LOCAL MISCELLANY.

IMPROVED STOCK.—Though no one of the large landholders of the Valley were more hardy dealt with by the ravages and destruction of the war than our friend and fellow-citizen, James M. Ranson, Esq., yet none has met the occasion with more becoming resignation or commenced the work of "reconstruction" in a more determined spirit. Realizing, at the termination of our late unpleasantness, that all the fine stock of cattle of which our country boasted had gone down with our "wooding twine," he at once, without regard to cost, procured a herd of the purest and best blood of short-horn cattle that Kentucky breeders could produce. This stock and its progeny have now been on exhibition to the public for the last three years, and elicited the highest commendation. At the Frederick (Md.) and Winchester (Va.) Fairs, the whole herd was the admiration and wonder of the occasion, and received the most substantial recognition it was in the power of the associations to award, premiums individually and collectively. This, however, has not satisfied the desire of Mr. R. in bringing before the people of his native county a class of stock equal, if not superior to any other to be found in the country, but he has in prospective a cross from which he justly anticipates the best results. In company with a friend, it was our pleasure, a few days ago, to look upon an animal on his farm designated as a cow, and surely the largest if not the most beautiful we have ever seen. Through extraordinary perseverance, he has been recently obtained by Mr. R. from Judge Sheldon, of Geneva, N. Y., a man equally distinguished in Europe as in the United States, as the breeder of the finest cattle the world could produce. "Royalist" is now something over seven months old—at six he weighed 493 lbs.—is of the celebrated Duke and Dutchess strain of short-horn Durham, possessing all the characteristic marks of the herds of Judge S., regarded as the purest and best this country could produce.

It was from this same stock, as we have ample evidence to believe, that three leifers were sold about a year since for exportation to Europe, for the sum of seventeen thousand dollars, and other sales could be particularized at correspondingly high figures. It is indeed now universally conceded by all intelligent breeders of cattle, that this particular strain of short-horn is the purest and best that the country can produce, and "Royalist" is the finest animal of the kind that ever stood upon Jefferson soil. As Mr. Ranson is devoting his energies and a liberal expenditure of means to the rearing of stock, he has reason, indeed, to congratulate himself in having effected so fortunate a cross with his pure and beautiful herd. We hope there are many of our Valley farmers who will evidence their appreciation of the public spirit and enterprise of Mr. Ranson by introducing these unrivalled cattle as crosses on their own herds.

T. S.—Since the above was written, we learn that Mr. R. has sold one of his young short-horn bulls, "January," for the sum of $225.00. Mr. Geo. W. Eichelberger, one of our most energetic farmers, and judicious discriminating stock-graziers, was the purchaser.

CREDIT COURT.—The following jury cases were tried during the past week: Joseph Butler, ex. Wm. Tennant Appeal, on account. No Verdict. Belzhoover for Plaintiff; Van Swearingen for Defendant. E. Baker's Executors, ex. L. Etelson, as Garischie. Appeal by Garischie. Verdict for Defendant. Belzhoover for Plaintiff; Van Swearingen and Blackburn for Defendant. John W. Neer, ex. C. Niswanger. Appeal. Verdict for Defendant. A. E. Kennedy for Plaintiff; Blackburn for Defendant. R. A. Snyder, Adm'r, ex. Jacob Snyder. Action of debt on bond alleged by defendant to have been signed conditionally. Verdict for Plaintiff; Belzhoover and Blackburn for Plaintiff; Van Swearingen, Green and Lucas for Defendant.

There were no further jury trials. The court was engaged during the balance of the term, in disposing of chancery business, motions for new trials, &c., and adjourned finally at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning. The amount of business disposed of was large, there being, as we understand, not less than one hundred and seven common law cases finally ended, besides a large number of chancery causes.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—General Haupt and Geo. W. Barrett, Esq., Engineers of the Shenandoah Valley Railroad, arrived in Charlestown on Saturday last, by the early train from Winchester, and, accompanied by J. B. McElroy, Esq., Engineer of this Division, went over the line from here to Shepherdstown, at which point they were joined by the Hon. Wm. H. Travers. The party, after having a pleasant interview with some of the citizens of Shepherdstown and examining the proposed crossing of the Potomac at that place, returned to the B. & O. R. R., where Gen. Haupt took the train for Philadelphia, and Mr. Barrett departed for Luray, both highly pleased with what they saw of the resources of our county and its adaptability to the new railroad. We regret that these gentlemen were compelled to defer to a future visit, the opportunity of forming the acquaintance of a larger number of the citizens of our county.

LAND SALE.—We understand that Mr. Chas. J. Manning has disposed of the tract of land (109 acres,) recently purchased of the Ranson estate, on the Berryville turnpike, to Mr. Eron Sifer, at $600 per acre. We understand that it is the intention of Mr. Sifer to improve this property.

RELIGIOUS.—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered by the Rev. A. C. Ho. Kings at M. Wesleyan, on Sabbath next, the 11th inst., preparatory services commencing on Friday evening previous.

Communicated. Messrs. Editors.—The friends of the late Dr. Cordell were startled by the announcement of his death, in Baltimore, on the 13th ultimo; not that he was invulnerable to the shaft of the destroyer, but that his robust health and vigorous constitution (though he had reached an advanced age) indicated he might live years to come. Something more than the bare publication of his demise is due his memory and character. There are those virtues that inhere to the inner man and dropped out in the life and action, that deserve selection and pointing to as the noblest part and worthy of imitation. Three years of almost every day intercourse with him, gave an insight into his character that led me to admire and honor him.

How few were his superiors as a gentleman? Ever exhibiting, as he did, the delightful superiority in word and deed, that irresistibly won your heart. With so much ease and grace was this shown that effort was not seen, but the art by nature given. It is a nice thing to be a gentleman on the street and in the store, as well as in the drawing room.

He was a gentleman of refined and cultivated literary taste and reach. He manifested intimacy with the classic authors of the past, and was a discriminating reader and lover of modern works in a masterly manner. (We did he, with the spirit of a Pedant, force his acquired knowledge upon you, but left you to discover his attainments by the word or sentence freely spoken.)

He was a citizen of no mean influence.— Gifted with a public spirit that looked to the prosperity of his fellows and the issue with which he was so long identified, he was ever ready to give advice and effort to those enterprises that contemplated the good of the community and the improvement of the village. Most especially did he covet the moral advancement of the community, and sincerely deprecated every noxious influence that would scatter seed of demoralization and ruin.

But best of all, and highest of all, our lamented friend was a Christian. He was a regular communicant in the Protestant Episcopal Church for many years, during which he filled the places of trust in his economy, was a faithful hearer of word as preached by her pastors, and truthfully waited upon all the means of grace. He particularly displayed that form of christianity that is lovely to contemplate, and betokens unmistakably the spirit of the Master. He heard the word gladly and often, and the lips of those who ministered next at his altar, and worshipped with those who were not of his own denominational fold. Dr. Cordell was no bigot. His was preeminently a catholic spirit. Though a Protestant Episcopalian by education and taste, he loved all christians that loved the Lord Jesus Christ. As such I honor him, and his name is as eminent poured forth on His many presence will be missed from the other churches of the town, where he was frequently seen as the attentive hearer and reverential worshiper, when his own was closed. With such a life testimony for that city, his end was assuredly that of the righteous.

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 1, 1870.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The regular annual Convention of the Sunday School Society of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, South, opened its session in Staunton, Va., on the evening of November 24, and adjourned sine die on the evening of the 25th. A good deal of important business was transacted during its session, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President.—T. J. McGruder, Baltimore. Vice Presidents.—H. F. OUR TURNPIKE.—The work on the Kabletown and Blooming turnpike, from Charlestown Southward, is being pushed rapidly. Stone has already been broken for as far as the front of the lot of John J. Lock, Esq., and in a day or two will have crossed the bed of the old road but that point. Manning's big bill, it is expected, will be graded and ready for the stone by Christmas. By reference to advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the Company offer for sale a number of building lots, adjoining Charlestown.

THE WAY ONE MAN DID OUT WEST.—When trade grew slack and notes fell due, the merchant's face grew long and blue; his dreams were troubled through the night, with sheriff's bailiffs all in sight. At last his wife upon him said, "Rise up at once, get out of bed, and get your paper, ink, pen, and advertise to all good men." He did as his good wife advised, and in the paper advertised. Crows came and loquacious of all he had, his notes were paid, his dreams were glad, and he will tell you to this day, how well did printer's ink repay.

THE PAPER MILL AT SHEPHERDSTOWN.—The paper mill of Messrs. Ashton, Whelan & Co., at Shepherdstown, says the Register, is now in successful operation. This mill is an extensive one, employing heavily forty hands, and making from five to six tons of paper per day, with even a larger capacity.

ANOTHER NEW PAVEMENT.—We are glad to see that, by degrees at least, the old and disagreeable sidewalks of the town are being replaced by new and substantial brick pavements. A new one has just been laid in front of the new building of Samuel Rideout, on Main street.

B. & O. R. R. Co., vs. HARPER'S FERRY MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—In regard to this interesting case, the Martinsburg New Era of last week contains the following:— An interesting and somewhat elaborate argument was made before Judge Hall on Tuesday last at the Court House, upon an Injunction Case of the B. & O. R. R. Co., vs. Harper's Ferry Manufacturing Company, now pending in Jefferson county, and which was brought here for argument by consent of the parties interested. The case was opened on the part of the Railroad Company by Judge Leigh, of Clarkburg, West Virginia, in a clear and forcible statement of the points at issue between the respective Companies, and claiming that the motion to dissolve could not be properly heard until a survey was made to establish the fact, whether or not, the Railroad Company occupied the grounds of the Harper's Ferry Manufacturing Company, purchased by them of the United States; and moved the Court to order an official Survey of the land in question. This motion was resisted on the part of the Harper's Ferry Company by General N. P. Banks, of Massachusetts, and Andrew Hunter, Esq., who pressed a hearing of the motion to dissolve the Injunction granted the Railroad Company some time since, and claimed that an order of survey would delay the hearing of the merits of the case; and that such survey would necessarily involve the question of the true line between Maryland and West Virginia, therefore could not be properly ordered by the Court. The Hon. B. H. Latrobe, of Baltimore, closed the argument on the part of the Railroad Company, combating in a masterly manner the points raised by the counsel of the opposite side and showing conclusively that the ends of justice required such survey to be made. Judge Hall ordered a survey to be made before any further hearing of the case should be had.

JOHN BROWN'S DAY.—Friday was the eleventh anniversary of the execution of John Brown at Charlestown, Va., for the crime of leading an armed force against the State of Virginia for the purpose of liberating the slaves. Every recurring anniversary of his death, says the New York Sun has been solemnly observed by the colored people of that city, and Friday night a large number assembled in Shiloh Presbyterian Church, corner of Prince and Marion streets, to assist in commemorating the sacrifice of the dead patriot. There was singing and prayer and eulogistic speeches. H. Highland Grant, pastor of the church, said he was in Brown's confidence and knew all his plans. Brown was in Shiloh Church just before going South to strike a blow, and "as he sat there," said the reverend gentleman, "in that room which is now reserved for the elders." On that occasion Brown's favorite hymn, "Blow ye the trumpet, blow," was sung at his request.

THE SPIRIT OF THE MURDERED NEGRO, Hayward, should have been present.
