PIANO.

THESE Instruments having been before the public for the past thirty years, have upon the rexcellence alone, attained an UNPURCHASED PRE-EMI-TONE combines great power, richness, sweetness, and singing quality as well as great purity of intona-tion and harmoniousness throughout the entire TOUCH is pliant and clastic, and is entirely free from the stiffness found in so many pianos, which causes the performer to so easily tire. In WORKMANSHIP

hey cannot be excelled. Their action is constructed with a care and attention to every part therein that characterizes the finest mechanism. None but the best seasoned material is used in their manufacture, and they will accept the hard usage of the concert-room with that of the parlor, upon an equality—unaffected in their melody; in fact they are "NOT FOR A YEAR-BUT FOREVER."

Interesting Divorce Case.

A divorce case, which has been lately pending in our courts, and to which has attached something of interest, was decided on Wednesday by Judge Meredith, who issued a decree in favor of Mrs. Jessie B. Harvie, plaintiff, absolving her from the matrimonial bonds formerly existing between herself and having formerly figured on a stage under her maiden name of Jessie Warner, and, rumor says, that, undaunted by the unfortunate termination of love's first young dream, the fair divorced proposes soon to link herself in hymenial bonds with some other daring spirit.

The husband found consolation in the loss having formerly figured on a stage under her made in a stage under her made in man of Jessis Warner, nod, rimor says, that, undanned by the unfortunate termination of lore's first young dream, the fair divorced proposes soon to link herself in hymenial bonds with some other daring spirit.

The hisband found consolation in the loss of his wife by the unexpected gain of a fortune, for on the very day on which the divorce was granted he received a letter from his father or who was supposed to be dead), announcing lis return from foreign parts, and offering his son the sum of $12.000 with which to commence business.—Richmond Enquirer.

— Every young man is engerly asking the best way, of getting on in life. The Bible gives a very chord answer to the question:—Walk in the way of good men and keep the paths of the righteeous."—A great many books of advice and direction have been written, but here is the gist of them all.

· An Important Bill.

We have been frequently interrogated in . A remarkable case, in which a Boston lady regard to the provisions of the bill passed by is now on trial before the Superior Court at the Legislature of Virginia at its session of Hartford, Connecticut. The particulars are last winter, in reference to the maintenance given by the Hartford Post, as follows: of the rights and jurisdiction of Virginia over the counties of Jefferson and Berkeley. For the information of our readers, we publish below, from the Acts of Assembly, the bill as it passed the two houses of the Legislature:—

Chap. 85—An ACT to provide for the assertion of the Rights of this Commonwealth to Jurisdiction over the Counties of Jefferson and Berkeley.

Passed March 1, 1866

Passed March 1 1866. Whereas, notwithstanding the passage, during the present session of the general assembly, of an act repealing all laws giving consent to the annexation of the counties of Jefferson and Berkeley to the state of West Virginia, it appears that said state is making Virginia, it appears that said state is making more elapsed before she heard of it again, and an effort to obtain the consent of the congress found that it was in the Asylum for the Deaf of the United States to said annexation: and and Dumb in this city, being a charity pupil whereas, in the judgment of the general from the State of Massachusetts. A picture assembly, such action on the part of congress of her husband, whom she claims was the would be wholly nugatory now that the father of this child, was shown to him; when consent of Virgi ia has been withdrawn: he instantly exclaimed, as well as he could, and whereas the state of West Virginia is and in the presence of several witnesses exercising jurisdiction over said counties: and whereas it may be the congress of the United States will, after the adjournment of this legislature, give its consent to their annexation to West Virginia, thereby making it necessary, before the legislature shall again convene, for this commonwealth to have its of the kind that had come to his knowledge." rights to jurisdiction over said counties determined by the proper legal tribunals:

The marks of the boy now here correspond exactly to the one he attended, and wlo was determined by the proper legal tribunals:

1. Be it therefore enacted, That it shall be the duty of the attorney general of this commonwealth, under the direction of the governor, in case the consent of congress should be given to such annexation, at once to in- has considerable more testimony to introduce, stitute such legal proceedings as may be which, he thinks, cannot fail to convince any proper, either at law or in equity, and to adopt and carry out all other measures as may be necessary on the part of this common wealth, to secure, as soon as possible, a decision, by the appropriate legal tribunals, of Mrs. Phillips, Staples, Wilder and Frost, she attempt to annex said counties of Jefferson able to substantiate her claim to the boy, who and Berkeley, or either of them, to the state of West Virginia, or of said state to exercise jurisdiction over them. And the governor is hereby authorized and directed to employ, and associate with the attorney general, in conducting said proceedings. Reverdy Johnson, and such other competent counsel as he may deem proper, and to pay them such just compensation as may be agreed upon, together with all other necessary expenses attending the same, out of the appropriation hereinafter made.

2. And be it further enacted, That the governor be and he is hereby authorized and requested, at the earliest day practicable after the refusal of congress to give such consent or after a decision by the appropriate legal tribunal, in favor of this commonwealth, to proceed to have said counties fully organized in respect to all their functions, both judicial and political. 3. And be it further enacted, That to defray the expenses incurred under the firstsection of this act, the sum of ten thousand dollars is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be paid from time to time, as required, under the direction of the governor. upon the warrant of the auditor of public 4. This act shall be in force from and after the passage thereof. [From the St. Louis Democrat, 12th]

Suicide of an Editor of the Atlanta Era. About a week ago, Dr. B. L. Seago, assistant editor of the Atlanta Era, arrived' in this city, and took a room in the fifth story of the Southern Hotel. He appeared quite melancholy, and had but little to say to any one about the hotel. On Thursday, bills were sent to the office from an apothecary for one ounce of morphine and three pre scriptions composed of morphine and chloroform. The last seen of him was on Friday night. At 2 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) his room was entered through the transom, and his dead body found lying on the bed. Coroner O'Reilly was summoned, and an inquest was held. Several letters written by the deceased a short time before his death were found on the table, showing that he had taken his own life. No money was found among his effects, nor had he deposited any at the office of the hotel. He was about thirty years of age. Several letters, written in pencil, were found.

THE SUICIDE'S LAST MOMENTS. This is my fourth and last dose. I am getting quite sleepy, and soon will be gone. Welcome, Oh, death! To live is to suffer unutterably; to die is to be at rest. Much I could write, but brevity must be cries and instinctive utterances with the genthe style now. I only desire to be remembered kindly. Let those who love me love and chorus to the distracting din, and heightmy memory. If I have wronged any man, let him forgive, as he would wish to be forgiven. But one word for her who alone has now almost found its extreme limit, and the won my love. She who had evidence of my love five years ago still reigns alone in my heart. Day before yesterday I sent her a few lines, which, when she receives them, she will recognize, though there is no signature to them. May God bless her, and deal with her tenderly Let no wave of sorrow ever cross her breast; no misfortune ever cast swooped down from the murky heavens to its blighting shadow upon her soul. I am enfold, with gauzy wreaths of flame and W. H. Libe, co I, 11th Miss.

The Schoolmaster's in that Bed.

The following is one of the many incidents that befell a "boarding round schoolmaster:" I had been teaching in Lewis county, in this State, and this term was boarding round. One evening, after school, one of my scholars stepped up to me and said:

"Mr. Jones, father said you would come home with me." "Very well," I replied, and forthwith set out for my patron's house, which was distant some two miles. Now, be it known, that James McHarry-for such was his namehad two daughters, the pride and envy of the whole community. I had heard so much about them that I was anxious to see them.

When we arrived I learned that the girls It is not strange that the animals on the premises shared the wonder and amazement when we arrived I learned that the girls had gone to a party the other side of the creek; so I went to bed execrating the luck which deprived me of seeing them that night. The night was well advanced when I heard one of the girls come home, and passing into an adjoining room she warmed herself before some coals which were alive on which possessed the people. This was man-ifested by the mingling of their own peculiar the hearth. It seems the old gentleman and lady slept in the same room, which I was not aware of then. Having warmed herself, she turned to leave the room, when the old man spoke:

"Oirls," said he, "the schoolmaster's in your bed." "Very well," said Sarah, and passing through the room I slept in, went up stairs.

About an hour had elapsed when I heard Judy, the other one, come. She stood at the door a long time, talking with her undressing herself, and coming to the side of the bed, prepared to get in. Now, it happened I lay in the middle, and turning back the clothes, she gave me a shake, and said in a suppressed whisper;

"Lay over, Sarah."

I rolled over and whipped the corner of the pillow in my mouth to keep from laughing. In she bounced, but the bed would squeak. The old man heard it and called cut:

"Judy!"

THE ELECTION OF THURSDAY.

The farce-called an election-held in this county on Thursday last, was a disgrace which the deepest humiliation will fail to wipe out, and a stain upon a portion of our people which will deservedly mark them with the brand of eternal infamy. In ordinary political contests, where one party contends for the mastery over another, there is much to excuse, and many things to be everlooked, but where the matter is drawn down, as it was in the late contest, for or against the infamous constitutional amendment, the adoption of which disfranchises. and the rejection of which enfranchises, a large majority of the people of the community, it is right and proper that the people should know who are their friends and who their enemies. In Charlestown Township, the Board of Registration had left us twentythree voters, out of a voting population of over four hundred. Of these twenty-three, twenty went to the polls and recorded their votes. We have taken the pains to ascertain the names of these twenty men, upon whom rests, to a certain extent, the status of the four hundred. As recorded upon the pollbooks they are as follows:-

1. William Simpson, 2. Charles Warner, 3. W. W. Burton, 5. Jon. H. Haines, 6. John W. Kennedy, 7. G. Leisenring,

8. Nathaniel Myers. 9. Thomas Johnson, 10. Charles Johnson, 11. Alfred O'Bannon.

13. Daniel M. Sheetz, 14. John Avis, of Wm 15. George Anderson, 16. Samuel Lindsey,

17. Samuel Ridenour,

12. Edward Williams,

18. John J. Sanborn. 19. Thomas Young, 20. George W. Chase,

Now this comprises the entire list of voters. Of this number, six are known to have voted against the constitutional amendment, as fol-

This would make seven, but we have credit for only six, and we leave it to Mr. Johnson to satisfy this community that he voted as he states. It is not our business to do so. We are satisfied that the six men above voted as we state, and if any others voted against the amendment, there have been frauds perpetrated in the return. The return as furnished us by Supervisor Johnson, stands :-For the amendment......11. Against the amendment...... 6

Not voting on amendment...... 3 Those who failed to vote in this crisis, and who dodged the issue, are more culpable in our estimation, than those who voted for it. They understood the question at issue, and if from a desire to conciliate both sides, they failed to discharge their duties, they have forfeited all claim to the confidence and respect of the people of this community. We give the names of these parties, as follows

WILLIAM SIMPSON, Miller, CHARLES WARNER, Elected Constable. W. W. BURTON; Silversmith, NATHANIEL MYERS, Carpenter, THOMAS JOHNSON, Butcher, ALFRED O'BANNON, Wagon-Maker. EDWARD WILLIAMS, Township Clerk, GEORGE ANDERSON, Blacksmith. SAMUEL LINDSEY, Nondescript, SAMUEL RIDENOUR, Earmer, THOMAS YOUNG, Keeper of Poor House, GEORGE W. CHASE, Farmer, JOHN J. SANBORN, Teacher.

Above are thirteen names, and of these thirteen, eleven voted for the constitutional Amendment, and two failed to vote at all. We publish this list that our people may not be deceived. Attorney General Speed declined to speak, and was thoroughly non-committel. Mr. Stanton made a recantation of radical heresy, and rather surlily took position with the President. We annex some that he favored the Freedmen's Bureau Bill.

A bill was passed by Congress regulating the freeduren's bureau, but the provisions of the bill did not meet the President's approval, because he believed the powers conferred upon him and upon the agents to be appointed by him, to be unwise and unconstitutional. Concurring in the objects of the bill, and regress, as the representatives of that party.

I agree therefore, that it would be a sad garding the power as temporary and safe in his hands, I advised its approval, but having been returned to Congress with the President's objections and having failed the needful support, it is no longer a living measure, nor the subject of debate or difference of opinion, Another Congressional measure, called the civil rights bill, has been the subect of conflict. That bill, now a law, has for its object the security of civil rights in the insurrectionary States.

It was well observed by the President in his annual message that "peaceful emigration to and from that portion of the countrythe Southern States—is one of the best means some nethat can be thought of for the restoration of zation. harmony." Its possible interference with such emigration was one of the chief objections to military rule; and by some it is tho't that the influence of class legislation in favor of the slaveholding monopoly, heretofore existing in the Southern States, would still be strongly exerted to prevent peaceful emigration into those States, and would exclude the laboring population of the North from that soil of exuberant fertility and friendly climate, that productive region embracing the eight or nine States nearest the gulf of Mexico, and that hence civil rights in those States should be virgilantly protected by Federal laws and Federal tribunals. Although the measure enacted by Congress for this purpose failed to receive the Executive sanction, yet having been adhered to by a two-third vote in each House, they have now passed to the statute book and ceased to be the subject of debate.

Another measure or series of measures of prime importance now pending before Conof restoration or reconstruction as it is sometimes called. To the plan reported by the joint committee, I have not been able to give

Mr. Seward at Auburn-His Speech on

AUBURN, May 22 .- Secretary Seward delivered a lengthy speech on national affairs. Harper's Ferry, upon whose fair brow he at Corning Hall this evening before a crowded audience. Mr. Seward, referring to his October visit to Auburn, said that then we were on the verge of a series of elections throughout the States. The leaders who so pertinaciously claim to be democratic organized with their customary machinery and ovations. They had wisely ceased to denounce as a failure the war for the Union which at last became a glorious success. They thought to undermine the distinctive party of the Union by affecting a new born admiration for its chief, Andrew Johnson. They seemed anxious to prove their devotion superior to ours by committing themselves to support him as a candidate for the Presidencyin 1868. The Knight of Red Hand, Mr. O. Higgins, They inscribed our administration mottoes of reconstruction upon their newly wrought banners, and reorganized their straggling lines as well as they could, so hastily they vehemently charged onward for a partisan not a patriotic, victory.

What led the democratic leaders to make this charge was the striking, I may call the marvelous, phenomenon which was just then exhibited in the scene of the recent rebellion. The whole disloyal community in that blighted and desolated region accepting the conditions of partial amuesty and the invitations to returning allegiance which were proclaimed by the administration. all at once renounced the principles, practices and policy of secession and disunion, tendered us a new covenant of loyalty, and sealed it with their oaths, and brought forward with alacrity the remains of their long cherished institution of slavery cheerfully threw it to be burned upon the constitutional altar which they had so newly erected. These unexpected changes in the attitude of political adversaries, and so obstinate, naturally enough excited suspicions, jealousies and appreheusions among loyal and tried Union men. It was the old case of William of Orange, who having in civil war put down the tories, afterwards found it necessary to cede to repenting Jacobins and Papists the rights of citizenship. It is the case which has ever occured and which must forever more occur at the end of a successful resistance

How could democrats and rebels be converted to the support of a triumphant Union administration? The work of reconciliation has outran expectation. Indeed it has never had a parallel in human affairs. With interna commotions and disturbances less serious than those which sometimes attend popular elec-tions in a free country in a time of profound peace, the heretofore disloyal people of Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and Texas, successively, nay, almost instantly aboved their constitutions in conformity with the constitution of the United States rides freely in, all their cap-tured ports and harbors. The postoffices circulates through every vein and artery there the knowledge which is the revivifying blood of a united Republic.

The people of the lately disloyal States desiring to pass the last stage of restoration as speedily as possible have chosen Senators to represent them in the Senate, and members to answer for them in the House of Representatives, and those Representatives

Throughout the loyal States industry more vigorous and effective than ever before In the lately disloyal States capital and labor combining and co-operating under a freecontract system, which, to them, is altogether new, are beginning with success to obliterate the traces of ruin and devastation. The feature of affairs which disturbs the public mind is a supposed divergence be-tween the President and the Representatives in Congress of the National Union party, from which he and they have derived their respective but co-ordinate powers.

I agree that it is altogether easier and altogether more desirable that the work of reconstruction so happily begun, and so successfully prosecuted heretofore, shall be continued and ended under the auspices of the National Union party, and of the President and Con-misfortune if divergence between the President and Congress should work a decline and downfall of the national Union party. It is dear to me, for I am identified with its rapid rise, its majestic progress and its glorious work.

Both the President and Congress might well expect to be equally involved in the calamity which should dismiss the Union party from the national councils, and see with mortification the great responsibilities to which the party had, in that case, proved itself unequal, assumed and discharged by some new yet undeveloped political organi-

But President, Congress, statesmen and parties are of no real account, in my estimation, when weighed against the national life. The national life lately hung on the issue of victory won in war. It now hangs on the issue of reconciliation in peace. The nation must live forever, whether i receive the needed care in any emergency at the hand of one President, Congress or party, or at the hands of another.

Great Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, May 23 .- There now remains no doubt about the fire of last night being the work of an incendiary. It has been ascertained that the edifice was fired in five different places' simultaneously. Only the charred walls now remain. The streets in the vicinity are crowded by an excited multitude eagerly looking upon the ruins. The entire block from Caving Place to Third Avenue, half a block on Third Avenue and the whole block on Fifteenth street were burned out .-The following are the buildings destroyed: Academy of Music, Medical College, Gatzeer's Hotel, the piano factory of Thorn, the Lutheran Church, and several private dwellings. The loss will not fall short of four millions of dollars. The scenes during the fire were terrible in the extreme; large billets of burning wood and hot cinders were flying through the air for tens of blocks around, and women and children were running frantic through the streets in the neighborhood. Maretzek's loss is $95,000 in wardrobes, for which he has only an insurance for $10,000 Grau lost all his wardrobe also.

The following description of the Academy of Music, the principal building destroyed, we copy from the New York World: The Academy of Music was commenced n the spring of 1853, and was opened to the public in October, 1854. The cost of the edifice, including the ground, was three hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars. It was one of the largest opera houses in the world, ranking with La Scala, Milan, San Carlo, Naples, and the principal establishments of Paris and London. The structure was of brick. Its seating capacity was for thirty-five hundred persons, but on occasion of great interest, from five to six thousand persons had frequently found accommodation within its spacious walls. The stage was, with the exception of that in the Old Bowery Theater, the deepest in the country, and afforded room for processions composed of three or four hundred persons. By measurement, the edifice was about two hundred and fifty feet in length and one hundred in width. The auditorrum comprised a very extensive Erquet, a balcony circle, a box tier, family circle, and gallery or amphitheater. The foyer and lobbies were conveniently planned. The Academy, however, had its defects. The horseshoe form of the auditorium proved a serious disadvantage, in as much as a full view of the stage could only be had from about two thirds of the seats. In the familycircle and gallery this defect was so serious that a large number of seats were seldom oc-cupied, even when the largest audiences had abled. Moreover, it was unnecessarily high, and although the acoustic properties were good, they would have been better had this objection been guarded against.

For theatrical representations the Academy was poorly adapted, being too vast. As a ball-room (into which it was readily turned. by flooring over the parquet) it presented a few facilities, but these were quite overcome by the lack of adequate supper, cloak, and

The charter upon which the stock company which built the Academy was organized provided for the establishment, in connection with the opera, of a free school for instruction in vocal and instrumental music. This pro vision was, after a few unsatisfactory experiments, disregarded.

The heaveist shipment of gold ever recorded from the port of New York was made last week. The total by the steamers of Saturday was $5,280,000, and for the entire week, $3,763,296. If this were kept up for that is to say, a good deal more than we ever had in use and circulation. In view of this enormous export, would it not be wise for the tion in endeavoring to artificially cheapen gold by free sales of their surplus of the precious metals? It certainly is not a healthy state of affairs to be importing flour from France and wheat from England, while send-

SHEPHERDSTOWN, May 25, 1865. In order to intimidate those who dared to pose the radicals at the polls, the Hon. (?) oseph A. Chapline went to Harper's Ferry to get the officer there to send some U. S. stroops to Shepherdstown to protect the "loyal voters"—a misnomer—on the day of election, but failing there, he went to Winchester, and the officer there ordered the one at the Ferry to send up part of a company on the day named, but they were instructed to report to Major Yellott, who had been during the war, an officer in the Federal army, and who had more discretion in the management of soldiers than Mr. Chapline.

When the soldiers passed through town to report to Major Yellott, the radicals looked report to Major Fellott, the radicals looked very spiteful, but later in the day, as the Sergeant and one man were standing near one of the precincts, they saw some man attempting to vote, who had been registered, rudely denied the privilege by the conductors of the election, and these soldiers, who had been sent here to protect "loyal voters," told the conductors that the men who had registered and against whom no charges of perjury had been proven, should be allowed to vote or they would close the polls. To this Mr. Jos. A. Chapline who was sitting with the conductors, perhaps as legal adviser, objected very strenuously, when the Sergeant peremptorily ordered him to come out of there—go with him to see the Sheriff and have the polls closed, but better counsel prevailed, and upon the advice of Major Yellott the soldiers allowed the radicals to go on with their farce of an election. It was an amusing sight to see the Honorable Joseph A. Chapline marching down street with two U.S. soldiers when the polls closed, because he and other radicals were disregarding all law, and making the election a one-sided affair. The soldiers sent here to protect "loyal voters" soon discovered that the loyal voters, so-called, were the only disturbers of the peace. -

The Board of Registration before counting up the list of registered voters, discovered that there were twenty-six too many for them left in this end of the county, so they struck these off without any summons or notice.-Power is a great thing, but is sometimes most awfully abused. MORE ANON.

To the Peeple of the Corporation of Charlestown:

Fellow Citizens:-Through your kind partiality, I have been selected as the chief municipal officer of your town for the ensuing year, and though the favor was unolicited and unexpected, I do not feel myself at liberty to decline its labor and responsibilities, if my best endeavors can pronote in any degree the interests of my native home To be able to effect this, I must ask your kind co-operation, in bringing about whatever may tend to improve its sanitary condition, repair its waste places, and equitably and figidly enforce all needful police authority.

The Board of Councilmen whom you have just chosen, will be organized in a few days, and as it is now five years or more, with all the incidental waste and destruction of war since a similar body was constituted, its la bors will no doubt be onerous and vexatious, unless you share with them the duties of their thankless position. The scarcity of money and the common poverty of the people, make it incumbent to conduct the affairs of the Corporation with the least possible expenditure. To effect this, every property holder and housekeeper can do much, by cleansing his own premises, removing all obstructions, repairing the pave-ments and causeways in their individual neighborhood, and doing all such other matters as may be of general good in reinstating the town once more to its former condition. Let one and all unite together in this commendable work, and its object can he soon effected without detriment to any, if not with pleasure and pride to all.

Ordinances, Regulations, &c., which the necessities of the corporation may require, will be soon promulgated, and I shall bring to bear all the power with which I am invested, without respect to person, to enforce a faithful conformance to the enactments of

JOHN AVIS, Mayor. Charlestown, May 21st, 1866.

We are pleased to learn, as is announced s a notice in another column, that we are hortly to be favored with some of the preaching of the Rev. Dr. Stiles, of Rithmond .-Very many of the soldiers of General Lee's army well remember the soul-stirring appeals of this able and venerable divine, at Winchester, Fredericksburg, and many other places; for whenever it was practicable during the war, he was with some portion of the army, and in every camp where he preached crowds of interested hearers surrounded him. We learn that; during the last few months, he has been holding protracted meetings in some adjoining counties, and in the lower part of our Valley, and in every place where he has preached the people generally have flocked to hear him, and many have embraced the Truth as he presented it. At the University of Virginia the students were greatly nterested in hearing him, and about fifty professed conversion during the meeting there. He is now holding a meeting in Charlottesville, in accordance with the United request of all the churches of the place. His next appointment is in our town, and if our readers will listen to his series of discourses, they will thank us for calling attention to his visit .- Rockingham Ragister.

WILLIAM PRESCOTT SMITH, ESQ .- This gentleman, for many years connected with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as Master of Transportation, was on Monday nominated to the Senate by President Johnson, as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of Maryland. Thos. Loker, whose arrest in Hardy county, upon a charge of horse-stealing has been noticed, is still at large. He was arrested upon a warrant issued by Justice Fry, and carried to Moorefield, but the Common wealth's Attorney for Hardy decided that the warrant for his arrest was not "in form." and he was released. He then went back to Mr. Landaker's, whose daughter he had married, and stated that he was innocent of the charge of horse stealing; that he had bought the horse over in Rockingham, and was coming over to get witnesses to prove the fact.— He then left, since which time he has not been heard of.

- A protracted meeting of ten days continuance, at Mossy Creek Presbyterian Church, Rockingham county, closed on Sab-bath last, which is spoken of as an occasion of much interest. Rev. T. L. Preston, of Augusta, and the two Presbyterian ministers of Harrisonburg, assisted the pastor The congregations were generally large, and a reous interest seemed to pervade the whole. More than 20 persons presented themselves as inquirers. A number of these were soldiers in the war, and some dated their first eligious impressions from the preaching in

- The immediate vicinity of Harrisonburg was visited on last Sunday evening week by a severe hail and rain storm. Some of the hail-stones were as large as hickory nuts. A number of window glass were broken out, and considerable damage done the growing vege-tation. We understand that the storm did not extend very far in the country. In some localities, not more than three miles from town, there was neither hail nor rain.

- During the past session there were two hundred and fifty-eight students at the University of Virginia, from the different States as follows :- Virginia, 167; Maryland, 18; Alabama, 17; North Carolina, 10; Tennessee, 8; South Carolina, 6; Louisiana, 6; West Virginia, 5; Georgia, 4; Kentucky, 3; Texas, 3; Mississippi, 2; Missouri, 2; New York, 1; New Jersey, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; Delaware, 1; District of Columbia, 1; Illinois, 1; On the 30th of June next, the faculty will pal Church of Virginia adopted resolutions on the 18th instant, for the resumption by that diocese of its relations with the General Convention of the Protestant. Episcopal Church of the United States. -The men whose names were appended to the petitition of 126 Augusta county men for the retention of the troops to protect the unconditionals in that quarter, are making affidavits that they rever signed it. This is a sad blow at the authenticity of Sumner's Scrap Book. -The citizens of Alexandria, on the 19th

Gov. Boreman and Gen. Harris addressed a radical mass meeting in this town, on Tuesday last. We were unable to listen to these gentlemen, but learn from others that their speeches were not remarkable either for their rhetoric or logic. They advocated most extreme measures of radicalism. Several members of Congress who had been announced to speak on the occasion, failed to appear. Promises by Congressmen to speak on these political occasions, we find from our own experience, are to be regarded as doubtful paper.—New Era.

A CARD. To the Editor of the Spirit of J. fferson :-

Sig. - In punishment for some sin committed by me or some of my ancestors, I was put forward as a candidate at the last election in this county.— I have, I think, fully explated the offence by the amount of abuse I have received, and the exemplary patience with which I have endured it. There is one point, however on which I want to be fully understood, and I deem it of sufficient in portance to move me from my usual apathy in portical squab-bles. It has been falsely and maliciously said that I intended to mix blacks and whites in the same school houses. T is I pronounce as false as the heart of the scoundr I who invented it, and consequently far more take than the realms of his Sa-tanic Majesty. I consider this disclaimer due to myself and friends, but will bereafter treat the matmyself and friends, but will be reafter treat the mat-ter with scient contempt. I will conclude by pray-ing that my traducer may some day become a can-didate himself, which in my opinion is the greatest, panishment that indignant justice could inflict on any crimical JOSEPII BARRY, Harper's Ferry, May 23, 1866—31.*

Worse;
But he has been calling for you.
Indeed he is worse—Ma says he will die,
Perhaps before morning shall dawn!
And this is the message she sent me to b ing—
Come quickly, or he will be gone!

Father, dear father, come home with me now; The clock in the steeple strikes three!

The house is so lonely—the hours are so long
For poor weeping mother and me!

Yes, we are alone—poor Benny is dead!

DISTRESSING CASUALTY .- An accident of a painful character occurred on Sunday morning last, about half mile from this place, by which a south named George Barnhart, jr., was severely if not fatally injured, and another named Edward Dooley con-eiderably bruised and cut. It appears they had found an old shell, and endeavored to extract the powder from it, when it exploded. Young Barahart's leg was dreadfully lacerated, and may require

The injuries of Dooley are not of so serious a nature, but it was truly miraculous that they were not both torn to pieces. This is but another of the many accidents that have occurred from the careless handling of unexploded shells, and we trust it will prove a warning.— Winchester Times.

A prize fight came off on Tuesday morning about twenty miles below Washington city on the Potomac, between two men named Collier and Bolster. Early in the fight Bolster broke his right hand, but still continued the fight until he had gone through forty-nine rounds, when his seconds threw up the sponge and Collier was declared the victor. After the fight in a discussion of the merits of the combatants a row arose in which a man named Donnelly was shot and seriously if not fatally injured.

of heavy Fusit Oil, Sugar and Poisonous Metalic compounds, and by retaining its ethereal oderous oil untainted. It has the chemical composition of a pure, carefully defecated Rye Whiskey.

Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

State Assayer, 16 Boylaton street.

Boston, Mass., 23d August, 1862.

Having made a careful chemical analysis of the Pancatharticonized Old Rye Whiskey of Mr. John E. Wilson, Baltimore, am pleased to state that it is entirely free from Fusil Oil, Metalic Salts, or other matters in any way detrimental to health. In aroma, richness and delicacy of flavor, it cannot be surpaesed.

Respectfully yours,

G. A. LEIBIG, Analytical Chemist.

Baltimore, July 26, 1862.

Careful chemical analysis of four kinds of Whiskey—Superior Old Rye Whiskey, Superior Old Bourbon Whiskey, Superior Old Wheat Whiskey, Superior Old Corn Whiskey—Pancathartico; ed by neans of the patent apparatus invented by John E. Wilson, of Baltimore, Md., have shown them to be entirely free from the heavy Fusil Oils and from the p isonous metalic compounds often found in Whiskeys.

They retain the Ethereal Products, entirely free from any TAINT produced by injured grain, or careless fermentation, and being unmodified by the use of sugar, are remarkably pure products of delicate chemical operations.

Respectfully,

Until she loved a handsome youth Who would grant all her requests in truth, And bind him fully never to break The pledge he had taken for her sake.

The young men stood aghast with fear; Some whacked their boots, some pulled their hair; Some said 'twas religion, some said 'twas money; But it took them aback and they felt quite funny.

Among them there was a fine young man; Says he, "I love her as well as I can, Now!'ll make her the promise, both open and free, And agree to stand by it whatever it be."

The fair one stepped up to his side, And said, "Should I now be your bride, You must promise here before us all, To buy your clothes at MARBLE HALL.

No other can suit a husband of mine, The coats are so handsome, the pants divine." Says Johnny, a laughing, "You dear little elf, If you like them so well, get a pair for yourself."
