From the Detroit Post. The John Brown Raid.

Brown and five of his men arrived in Detroit with fourteen slaves from Missouri in the summer of 1858. One of the slaves was a male child on the way. The boy was named John Brown, and now lives in Windsor. By a strange coincidence, Fred Douglas happened to be lecturing in this city the same evening that Brown arrived. After the lecture the leaders of the insurrectionary movement got together in the house of War

Webb, on Congress street, near Annapolis street, and arranged the plan for the raid on the South, which broke out prematurely at Harper's Ferry.

Mr. Webb was for years manager of the plug tobacco factory on Jefferson avenue. He is now dead. The leading abolitionists of Detroit and Chatham were also present at the meeting. Douglas objected to Brown's plan, which consisted in the capture of a force of about 1,000 slaves, and then swoop down on the larger towns and cities, collecting force and materials as he progressed.

Mr. Webb was for years manager of the plug tobacco factory on Jefferson avenue. He is now dead. The leading abolitionists of Detroit and Chatham were also present at the meeting. Douglas objected to Brown's plan, which consisted in the capture of a force of about 1,000 slaves, and then swoop down on the larger towns and cities, collecting force and materials as he progressed.

George De Baptiste also disapproved of the plan, but proposed a gunpowder plot, by which some fifteen of the largest churches in the South would be blown up on a fixed Sunday. Brown objected to that plan on the score of humanity, asserting that by his plan a hundred lives would be lost, his intention being not to shed blood unless it became absolutely necessary. De Baptiste still urged radical measures, declaring that Brown's plan would fail, and perhaps cause the loss of a million of lives before the troubles likely to ensue could be ended.

These facts, however, have been kept by sworn secrecy, until lately, by the colored men of Detroit. The particulars have never been published. It may be only necessary to add that subsequent to the meeting at Webb's house, on Congress street, the meeting was held in Chatham, at which the "cap-saker" was put on the plan. Now that the negroes are equal politically, before the law, they have no fear in letting their connection with this affair be known. They glory in it.

A Type Setting Match. Champion key-killers, sheet drawers, telegraph operators, and champion workers of almost every trade, have made good their claim to the title in rival contests, but the champion type-setter is yet to be found. From indications, however, the contest was a running loss, without solution. George A. Barber, a compositor on the Cincinnati Commercial, has published a challenge, to the effect, wherein he holds his self ready to set type against any other man for ten consecutive hours, for a sum of $1,000.

This challenge has been accepted by George Arensburg, of the New York Times, who has put down the forfeit money. Since the act of type setting has been known, the question of how many type, according to printer's measurement could be set up and corrected in ten hours, has been an open one, and now that an opportunity is to be given of setting it, the printers of the country will not cease to speculate upon it until the event has passed. It is claimed by those acquainted with these men, that each can set 25,000 lines in 17,000 cases of type in ten consecutive hours.

When the reader is informed that 17,000 lines is equal to about 40,000 separate pieces of metal, he will have a base upon which to calculate. To do this, one piece must be weighed in each moment, the time of justifying each line, and transferring each stick full of a galley indicated. Should the marks take place, and should either perform what is claimed he can do, it will surpass anything before known of mechanical motion. The test copy is to be a message of the President, run into one solid paragraph, and the type is to be nonpareil.

WONDER OF A WATCH.—There are very few of the many who carry watches who ever think of the complexity of its delicate mechanism, of the extraordinary and unceasing labor it performs. For example: The main wheel makes four revolutions in 24 hours, or 1,440 in a year; the second or center, 24 revolutions in 24 hours, or 7,200 in a year; the third wheel, 192 in 24 hours, or 4,550 in a year; the fourth wheel, which carries the second hand, 1,440 in 24 hours, or 325,000 in a year; the fifth or scape-wheel, 12,960 in 24 hours, or 297,000 revolutions in a year; while the beats or vibrations made in 24 hours are 388,800, or 141,812,000 in a year.

Kind words are the brightest flowers of earth's existence; they make a very poor man the humblest home that the world can show. Use them, and especially around the fire-side circle. They are jewels beyond price, the more precious to the heart who has them, and make the heaviest down spirit happier than all the other blessings the world can give.

A number of counterfeit five-cent coins are reported in circulation and are thus described: The motto, "In God we trust," is much larger in the counterfeit than in the genuine. The yellow color of the spurious coin is also another trait.

Why is the nose the leading feature in every one's countenance? Because every one must follow it.

POETICAL

AROUND THE HEARTH.

Whisper to me softly, lo! Where'er the night is deep, Still to our hearts the dearest spot Is round the hearth at home;

The house where first we saw the light, Where all the dearest ones, Our loving mother, happy father, No spot can be like that.

When Northern winds began to blow, And trees to rock and roar, When winter plies his drifting snow Around the open door.

There, gathered round the blazing fire, Our sorrow passed away, In fairy dreams, as while Our loving mother held our hands, And cheered us with her smile.

And when some little sorrow weighed Upon the childish heart, Till from our burning eyes it made The silent tears drop start.

There, gathered round the blazing fire, Our sorrow passed away, In fairy dreams, as while Our loving mother held our hands, And cheered us with her smile.

And when some little sorrow weighed Upon the childish heart, Till from our burning eyes it made The silent tears drop start.

There, gathered round the blazing fire, Our sorrow passed away, In fairy dreams, as while Our loving mother held our hands, And cheered us with her smile.

And when some little sorrow weighed Upon the childish heart, Till from our burning eyes it made The silent tears drop start.

There, gathered round the blazing fire, Our sorrow passed away, In fairy dreams, as while Our loving mother held our hands, And cheered us with her smile.

And when some little sorrow weighed Upon the childish heart, Till from our burning eyes it made The silent tears drop start.

WEST VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

SAIDAY, FEB. 26, 1870.

SENATE.

BILLS PASSED, AC.

Senate Bill No. 96, authorizing the sale of the parsonage property belonging to Zion's P. E. church, of Charlestown.

SECOND READING.

Senate Bill No. 107, amending the Registry Law.

I. Every registrar shall register any person claiming to be a qualified voter in the township or ward in which he resides, who shall take and subscribe, or offer to take and subscribe, the following oath, to wit: "I, A. B., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not since the first day of June, 1861, given voluntary aid or assistance to the rebellion against the United States, and that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the laws of the United States."

Mr. Cather, of Gilmer, explained how he came to write the letter. There is but one word in that letter I regret or have to be sorry about, and that is where I say "if the Democratic party will support me, I was in the condition of the Dutchman, who got hold of the turpentine bottle instead of the whisky."

LIBERAL OFFER

Wishing to conform to the Cash System as far as possible, we make the following proposition to our patrons...

OUR REPRESENTATIVES.

In former times it was fashionable for the representative to pay some regard to the will of his constituents, and where this was in doubt, to endeavor to ascertain it...

RAILROAD MATTERS.

We take the following extract from an article in the Franklin Repository, published at Chambersburg, Pa., one of the most influential newspapers in the Cumberland Valley...

REMOVAL OF THE CAPITAL.

What possible rational motive could have influenced the Legislature to select Charleston as the future Capital of the State, we have never been able to conjecture.

THE DECLINE OF GOLD.

The downward tendency in the price of gold, says the New York Herald, particularly the decline within the last few days, begins to make the cotton and sugar brokers, the dry goods merchants who have a large stock on hand, and debtors generally, to quake.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNED.

The Legislature of 1870 completed its session on Thursday night, and adjourned sine die. A large amount of important legislation, says the Wheeling Register, was left unfinished for want of time.

THE "BLACK FLAG" RAISED IN CUBA.

Our Havana correspondent writes that the Cubans have begun to retaliate in kind on the Spaniards. General Quesada, before he was superseded by General Jordán, ordered all the prisoners within his immediate command to be shot, and one hundred and thirty-five Spaniards were quickly sent to their last homes.

CORRUPTION IN CONGRESS.

The names of the members and ex-members of Congress who have been implicated in selling cadships for money, are John Corvado, (Pennsylvania), Solomon I. Hoge, (South Carolina carpet-bagger), John T. Dewese, (North Carolina carpet-bagger), Frederick B. Butler, (Tennessee), B. F. Whitmore, (South Carolina carpet-bagger), J. H. Sypher, (Louisiana carpet-bagger), W. J. Blackburn, (Louisiana carpet-bagger), and S. N. Pettis, (Pennsylvania).

WEST VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY, March 1, 1870. SENATE. A long communication was received from Nathaniel Harrison, and with it two letters, one from each of his counsel, withdrawing from the management of his case.

VERY SUSPICIOUS.

On Saturday night last, about 12 o'clock, a negro rode up to the house of a gentleman living some two or three miles from Millwood, and pretended to deliver a message, that his daughter living in Millwood, had become suddenly ill, and requested that her father would immediately come to her; this the sister proceeded immediately to put in execution, only accompanied by a little brother. Fortunately a gentleman in the house that it is to accompany her, which probably prevented a terrible catastrophe, as the sudden sickness was a mere pretense, and the party were on their way to Millwood, the negro rode off, and trying his best to get away, had taken from the table of Mr. Hestep, a small amount of the darkness to escape. It was found on arriving at Millwood that no such message had been sent, and we were left to conjecture the vile intent of the negro messenger.

MARRIED.

In Shepherdstown, on Tuesday last, by Rev. H. W. HOWARD, both of Jefferson County. On the 24th inst. in Sheps. Town, by Rev. H. W. HOWARD, both of Jefferson County.

POETICAL.

TWO WAYS TO LIVE.

There are two ways to live on earth—
The first is to judge each man as he is.

Give me the house where kindness finds
To make that house which is so small.

Who in a neighbor's fortune find
No wish to impulse to compare.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

Some, because, wherever they go,
Find sought to please or to exalt.

A Nod as good as a Wink.

Smith, the auctioneer, is a popular man,
A wit and a gentleman. No person is offended

At what he says, and many a hearty laugh
Has been provoked by his sayings. He was Recently engaged in the sale of venerable household Furniture and fixtures. He had just got to the "going, going, and a half going," when he Saw a smiling countenance, on agricultural grounds, wink at him. He winked at the Wink as good as a nod to a blind horse,

and a sharp-sighted auctioneer, so Smith
Winked and the man winked, and Smith kept on "going, going," with a lot of stove pipes, Glassware, carpets, pots, and perfumery, and finally this lot was knocked down, to the Smiling stranger.

"Who? Golly!" said the stranger, "I don't Know who."

"Why you, sir," said Smith.

"Yes, you bid on the lot," said Smith.

"Why? Hang me if I did!" insisted the Stranger.

"Why did you not wink, and keep winking at me?" said Smith.

"Winking! Well I did, and so did you at me.
I thought you was winking as much as to say, keep dark; I'll stick somebody in this lot of stuff, and I'll wink as much as to say,

"I'll be hanged if you don't mister."

Good Rules for Old Men.

The following resolutions were drawn up by Swift, to be observed "when I grow old."

Not to marry a young woman.

Not to keep young company, unless they desire it.

Not to be peevish, morose or suspicious.

Not to tell the same story over twice to the same people.

Not to be covetous—the hardest of all to be kept.

Not to neglect decency and cleanliness for fear of falling into nastiness.

Not to be over-averse with young people, but to make allowances for their youthful follies and weaknesses.

Not to be too free of advice, nor trouble any but those that desire it.

Not to talk much, nor of myself—very hard again.

Not to hearken to flatterers, nor conceive I can be loved by a young woman.

Not to be too positive or opinionative.

Not to set up for discerning all these rules, for fear I shall observe none.
