The Law.

Two Dutchmen, who built and used in common a small bridge over a stream which ran through their farms, had a dispute concerning some repairs which it required, and one of them positively refused to bear any portion of the expense necessary to the purchase of a few plank. Finally, the aggrieved party went to a neighboring lawyer, and plaing ten dollars in his hand, said :

"I'll give you all dish moneys if you'll make Haus do justice mit de bridge." "How much will it cost to repair it?" asked the honest lawyer. . .

"Not more ash five tollar," replied the "Very well," said the lawyer, pocketing one of the notes and giving him the other;

A crisis has come, says an exchange—an exigency in the affairs of the nation has arrived-when all good, all wise, all genuinely loyal citizens ought to give up party, give up everything for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution. We have authority, and high authority, too, for this opinion, and we invoke it here, and now against the selfish, the dishonest, the short-sighted, the wilfully blind judgment of those who deride or denounce the Conservative movements only because it threatens to destroy their hopes of political power and aggrandizement. We quote and commend to the attention of all the people, the following declaration of Daniel Webster, who, though dead, "still lives."

September 23d, 1866. Mr. Editor :- I undertake to give you an mperfect account of an occurrence that took place at the Widow Will's, at the time of the tle worse for the display of her "fantastic death of her son, who was a Captain in the Union Army. I will give it to you just as it was told to me, which was in these words: The Union forces were all out of sight, and want a place called Hanover Court. Is that I then the Rebels came in view-came on and hurried after-and then came more-and more still-a man, (an officer, evidently, for "I don't know. The next street is Hano- he had his staff with him, paused at the gate.) asked a question or two of some one, alighted have a good many chances to find it there, from his horse, threw the bridle reins over a post, and, with a slow step, solemn mien and reverently un covered head, passed the threshold into the room of the dead, the loved and lost. He was not old, he was not young; stern he was in look, not comely, yet there was a something of beniguity, and kindness, and sympathy that gleamed out from under the faded old cap drawn down over his forehead. He gave a calm, steadfast look at the dead soldier-strong feeling was battling with the soul of the Rebel officer, for a tremor played with his lips, and a truant tear wandered from his eye and bedewed his cheek.

A calm, steadfast look on the dead soldier, on the widow, on the maid, and then he said softly, kindly, "let us pray."

And oh! the depth of the feeling—the strength of the subdued earnestness in that stern looking, poor clad, dust-covered rebel, as he commended in low, but eloquent words, the widow and her brotherless child to the care, and the protection, and the comfort of the merciful Father of all. And oh! how he prayed that the angry surges of this ocean of war might soon be hushed by the still, small voice of the All-wise, and love be born of tumult to the now dissevered sections. It was deeply, touchingly pathetic. It was not long, but very appropriate, very affecting, very sincerc. He rose—touched the cold hand of the dead soldier-gravely, lowly bowed to the disconsolate widow with a compassionate, "God bless you," laid his broad, weather-stained palm, lovingly on the bowed head of Ida, with a quivering lip, saying "Heaven bless you," stepped noiselessly from steed, and his horse's hoofs were clattering down the road. "Who is that?" asked the Chaplain of some one standing near. What officer is that who has just taken his horse and ridden away?-"Stonewall Jackson," was the reply.

Professional Love Letter. From Mr. J. E. P. B. Professed Man Cook, to

What a stew I was in all Friday, when no letter came from my PATTY! Everything went wrong. I made a hash of one of my entrees, and the chef, who guessed the cause of my confusion, reasted me so that at last I boiled over, and gave him rather a tart answer, for, as you know, I am at times a little too peppery. Thy sweet note when it did arrive made all right. I believe I was quite foolish, and went capering about with delight. And then I cooled down, and composed a new souffle. So you see I do not fritter away all my time, whatever those malicious peopls who are so ready to carp at me may think. You say you always like to know where I go in an evening. Well, I went to the Trotter last night, and Fannie played the accompaniment, and I sang—how it made me think of you !—"Good-bye Sweetbread, good-bye!" "How absurd! Do you see what I have written instead of "Sweetheart?" All the force of habit. It will remind you of that night at Cookham, when we were the top couple in the supper quadrille, and I shouted "Now, Side-dishes, begin!" and everybody roared except a certain young lady, who looked a trifle vexed. BUSINESS NOTICE.

We should like to correct a false impression which seems to have seized upon the minds of quite a number of our patrons, that their a apers are to run on from year to year, without being paid for. We never contemplated any such arrangement when we renewed the publication of our paper. We started out to do a cash business, and after the expiration of this year, intend to adhere to it.

In one month more, our present subscription year will expire, and we now notity those who wish the paper for the next year that they must pay between this and the 1st of November, as after that date we shall discontinue every paper that is not paid for, Those who are indebted for the present year's subscription-who have read our paper cleven months at our expense-are notified that further indulgence cannot be extended them .-If they fail to pay during this week, their papers will be discontinued, and their ac counts collected by law.

To those of our subscribers to whom we have enclosed accounts, and who have paid no attention to them, we have to return our thanks for their indifference, whilst we beg to assure them that we shall be as indifferent in the future as they have been in the past. THE PRESENT BOARD OF REGISTRA-TION AN ILLEGAL BODY.

By the act of February 26th, 1866, we have a County Board of Registration. They are appointed-that is the original Boardby the Governor "from among the citizen, most known for loyalty, firmness and uprightness." This Board consists of three such persons who have the power to supervise the action of the several township registrars.

Under this act the Governor appointed three citizens-all most known for loyalty firmness and uprightness. They were Zadoc Butt, J. T. McKcevit and Koonce.

Mr. Butt, one of these most loyal, firm and upright men resigned, and this loyalty which had resided in the Governor's Butt was transferred by him to another repository .-Subsequently another of the triumvirate resigned, and his place was filled. By these changes the board was composed on the 8th of October of Koonce, McKeevit and Welshans. Now, it occurs to us that we, who are. not so upright, have a right to inquire where our Govenor gets the power to fill these places. The 1st section of this act says " any vacancy in the County Board, or in the office of registrar, shall be filled as hereinafter provided, and two of said. Board having power to ect and perform all the deties and functions of their office."

It is conceded that the Governor had the power to appoint the men who compose the original Board. That is conferred upon him by the first sentence of the act; but ony vacancy the law declares shall be filled as here in after provided.

We have diligently searched every section of the law which follows, and we cannot find that power given to the Governor, nor to any one else. We read it most carefully down to he 9th section, word by word, to find any provision for filling vacancies.

In the first section occur these words: " for good cause shown, the board may remove any registrar of their county, and for official in scommet, disloyalty, or other cause, the Governor may remove any member of the board. Vacancies occurring by such removal shall be filled as herein before provided.

vernor to remore but not the power to fill a vacancy occurring by such removal. It is to be filled as herein before provided. That is to say by some preceding section of the law. For fear you have made a mistake look back from this 9th section to the 1st and you will find no provision made for filling such vacancies. That is, vacancies occurring by removal of a registrars of the board by the which vacancies in the board may occur.-One of the board may die, remove from the county, or resign. In either of these contingencies, the office is vacant. Suppose two idle and worthless negroes who have no visiof these resign, or die. One registrar cannot ble means of support. They do not work trustect the business of the board. Where is the power, then, to perpetuate the board? It is not, as you will see, within the Governor or the board; the law having failed to say the Governor attempts to fill the vacancy he that are missing from fields and pens. This is asarping a power not given him, by law, and his not is void. If the board attempt it, the result is the same."

iters has resigned and another been removed since the 8th day of this month. Two of these fices were, therefore, vacant. The hat he has done so without authority of law, and the board, as now constructed, is an illegal body, having no power whatever, and, that act of theirs cannot bind the township registrars, or any body elec.

Demand your rights under the law. Tell the board that they have no legal power to take evidence to exclude you, and if they dare to usurp anthority not given to them by law that they are violators of the law, and that you will hold them responsible for their act.

ANOTHER SUTRAGE. That magnificent dictator who holds his sway out at Wheeling-the absolute Governor of West Virginia-including therein these two counties of Jefferson and Berkeley which he filched from Virginia-has been giving us another specimen of his political integrity and official fairness. It will be remembered that some ten or twelve days ago a large number of loyal voters, properly registered by the sub-registrars, were summoned to Shepherdstown to show cause to the board Governor and members of Congress, we be- public justice, as the discretion of the Senate of registrars why their names should not be lieve the radicals will virtually throw up the stricken from the lists, and that these gentlemen went over there in a body on the day signs seem perfectly confident that the conthey were cited to appear, but failed to get a hearing from the board; and that one of the board, Joseph Welshans, expressed to a committee of these gentlemen his willingness to give them a hearing at once. For this act, and for his conservative tendencies, as well as for his daring to be a fandidate for the sheriffalty in opposition to the nominee of the radical party, Governor Boreman has removed | there in obedience to the summons of his him from the board and placed somebody by the name of Underdonk, we believe, in his place. We do not know who Mr. Underdonk is, but take it for granted he is of the side of the Governor and willing, like him, to sacrifice all law, constitutional, legislative, or mor-

Mr. Welshans has been guilty of no offence against any of the existing laws of West Virginia; has not set aside any of the requirements even of the infamous registry act -indeed he was not even called on to express an opinion upon the merits of the case of these summoned gentlemen. He was simply courteous to them-willing to give them the hearing for which they had been summoned, without subjecting them to the trouble and expense of another trip to the out of the way county seat. For this courtesy, and his conservative views, he has been removed from his office to make way for one who was ready to swar and decide that every man who was not on the side of Congress and Governor Boreman was disloyal, and therefore unfit to vote in West Virginia-no matter how intense had been his devotion to the Union during all the time of the great struggle for its perpetuity.

There are a great many of the radicals of the State who are not lost to all sense of honor and fair dealing-who still have left respect for themselves and some consideration for their fellow citizens. We call upon all such to look fairly at this conduct of Governor Boreman and see if they will be willing to fice at present held and disgraced by Arthur sustain him. ABOUT O'POSSUMS AND COONS. The other day we met old Billy, a negro who, in our young days, was famed for his woodcraft, and we asked him if he was still given to hunting o'possums and coons. The old fellow butst into a hearty laugh, and said, "Lord bless your heart, massa, dis nigger's got too old for dat sort of ting; and 'sides, de possums don't go in de gum trees no more, and de coons bleat like sheep, and dey taste This is not the only way, however, in more like pig and ram meat dan ever."-There is a point in old Billy's speech, that our farmers had better take heed of. In this town and neighborhood there are numbers of save at such times as suit their fancies. The approach of winter finds them with no stores on hand-neither provisions or fuel; and now we nightly hear the reports of their guns ow it shall be done. The board, then, is sounding on all sides of our country homes, functus cine, and the law inoperative. If and almost as often hear of hogs and sheep is the Town-day hunting of o'possums and coons; and nearly every negro man is known to possess one or not guns. A Parting Grab:

When Secretary Harlan resigned his position in the Cabinet, it was with the proviso that it take offect one month from the date of the resignation. That was a very unusual proceeding, and it was stated at the time that Jeems had a big job on hand which he could not afford to forgo, even for the sake of his radical honor. The rest of the story is very briefly told in the Washington correspondence of the New York Herald, as follows: "One of the last official acts of Secretary Harlan, performed the day before his resignation took effect, was to execute a confract by which the reserve lands of the Cherokee indignant at the unfair and rascally conduct | Indians in Kansas, consisting of 800,000 acres of the registrars, that they will not only not | ceded by the Indians to the Government, were sold to the Connecticut Emigrant Soci-

À CARDA

THE generous manner in which my proposition to re-establish the "INDEPENDENT DEMO-CRAT" has been responded to warrants the belief that by the 1st day of December, ensuing, the whole of the subscription will be taken. Should firs be the case, it will quatric sage to issue the paper simultaneously with the ull thient of the property, viz, the lat day of January next. As a large edition of the first number will be printed for general distribution, advertisers will find it to their advantage to avail thereselves of the columns of the paper.
The first issue will contain the rolls of the im mortal "Stonewall Brigade." The heroic few who survive, and the f iends of the stain, should each possessa copy of the paper.

All subscriptions paid in previous to fist day of January, will be deposited in the hands of N. S. White, E q., of Charlestown, a gentleman of the highest integrity of character, who has kin ily consented to hold the same subject to the faithful consented pletion of the whole enterprise. Agents will remit all subscriptions direct to Mr. W. The deed for the property will be executed at once and placed in his hands to be delivered to the subscriber adjudged entitled.

This PILL is not the invention of a quack or an impostor deef gned to impose upon public credulity, but was compounded by Dr. T. R. modds, of Staunton, Virginia, a regular graduate and emment practitioner of medicine in this section, who, after years of careful study, so arranged the proportions of the ingredients as to render it applicable to the senses for which it is recommended. He had no idea of ext nding their use beyond the community in which he lived and practiced, but, after his death, which occurred in January, 1564 having left the formula for compounding them to his brother, Wm Rennolds, of Louisa county, Virginia, the latter, for reasons stated in pamphlet around box containing them, has undertaken to have them manuf a-tured for the people of the whole Stafe.

The pill has stood the test of ample experience, having been extensively used and highly valued by the people of this section for many years, as is sub-stantiated by certificates contained in pamphlet around box, as well as other evidences of appre ion from many of our most distinguished and re-The price of this pill is FIFTY CENTS per box. $100 REWARD .- This amount, in Confederate money, will be paid to any person who will bring home the editor of this paper-so that we can lay hands on him. He left this town last week for Baltimore, and the last we heard of him was that he was still there, and likely to be kept there by the immense flood of water. The boys of the office.

HEAVY RAINS .- The rains of the last week were the heaviest since 1857, and almost equal in quantity to the flood of 1852. It commenced raining Wednesday noon, and continued with scarce an intermission until Saturday morning. Though it sometimes came down in torrents, its fall generally was e instant and gradual. To this fact is attributable the little damage that has followed, in our section at least, of so heavy an outpouring of water. The Potomac and Shenan doah, with all their tributaries, were full to overflowing, but with the exception of portions of fencing on the line of thest streams; and the wood, rails, plank, &c., on the banks for transportation, we have heard of but little injury resulting. Serious apprehensions were felt as to the condition of things at Harper's ·Ferry, the safety of the magnificant failroad bridge, &c., at that point, but furturately, all escaped uninjured. The track of the Winchester railroad, by timely precaution as to its bridges, &c., has been in no way seriously inconvenienced. Un the Baltimore road however, a seriou wash occurred by the outbreaking of the waters of the Patapseo in the vicinity of Woodbine, by which the bridge at that point, and from eight to eighteen ntiles, I'as we have heard it stated;), of the entire with Baltimore since Wednesday last, up to the hour of writing this notice, Menday, noon. SAD AFFATA AT PARKERSBURG.—A sad and melancholy affair occurred in Parkersburg on Saturday last. It seems that Mr. Charles Henry Boone, the law partner of John Hutchinson, Jr., Esc.; and a friend of his had been spending a day or two together, stove or so on future delivery, when he sent in a social way, when, on Saturday night, his teams down for a large bill of merchaneating oysters; Boone suggested to his friend that he could procure an oppetizer, and wrote a note to a druggist for something, his friend knew not what, and when it came he poured out a pretty large dose -a teaspoonfull-and putting some water with it, handed it to his friend who swallowed it. He then took about the same quantity himself. Both soon began to feel uncomfortable, and Boon asked for a bed, which was provided, and he went to bed. The other took the bottle containing the fluid, and started for the drug store. which he reached, and where medical aid was furnished in time to relieve him. But poor Boon was so long without medical attention, no physician being at hand, but had to be sent for, that he was too far gone for relief to be afforded him. He died in an hour or two after swarlowing the unfortunate preparation. It is supposed that he committed a blunder in writing for the article he wanted. One thing seems to admit of no doubt, and that is that Mr. Boone had no intention of inflicting Boone's mother or relatives reside in Philadelphia.

The and capacious Warehouse, adjacent to their proceedings incident to the re-interment of | Tin Factory, as a depository for one of the tract from the Programme to be observed on | ing made at the Depot, in the way of platforms, crossings, &c., by Mr. T. K. STARRY. could have never come more opportune than at the recent muddy, miry season. As in thanks to the Agent, under whose, direction the work is being executed, we have already heard more than one of our fair ladies call him " blessed," and so we hope there is still some chance for him.

"NEW CONCERN."-By reference to advertisement, it will be seen that the renowned Blessing has vacated his old and popular Confectionary House in this town, to be succeeded by Mr. GUSTAVE BROWN, recently of Martinsburg. Mr. Brown comes well recommended to our community as an honest and unassuming gentleman, thoroughly convergant with his business in all, its details, and will doubtless receive a liberal support. As Evidence of his enterprise, he paid fiftysix hundred dollars cash for house and bakery, and is now handsomely re modeling, papering, painting, &c., its store room, and other departments.

SHOOTING AFFRAY .- We learn that on Tuesday last, a Mr. Armstrong, who has in charge the " Walraven" Saw-Mill, near Shannondale Springs, was severely, if not dangerously, wounded, by a shot from Absolem Gray, of the same neighborhood. A cow was the matter in controversy, and as we have learned the particulars, the assault was of

THE PLEDGE. BY THE BARD OF MARBLE HALL: In Baltimore, famed for ladies fair, Lived a beautiful girl with flaxen hair, And bonny blue eyes with liquid light, And roseate lips, a glorious sight.

The youngsters fell in love by dozens, Frierds and acquaintances, strangers and cous-But she a crotchet had got in her head, And said she determined never to wed,

Until she loved a handsome youth Who would grant all her requests in truth,
And bind him fully never to break
The pledge he had taken for her sake.

The young men stood aghast with fear; Some whacked their boots, some pulled their hair; Some said 'twas religion, some said 'twas money; But it took them aback and they felt quite funny.

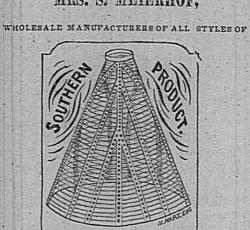

Says he, "I love her as well as I can, Now I'll make her the promise, both open and free, And agree to stand by it whatever it be."

The fair one stepped up to his side, And said, "Should I now be your bride, You must promise here before us all, To buy your clothes at MARBLE HALL. No other can suit a husband of mine.

The coats are so handsome, the pants divine."
Says Johnny, a laughing, "You dear iittle elf.
If you like them so well, get a pair for yourself." We ofter unusual inducement in all kinds of We ofter unusual inducement in all kinds of Clothing and Furnishing Goods, together with a superior line of piece goods for custom work. Boys Clothing a special feature.

My-Its purity has been fully tested as per the annexed certificates of analysis: CERTIFICATES. From a careful Chemical Analysis of Superior Old Rye Whiskey, Pancotharti-conized by JOHN E. WILSON, of Baltimore. This Whiskey is characterized by the absence of heavy Fusil Oil, Sugar and Poisonous Metalic compounds, and by retaining its ethereal oderous oil untainted. It has the chemical composition of a pure, carefully defecated Rye Whiskey

Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer, 16 Boylston street; Boston, Mass., 23d August, 1862. Having made a careful chemical analysis of the Paneatharticonized Old Tye Whiskey of Mr. John E. Wilson, Baltimore, am pleased to state that it is entirely free from Fusil Oil, Metalic Salts, or other matters in any way detrimental to health. In aroma, richness and delicacy of flavor, it cannot be Respectfully yours, G. A. LEIBIG, Analytical Chemist. Baltimore, July 26, 1862. Careful chemical analysis of four kinds of Whiskey Superior Old Rye Whiskey, Superior Old Bourbon Whiskey, Superior Old Wheat Whiskey, Superior Old Corn Whiskey—Pancatharticonized by means of the patent apparatus invented by John E. Wilson, of Baltimore, Md., have shown them to be entirely free from the heavy Fusil Oils and from the patentage of the patentage o the plisonous metalic compounds often found in Whiskeys.

They retain the Ethereal Products, entirely free from any TAINT produced by injured grain, or care-less fermentation, and being unmodified by the use of sugar, are remarkably pure products of delicate chemical operations.
