CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, APRIL 23.

The Senate, after the presentation of petitions, and receiving reports from several committees, took up and concurred in the following amendments from the H. of R. viz: The amendment to the bill to authorize the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to redeem the public debt of the United States; and

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

Neither house of Congress continued in session, except to hear the eulogy of Gen. Smyth announced in the usual form.

TUESDAY, APRIL 20.

In the Senate, a memorial was presented by the President, from the ship carpenters, rope-makers, riggers, block makers, plumbers, coppersmiths, and others of the city of Philadelphia, engaged in the various branches of business connected with commerce and navigation, requesting a subsidy on manufactures, without reading, when at the instance of Mr. Hayne, the memorial was read, and ordered to be printed on the motion of Mr. Grundy.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21.

In the House of Representatives, petitions and memorials (the presentation of which was deferred on Monday, in consequence of the funeral of Gen. ALEXANDER SMYTH) were submitted as usual. Among the memorials presented by the Speaker, was one from the ship carpenters, and other artisans employed in ship building in Philadelphia, setting forth the grievances under which they labored from the imposition of duties on raw materials.

In the House of Representatives, after receiving reports from several committees, the resolution relative to a reduction of the officers of the army, was taken up, and Mr. Drayton continued his remarks until the hour expired. The House then went into Committee of the Whole and resumed the consideration of the case of Judge Peck.

FRIDAY, APRIL 25.

The Senate, after the transaction of other business, again resumed the consideration of the bill to remove the Indians west of the Mississippi; Mr. White of Tennessee addressed the Senate; but, before he had concluded, gave way for a motion to adjourn.

FOREIGN.

By arrivals at New-York, April 17, in 15 days from England.

The London papers are filled with Parliamentary debates. The resolution introduced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer for reducing the 4 per cent. stocks to 3 per cent. was agreed to.

The following information, dated Paris, March 25, is given by the English papers, without vouching for its correctness: Notwithstanding the apparent quiet in the capital, it is now generally rumored that the King has considerable doubt of the fidelity of his guards, and that the officers have received instructions to watch narrowly the conduct of the men under their command, and above all to prevent their mixing with the people.

The House of Representatives, after Mr. Drayton had occupied the hour in some remarks on the resolution relative to a new military organization, the discussion on which was arrested before their conclusion, passed the bill to reduce the duties on coffee and tea, by a vote of 163 to 5. After postponing the bills before the House, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. The Committee refused to take up the consideration of the Tariff Bill by a vote of 75 to 61; and took up the report of the Judiciary Committee on the case of Judge Peck for high misdemeanor. A discussion took place in which Messrs.

were piled in the square in such order that they might be seized upon at the first beat of the drum. The troops were kept in readiness until midnight. It is stated that the ministry cannot yet depend upon the Royal French Guard. The infantry is composed of six French and two Swiss regiments. The duty has hitherto been done by two native and one foreign regiment. By a new arrangement, the Swiss regiment in garrison at Orleans, is called to Paris, and permanent duty will henceforth be done by one French and two Swiss.

Letters from Toulon state, that a report is current of the Circe frigate having entered Algiers with a flag of truce. It was mentioned some time since, that a vessel with a diplomatic agent on board had left Toulon in order to convey to the Dey of Algiers the ultimatum of France. This explains the report of the Circe into the port of Algiers, if the report be true. What is certain, however, is, that great activity prevails on the coast of Barbary and in the vicinity of Algiers. The Bedouins are moving in all directions, and it is said that every rock on the coast is mounted with a battery.

Many things conspire to produce the impression that France is rapidly approaching a crisis which must decide the triumph or defeat of either the liberal or absolute parties. There seems to be a confidence of strength in the absolutists, judging from the decided tone of bravado assumed by their presses, that might have a more certain foundation than that furnished by speculative theories, upon imaginary strength of numbers.

The paragraphs published in the Ministerial Journals of Paris attract more attention and frequently produce more excitement than those of any other part of the world, in consequence of the fact being generally understood that the Ministers themselves are in the habit of giving their opinions to the public upon all measures of consequence, through the medium of a favorite Journal.

On the arrival of two of the deputies of the extreme gauche at Rouen on the 23d ult. the Electors waited upon them in a body, and one of them, in the name of the rest, returned thanks to them for having voted the address against ministers. Mr. Thil, one of the deputies, said, "Let us await the future, gentlemen, without fear, but without indulging in a deceitful security."

The Dublin Evening Post contains the following extract of a letter from Paris:—Banns of marriage between a French gentleman of the name of M., and Miss H., the daughter of the Rev. John H., have been published at the church of St. Philippe du Roule, under strange circumstances. A British officer now here was paying his addresses to the young lady in question, and with her father's approbation. He discovered, however, that she loved a Frenchman, Monsieur H., whose disqualification in the estimation of the Rev. Barnet was want of fortune; ascertaining also that the possession of 100,000 francs would remove all objections to the favoured lover.

The N. Y. Evening Post, advertising to the advancement of Illinois, gives some extracts from "a curious letter" just received from Canton, in that state. The writer it seems, cannot divest himself of the idea, "that he is actually dwelling on the very spot, which at the commencement of the world, was Paradise."

Letters from Toulon state, that a report is current of the Circe frigate having entered Algiers with a flag of truce. It was mentioned some time since, that a vessel with a diplomatic agent on board had left Toulon in order to convey to the Dey of Algiers the ultimatum of France. They are from 6 to 15 feet high, and are full of human bones which are found to be a great deal larger than those of the present race of men."

The Philadelphia Gazette of the 17th says:—"There was a riot yesterday afternoon, opposite the Franklin Institute, in which a large number of colored persons took part."

The United States Court had decided that the claim of a gentleman to a runaway blackman was well founded. The officers prepared to take the man to prison for safe-keeping, till he should be sent out of the state; but the colored persons assembled to the number of sixty, and attempted a rescue. In the conflict, one of the constables received some personal injury, and it is said that horses in the carriage were severely beaten by the multitude. It is further said, that one of the Marshal's deputies fired a pistol, and wounded one of the crowd.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1830.

The vote on the Constitution in this county, at the close of the third day, stood:

Table with 2 columns: For and Against. Rows include Philadelphia, United States Court, and others.

The returns from the different counties, far as they have been received, serve to confirm the expectation that the new constitution will be ratified by a considerable majority.

We continue to add to our list of returns, weekly, and shall do so until it be complete.

Notwithstanding the defeat of the Buffalo and New Orleans Road bill, in the House of Representatives, the editors of the National Intelligencer predict the commencement of a road from Washington to N. Orleans, and of the same or another road from Washington to Buffalo, within five years from this date.

As all great national works should be performed with a view to benefit the greatest number, the project of a road from Washington to N. Orleans, and of the same or another road from Washington to Buffalo, within five years from this date.

We perceive, by the Frederick papers, that books are to be opened on Friday next, to receive subscriptions for Stock in a company incorporated by the Legislature of Maryland, for the improvement of the Harpers-Ferry Road leading from Fredericktown to Harpers-Ferry.

Books of subscription for the Harpers-Ferry, Charlestown, and Smithfield road, will also be opened in a short time.

If these important improvements should proceed, pari passu, incalculable benefits and conveniences will result to the public.

It will doubtless afford satisfaction to many minds, to see that the States of Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, are all engaged in the same great and important enterprise.

The Colonization Society. We would ask the attention of the members of the Colonization Society, and all others friendly to the cause, to the notice found in another column, of a meeting of the society to be held in the new Presbyterian Church on Friday next.

Melancholy accident.—The Chamberburg (Pa.) Steam Boat accident.—We learn from the Philadelphia Gazette, that on Sunday the 4th inst. about 14 miles below Smithfield, the boat had to shore a passenger, and care was taken to let a quantity of steam escape to secure the safety of the engine, as the boat put off from the shore explosion took place. An election was held on Monday last for Members of the Council for the ensuing year. After counting the ballots, the following gentlemen were declared duly elected:

- John T. Cooks, Thomas Hesse, Daniel Cameron, Joseph Smith, B. T. Tower, Daniel Entler, Joseph Jones.

The new board held their first meeting on the evening of the same day, and elected: John T. Cooks, Mayor.

Distress in England.

The true condition of England, to judge from the frequent extracts on the subject from the English prints into our own journals, is a topic of great interest in our country.

Surgical Operation.

A communication in the Winchester (Va.) Republican states, that a surgical operation was performed in the city of Alexandria, N. H., upon two men, one of whom was a slave.

A piece of flesh was taken from the cheek to form the lip, and in three weeks they perfectly recovered, so that no person, without strict scrutiny, would be able to tell that there had been any vacancy in the lip of either. Their utterance, which was formerly indistinct is now perfectly plain.

A number of respectable strangers from different parts of the Union, including several members of Congress, visited the Rail-road on Saturday, and made an excursion on it as far as the Carrolton Viaduct and back.

The carriage contained upwards of 30 passengers at each trip, and was transported by one horse with ease, at the rate of twelve to fifteen miles an hour.

The exhibition appeared to afford complete satisfaction to every one who witnessed it. The members of Congress, we learn, were Mr. Campbell, of South Carolina; Mr. Kennon, of Ohio; Mr. Arnold of New York; Mr. Monell, of New York; Mr. C. P. White, of New York; and Mr. Birdridge, of Virginia.

We learn that after the excursion in the carriage, a party of gentlemen traversed the line of the road as far as Elliotts' Mills, on horseback, the whole extent of which presents a continuous scene of lively industry, from the number of workmen engaged in laying down the rails.

The contractors on the different sections are pushing forward their work with energy, and considerable progress has already been made. All that part of the line between Vinegar Hill and the Mills is to be laid on granite blocks, a large proportion of which are now set in the ground, and parts of some sections entirely finished.

Rail Road.—We understand, says the Wilmington (Del.) Journal, that the Rail Road from Newcastle to Frenchtown, was commenced yesterday, and that the work will be vigorously prosecuted until its completion.

It is said that the Rail Road from Albany to Schenectady will be immediately commenced.

Steamboat Explosion.—The Opelousa (La.) Gazette states that on the 16th ult. the steamboat William Tell, while on her passage from Pittsburg to New Orleans, about three miles above the mouth of Red River, burst her boiler and sank in about five minutes from the time of the accident. Five lives were lost and the cargo entirely.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A TIRE SOME GUEST.

Sedat, eternumque sedet—Vincit. He sits, and will forever sit. There is belonging to the race of human bipeds, a sort of troublesome being, who, setting no value on their own time, care very little how much they trespass on that of their more industrious neighbors.

To give a single instance of this sitting propensity, we will introduce the story of a plain spoken old lady from the State of Virginia. "I never seed the beat of that are Captain Spiritout," said she; "you believe it, he called at our house last evening just as I had done milking, and wanted to borrow my brass kettle for his wife to make apple-sauce."

Well, presently our tea was ready, and I could not do no less than as him to take tea with us. O no, he said, he could not stay a minute; but however, he concluded he'd take a drink of cider with my husband, and so he did. Well, after we'd done tea, I took the kettles, and worked till I thought it high time honest people should be abed.

Seeing there was no likelihood of his going home, I axed him if he would stay all night. O no, he said, he could not possibly stay a minute; so, seeing there was no use in saying any thing, I went to bed.

Thinking, says I, you're pretty slow at taking a hint, Captain Spiritout; so I said plainly that I thought it was bed time—speaking always to my husband, but so as I thought the Captain could not help taking it to himself—but, la, it did not do no good at all—for there he sat all night.

From the Darien (Geo.) Phoenix, of April 8. DIED, today, after an existence of not quite fifteen months, the Darien Phoenix. Consumption inherited from its ancestor, the Darien Gazette, may perhaps be assigned as one of the remote causes of its death.

A man boasting of his honesty is generally a rogue—of his piety, generally a hypocrite—of his courage, generally a coward—of his riches, generally not wealthy—of democracy, generally an aristocrat—of his intimacy with great men, generally despised by those whom he may chance to know—of his wit, popularity and high standing, always a fool.

THE DRUNKARD'S TREE.

The Sin of DRUNKENNESS.

Expels Reason, drowns Memory, disengages the Body, Enfeebles Strength, diminishes Strength, Weakens the Brain, turns men into walking Hospitals, causes internal, external & incurable Wounds; is a Witch to the Sense, a Devil To the Soul, a Thief to the Purse, the Beggar's Curse, a Wife's Woe, And Children's sorrow, makes Men become a Beast and a Self-murderer, Who drinks to Others' good health and his own ruin.

"I am a true Hollander," said the celebrated De Witt, a staunch Republican. "I always call a spade a spade, and hate indirect paths." He was so indignant at fraud, that he recommended that bankrupts be compelled of concealing their effects should be put to the rack.

Hard Cider.—"Why, dear me, Mr. Long-sawtooth," said a good lady, "how can you drink down a quart of that dreadful hard cider at a single draught?" As soon as the man could breathe again he replied, "I beg pardon, madam, but upon my soul it was so hard I could not bite it."
