HESE Instruments having been before the public for the past thirty years, have upon their excellence alone, attained an UNPURCHASED PRE-EMI-NENCE that pronounces, them unequalled. Their TONE combines great power, richness, sweetness, and singing quality, as well as great purity of intonation and harmoniousness throughout the entire TOUCH is pliant and clastic, and is entirely free from the stiffness found in so many pianos, which causes the performer to so easily tire. In WORKMANSHIP they cannot be excelled. Their action is constructed with a care and attention to every part therein that characterizes the finest mechanism. None but the best seasoned material is used in their manufacture, and they will accept the hard usage of the concert-room with that of the parlor, upon an equality—unaffected in their melody; in fact they are

BILL ARP TO MR. TAMMANY HALL. MILLEDGEVILLE, Feby. 1866. DEAR TAMMANY-

You are a glerious old feller. You've got a heart—a great big heart—and if you were here I would exclaim in the landgwage of my unkle Billy, "put your hand in mine, honey, and kiss me." We are whiped at last, old Tammany. We rebs are conquerd, subdued and subjugated, not by bayonets or bullets, but by your frendly overtures, your manly speeches. You and Sunny South Cox manly speeches. You and Sunny South Cox and Company have captured us, taken us prisoners, and we are now as docile as we have been hostile. Dident I tell you that we would meet you on half way grown? Dident we stretch forth our arms for sympaty, and wasent we about to turn away in de fiance and despair for the want of it?

" We spred the mantle of oblivion over the past. If you of the South have the spirit to accept we of the North have the heart to tender you the offises of kindness. We will help you plant again the seed whose perfect leaves, flowers and fruits shall be yours with ours to Did Mr. Cox say that, old Tammany, and did you clap your hands and say "ongkh ore?" "We are to-day arrayed against the con-tention concerning the black race, and are looking forward to the white race for the welfare and greatness of our country." And dident you say that, too, old Tammany? and dident all hands jewbilee and exclaim "that's it, them's em, that's the doktrine, the nigger may be a big fish, but the white man is a whale." And dident you all take another drink on that, Mr. Tammany? Wish some of us rebs had been there, old fel, jest to have techd tumblers with you. Thank CHERRY EXPECTORANT, the Lord that there are good men North of Dixey. Ther's a heap of 'em here, Mr. Hall, and their hearts are jumpin and a bumpin and a thumpin as big as yours. Their hearts were castles, and their buzzums sitadels, but you have taken'em. Dont be alarmed, dont reseed, dont take back nuthin; be kalm and sereen, and we of the rebellious South will wipe out the last spark of hatred curses that were upon our lips We are Colonel pind a seceshion cockade upon Jeems' risin up from our humiliation, and like strong men are shakin the dust from our garments. Think of it, Tammany. What a glorious sight to see a brave peepul lifted up—a whole nation of white folk rekonsiled. What spirit, what gost, what inspiration told you how to reach us? How did you know that we was > corner of our buzzums? You've got as Tammany and we'll respond to you, we'll reinforce you. We've said some hard things, Mr. Hall; we've tried to skorch, and blister and exceriate, but you see we were goaded, gored by bulls-Trumbulls and Republican bulls. They bellerd and we pawed dirt. They punched us in the cage, and we growled. They put tax under our saddles and we kicked. What else could we do? Jest think of it, Tammnay. Ruined and desolate, the people in mourning and their homes in ashes no luxuries, no comforts, no Christmas worth a cus, no Santa Claws, no nuthin. Could we lick the hand that laid us low?-nary time-no, never While we was strugglin to rise from out the wreck, to breath the air above us, to take an invoice and see if there was enufleft to live for, our enemies were a shoutin hit him. kick him, mash him, smash him agin.

We were then at the bottom, Tammany We didn't know there was any lower deep but our enemies were huntin, and they stil are huntin some deeper pit to put us in, and some pendulum of Poe to swing and cut us. Well we aint heathens, we've been to meetin, we've seen misshionerys, we've got churches and sermons, and hymn books and prayers. We've got pious old men and wimmen, and brave boys, and maidens who are finished lal the way up like the corners of a temple.—God bless em, Tammany, partickler them last, for in connection with them are centerd the hopes of posterity and the joys of our life. We've all got hearts, old Tammany, and there's many a good Samaritan among us who wouldent pass you by and go over on the other side. We've got charity too, and long seffering, and patience, and hope in abundance, though we cant believe them Radicals will walk right straight into heaven without knockin at the door. That do ctrine of elektion is a powerful thing, Tammany, but as shore as you are born it looks sorter, unconstitutional to us for them fellers to enter the celestial city. They may pass amendments enuf to do it. and I reckon that's why they are a tinkerin at the old dokument so long; but somehow or other when I heard one of em a dyin, my thoughts naterrally have a downward tendency. I cant help it,

But maybe we'll get over sich feelings .-My wife says we will atterwhile. We are all right towards you, old, Hall, and our Legislature have been tryin for about two months to harmonize things generally, and any rea-sonable man ought to be satisfied with the efforts they have made. But we can't satisfy them Radikals, I dont care what we do. We elekted Mr. Stevens and Hershel Johnsin to the Senate, and they are mad about that. They wanted Josh Hill and Jeems Johnsin becaus they was Union. Well now, Mr. Tammany, its better always to take men who have done sumthin than men who have nuthin. Mr. Hill delivered his farewell address before he was bet, and he said he would like to know why we sing hosanna to Andy Johnsin, who fout agin us, and yet we wont elekt-him who dident. That's what's the matter Joshua, if I may be allowd to apostrofize you, you dident take no side at all. for Governor in sixty-three, and you writ a letter agin rekonstruktion and compared the old union to a proclain vase that was broke, and coldent never be mended agin—no never.

And dont you know if you, d been elekted you would have had to take the oath of office, and be swore to support the Constitution of the Confederate States so called, now deceased. But you are smart Joshua, and it was funny what you said to the General that night, when he axd you if you would have taken that oath. You pausd Joshua Embroideries, Tapestry Silks, Beeds, &c., for nearly a minet. It was a mity tite queselekted." Bully for you, Joshua. But now said in your speech that you was playin see | EXTRAORDINARY EXCITEMENT IN BRACKEN saw in politix, and if your end of the plank went down in Georgy it would go up in Washington, by which I suppose you meant that you was ready to swap ends just to suit your pekuliar serkumstance; and that's what's he matter agin Joshua. You have been seesawin too long and chagin ends too often .-Twasent no time to be swappin hosses my

But see here Joshua, Mr. Marshall may be a clever reporter, but he treated you bad ly. He's left out a heap of your speech.— He aint had printed that see he saw figer at all, and it was I assure a most beautiful metafor of speech. And has left out them little sparks of Southern patriotism which you emitted. Howsomever, may be these things would have been in the way of the Washington and of the see saw. I'll tell you my friend, where you wasted time in your remarks. You said that if we dident elekt you now we might want you hereafter, and then we couldent git you. Dont worry your self on our akkount. Dont cross the bridge before you git to it. It will be time cnuf, Joshua, for you to refuse when we ax you We havent been runnin you down to give you offis, and we aint a goin to. Do you seesaw away on your plank, and take good care that you dont fall off. Your speech was sorter spiteful Joshua, and if reduced to its gum would read about thus: "Boys Im a whale, I am, and Im a prophet, and if you dont elekt me to the Senate I'll go to Washington and give you the devil."

Well, we dident elekt him Mr. Tammany, and the devil may come. In the landgwage of Patrick Henry, "let him come"-I repeat it, sur, "let him come." There was another candidate, Mr. Hall, whose name was Jeems Johnsin. Well, I like Jeems purty well. He dident run nobody down, nor put on airs. I mout have voted for him if he had lived in the State, and I hadent liked Hershel better. The truth is, I was partial to Jeems for his "old lang sine." He was a powerful war-horse in sixty-one. How glorious he figured at the Columbus war meetins. He encouraged the boys amazin, and he beat anybody a gittin volunteers. How proud we was of him that night, when he and Colonel to such as yeu. We are now wipin away the Sims made friends on the stand, and the coat-collar. He then got in for two hours in words that breathed of ditches and death, and was full of the spirit of '76. His watch word were "Benning and seceshion," and he voted for em both. Oh, he's a whale in gettin up a war. Alas! he were sile semper then, but he are sile transit now. So mote it be Mr. Tammany. 1 couldent help it. Howsumever, it dont matter much, I reckon, for we've got another Johnsin, and they are a high roostin family,

Now you understand the trouble. Tammany, about this elektion. We was huntin for two full-blooded Union men who could find their way to Washinton and back without a way-bill, and we couldent find em. They aint in the State, I tell you. So we fell back on old land marks, we are ridin the old wagin hosses, and our opinion is, that Andy wont raise any row in partikler about it. If he does, we don't care a darn

Yours truly, BILL ARP.
P. S.—I'm gittin to be highly loyal, Mr Hall, I know I am; for a feller tried to sell me a little nigger to-day, and I wouldent buy him. I heard of a bill that's comin up to bind out the niggers for 99 years, and I'm agin it. Darnd if I'll vote for more than 50. You can tell Thad. Stevens of these hopeful signs.

COUNTY, KENTUCKY. A Demon or Apparition, on its Travels.

A correspondent of the Mt. Sterling (Ky.) Sentinel, gives the following account of a tesy which has prompted this call upon me, I. rise to respond to that call, by the presentation of a few thoughts suggested by this meeting and its objects. A few days ago my attention was arrested by the appearance of a fiery fiend visible in Bracken county : BRACKEN COUNTY, KY., February 17, 1866. The people in this neighborhood are in the greatest state of excitement in consequence of a remarkable visitation, or apparition, of some demoniagal personage in our midst. I am not a believer in the doctrine that disembodied spirits can revisit the glimpses of the moon, nor do I believe that epoch designated in prophecy, when the chains of Satan are to be unlossed, has arrived. But the things in a very great quandary to undersand why the word loyal-was used; and after mature reflection, I came to the conclusion that it could only mean those men who were loyal to the United States during the past warwhereof I now write are of such strange import, so inexplicable, that I have determined and upon this conclusion is based this interto put you in possession of a full and explicit narrative of them, merely premising that every word is true, and the facts sworn to, low-cifizens, the lip-service of a do-nothing-and stay-at-home loyalty [to the United States,] which costs nothing, demands no sacrifices, imperils neither life, limb, nor health; that frequently pays, in oiling as witness the accompanying affidavit. What it is, I am unable to say. I merely give the facts, such as I am personally cognizant of, and leave it to wiser heads than my own to unravel the mystery.

On Monday night last, after myself and family had retired to rest, we were suddenly aroused by a great outcry from the negro quarters,—which are immediately to the rear of the house,-in which prayers vied for supremacy with blasphemies; men, women and children screaming "fire!" and "murder!" at the top of their voices, all conspiring to create a scene worthy of a pandemonium. Terribly startled, my wife and I sprung from the bed. The room was illuminated as brightly as by a flood of sunlight, though the light was of a bluish cast. Our first and most reasonable conclusion was that the negro cabins were being consumed by fire. We rushed to the windows and beheld a sight that fairly curdled the blood in our veins with horror, and filled our hearts with the utmost terror. My daughter, shricking loudly, came flying into my room, hysterical with fear. This is what we beheld:

Standing to the right of the upper cabin, stances? In the former he had but princifilled our hearts with the utmost terror. My-

near the fence that separates the negroes' garden from the house yard, was a creature of gigantic stature, and the most horrifying appearance. It was nearly as high as the antithesis of this picture? He may comb of the cabin, and had a monstrous head | be firm, consistent and practical, but he has not dissimilar in shape to that of an ape; two short very white horns appeared above each eye; its arms were long, covered with shaggy hair of an ashy hue, and terminated with huge paws, not runlike those of a cat, and armed with long and booked claws. Its breast was as broad as that of a large sized ex. Its legs resembled the front legs of a horse, only the hoofs were cloven. It had a long tail, armed with a dart shaped horn, which was continually switching about. Its eyes glowed like two living coals of fire, while from its nostrils were emitted sheets of bluish colored flame, with a hissing sound, like the hissing of a serpent, only a thousand fold louder. Its general color, save its arms, was a dull, dingy brown. The air was powerfully impregnated with a smell of burning sulphur. The poor negroes were evidently laboring under the extremest terror, and two of them, an old woman and lad, were actually driven to insanity by their fears, and have not recovered their reason up to this writing. I do not know how long this monster, demon or devil, was visible after we reached the windows—possibly some three seconds. When it vanished it was enveloped in a spiral column of flame that reached nearly to the tops of the locust trees adjacent, and which hid his horrid form completely from veiw. The extinction of the fruits? Dead leaves and grainless husks; the flame was instantaneous, and with its | and I cannot believe that the South will any disappearance we were relieved of the presence of this remarkable visitor. It would be impossible for me to attempt to describe the effect of this visitation upon the members of my family. Suffice it to say, that my wife and two daughters are firmly persuaded that it was the veritable Satan .the victims of a horrible nightmare, did Lnot know that we were fully awake, and actually witnessed that which is above recorded .-But pricisely the same apparition made its appearance at my neighbor's, Mrs. Wm. Dole, appearing there in precisely the same shape in which it presented itself to us, save the head, which appeared to those who witnessed it at Mrs. D's, to resemble that of a horse.-At Mr. Adam Fuqua's, another neighbor, its head was that of a vulture. On Tuesday night it appeared at Mr. Jesse Bond's, there wearing the head of an elephant. At all these places it made the same appearance as at my house-excepting only the changing of the head-and disappeared in the same manner. These parties are all reliable ladies and gentlemen, and at my request made mental advocacy.

Men may be enthusiastic without blame in defence of a principle of religious faith, or a political theory; but when the bounds of reason are transgressed, and the rights of others invaded, then enthusiasm becomes debased to fanaticism; and that which was be-fore noble, becomes, in its excess detesta-

More especially is this true, when in per-litical affairs, artful and selfish politicians, avail themselves of the misdirected zeal and passion of the people to attain their own ends of personal ambition, or self-aggrandizement. They blend truth and falsehood together in a curious mosaic, and proclaim the expulsion of the Irish Catholic or the destructi Southern Oligarchy with equal facility. The same spirit which drove the Jews from Spain, or with cruel iconoclastic fury despoiled the cathedrals of England can be brought into action in the nineteenth century, as well as in the days of Torquemada, or the rugged despoilers of English churches.

With this madness of fanaticism there is combined an appreciation of right and wrong to a certain extent—it is a madness with a method in it. Monocular in its vision, it sees but one object, and does not notice how many nice, social adjustments must be disarranged in its attainment. It is because of claimed rebel, whose fealty [to the Confederacy] was firm, true, consistent and practical in the dark and bloody days of an ill-starred Confederacy—whose faith was sorely tried in the red-hot crucible of peril, hunger the honesty of the masses of men that, having once fastened their regard on any one object in religion or politics, they pursue it with such remorseless energy; and it is for this reason especially, that the masses become such easy implements in the hands of selfish leaders, who know how to use popular passions. and death, yet emerged from the ordeal purified by the trial, with honor untarnished and the priceless jewel of consistency undimned in his keeping. It is Adversity which tries men's souls. Show me a mail who is for the attainments of their own ends. These artful men state certain general principles, proper enough when isolated from other is-sues—admissible as abstract truths, but imfaithful to his creed and principles during the tempestuous storm of adverse fortune and practicable in social reform, and with the element of truth derived from such a source, the various ingredients of party faith are flung in like the eye of newt and toe of frog, cast into the cauldron by the witches in Macbeth. To the impulses of a false enthusiasm, the party managers add the incentives of hope and fear; and no party, however virtuous of depraved, has ever been found able to command a hearing, much less to achieve results without being provided with an organized form. When a fanatical party has become powerful and disciplined enough to be felt with a certain weight in a nation, it is in a never been tried, and the proof is wantingthe cup of ease and the couch of relaxation position to introduce the principle of fear are not the instruments with which we test; and it then begins to threaten those who remen's fidelity; but the bitter chalice of sharp fuse to obey its commands and to control their necessity, and the snow-crusted bed of frozen action by fiery attacks, upon the least asseraction by fiery attacks, upon the least asser-tion of their own opinions, in opposition to the decrees of the party.

And hence it is a common occurginia at this juncture? I answer unhesitatingly, no! What care our law-makers at Washington for professions of Southern loy-alty? They neither believe them, nor derence to see corrupt measures supported, or profligate politicians occupying high places contrary to the sense of the people—indeed, this has been so frequently the case that sire to believe them. It does not suit their purposes; it is inimical to their party su-premacy. Goaded, himbled and bound down by the restrictions of a radical dynasty, the many calm and earnest advocates of republican government have had their faith in its practicability seriously shaken, if not absofound an advocate in Andrew Johnson, who,

And, despite of the most liberal printed constitution, we now see a fanatical party enand challenges an antagonist, as the statesdeavoring by flerce and revolutionary proceedings, to pervert a government which fesses to be popular, to a despotism more absolute than that of Russia, because of less indiency in "stooping to conquer." The South has already exercised it, and what have been dividual responsibility, if conducted according to their theory. The contest is now between the sentiments and opinions of Washington and those of the Czar Nicholas, embodied on the one hand in the person of Mr. in the strength of its, political power with the conservative elements of the North, and at Johnson and the great new party of the country, and on the other in Stevens and the practical disunionists, who are madly straining, like so many blind Sampsons, at the pillars of the temple of Constitutional Liberty. the ballot box hurl from their high offices the radical representatives of misrule, wrong and tyrannical asurpations. As sure as the hand-writing on the wall presaged the fall of Bel-shazzar and his kingdom, so sure do these radicals read, in the dim vista of the future, ruin; dismay and utter annihilation: There is no extravagance in this picture.—
The question of freedom for the slaves haveing been settled, that of slavery for freedmen has been decided. We have to settle this question of national liberty on the issues now before the country, and we are clearly right in the belief that Mr. Johnson stands at the head of those who maintain the integrity of the Constitution, and cherish some glorious era, will dawn upon those free, equal and United States of America. reverence for the traditions of our fathers.

We have not exaggerated the nature of the struggle, and we believe that the people of the entire country appreciate its nature.—
If a patriotic Executive, actuated, as he is,
by principles of Republican purity—opposed, as we know him to be, to the extinction of local liberties of the country, as pitilessly as that which fell upon King Lear discrowned, then we shall have hope of constitutional liberty. But, if Mr. Johnson should fail-which we do not fear-then the cyclone will leave no vestige of the cloud-clapped palaces of political freedom which once shone with such conspicuous splendor in the dreams of the American people.

With every right at stake, and every national hope of the future, financial, commercial cial, and political prosperity of the country involved, there is no room to doubt the power of the new party of the country to avert from us the threatening calamity of a still further perversion of the form and spirit of the Government. This fact is fully appreciated by the citizens of Portsmouth, who discarding ald party affinities, have rallied under the leadership of Mr. Watts to the support of Mr. Johnson.

THE JOHNSON MEETING. Notwithstanding the deep gloom that the action of Congress has cast over the people of Jefferson, the Mass Meeting of Saturday was a success. The people are convinced that the only hope of the land is in President Johnson, and they prove their confidence in him by pledging themselves to be as true to him as he shows himself to be true to them

The speeches of Judge Kennedy, Mr. Travers and Major Yellott, breathed the true spirit of patriotism—the love of constitutionality, and; therefore, were thoroughly on the side of the Executive and against the radicalism and disunionism of Congress. The resolutions were to the point, and could find gima Justice of the Peace, and the Supervi-

OUR STATUS. So far as the action of Congress can do it, the counties of Jefferson and Berkeley have been transferred to the State of West Virginia; and we venture the assertion that there are more sad hearts in Jefferson this day than ever before. Our people feel that they have been cheated out of their birthright; that an outrageous and shameful wrong has been perpetrated upon them; and that they are compelled to submit quietly to a government that has no legal and constitutional warrant for its exercise of jurisdiction over them. Our people loved their old State with a love as tender and true as that of a child for its mother, and it is no wonder that this forcible tearing them away from the State of their love, has made their hearts fill with a sorrow too deep to find a voice. But there is hope in the old land yet. The President has not yet signed the bill of disruption. The Supreme Court is still to pass upon the legality of the transfer. And so, while there is life there is hope.

THE FIVE GOOD MEN.

Senate-too good and true to aid West Vircounties-Messrs Davis and Guthrie, of Kentucky, McDougall, of California, and Saulsbury and Riddle, of Delaware, have written their names upon the grateful hearts of three-fourths of the people of Jefferson; and although their efforts to drive back the invader were not successful, we shall never forget them so long as we live. It will be cheering to us, when we have been completely chained in West Virginia, to remember that they did right by us; and our prayers, both of men and women, will never cease to ask God's blessing upon them and those dear

WHO CAN TAKE IT? The board of Registrars of Jefferson county, acting under the law of West Virginia, have determined upon a sett of questions to be propounded to each person applying for registry. We publish these questions in this paper, and ask our readers to peruse them carefully. Who can answer these questions? If any person, we take it, cannot answer each and all of them, he is not entitled to be registered, and, hence, to vote. We do not believe there are fifty men in Jefferson county who can show a record that will square with the requirements of this Board of Inquisitors. The 10th interrogatory will, of itself, exclude nearly every white male in the county-provided it be truthfully

Eran's FLAG.-On Saturday last, whilst our town was in the midst of excitement on account of the great Johnson endorsement meeting, a vehicle appeared at the eastern end of town, over which floated the beautiful green flag of Erin. As this vehicle approached we discovered that this emblem of Ireland's nationality, was suppoated by some as gallant spirits as ever espoused any cause, all now enthusiastically enlisted in the Fe mias movement. In the party we noticed Major Quinn, and Messrs. Davies, McGraw and Kirwan, whose names attest the land of their nativity. The fleg is a green field, in the centre of which is a harp—that harp of which Moore so sweetly sung-

"Dear harp of my country, in silence I found thee;
The cold chain of sorrow had hung o'er thee long—
Till proudly, my own Island harp, I unbound thee,

"BACON AND GREENS."

The citizens of this town were favored with n intellectual treat on Wednesday evening last-the occasion being the delivery by Dr. George W. Bagby, of Richmond, of his celebrated lecture; "Bacon and Greens, or the Native Virginian." This lecture has been delivered to crowded houses in Richmond Lynchburg, Petersburg, Baltimore, and other points, and the approuncement that " Mozis Addums" would held forth at the Carter House was sufficient, upon a very short notice, to fill the spacious dining hall with an intelligent and appreciative audience. After a handsome introduction by Mr. E. M. Lackland, the distinguished lecturer proceeded in the delivery of the lecture which has been so favorably received by the press and the public in the cities named above .-He argued ably, and with irresistible force proved the great virtues of the "hog" above all other animals, "man not excepted;" showing that as an article of commerce it was valuable beyond calculation, and that the downfall of the Southern Confederacy was clearly no dissenting voice among those present; but traceable to the failure of the "hog crop."it is a noteworthy fact that the West Vir- | He also proved, plainly to the satisfaction of his audience that "nowhar" on God's earthsor, in this township, refused to sign the call was bacon cured to that state of perfection for the meeting, or take any part in its pro- that it was in Virginia. Mr. Travers said that during a recent visit to Washington, in furtherance of certain interests of the county, he had enjoyed the privilege of an interview with the President many examples of its invaluableness as an of the United States. That he had found him firm and resolute in his determination to resist radical aggressions upon the Constitution of the country, and unyielding in his purpose so to shape his policy as most speedily to restore the Union on the principles of justice to all. All measures looking either ginian were vividly brought to the mind of to delay in restoring the Southern States to their proper position of equality in the Union or the imposition trion them of operous or degrading conditions would meet with no favor at his hands. That in a political point of view the wishes of the people were his gospel, and the Constitution his supreme rule of action. Mr. Travers concluded his remarks by introducing the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted as an expression of the sentiments of the vast majority of the citizens of Jefferson County " Whereas, In a time of great peril to the nation, grave differences of opinion have risen between the Executive and Legislative

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

"BACON AND GREENS."-The mail of last Wednesday brought us the news that the U. S. Senate had put Jefferson in West Virrinia; and, thus, cast a gloom over all; but Bacon and Greens" came to us the same night, and made us laugh so heartily that we forgot our troubles, for the nonce; and, in spite of Congress and West Virginia, we were carried back to old Virginia, and sported for a time in our old haunts and among our own people. We cannot undertake to review this admirable lecture, but must content ourselves by saying that Dr. Bagby made us very merry over his wonderful humor, and won our hearts by the touching pathos with which he spoke of our cherished Virginia-from which.

Let us ledicate ourselves to this purpose with unselfish and unshaken faith, that its accomplishment will be its greatest reward. Let us go forth bearing aloft the bann r of our country, emblazoned with the words, "The Constitu-

Let us appeal to the whole people, from the northern border to the Maryland line; from our inland sea to the Delaware, and if public virtue be not dead, if patriots be not extinct, if devotion to principle still lives, if treason is still abhorred, then indeed, in October next will victory crown our efforts, bringing with it a Constitution preserved, a Union restored a land redeemed from the madness and folly which now threaten to destroy it.

BEPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RECON-STRUCTION.

The first report from the joint Committee n Reconstruction was presented on last Mon day in the House of Representatives. It has exclusive reference to the State of Tennessee. In addition to the report of the mafority, two minority reports were also laid before the House, together with the memorial of the Representatives elect from Tennessee and the testimony taken by the committee with reference to the condition of that State. The majority report provides for the restoration of Tennessee to her proper position in the Union upon the following conditions:

I. That the people of that State will main tain and enforce in good faith their present constitution of government, which is deemed by the committee republican in form, and in armony with the constitution and laws of Disaffection in the Radical Ranks. In a letter from Washington, a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:- I am enheld to state with great certainty that there is an element in the House, which is considerable in numbers, that is exceedingly restive under the yoke of the tyrant Stevens. The remarks of Mr. Blaine, of Maine, on the West Point Academy bill, are a sign from northern business centres. Complaints of the action of Congress reach members in Many feel that the groundwork and the framework of the platform of the Stevens cabal are fatally wrong. A considerable portion of the Republican party in Maine are hostile to it. It is understood that Mr. Conkling, of New York, is already sick of his part in ringing in the Radical platform ipon the body of the resolution for admissi Representatives from Tennessee. It wilf

he opposed by some Republicans. Some think the delusive and cheating resolution of the Reconstruction Committee concerning Tennessee will not pass because it contains no provision for negro suffrage. For that reason Radicals may not vote for it and the Democrats and Conservatives certainl will not, since that it contains all the Radical ideas to which they are opposed. For the same reason the President would veto it.

The Hon. John D. Baldwin, member of Congress from Massachusetts, writes this description of Andrew Johnson and his late speech: Baldwin is of the Sumner-Stevens stripe in politics :

* * * " What the President said is before the country. How he said it, my poor words may fail to tell. For the first time I stood near and looked closely on the man. In the course of an eventful life I have seen many men of wilful power and force, but never before have I looked on one so thoroughly embodying the evil spirit of revolution. It will not do to underrate, Mr. Johnson. He is terribly in earnest, and, withal, most vindictively cool. A thoroughly-paced demagogue, his inconsequential logic, his egotism, his repetitions, his thorough belief in himself, and his popularity, are all elements of strength when he faces such assemblages as were arrayed about him yesterday. Andrew Johnson is an able man-how able, I never realized till yesterday. 'All results are involved in his policy. Had he a Cabinet as able and as desperate, the dire results which the near future would bring could hardly be named now. We stand on the verge of a fierce strife, to meet which the country should gather its strength and gird up its loins .-This man is no weak Buchanan, and he means to crush Congress or be crushed. "Mr. Johnson is a man of stalwart mould. Just above middle stature; he is so broad shouldered, firm set, and deep-chested, as almost to seem below it. He has a large head It is a compact home for his fiery will and brain. His face is marked, strong oval out-line, powerful under jaw; well defined but rather sharp chin; a wide, straight mouth, full flexible hips, skin coarse in cexture but firm, complexion swarthy, hair coarse black, streaked with grey, a nose small at the root, but full and large at the nestrils, which expand and lift as he speaks, broad roomy forehead, beetling bushy eyebrows, beneath which are a pair of the coldest, hazel grey eyes I ever saw in a human head; these are the outlines of Andrew Johnson.

MR SEWARD ALL RIGHT. A dispatch from Washington to the Philadelphis A dispatch from Washington to the Philadelphia Inquirer, states that in a conversation on Saturday with a leading member of the Pennsylvania delegation, Secretary Seward brought up the question of reconstruction, and was very severe upon Congress for their refusal to admit the Southern delegations. The member thought that after four years of a rebellion that had taken millions of years of a rebellion that had taken millions of armed men to suppress, and enaited upon us a debt of three thousand millions of dollars, it was the duty of Congress to patiently examine this the question of whether the same men were in a fit constitution to be agin entrusted with the political power of this Government; that no Rebel should ever have a seat in Congress with his cousen; that, the policy of the President was lamentable, as it would prove a positive injury to the South. Mr. Seward replied, with a great deal of warmib, that the policy was that which Mr. Lincoln had adopted, and was carrying it out when he died, and that Mr. Johnson was instelly continuing it; that the people of ell, parties would sustain it, and there was not a Rebel was merely continuing it; that the people of ell, parties would sustain it, and there was not a Rebel to-day in the whole country, and he should not use the word. Mr. Seward is it favor of the admission of the entire body of Southern members just as they are, and of the repeal of the test oath.

THE SITUATION IN WASHINGTON. The Westrington correspondent of the New York

The Radicals don't mean to have any reco tion with the President, and he don't mean to concede anything to them. Therefore, the breach must widen, all reports to the contrary, not withstanding.
There are some good grounds to fear the assassination of the President. Not the negroes, but the mulances, are feared, some of whom have been heard to express themselves very threateningly. The negroes are too docile for assassination. Such ideas do not run in their heads. It requires blood, to think of abon hendishness.

Intimations reach us from Washington that President Johnson contemplates issuing a proclamastion, in a few days, declaring the Union restored, and re-establishing the writ of habeas corpus throughout the nation. We hope that the President has in his possession information from the Southern States which shall fully justify him in sending forth such a document to the country. It would send a thrill of joy through the hearts of the American people, and be received by the lovers of freedom all, over the globe with acclamations of gladness: It would infuse new vigor into commerce, stimulate every department of industry, and strengthen the currency of the nation. THE NEW LIGHT.

Atmospherie Coal Oil Gas Light, NOW on exhibition at the store of LEISENRING SON & CO., in Charlestown.

Artificial light of some sort is a universal necessity; a safe, cheap and brilliant one, is a luxury; a uxury too, only enjoyed heretofore by those living in large towns or cities where Gas is used. Years of study and thousands of dollars annually have been spent by experiments of different kinds, in trying to invent and perfect a Burneror Lamp by which Coal Gil could be burned practically without the expense and trouble of chimneys, this long looked for and much desired object has at last been obtained, and is styled the tained, and is styled the ATMOSPHERIC COAL OIL GAS LAMP.

Its adaptation to Dwellings, Churches, Railroads Steamboats, Hotels, Stores, &c., is unsurpassed, in short, this invention brings the luxorious and brilliant Gas light within the reach of all, whether in city or country. It gives the light of a six foot Gas Burner for less than one cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of the ordinary chimney lamp, with one-third less oil; will burn, when turned down to a taper light, ten hours for one cent, is free from smoke or smell; can be carried from room to room, the wind will not blow it out.

This light is destined to supersede all portable artificial light or chiffney lamps now in use; thousands of them will find ready sale in every country; no family that uses this light one evening sall again be annoyed with the chimney-lamps. Thousands of them will be used in cities, as this light is one half cheaper than Coal Gas, and much more pleasant to the eye. The exclusive agency for the sale of this Lamp can be secured in every country through out the United States, and parties purchasing will be supplied with the Goods at frasonable rates.

of This Whiskey is characterized by the absence of heavy Fusil Oil, Sugar and Poisonous Metalic compounds, and by retaining its ethereal oderous oil untainted. It has the chemical composition of a pure, carefully defecated Rye Whiskey.

Respectfully,

State Assayer, 16 Boylaton street.

Boston, Mas., 23d August, 1862.

Having made a careful chemical analysis of the Pancatharticonized Old Rye Whiskey of Mr. John E. Wilson, Baltimore, am pleased to state that it is entirely free from Fusil Oil, Metalic Salts, or other matters in any way detrimental to health. In aroma, richness and delicacy of flavor, it cannot be surpaesed.

Respectfully yours,

G. A. LEIBIG, Analytical Chemist.

Bullimore July 26, 1869. Baltimore, July 26, 1862.

Careful chemical analysis of four kinds of Whiskey—Superior Old Rye Whiskey, Superior Old Bourbon Whiskey, Superior Old Wheat Whiskey, Superior Old Corn Whiskey—Pancatharticocized by means of the patent apparatus invented by John E. Wilson, of Baltimore, Md., have shown them to be entirely free from the heavy Fusil Oils and from the pusonous metalic compounds often found in Whiskeys.

They retain the Ethereal Products, entirely free from any Tann produced by injured grain, or carefrom any TAINT produced by injured grain, or care-less fermentation, and being unmodified by the use of sugar, are remukably pure products of delicate chemical operations. Respectfully,

A Negro Emcute.

The Police Fired Upon by Armed Mil tary Companies of Negroes -A Citizen Shot

For some time past the lazy negro pensioners upon Government charity, at Chimborazo hospital, have been afflicted with ennoi. They devoured their rations of Government codfish and corn meal, quaffed free soup, toasted their shins before wood provided by the Government and hauled to their doors in Government teams, and enjoyed ample leisure to make foreging expeditions at night upon, the hen-roosts and larders of their fellow-citizens, and to-snooze away the fatigues of their labors on the ensuing day; but still they were dissatisfied and yearning for military glory, several companies were formed, the members of which were armed with muskets, pistols, sabres, clubs, or any weapon which could be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen. On Friday night a company of these Falstaffian renegades crossed Bloody Run at a charge and yore paper, But maybe i hev rit Enuf now. marching over to Union Hill, came acress a young yore paper Has got sum mity fine Pictures in man named Adams, who, when he percieved their it the mister sperit there is a most but approach and their violent behavior, endevored, by a detour, to avoid them, but they followed him up, brandishing their weapons, and becoming alarmed, he fled, whereupon the company fired a volley at him, one shot wounding him in the head and another in the arm, but he succeeded in making his

When the affair was known, Major Claiborne started for the spot at the head of a small police force but found all quiet. Sergeant Baptist of the force with five men, took a different route and were joined by a squad of soldiers sent up from the Libby to Arriving near Bloody Run bridge the police advanced to reconnoitre, but were halted by a negro sentinel with "who comes dar?" On being answered "the police," the order was given to "Fall in company B?' and the police were greeted by a-vol-ley which proved harmless. Returning the fire, they fell back for reinforcements, which being obtained, 'they again advanced to the bridge, but "company B" had retreated. The police arrested a straggler, and the military guard from the Libby proceeded to the huts at Chimborazo arrested nine others, and the whole party will appear before Col. McEntee to day. Their names are registered on the books of the Libby as follows: John Green, Jno. Wright, Mat. Banks, Geo. Smith, Wm. Jackson, Wm. Johnson, Shad Jasper, Geo. Jefferson, Wm. Lewis, Tom. Jackson. Lewis, Tom. Jackaon.

General Turner at once dispatched a force of three non-commissioned officers and twenty privates to preserve the peace in the neighborhood of Chimborazo, and desired the co-operation of Major Claiborne, if necessary, but although apprehensions of another disturbance on Saturday night were entertained, nothing of interest has since to provide a red the less nothing of interest has since transpired, and the last courrier from from "the front' brings tidings "all's quiet along the Bloody Run to-night."

We think this outrageous conduct on the part of the Chimborazo negroes is pregnant with meaning and hope the military authorities will at once. perceive the propriety, the necessity, of seizing all arms in the hands of the pensioners there.—Rich. Enquirer.

COVINGTON AND OHIO RAILROAD.

We announced yesterday the very gratifying intelligence that the bill which had passed the Virginia Legislature appointing commissioners, who are empowered to entrust the completion of this great work to some competent and reliable company, had been approved, without amendment, by the Legislature of Westeru Virginia. We published the names of the commissioners appointed by that Legislature, with the exception of one, viz. Joel MCPHER. isiature, with the exception of one, viz: JOEL MCPHERson, of Greenbrier county.

The Commissioners on behalf of both States are as follow: For Virginia—Messrs. John B. Baldwin, of Augusta; George W. Bolling, of Petersburg; Thomas S. Flournoy, of Halifax: Robert H. Maury, of Richmond; and William J. Robertson, of Albemarle. For West Virginia Messrs. George W. Summers, of Kanawha; J. O. Watson, of Marion; James Burley, of Marshall; Burton Despard, of Harrison; and Joel McPerson, of Greenbrier. These Commissioners are directed to "offer the benefits of the charter to capitalists, so as to secure the speediest and best construction, equipment, and operation of the Covingtou and Ohio railroad.

To this end they are empowered to contract with any parties satisfactory assurances of capacity and research parties satisfactory assurances of capacity and res-ponsibility, and to introduce into the contract any additional stipulations for the benefit of the State not inconsistent with the bill. But as we publish the bill this morning, we refer the reader to it.

VANDALISM EXTRAORDINARY .- The Norfolk Virginan gives the following account of a revolting and inhuman instance of vandalism committed on the dead of that city:

"The son of the late Captain James Skinner was in our office yesterday, and informed us that upon examining the family vault at the cemetery he found the key would not unlock the door, which, upon pulling towards him, fell outside upon the ground. On entering the the vault he found that the body of his father had been removed from the metalic coffin and placed in a rough box-the coffin itself having been stolen. The silver plates and handles had been wrenched from the coffin of his grandmother, and the coffin had been broken open and mashed. The remaining coffius were in the vault, but the handles and platss had been wrenched off.

These coffius were deposited in the vault two or three years before the war, but the vault had been visited frequently and immediately before the evacuation of the city by the Confederate forces. It is conjectured, therefore, that some time during the war, and after the Confederate force left this city, this cheal-like set of robbing the dead and preving upon ghoul-like act of robbing the dead and preying upon its last resting place was committed. The body of Captain Skinner had upon it a gold chain, attached to which were likenesses. The chain was gone, but the miniatures were not disturbed. Mr. Skinner in visiting the vault was accompanied by a friend, Mr. George Jones, who is ready to substantiate his statement. The Dogberry of the cemetery was also present. We should not be surprised if upon examination of other vaults similar acts of vandalism should-be discovered.

-'Pa,' said a little boy to his father, 'has ma got bees in her mouth?' No, my son, why do you ask?'
'Cause Captain Jones caught hold of her and said he was going to snatch the honey from her lips;' and she said, 'Well, make haste.'

Peace Times.-Last Saturday marked an era in the history of Indanapolis. A Democratic township convention was openly held at the court house. It was announced, for some time previous, that such convention would be held, and yet it was suffered to meet in peace, to transact its business quietly, and to adjourn without molestation of any kind whatever. No brickbats were burled, no slung shots wielded, no revolvers drawn, and no shoulder hitters bullied and blustered around. No shotted guns pointed their grim muzzles at the building, and no bristling bayonets overawed the meeting. We hail this re-establishment of law and order as the dawning of a better day. We luxuriate in the

priety of the people of Franklin, Johnson county,

Indiana, is greatly shocked by the marraige, near that town, last week, of John Landers, a well-to-do farmer and a white man, with a negro woman named Abba Family. Landers was a citizen of respectability, but has for many years been a violent Abolitionist. He has probably acted with more honesty than most of his Abolition brethern, and has practically demonstrated his faith by his works.

Much excitement prevails in the neighborhood in regard to the marraige, and Landers and his sabl bride will probably find that it is necessary fo them to vamose the ranch in order to save them

REMOVAL. D. HOWELL, begs leave to inform his customers, and the public generally, that he has removed to his Store, lately erected on the old stand, formerly occupied by Sadler & Howell, where he will be happy to meet his old customers and as many new ones as may see proper to patronize him. Thankful for past favors, he solicits a continuance of the same, pledging himself that no efforts will be spared to accommodate and please the people. His STOCK having been replenished from time to time, now comprises a very general assortment. All he asks is a trial feeling confident he can self goods on as reasonable terms as any one else.
