to be Gained by the Election of, and what is to be Lost by the Defeat of the Democratic Nominees?

Democracy have you ever asked yourself the above question ? . Have you ever thought of the responsibility which rests upon you in the coming contest. Are you aware that under a specious guise the old Whig party is rising from the mouldering embers, in which an unparrelled defeat buried it, and that before long, aye, ere you have time to dream of the truth, it will have gained a giant's strength. If you are not, we warn you of the fact. We tell you that you have not only to do battle against the old Whig party, but you have been sleeping too long, and part of your own household have gone estray and have joined your old enemies. Not only this, but all others, of all parties, have leagued together, and have commenced a bitter crusade, against your time honored organization. Do not allow yourselves to be deluded. Do not let the glittering train of devices and the novelty with which this new party has clothed itself, cause you to forget your fealty to an organization which has so often preserved you from the crushing effects of false legislation, and the deplorable results which have ever followed the ascendency of the Whig party of this Union

Again and again have you repudiated the pernicious doctrines of the opposition. Time after time have you closed your ears against the boasted promises of a party which knew not what it was to fulfill that which it promised. Not as the old Whig party do they appear before you. No, for they are well aware that if they came to you as they did in the past, that your ears would be closed, and that their syren voice of delusion would fall powerlessly and listlessly upon you. It comes to you disguised It is wrapt up in a fascinating garb, but, mark it well, and you will find it to be your old enemy. It manifests all the instincts, it exhibits all the pastions, it has the same aims, which characterized the old Whig party. No garb however specious, no mantel however rich and fascinating, can hide its nakedness and deformity; no painting can destroy. the linements of its face. It may succeed to a small extent, but the decerning will detect the imposi-

Now Democrats of Virginia will you support th old Whig party? Will you give aid and comfort to your old enemies? Will you bring disgrace on the acts and dishonor on the memory of your fathers? Will you barter those principles which have been the treasured lawel's of your life and which are as immortal as the souls of the men who first promulgated them, for those which were batched in Romanism versus Catholicism. "War on Comanism to the hilt;" "bpposition toapacy," "and death to all Popish influ iences," are xpressions to be met with in the platforms of Know Nothing principles published in their organs through out the country. And when asked what they mea by this? and whether they do not prescribe a religious test as qualification for office ? the Know Nothings deny that they proscribe any man on account of his religious belief simply. But say they, "there are some Catholics," whom they designate as Romanists, "who believed in the temporal power of the Pope, and are therefore, inimical to the constitution and government of the United States, while others do not. And we make this distinction, for the latter are as freely admitted into our councils, as any other native born Americans." Now let us test the truth of this position. Let us see how this distinction is to be made? Suppose for example that two Catholic subjects of the pope of Rome were to make application to become citizens of the United States. And let us suppose for the sake of argument, that there does exist such a distinction, that one of them is a "Romanist," and that each takes the oath required by the laws of naturalization. And in the language of that act, "renounces forever, absolutely and en tirely, all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentale, state or sovereignty whatever, and particularly by name, the prince, potentate &c., whereof such alien may at the time be a citizen or subject. that is renounces forever, absolutely and chlirely, all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate Sc., and particularly to the pope of Rome, on solemn oath, in the presence of his God; and swears also; he will support the constitution of the United States. The Know Nothings suppose that one of these aliens believes in the temporal power of the pope, and that he has not therefore, renounced all allegiance thereto; in other words, that he has wilfully, and deliberately purjured himself, for it amounts to this .--But how are they to discriminate between them? How is it possible for any human being to acquire a knowledge of the internal or subjective state of the mind of another, except through his acts, or by his words? But the former they do not wait for, and the latter they will not believe, since they pre-suppose that one of them has purjured himself, they will not of course take his mere statement afterwards .--Now where is the line of distinction to be drawn? By what criterion are they to discriminate? And who are to be the judges? The Know Nothings .-Their own caprice or fancy makes the distinction ; and their own omnipotent will is the sole criterion by which they are guided. And thus by setting themselves up as self-constituted judges, of the internal phenomena of the mind of man, which none but himself can know, they strike a fatal blow at the liberty of conscience itself, and endanger at once the very existence of all human rights. They lay down a rule, which says, "you shall not acknowledge the temporal power of the Pope," they judge of its infraction, and proceed at once to execute the penalty which they themselves have prescribed, by depriving a large and respectable class of their fellow-citizens of the privilege of holding offices, either, under the State or federal governments of the United States. They themselves are the accusers; they are the witnesses; they are judge and jury; and having made the law, and prescribed the penalty, they proceed at once to cary it into execution, contrary to every principle of law and equity; contrary to every precept of common justice ; in violation of the Con-

a day, and which will die in a day? We estimate you falsely if you are willing to do these things .-We know you would scorn to forsake your principles. We know that if the old Whig party were openly to ask you for aid, for support, you would turn with disdain from the proffer, and cling still closer to the tenets of the Democracy.

In the defeat of Henry A. Wise, you will clevate to power the very party, which for a life-time you have been endeavoring to wonder powerless. In their success they will put in active operation all the obnorious principles, which you believe are so detrimental to the interests of the State. Are you wiling by one single act to undo all that you have ever done? And again, we would warn you of the effects of your present action on the future welfare of our Commonwealth. Do not attempt to quiet the uncasiness of your minds with the delusive assurance, that if you find you are mistaken in the policy and intentions of this new party, that you will be able to repair the injury, by returning again to the Democracy. No, if the Know Nothing party succeeds, no efforts which you may make bereafter, though they may be herculean in their character, will be able to efface the burning shame, the blighting disgrace or the ruinous effects of your nction. It will be written on the pages of the history of your State, and there it will remain an undecaying monument of your folly, of your mad-

Can you pause for an instant in the present contest. - Can yon hesifate in a choice between pure, uncorrupted, undefiled Democracy, the faith of your fathers, the faith of a Jefferson, a Mason, and a Madison, and that of the old Whig party galvanized, resuscitated in the shape of Know Nothugism?

Democracy of Virginia, you that were faithful, when all were faithless; you that weathered the storms of '40 and '48, we call on you now, when the country is shaking with the convulsions of faasticism, and the people are worshiping strange Gods, bending their knees at strange altars, and offering up new and strange prayers, we call on you to be steadfast, still turn your faces to the temples which your fathers Fedred, and bend your knees at the same shrines at which they worshipped.

If the Democracy is successful in the coming Ftruggle, it never can be defeated. It will be proof against peril. The organization of the party will be placed on as permanent a basis as that on which Its principles rest. Its Entitiet will shrink back cowed and abashed, never again to make a serious opposition to any of its measures. The wildest dreamer that ever doted on the spectre principles of the Whig party, will learn that the anticipated promise of a time when his cherish notions of governmental policy would be in full play, has passed away with all the other delusions of his morbid brain

Why should Henry A. Wise be defeated ? Why should the banner of Democracy be Stricken down. and its lustre destroyed by being trailed in the dust? .Will you, Democrats of '55 be the first to sully its brilliant hues and tear its ample folds? Will you dare to make war on your own family? We do not belong to that class of politicians who desire to lash dissenters into the ranks. Far from it. We only desire that you reason with yourselves Take the premises which we have laid down, and they are facts and truths, and we feel perfectly confident that your conclusions will be such as we have made, which every honest man must make. Take into consideration all the conseduences of your action, and we have no fear for the result. We know you will act as as rational men, as sincere Democrats:

who advocate such monstrous doctrines, give them all the offices of government, legislative, judiciary, and executive, and let them put into practice the principles they advocate and what are to expect? what have we to hope for then? A proscription which deprives one class of our citzens of a part of their civil rights, may with the same justice, and upon the same plea, deprive them of the rest. If one degree of persecution may be justified, another degree of it, under different circumstances, may be justified also. The causes which bring about revolutions in the affairs of men are always gradual in their development. Who knows how soon a pampered and bigoted clergy, of an established church, may lord it over the land? The first step has already been taken, who can tell but the last may be also? How soon may we hear on this side of the Atlantic the cry, " No Popery ! the church is in danger !" We have already heard, " No Popery ! the Union is in danger !" Persecution and oppression have always had their pretexts and excuses, in every age. How like the apologies of the learned commentator upon the English laws, for British persecution, are those of the Know Nothings of the present day ! "As to papists," says he, " what has been said of protestant dissenters would hold equally strong for a general toleration of them; provided their separation was founded upon difference of opinion in religion, and their principles did not extend also to a subversion of the civil government. Democratic Association.

We have been requested to state that an effort will be made on next Friday to form a Democratic . Association in this place. The necessity of such action is apparent to all, and the good regults which will now from a thorough organization of the party, cannot be estimated at the present. Democrats, if there was ever a period when you were called on for united, earnest action, that period is now. If there was ever time which demanded your exalted patriotism, your ceaseless, untiring exertion, in be-patriotism, your ceaseless, untiring exertion, in behalf of your principles, that time is now. You are therefore requested to meet in Jefferson Hall, at 2 o'clock, Friday next. Dead. Dead. We regret to state (says the Shepherdstown Register) ter) that Mr. GRONGE BYERS, who was burned while extinguishing the flames which caused the death of Miss Shean Gonter, which sad occurrence we for tieed in our last, died on Friday morning 19th inst: He was about twenty eight years of age. Mr. B was upright and housest in all his dealings, and heaves a devoted wife and young child to mourn their loss.

Forty years ago, this present October, two young merchants of this city, who had been school-fellows together, met on a bright autumnal afternoon, after the business of the day was over, in front of the old Tontine Coffee House, and as they walked up Wall street together, one said to the other, " Come and dine with me to-day. Monday seems a dull day, and my wife and I like to have some one drop in socially and dine or tea with us." The invitation was accepted, and after dinner, as they sat over their wine, (limited to a couple of glasses each, and talked of their school days and of their pleasant intercourse in the year that succeeded, they agreed to dine with each other on alternate Mondays, unless prevented by sickness or other causes, so long as they should live. Time passed on; sons and daughters were born to them, grew up, married, and settled in life; grand children, too, have not been wanting. New York has grown from one of the plainest of little cities to be one of the greatest cities of the world; her commerce has increased beyond the wildest dream of imagination in former days; hotels and warehouses line her streets, steamers and other shipping her wharves, and private dwellings of more than princely elegance her up-town squares and avenues, all on a scale of such magnificence, that he who had prophesied of such things, would once have been thought an enthusiastic dreamer. Our whole country, and indeed the whole world, has changed in the same ratio, until the mind is lost in conjecturing what two score more of years will produce. Eleven different Presidents have governed our own nation, and the older nations of the world have changed their rulers from revolutions and other causes again and again. Such are the changes time have made, and still these two old friends, hale and healthy yet, may be seen on every Monday afternoon, going up the street together to ful-fil the mutual promise they made in early manhood. They set a high standard, at the commencement of their merchantile life, of what an honorable, upright merchant should be, and have never departed from it; and if they have not been among the wealthiest of the merchant princes of the Empire City, they have had enough,—and have spared not a liitle when the demands of public and private charities have been presented to them. Origin of the American Flag.

A few weeks since, a paragraph going the rounds, inquired when the present United States flag was adopted. The Cincinnati Gazette replies thus : The following is the original resolution adopting the Stars and Stripes : "In Congress, June 16, 1777: Resolved, that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes alternately red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white, in a blue field, representing a new constellation." As new States were added to the Union, from time to time, new stripes were added to the flag, till the number had increased to fifteen or twenty. At length, about thirty years ago, the stripes were reduced by act of congress to the original number of thirteen. A Southerner gave a dinner party to a few friends, who happening to converse about Sambo's power of head endurance, the gentleman said he owned a negro whem no one in the party could knock down or injure by striking on the head. A strong burly fellow, laughed at the idea, and as Sam, the colored fellow was about entering with the candles, the gentleman stook behind the door, and as he entered, Sam's head received a powerful sockdologer. The candles flickered a little but Sambo passed quietly on merely exclaiming : 'Gentlemen be careful of de elbows, or de lights will be distinguised.' IMPROVED PIANO .- It is stated that a Frenchman named M. Alexander, has invented a contrivance for giving the piano a prolonged sound. For many years this has been sought for in vain. It was impossible to obtain a sustained note, like the human voice or the violin. The invention is said to be very simple.

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, writ-ten after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable his tory of current events, and as such, in addition to
