Obituary.

We hardly know whether pleasant or pithos predominates in this clever jeu d'esprit, from the Nashville Gazette.

DIED—In Washington City, District of Columbia, on Monday, May 13th, 1867, of paralysis, COMBIA LIBERTY, after a severe and protracted illness of seven tedious years.

The deceased was born in 1776 of a poor but respectable couple—Honesty and Patriotism. The first seven years of her life were a struggle with misery, even as were the closing years. But she grew up a beautiful lass, and made her entrance into society in 1787, winning the admiration of friends and the jealousy of rivals.

At an early age she formed a tender attachment for Principle. A happy union followed, and in the course of events a numerous offspring rose up to bless her. The duties of matrimony, however, did not detract from her beauty, and as she advanced in years she increased in loveliness. Devoting herself exclusively to the care of her numerous family, and sure of the future lay before her bright as the vision of beatitude.

But alas for human frailty! In an evil hour, elderly matron though she was, she listened to the honeyed words of an unprincipled young fellow named Radicalism, not yet out of his teens.

So, from the facts and figures before us, the actual situation of things warrants the conclusion that the Republican party will carry nearly all, if not all, these ten outside re-organized Southern States in their work of reconstruction.

Abolishing the Negro. One of the most remarkable publications which has lately appeared is a book with the eccentric title, "Nojoke: A Question for a Continent," by Hinton Rowan Helper, of North Carolina, author of "The Impending Crisis of the South."

It is well to be reminded that nine years ago a great stir, was created by the "Impending Crisis," which was an arsenal of all kinds of abolition statistics, arguments, and every description of inflammatory and destructive missile of hatred, malice and fanaticism against the South.

It ought not to be at all surprising to see this representative man of radicalism now publishing an argument to show that the negro is an inferior race; that he must be driven out of the land; that by the 4th of July 1876, or at farthest, by the end of the present century, "get somewhere south of that south-moving boundary," Mexico. Of course, at this moment, when the vote of the poor negro is needed, Mr. Helper will not be likely to receive the endorsement of sixty radical members of Congress.

But who does not understand that as soon as the radical party can become independent of their aid, these unfortunate creatures, for all that radicalism cares, may be elbowed into the gulf of Mexico? At the bottom of all this turbid philanthropy of the present day lies a clear and well-defined purpose to substitute white labor in the south for black labor, under the abiding conviction, in the language of Helper, that the best system of government ever yet devised beneath the sun can never fulfill its promised mission of unexampled greatness and grandeur until after it shall have been brought under the exclusive occupancy and control of the Heaven-descended and incomparably superior white race of mankind.

The traffic in Coolies, or Chinese laborers, it appears has reached our shores, and several plantations in Louisiana, if the telegraph is correct, are now employing Coolie laborers. Coolie labor is really slave labor, and the traffic is only less infamous than that in African slaves. The Coolies are bought by traders at the Chinese ports, at prices ranging from $30 to $70 per head, and they are sold for from $300 to $500 each in South America and the West Indies.

It is believed that over 30,000 Coolies are annually imported into Peru and Cuba. A Havana correspondent says: "The number of Chinese Coolies that died on the passage to this port between the year 1847 and 1866 was 11,291 out of 90,019 Coolies shipped from Macao, &c. Out of 11,462 shipped this year, from February 22 to June 30th, the number that died at sea was 1,360."

Two married ladies at Independence serenaded their husbands, one moonlight night last week. The instruments were a brace of twigs for each of the liege lords.

ITEMS FROM ABROAD.

LONDON, July 27.—Dispatches have been received from Munich, stating that ex-King Otto, of Greece, is dead. He died of the measles. Deceased was the second son of Louis I., King of Bavaria.

Late Japanese advices received here, via Hong Kong, report that the American ship Anna Kimball, had arrived at Nagasaki, Japan, with a cargo of rice, which it was alleged she had taken from a port of China which had not been opened to foreign trade by treaty stipulations.

VIENNA, July 27.—The Sultan of Turkey has arrived here from England, and is now the guest of the Emperor Francis Joseph. The official journal of this city says that it is the right and interest of the Emperor Napoleon to enforce the treaty of Prague.

CHERBOURG, July 28.—The Empress Eugenie yesterday visited the United States steamer Colorado, now lying in this harbor, and was received with all the honors befitting her exalted rank.

PARIS, July 28.—On Saturday evening Admiral Farragut was received at a state dinner by Emperor Napoleon. The dinner was especially given by the Emperor in honor of the American Admiral.

—European correspondents at Belgrade give currency to a report that while the Turkish Council were considering by what means they might obtain money to defray the expenses of the Sultan's visit to Paris, a proposal was made by one of the high officers to sell Jerusalem to Russia.

—During a recent discussion in the Corps Legislatif upon a question touching the attitude of France and the United States and England, M. Gladstone said that every liberty was wanting in France, and added that the country would not remain much longer in its present condition.

A Burglar Trapped. The New York correspondent of the Troy Times gives the following: I was informed of a case in which a burglar was handsomely trapped a few nights since.

Duel with Pocket-Knives. Captain Clark, until recently connected with the Freedmen's Bureau, and stationed in the Blackwater District, a short time since was charged with being interested with a Mr. Jacob Garrett in working a plantation in Catahoula parish.

—A lady about to marry was warned that her intended, although a good man, was very eccentric. "Well," she said, "if he is very unlike other men, he is more likely to make a good husband."

—An Exchange paper says there is a lady in that town so modest that she will not allow the Christian Observer to remain in her room over night.

POETICAL.

THE MOUNTAINS OF LIFE.

There's a land far away mid the stars, we are told, Where they know not the sorrows of time; Where the pure waters wander thro' valleys of gold, and life is a treasure sublime.

Our gaze can not soar to that beautiful land, But our visions have told of its bliss, And our souls by the path from its gardens are fain'd, When we faint in the deserts of this.

MISCELLANEOUS. (From the Southern Opinion.) Recollections of Army Life.

Let me turn to a more agreeable subject; let me recall some of those fine gentlemen and gallant soldiers whom I saw in the West Point. In turning back over a space of nearly forty years, the first who loom up in the distant retrospect are Albert Sydney Johnston and Leonidas Polk; then follow Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, Joseph E. Johnston and John B. Magruder.

Robert E. Lee held the two offices in the corps usually filled by the best soldiers of the class—sergeant-major and adjutant. He discharged the duties of these offices with zeal and fidelity.

Leonidas Polk, tall and straight as an arrow, was the orderly sergeant of my company. Scrupulously strict in the discharge of his duties, retiring in his manners, and a devout member even then of the Episcopal church, he invariably commanded the respect of all.

Jefferson Davis was distinguished in the corps for his manly bearing, his high-toned and lofty character. His figure was very soldier-like and rather robust; his step springing, resembling the tread of an Indian "brave" on the "war path."

William E. Evarts, the peer of O'Connor in learning, is a man of law tempered with a statue; to its germ, and that which makes it heighten, ripen, and overshadow with freshness, protecting foliage. The tree of law is a rod to O'Connor; to Evarts an arbor. The one is a secure place of refuge for a few birds, and the other a branch to shelter those most stricken and toil-worn.

The Most Beautiful Hand. I recollect that once there was a dispute between three ladies, which had the most beautiful hand. One sat by a stream and dipped her hand into the water, and held it up; the other plucked strawberries until the end of her fingers were pink; and the third gathered violets until her hands were fragrant.

ANECDOTE OF MR. SEWARD.—I remember when I first entered the Senate that a Senator was denouncing the anti-slavery men of the country, and talking about "nigger, nigger, nigger." Mr. Seward turned to me and said: "That Senator will never be President of these United States."

See the RED MARK. It means your time is up, and you are liable to have your paper stopped at any time. Do not subject yourselves to such a calamity.

Mock Gems in the Paris Exhibition.

The Paris correspondent of the London Herald says: "I am coming to a great Parisian manufacture, the greatest of its kind in the world. It is that of sham jewelry. Now, the French make no secret of this manufacture. It is literally proclaimed upon the house-tops—You see in gigantic letters, 'Imitation d'or et d'argent de Jouaillerie' announced, in eager rivalry of other practitioners in the trade, which, however, tries to keep its secrets of manipulation, if not to deny its own existence. But the whole affair is a very simple one. For more than a century this form of industry has been practised in almost every country of Europe, and there is, no matter what the artists may pretend, no mystery whatever about it."

"The demand for false diamonds is prodigious, and the supply is a wonder of the age. To make a diamond—apart from the paining off of mere crystal or glass tricked into a resemblance of it—there are many processes; all, however, resulting in the production of what is called crystal water, which, hardened and cut, is perfect as an imitation. It may not happen very often, but sometimes Lady Clara Vere de Vere goes to her first ball wearing a composition of white sand treated with hydrochloric acid, minium, calcined potash, borax and arsenic, which scintillates 'with white fire laden,' as though the garland had really come from the rocks of Golconda. Take the paste which is the basis of this; add a little oxide of cobalt, and, daughter of an ancient line, there are the lacrimules of your great-grandmother's celebrated collection of sapphires, parted with in the hard times long ago. Give me the colorless material with a little antimony and purple of Cassidi, and I will give you back a topaz, bright as that of Zabara; or some oxide of copper or cobalt, and you shall have an emerald, 'the bride of the diamond,' as the Orientals say, because a diamond never glitters so richly as when an emerald is near to receive the lights from its prism, and paint it anew."

"I have seen some specimens of Turkey rose pearls. These are actually made of roses. The leaves are heaped in a mortar, with a very highly-polished interior surface, and pounded into a soft mass; this is dried in the sun, but not rapidly, for rose-water of the finest perfume is sprinkled over the pink paste every now and then; the damping and drying are repeated, and the pearls, which, of course, are not pearls in any way—are moulded into form, polished, steeped in oil of roses and polished again, so that they are lustrous and sweet-scented. Some are tinted blue; others are odorous of storax and musk; a few—the most difficult to produce in perfection—are black. The Japanese have artificial pearls made of rice paste, better known as Japanese pearls, harder than marble. The Roman pearls are chiefly made of fish scales, treated with the purest spirits of wine, and the manufacture must be carried on in highly-heated rooms; but they are as light as wax and cannot possibly deceive."

"Well, this being the state of things, I am not surprised to discover that full two-thirds of the French jewel exhibition are occupied by 'make-believes.' In this department—the utterly eclipses the rest of the world.—Le Blanc Grangeon, of the Boulevard des Capucines, has a collection of artificial diamonds, emeralds, sapphires, amethysts and pearls truly wonderful. His restorations of historical jewels are even more extraordinary—his orders of the Garter and Golden Fleece, and all the proud collars and stars of chivalry—his oriental sword hilts and dagger-hilts, such as might have been seen at a Lager-darbar when princes gathered round Napoleon Single's crown of the Emperor of the West, and all pearls—his Marie Stuart pearl and velvet confiture and rare circlets of amethysts and emeralds, are royally brilliant."

"Fruchy, of the Rue Tiquionne, is another master of this deceptive art. He has pearls, which he might have fished from anywhere between the Mexican and Persian Gulfs—white, gray, leaden, lilac; a pair of curtains in seed pearls, and illustrations of the process at its several stages. Andy, of the Rue Montmorency, displays ropes, chains, cables and pearls, which he exports to all parts of the world; where diamonds with delimiters very likely admire them quite joyfully as though they had actually been brought up from the caves of the mermaids by les travailleurs de mer."

"In one case an exhibitor has deposited six rows of pearls, three real and three artificial; the former were worth 15,000fr., the latter 150fr. I defy any one except a jeweller or pawnbroker to distinguish between them. "Algeria has very little except the roughest work to show, the few superior specimens being from the hands of European artists.—Siam, a realm of gods, exhibits a paltry miscellany of necklaces, badly-colored pearls, ill-set turquoise and sapphires. Turkey, some boots and jackets thickly embroidered with seed pearls, some filagree, not to be compared with the Genoese, a few forehead ornaments, crescent-shaped, and a variety of gold anklets with dull emeralds, carvings in amber, strings of coins and shell-encrusted caps. Romanian jingles only a bunch of spangles.—The prodigious Caucasians, almost alone in this respect, a quantity of magnificent stones, unset. Egypt necklaces, bracelets and rings worn by different classes of the people. India, nothing. In India United States its existence has not commenced. In Europe a great rivalry is springing up, and Belgium is maintaining very good position in connection with it.—Her collection is small but brilliant, and remarkable vivid in its display of emeralds."

ANECDOTE OF MR. SEWARD.—I remember when I first entered the Senate that a Senator was denouncing the anti-slavery men of the country, and talking about "nigger, nigger, nigger." Mr. Seward turned to me and said: "That Senator will never be President of these United States."

Richmond Radical Row.

Botts Overlaid, and Humnicott Master of the Situation!

Public expectation has been very much excited in Virginia for months past, by the efforts to get up a mass republican Convention, to be held in Richmond on 1st inst.—It was accordingly held, and such a motley crowd never before assembled in the capital of the Old Dominion, if in any other capital. The Convention was composed of delegates, white and colored, from many of the counties and all of the cities and towns of any importance in the State. The negro element preponderated, and with their allies, the Radicals, had things all their own way. The Chairman of Friday says: A most melancholy spectacle was presented in this city yesterday. On the night before a limited number of "co-operators" arrived, and if there had been a painter among them, he would have found a motto for a picture in the lines of Pope: "See all our nobles begging to be slaves! See all our souls aspiring to be slaves!"

The several caucuses held on Wednesday night were reported in our local columns yesterday, and we were led to infer that all would be harmony in the Radical camp.—But alas for expectations! The well-known sage about the miscarriage of the best laid schemes of mice and men was singularly illustrated by the performances in the Convention.

Humnicott had declared that the prospects for a fight were "blue," and added, with savage unctious, "The world is moving on; so is the Republican party." It seems, however, that he only meant to disarm his enemies to make victory easy. There was indeed "no fight," but such a thorough lambasting even Botts never had before. There was indeed "no fight," but there never was such a sad case of drowning in cold water. The co-operators were treated as boys treat rats. They were allowed to walk into a wire trap and then doused in cold water until there was not a dry hair on a single dead rat.

We are sorry for these unfortunates. In spite of the warnings which we have been giving them for weeks, they heedlessly rushed into the filthy embraces of a hideous party, and now lie so low that even the negroes treat them with contempt. They would imitate the fair Desdemona.

"In spite of nature, Of years of country, credit, every thing,— To fall in love with what she feared to look upon." And they have shared her fate in falling beneath the knife of the savage blackamoor. This last effort of Botts to build up a Botts party has been, perhaps, the latest signal of his many failures. The "Convention" passed him by with something very like contempt when he elected en masse the officers of their April organization in which Botts refused to participate. They gave him another hard blow when they adopted the platform agreed upon in April, thereby forestalling even the reading of his "address." He has fallen even below — Botts. We do not exult in his disaster, but we pity the bilious hawk which he breathes his dying squeak. His "address," which we publish this morning, contains only blind abuse of the Democratic party. He enters into the spirit of party rancor, and undertakes to re-establish those party lines which the war destroyed. This "address" will doubtless be pleasant reading for those Democrats who "desire to co-operate!" But Botts has often sworn that he "would go to the devil to beat the Democracy," and — he has done it.

Of the action of the negro convention little is to be said at present. It is but a repetition of their performances last April. If it ever was a question it can no longer be doubted that the way to escape Radical oppression does not lead Virginians into the Radical party.

THE SURRETT TRIAL.

This case has now been in progress near two months, and the history of the whole criminal record of this country furnishes no parallel to its enormities. The Judge who is sitting to protect innocence and vindicate law, has shown himself more unprincipled than a Jeffrey, and the Prosecuting Hayman's on the part of the government more eager for blood than untamed hyenas. The whole purpose manifested throughout has been conviction, innocent or guilty, and to accomplish this witnesses have been perjured, law set at defiance, and the precedents heretofore established in the trial of similar cases, utterly abrogated. The evidence, however, has been at length terminated, and the argument of counsel occupied near the whole of last week, and the case was most probably given to the jury on Saturday. Its verdict is eagerly expected, though to the public sentiment of the country, it may or may not carry conviction. The following were the closing remarks of Mr. Merrick on the part of the defence:— "There had been blood enough shed in this country, and it was now time that the sword should be sheathed. No man had greater horror of the crime that resulted in the murder of Abraham Lincoln than himself. Already four persons have been hung and others are suffering. Three years ago there was in this city a happy household sitting beside a bright household fire. There sat a mother and a sister just budding into womanhood, and beside them a young man just reaching manhood. He would have the jury to remember the changes that have come over that scene: The bright fire is extinguished, the mother sleeps in a nameless felon's grave, the daughter, hardened and broken-hearted, drags out a wretched life, and the son is here before you on trial for his life. May Almighty God so guide your judgments and enlighten your convictions that the remembrance of the day of your verdict may hereafter and forever be a sweet and pleasant recollection."

MEETING.—We are requested to say that there will be a meeting of the Old Dominion Base Ball Club at the Academy, on Tuesday evening next. A full attendance desired.

OUR BIG SHOW.

"Though lost to sight, to memory dear," our friend Joseph, the gymnastic of radicalism in this country, had passed from view, until within the last few days when our eyes fell upon the following, in one of our West Virginia exchanges:—"Public Speaking at the Court House, Wednesday evening, July 17, 1867, at 7 o'clock, P. M., by Senator Chapline, of Jefferson, and other Great Orators! Ladies, Gentlemen and everybody else are respectfully invited and earnestly solicited to be in attendance. By the Committee."

Now, the Senator Chapline referred to in this brief notice of a public meeting is no one else than "our bully Joe," whom we have nursed with such tender care and assiduous attention for the past few months, and who with other "great orators," was to trot his horn in the romantic town of Buchanan, Upper county, on the evening of the 17th of July. We presume Joseph was there or thereabouts, at the time specified in the bill, although we have as yet received no reports of the proceedings of that Wednesday evening, and are unable to say positively whether or not the "great orators" selected for the occasion filled the places assigned them in the programme. The call for the meeting as it reached us, does not specify the character of the meeting which was to afford our Senator an opportunity for the display of his matchless oratorical powers—which are rather of the demonstrative than persuasive—but we have no doubt, if left to the exercise of his own judgment, he selected for discussion the subject of "Finance, or How to Raise the Wind." And in this broad field which has taxed the brain and strained the energies of the most gigantic intellects of the present and past ages, our hero is perfectly at home, and sees with keener than prophetic vision, "how some things can be done as well as others."

This intuitive comprehension of the subject of Finance, admirably fits our Senator for the position of a member of the committee of "ways and means," for he is thoroughly conversant with the "ways" that are bound to produce the "means," and is consequently never at sea when funds are required, either for State or personal purposes. That he enlightened the "loyal" of Upper county upon this highly entertaining topic, we have every reason to believe, and that he handled his subject with a check rein we feel authorized in stating, notwithstanding the failure of the Buchananites to report his remarks. But it is useless to pursue the gymnastic further on this little fiasco. That he did his duty in the interests of his party, no one familiar with his ardent temperament can for a moment doubt.

We come now to matters nearer home; to radicalism as it is around our own hearthstones and where we have the most favorable opportunities of observing its effects upon the public pulse and political morals. The "loyal" are moving, and before we issue another paper their country ticket will be in the field, full-fledged for an animated contest. Whether the mantle of the party will be thrown on the broad shoulders of our ticket for the House of Delegates—Smith and Anderson—we can only leave for the convention to determine, at the same time assuring the delegates who are to constitute the convention, that no other nominations will receive our unequalled endorsement.

Preparatory to this grand convention, we copy the following from the Shepherdstown Register of Saturday last:— At a meeting of the loyal voters of Chapline Township held at the Court House on Saturday 27th of July, 1867, W. M. G. BUTLER was called to the Chair and JACOB J. MILLER was appointed Secretary.

On motion of John E. Schley, the following gentlemen were appointed delegates to attend the Senatorial and County Conventions to be held on the 10th of August, next:—J. V. UNDERDUNK, Jas. D. FAYAN, I. THOMAS CHAPLINE, C. E. STUBBS, J. T. McKEVITT, Lind F. CURRY, Daniel REYNOLDS, John H. COOKS, John D. STALEY, George BYERS.

Above we have the delegations from Chapline and Shepherd townships. We have heretofore published the delegation from Charlestown township, made up as it is of— Warren BURTON, Wm. JOHNSON, George ANDERSON, Burton SILVERSMITH, Anderson, BLAESSMITH.

There are some names connected with this "loyal" movement at Shepherdstown, which with us, have created a little surprise. That Mr. Wm. G. Butler should lend himself and his influence to a party of which Joe Chapline is the acknowledged leader in this county, is something entirely beyond our comprehension, and compels us to surmise as to the probable causes which influence his action. It is true Mr. Butler has been honored with a seat in the Superior's Court of the county, and has been on almost every committee raised by that very distinguished body to investigate the county interests. We are well aware too, that these little attentions have their effect upon human nature, particularly where said human nature is susceptible of flattery, and is not properly balanced by a strong brain and an extraordinary amount of moral courage. But we desire to ask Mr. Butler a few questions. Does he feel at home in the society and political association of such men as Joe Chapline and company? We believe him to be a sensible man, and we have been disposed to regard him as an honest man. As such, can he conscientiously support a man upon whom the charge of presenting a false check has been proven, and who was a whiskey smuggler during the war, and who is a whiskey-guzzler in peace and in war? If Mr. Butler can do this, may not the public make its inference and draw its

OUR SIDE TENT.

Mr. Editor.—Being quite an admirer of the happy manner in which you have characterized the exposition of the many wonderful and astounding specimens of curiosity exhibited with such care and precision in the Big Show, and believing that there is yet one rare specimen that should not escape the observation of your readers, I propose, as your pavilion seems to be confined within the limits of Jefferson, to open a Side Show, which will allow them the privilege of beholding this rare phenomenon of Berkeley.

Prior to the rebellion, this individual had received the confidence of the people upon more than one occasion, and by their votes been placed in positions of honor and trust. At the beginning of the late war, he was receiving the legitimate fruits of the confidence thus bestowed upon him at home, by reaping the beneficial reward of a mission to a foreign land. But scarcely had the smoke of the first gun cleared away, before his presence was announced in Washington. What a glorious position, it is imprudent to say, and held as a political enemy to the United States. Finally, he is exchanged, and with a light and joyous heart, boyant hopes, and the aspiring ambition of his fervent nature all ablaze with radiant expectation, he sits his face toward the Mecca of his blind hallucinations, and sees full upon his worthy shoulders, "the expectant mantle of future glory."

Arrived in Richmond, and there, in Capitol Square, amid the throngs of people, he excited auditory, enunciated his qualified adherence to the object and principles of the Confederate cause. So deeply imbued was he with these preternatural principles of nationality, that the charge must be mounted, And the fields of glory banneted, With the never dying spirit of the immortal Putnam.

It must have been a sight long to be remembered by those who were present, and a colloquy to be heard to be appreciated, that took place on the street in Winchester upon his arrival in that place as a member of Jackson's staff: "Hallo! my friend, you seem to be in the wrong element!" Sitting erect upon his faded steed, his holsters exhibiting the handles of a pair of sancy navy revolvers, his pants in his boot-tops, a sword in his scabbard, and a watch in his breast, he answered, "I am not a watch, but I am on my way to meet the enemy."

Whether he met them or not, is a question that seems to be shrouded in the ominous shadow of doubt and uncertainty. But one thing is certainly beyond cavil; his military career as an auxiliary to his renowned chief was not uneventful, and with that signal success which characterized his course as a protagonist in the political arena of former days. I have referred to the subject of this short communication in the manner above, that we may have a fair standpoint in observing the glaring inconsistencies of his acts, and scanning the peculiarities of a nature whose composition seems totally the embodiment of incongruities.

In the course of an address on the 4th ult., he used these remarks: He felt proud to live amid the stars and stripes—that the South was never crowned with that signal success which characterized his course as a protagonist in the political arena of former days. I have referred to the subject of this short communication in the manner above, that we may have a fair standpoint in observing the glaring inconsistencies of his acts, and scanning the peculiarities of a nature whose composition seems totally the embodiment of incongruities.

We commend this most laudable example as worthy of imitation. SUCCESSFUL SURGERY.—It is always our pleasure to hear of the success in honorable vocation, or promotion in laudable ambition, of the humblest of our former fellow-citizens. The following from the Baltimore Sun of last Friday will fully explain itself, and we only desire to add that Drs. Opie and Stevens therein referred to, are Dr. THOMAS OPPIE and Dr. CHAS. H. STEPHEN, so well and favorably known to the people of this region of country, for professional ability and great moral worth. These gentlemen are practicing together in Baltimore, and we are gratified to learn are establishing for themselves an enviable distinction and a lucrative reward. Dr. Opie is justly regarded as one of the most promising surgeons for his age in the country.

Shooting of Two Boys.—About half past twelve o'clock yesterday, a sad affair occurred at No. 467 Saratoga street, near Schroeder, which resulted in the shooting of two small boys, named Theodore and Henry Finlay, aged respectively 11 and 12 years, by a lad named Hugh Dunlap, 16 years.—From the facts ascertained, it appears the two boys were playing upon the fence which divided the yards between the houses occupied by the families of Wm. Finlay and the father of young Dunlap, when they were ordered to leave by the latter, who at the same time threatened to shoot either by design or accident an Alloxal shot, which he held in his hand, went off, and the six barrels exploding simultaneously, the loads, consisting of slugs and small balls, faking effect in the bodies of the two boys, knocking them off the fence, and striking them in the face, shoulder and neck of the elder boy—Theodore. The young boy, Henry, received a ball in the groin, from which fatal results are feared. Theodore, it is thought, will recover. Dunlap was arrested by Officer Cook, and after undergoing a hearing before Justice Showace was committed for the action of the grand jury.

THE FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of the M. E. Church, South, Shepherdstown, closed their festival on Saturday night week and realized over $300 by their labors. They return their thanks to all who aided them in getting up the festival and to the public for their liberal patronage.

We call attention to the advertisement in another column of Henry Stonebraker Esq., the original inventor and proprietor of Stonebraker's Medicines, which have had for many years such a widespread popularity throughout the country. These medicines are now manufactured in Baltimore, under the direct supervision of the proprietor, and the public therefore may rest assured that in purchasing from the direct agents of Henry Stonebraker, they will get the real genuine, unadulterated article. These popular medicines may be had at the store of Campbell & Mason, Charlestown.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

AUXILIARY COMMITTEE.—A meeting of several of the Pastors and Members of the Churches of Charlestown and vicinity, an Auxiliary Committee of the Virginia State Bible Society was organized for Jefferson County by the election of the following Officers: President—N. S. WHITE; Secretary—D. HUMPHREYS; Treasurer—REZIN SUGARB.

It was resolved to establish a Depository for the Books of the Virginia State and American Bible Societies, for their distribution and sale in the County. Revs. Messrs. Tongue, Meade and Hopkins were appointed a committee to select the books to be ordered. On motion it was Resolved, to request the newspapers of the County to publish the proceedings of the meeting. D. HUMPHREYS, Secretary.

THE RAINS of the last week have improved the prospect of the growing Corn wonder fully, and great hopes are entertained of the season continuing favorable to its maturity. We have heard several gentlemen speak of a field of seventy acres on the home-place of Mr. R. B. Washington, as of extraordinary growth for this or any other season, and which is said to rival in appearance the "corn patches" of the rich prairies of the West.—The first roasting-ears we have yet noticed in market, were offered on Saturday and readily disposed of. Any of our friends having an extra quantity, will please bear in mind we always had a peculiar fondness for early corn. Our "devil" and his imp, ditto.

OPPORTUNE.—Our neighbor of the Free Press invokes the attention of our town authorities to the unusually impure condition of our streets, alleys, gutters, &c., and recommends some early corrective as a sanitary precaution. The pumps of the town also need attention.

A BUSH MEETING, we learn, is to be held on Sunday next, on the south side of the Shenandoah and near Manning's school house. The Presiding Elder of the District, Rev. Mr. Baird, is expected to be present. The assemblage no doubt will be a large one.

MUTILATED.—Serious inconvenience, and in many cases positive loss has resulted, from some sixty to eighty pages of the County Judgment Docket Book being destroyed. It occurred during the war, but in what way is not known. Our informant thinks the missing papers contained the judgments for the years '52 and '53.

EXPECTED.—Our juveniles, and the colored folks especially, are in anxious expectation of seeing the mammoth circus and menagerie of Dan Castello, now exhibiting in the Valley and likely to be here about the 1st of September. It is advertised for Staunton on the 21st. Robinson's circus is to be in Shepherdstown, on Friday next, Martinsburg, Saturday, Winchester, the Monday following.

THE FOUNDATION of the new Church about to be erected in our town by the colored people, is now under construction. The building is to be of wood, 35 by 45 feet.—The community will every success to the enterprise, and will no doubt contribute proportionate to their means.

GOOD YIELD.—One of our machine men informed us that he had thrashed the larger part of the crop of one of our farmers, raised on land by no means the best of the county, and its average was twenty-two bushels to the acre and weighed sixty-four pounds to the bushel.

THE REV. J. M. ATKINSON, D. D. President of Hampden Sydney College, preached in the Presbyterian church of this town, Sunday, and will remain a short time we presume, in our midst. The congregation at the Episcopal and Methodist Churches was quite large, Sacramental service being administered in the former.

AN EXTRA TREAT of Cars is now being run daily over the W. & P. Railroad, to accommodate the produce that is being hurried forward to market, especially from the upper end of the road. The addition to our depot is about completed, and will furnish additional advantages in the transmission of grain from this point.

MR. ALBERT MILLER has just returned from Fauquier, having rooed with tin, the fine mansion of Col. Wm. G. Morgan, near Salem in that county. The Colonel is "every inch a gentleman," and we commend his wise discretion in selecting one of our enterprising mechanics to secure himself a household from the storms of the elements, if there be no shield against the raging billows of fanaticism.

MR. WM. A. CASTLEMAN has taken charge of the Union Hotel in Berryville, formerly conducted by Mr. A. J. Barford.

THE Rt. Rev. Richard Wilmer, Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Alabama, formerly Rector of Grace Church in Berryville, is now on a visit to his friends in Clark.—He will sail in a short time for Europe, whither he goes to attend a course of Bishops.

A VERY LARGE YIELD.—On a fourteen acre lot, near town, Mr. Geo. Kremer raised five hundred and twenty-one bushels of wheat, being a far more than thirty-seven bushels to the acre! And this too on worn ground. If any of our farmers can beat this, let them send along the figures.—Winchester Times.

OUR SIDE TENT.

reconstructed under military rule, (respective of their real interests and welfare), by ignorant negroes manipulated by exotic tools of the radical party, simply for their political benefit? Is it leniency when they have been stripped of everything they possessed which it was found practicable to deprive them of? There is not a stone left unturned in the exhibition of malice, hatred, revenge, animosity, and a rapacious appetite for political plunder, by this party whom we are told we should term lenient.

Had this assertion been the utterance of a radical demagogue whose inward hates and antipathies would have been a sufficient explanation of his true meaning; it would be well to pass it over unnoticed; But when it comes from one whose record of the past is so well known, surely it seems to be an exorcism as far removed from natural causes as the imagination is competent of conceiving. I, for one, who claim to be as loyal to the principles of American liberty as any man upon the face of God's earth, who receives the blessings of its benign influence; who believe secession and rebellion against the government wrong, first, last, and all the time; and who have never offered aid or comfort to the rebellion, in the slightest degree whatever, am unwilling that the measure of leniency to the Southern States, shall be weighed in the balance of State Rights, transformed into radical consolidation.

'Tis the conscientious believer of a faith and consistent exponent of its doctrines, will challenge respect and admiration even from his most hostile opponent. But the plundering proceeds, he looks the North to the teeth, and waives the dignity of manhood that ordinary ends may be accomplished, presents an object which to see, is to detest; to hear is to disbelieve; to touch, is to be polluted.—ANON.

[From our Special Correspondent.] From Harper's Ferry.

Spirit of Jefferson.— It is accomplished. The Island is sold. Busy hands are already at work. The pleasant hum of labor mingles with the summer breeze. And the kingly costumes—more brilliant than that which encircled the waist of Venus—that courses and sparkles round the whilom possessions of Herr, give promise of employment and plenty to a people, that had become impoverished in everything but hope. Inquisitive people, who, like children, must know what is inside of everything, be it the head of a pin, or a watch, can have nothing to desire after reading your article on the subject in last week's paper.—Single-minded, honest men, with large families to support, young men who want employment, those, whoever they may be, who take an interest in the welfare of the place, will be more anxious and better pleased to know that in a short time the old mill will be once more in operation; that the old factories will be repaired and put to good use; that there will be plenty of work for large numbers of mechanics and laborers.—We trust the proprietors are the very men, in the shortest possible time, to effect this.

Now, let Government follow the example of Herr; dispose of the lands here which it has determined to use no more, allow others, who are able and willing, to turn to manufacturing and other useful purposes, the facilities for those ends which abound here, and then, though the summer pass away, and again, as usual, the wind and rain, and snow of winter make their appearance, there will be nothing to dread. A plentiful harvest—a warm frore—cheerful faces will meet the mechanic when his day of toil is over; honestly earned wages will pay more than pay for all. And, with God's blessing, Harper's Ferry will be herself again. Woodbine and roses will again entwine the porticos, and creep through the fences of Bolivar, and then, in our present enjoyment, and in the pleasant prospect of the future, unmindful of the past, we will admit with old Will Shakespeare, that "all's well that ends well."

The Rev. Dr. Murry, of the Methodist Protestant Church, and President of their annual Conference, preached two sermons in the Bolivar Church, on Sunday, administering the sacrament of the Lord's Supper in the evening. There is a sweet seriousness about this man, a gentle energy of manner, a silvery distinctness of voice, that is most impressive. Tropes and figures, and metaphors are very beautiful in their place and way.—There is no denying the virtue and efficacy, and grandeur of the furious energy of Gavazzi, or the treacherous sentences and thundering eloquence of Howell. But it is equally true, that the truth, simply and earnestly told, is as easily seen, and as readily believed, as if all the art of Aristotle were brought to bear on the process. And so, though at the bar, or in public assemblies, a different style of eloquence might be desirable, a christian congregation on a Sunday morning, in church, admonished and rendered reflective by the time, the place and opening services, could hear no sermon more likely to do them good than those delivered by Mr. Murry on Sunday last.

The weather here is much cooler than it was last week. Pedestrian parties to the Heights, is the order of each day. It is astonishing that more strangers do not visit this place for that purpose. There is not in America or Europe, a finer view, than those from the Stone Fort, or a more magnificent country—including the matchless Valley of the Shenandoah on one side, and Pleasant Valley on the other—that which stretches away in every direction from its base.

There is quite a revival taking place among the stockholders of the Shenandoah Bridge Company. One of them, Lewis, received a galvanic shock recently. He probably has communicated it to his friends, for they had a meeting yesterday. If this meeting means Bridge, it will be a comfort. As it is, I'd rather cross the river in imagination, on the hope of a bridge, than go fro-ziv-iv. A Mississippi flat-bat, without the "flat" of the fiddle or the fun, or anything, save the danger and the expense, is a coach and four in comparison.

Admired by the example of Mr. Cartwright, that there is such a thing as wearing people's patience out, I shall conclude. None of the replies to the question with which my last letter closed were correct. The name of your correspondent is Entre Nous; he heretofore signs himself E. N.

Henry Stonebraker vs. Samuel Stonebraker. — One of them, Henry Stonebraker, is an uncle of complainant, Henry K. Hoffman and Abram S. Stonebraker, a brother, and Clotworthy & Deane, druggists, from manufacturing or imitating the medicines and preparations and labels of complainant, or selling or offering the same for sale, or using his trade marks, and for an account of sale of said imitations of complainant's medicines by defendants.

It is leniency when they are placed under the absolute jurisdiction of military commanders who are responsible to no tribunal whatever for their acts? Is it leniency when contrary to the Constitution of the United States and the genius of liberty, they are denied the rights of the writ of habeas corpus? Is it leniency when their States are to be

BERKELEY ITEMS.

From the Nile Era of Thursday last we copy the following items of local interest.—The corner-stone of the new Southern Church, about to be erected in this place, will be laid on Thursday next, the 8th of August, with Masonic ceremonies. Persons desirous of witnessing the exercises, are requested to assemble at the Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock, P. M., of said day, when an address or sermon will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Pott. After the services, the congregation will join the procession, and proceed in a body from the Church to the Grounds, where the ceremony of laying the corner-stone will take place. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to the public in general. At the close of the ceremonies a collection will be taken up for the benefit of the Church.

We are requested to publish the following list of amounts collected in Falling Water Township, in aid of the suffering South. The collections were made by Miss Jennie Cox, and the money paid over to the Treasurer of the Relief Association by Mr. David Dodd. The whole amount is $60, collected as follows:— D. Dodd, $5.00; Nancy Cox, $5.00; Catharine Dodd, $1.00; W. W. Emerson, $1.00; Susan E. Porterfield, $1.00; A. P. Porterfield, $2.00; Helen Porterfield, $1.00; Matilda Hedges, $5.00; Rev. John Light, $10.00; Margaret Lefevre, $5.00; Elizabeth Lefevre, $2.00; J. T. Gibson, $10.00; Mrs. Duvall, $5.00; Kate Williamson, $1.00; D. Collier, $1.00; Miss Mary Ellis, $5.00.

During the spring and summer, thus far, there has been finished, or now in course of completion, nearly, if not quite fifty new buildings in Martinsburg. These are mostly dwelling houses, although there are several fine business blocks looming up. Dwellings are what we have needed to accommodate our rapidly increasing population. One hundred more houses would find ready tenants at paying rents, if they were only provided. No town in the State, with the same facilities, can present a healthier growth than our own. It is destined to be, in a very short time, the busiest and most flourishing place in the Valley; Capitalists seeking profitable investment can do no better than right here in Martinsburg. We are "marching along" on the "double quick."

The Bunker Hill School, under the charge of Robert S. Eichberger, Esq., intended having an Exhibition on Wednesday evening, August 7th inst. The Exhibition will be held in the P. E. Church of that place, and will consist of addresses, dialogues, tableaux, &c. The patrons and public generally are invited to attend.

There is considerable excitement in the neighborhood of Greensburg, this county, in regard to mad dogs. Several have been killed recently in the vicinity. Some persons who own valuable dogs refuse to have them killed after they are known to have been bitten.—This is wrong, and under such circumstances they lay themselves liable for any damage their dogs may do, if they become rabid.—Every dog showing symptoms of rabidness, or known to have been bitten by another in a rabid state, should be killed at once.

From the Union, of Saturday last, we copy the following:— On Wednesday night of last week, William Dennis, colored, engaged as dining-room servant at the Ramer House, attacked Mary Cole, a colored servant, also engaged at the same hotel, and beat her severely—breaking her arm and injuring her internally. He would have killed her but for the prompt interference of Mr. Ramer, the proprietor.—Dennis made his escape. He has always been considered a desperate character, and a vicious system of jail diet would undoubtedly benefit him in the highest degree.

On Monday evening last, a party of men belonging to Camp Collins, engaged in an affair near the depot. Chief Cookman was promptly on hand and captured two of the ringleaders, named Leary and Larkin. They were taken to jail to await the action of the grand jury, and fined Larkin $2.50 and cost.

On Friday morning last, some children, while playing at the residence of Wm. D. Burkhardt, Esq.; set fire to a window shade. By the prompt action of Mrs. Burkhardt the flames were extinguished, but the castings bear the marks of the flames. A few moments later and the fire would have gained such headway as to preclude the saving of the building.

We understand, that one day last week, Mr. John P. Keatfoot was thrown from a wagon, and had the cap of his knee, severely injured. We have not learned the particulars in the case.

Our attention has been called, by a friend in Jefferson county, Va., to the following notice, which appeared in some of the papers:—"In the Surratt trial, a few days since, Gen. E. G. Lee, of the Confederate army, was introduced as a witness for the defence, when three or four persons, were brought forward, who testified they would not believe Gen. Lee on oath."

This is a mistake, and does injustice to a high-souled officer of a gallant officer of the late Confederate army. The persons referred to is John Lee, a Pennsylvanian, who was a witness for the prosecution. The examination of the witnesses who impeached the testimony of John Lee was heard just before Gen. Lee was introduced by the counsel engaged in defence of Surratt.—Hence the blunder, which seems to be rather inexcusable. Gen. E. G. Lee, is a native of Jefferson county, and son of E. I. Lee, Esq.; whose home it may be remembered, was tenanted by order of Gen. David Hunter—Edmund I. Lee is a cousin, we believe, of Gen. E. Lee. The above statement is made in justice to our injured gentlemen, whose character, as we happen to know, is above suspicion.—Lynchburg Virginian.

WANTED, to complete our files, copies of the Spirit of Jefferson of the following dates:—1866—February 6th, April 17th, May 29th, June 5th, June 19th, August 21st, and December 11th. Persons having copies of the paper of the above dates, will greatly oblige us by sending them to this office.

A number of gentlemen from the State of Alabama are in Washington. It is said that they come with well substantiated complaints against General Pope. They recently had a short interview with the President, with what result has not transpired.

A letter from Edoño Ayres says:—"Large numbers of those unfortunate men and women, beguiled from the United States to emigrate to Brazil, begot to find their way here. They are poor, helpless, deceived, and are witnesses of the folly of leaving the United States for any country under the sun. Deceived by rascals of various kinds, and finally enlisted in the army, is the fate of many a poor fellow." That Brazilian scheme (swindlers) is to be exposed.

Romantic Story.

It is stated that in Brooklyn, N. Y., there lives a native of the Emerald Isle, who has three children.

In the peculiar condition of her trance states, she seemed gifted with a foreknowledge of events, and breathed her thoughts in language so pure and beautiful that even those few friends who were cognizant of her peculiar condition could but express their surprise in wonder and admiration.
