

VIRGINIA FREE PRESS.

FOREIGN

LATEST FROM EUROPE. The picket ship Bully, at New York, from Havre, brings Paris papers to the 15th and Havre to the 19th January, both inclusive.

The eyes of all Europe seem now to be fixed on the preparations for the approaching struggle between Russia and Poland. The war has not yet actually begun, but "rumours of war" are heard like the sound of thunders preceding the tempest.

Letters from Berlin say that the Russian Guards were to set off from St. Petersburg on the 12th Jan. The two corps d'armee which are to advance against Warsaw, are estimated at 150,000 men.

A letter from Warsaw says the number of Russian officers who are prisoners in this city, is 140; they are all lodged at the Royal Castle, and if one of our journals is to be believed, M. Schmidt, the Prussian Consul, has frequent communications with them.

Another letter from Warsaw says: "We this moment learn that the Emperor Nicholas refuses to listen to the proposals of the Polish Deputation, and is already on his march against us."

WARSAW, DEC. 31.—Several Lithuanian officers, from the Army of Lithuania, have arrived here to take the orders of the Dictator. One of the pupils of the Military School, named Zaslowski, had served several days in Lithuania.

Patriotic gifts flow in from all quarters, and the amount is already near 3,000,000. The Jews alone have given above 1,000,000. Their enthusiasm is above all praise.

The London Times speaking of the proclamation of Emperor Nicholas against Poland, says:—

"Though prepared for a declaration of war against Poland, probably neither the Poles themselves nor any other European nation, were prepared for the assertion of such arrogant pretensions, or the employment of such sanguinary measures as this document contains."

The cruel decision of demanding gratitude from the Poles for peace and prosperity as they enjoyed under the despotism of the Grand Duke Constantine, adds unbearable insult to those manifold oppressions which provoked and justified the insurrection.

pected they will be marched into the interior of Russia. We are ready with 60,000 excellent troops, and 10,000 cavalry. We have also 10,000 irregular cavalry and 100,000 militia, but these last require to be armed with muskets, and every day there are new volunteer corps formed.

The menacing attitude of Russia seems to increase the courage of the Poles. The arming of all Poland is proceeding with the greatest activity. It is true, fire-arms are wanting in certain provinces of the Kingdom, but their place is supplied by scythes.

SWITZERLAND. The troubles in Switzerland were on the increase. News from Basle (Switzerland) of the 5th January, mention a most serious revolt of the whole peasantry.

FRANCE. Every thing upon the surface, for the present, breathes peace and tranquillity. The Emperor of Russia has instructed his Ambassador to assure the king of his most favorable attachment, as well as his strongest desire to co-operate with him in maintaining the general peace of Europe.

ENGLAND. It does not appear that the burnings and destruction of machines had become less frequent, though the trials of those arrested were going on rapidly, and severe sentences passed on a great number of them.

SPAIN. The government has just discovered a conspiracy formed by the students of the schools of Toledo, Alcala, San Fernando, and Madrid, to bring about a revolution.

Belgium, therefore, must again try the fortune of war. PORTUGAL. An expedition is preparing at Terceira against Portugal. More than 8000 men are already assembled.

IRELAND. The state of Ireland is perhaps alarming. An old magistrate of Carrigrohane observed that he had never known the peasantry in a more disturbed state or more lawless mood, since the few months preceding 1798.

CONGRESS.

From the National Journal. SATURDAY, FEB. 19.

The credentials of the election of the Hon. Thomas Ewing, by the State of Ohio, and of the re-election of the Hon. Elias K. Kane, by the State of Illinois, as Senators from those States for six years from the 4th of March next, were laid before the Senate today. The general appropriation bill was taken up, for the purpose of considering the several amendments as in committee of the whole.

MONDAY, FEB. 21. In the Senate, the bill to provide for the adjustment of claims of persons entitled to indemnification under the late treaty with Denmark, and for the distribution among such claimants, of the sums to be paid by the Danish Government to that of the United States, under the stipulations of the convention, was read a third time and passed.

TUESDAY, FEB. 22. In the Senate, the usual morning business having been gone through, the day was occupied in a discussion on the 6th amendment proposed by the Finance Committee of the Senate to the General Appropriation bill for the support of Government.

On Tuesday, (22d) but little business was done, except the reading of, and concurrence in, several reports of committees. The report of the committee of roads, &c. declared reasonable the petition of the citizens of Jefferson and Frederick, in reference to the improvement of the Shenandoah and a bill, &c.

On Wednesday, the bill incorporating the Staunton and Potomac Rail Road Company, was read the 3d time, and passed without opposition. The loan bill was taken up, and referred to a select committee, with leave to sit during the session of the house.

On Thursday, (24th) the bill for the relief of the Insolvent Debtors of the United States, was amended, on motion of Mr. Semmes, so as to limit its operation to three years, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time today. A letter from M. Rhind was received from the President of the United States, giving information as to the manner in which he became possessed of the Arabian Horses presented to him by the Grand Signior, and the necessity under which he found himself of accepting them.

E. P. CHAMBERS was, on Thursday last, re-elected a Senator in Congress from the State of Maryland, for six years from the 3d inst. without opposition.

THE LEGISLATURE.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT. RICHMOND, FEB. 23, 1831.

The most important of Saturday's proceedings in the House of Delegates, may be summed up in very few words. Several amendments, (or rather additions,) were made to the loan bill, in committee of the whole. It was soon apparent, however, that too much weight had been added, and it was desirable that the further consideration of the subject should be suspended.

For this purpose, a motion was made, that the committee rise, which was carried; but the motion to lay the bill upon the table, failed. This was the favorite movement for the opponents of the scheme to attempt its prostration. Mr. Goode of Mecklenburg, moved the indefinite postponement of the bill and amendments. In vain did the friends of the measure appeal to him, to withdraw the motion, until they could present the subject in a shape which they should deem objectionable.

On Monday, the subject was resumed, and the motion to postpone indefinitely, was renewed by Mr. Goode, who contended that the opponents of the principle of loans ought to vote for his motion, as the matter could be as well tested in that way as any other.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

On Tuesday, (22d) but little business was done, except the reading of, and concurrence in, several reports of committees. The report of the committee of roads, &c. declared reasonable the petition of the citizens of Jefferson and Frederick, in reference to the improvement of the Shenandoah and a bill, &c.

On Wednesday, the bill incorporating the Staunton and Potomac Rail Road Company, was read the 3d time, and passed without opposition. The loan bill was taken up, and referred to a select committee, with leave to sit during the session of the house.

On Thursday, (24th) the bill for the relief of the Insolvent Debtors of the United States, was amended, on motion of Mr. Semmes, so as to limit its operation to three years, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time today. A letter from M. Rhind was received from the President of the United States, giving information as to the manner in which he became possessed of the Arabian Horses presented to him by the Grand Signior, and the necessity under which he found himself of accepting them.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

Table with 2 columns: Road name and Amount. Includes Road from Winchester to the Ohio River (125,000), Petersburg Rail Road (160,000), Turnpike Road from the Tennessee Sea line to Salem, in Botetown (120,000).

The subject will be taken up tomorrow. A substitute, proposed to the bill concerning the public roads of the commonwealth, occupied the time of the house, in committee of the whole, for the greater part of the day.

The proceedings of the Legislature, since my last, have related to subjects of great importance to the Commonwealth. On Thursday, the bill providing for the opening and repair of public roads, was further considered, and the substitute reported by a select committee was adopted, after various amendments, and considerable debate, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

On Tuesday, (22d) but little business was done, except the reading of, and concurrence in, several reports of committees. The report of the committee of roads, &c. declared reasonable the petition of the citizens of Jefferson and Frederick, in reference to the improvement of the Shenandoah and a bill, &c.

On Wednesday, the bill incorporating the Staunton and Potomac Rail Road Company, was read the 3d time, and passed without opposition. The loan bill was taken up, and referred to a select committee, with leave to sit during the session of the house.

On Thursday, (24th) the bill for the relief of the Insolvent Debtors of the United States, was amended, on motion of Mr. Semmes, so as to limit its operation to three years, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time today. A letter from M. Rhind was received from the President of the United States, giving information as to the manner in which he became possessed of the Arabian Horses presented to him by the Grand Signior, and the necessity under which he found himself of accepting them.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

The Judicial bill will come up on Monday, and will, I hope, be disposed of during the week. Then, after the appointment of the judges, the labors of this body will probably soon close.

The resolutions reported by the committee on Revolutionary claims—1. That in the opinion of this committee, the State of Virginia has a valid and substantial claim on the Government of the United States, for all loans which she has paid, or may be compelled to pay, on account of the claims of the officers of her State line during the revolution, and which were omitted and not embraced in the former settlement between this State and the U. States; 2. That it is expedient to appoint an Agent or Commissioner, on behalf of this State, with an adequate compensation, whose duty it shall be to prepare the documentary and other testimony in relation to such claims; and to attend personally to the prosecution of the same—were read and concurred in.

Resolutions of the committee of Roads—1. Declaring reasonable the memorial of citizens of Frederick, for the incorporation of a company to construct a road from Winchester to Berryville; 2. Declaring reasonable a petition from Botetown, for the incorporation of a turnpike Company to construct a road from Fincastle to James River; 3. Declaring reasonable the memorial of citizens of Frederick and Jefferson, directing the attention of the Legislature to the improvement of the Shenandoah Valley, by rail road or lock and dam, and requesting that the Engineer survey the same, and prepare estimates—were read and concurred in.

Resolutions of the Militia committee—1. Vesting the election of all Militia Company Officers, in the private; 2. Vesting the election of field Officers in the company Officers; 3. That all other militia officers should continue to be elected and commissioned as at present; 4. Requiring a field officer to attend when a captain is to be elected, and a captain when a subordinate officer is to be elected; 5. Prescribing the mode of proceeding when vacancies occur in a militia office; 6. Requiring the election of a field officer to be certified to the Executive by three officers of the highest grade present, in which case the Governor shall commission him in his field office, the commanding officer of the Regiment to cause the commissioned company officers to assemble, and choose a successor; 7. Regulating the fines of private, and providing that they shall not be less than 75 cents nor more than three dollars; 8. Reducing the number of musters to one company and one Regiment muster, and dispensing with the battalion and second company musters now required, and ordering the company musters to be in the spring; 9. Giving encouragement and privileges to Volunteer companies; 10. Vesting the courts of inquiry with power to prescribe the hour of muster, &c.—were read and concurred in.

At a Convention of the Members of the two branches of the Legislature, held in the Representatives Chamber on Thursday 17th ult. LEVI LINCOLN and THOMAS L. WINTHROP, were unanimously nominated as candidates for re-election to the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth. A vote also passed unanimously, nominating HENRY CLAY, of Kentucky, a candidate for the office of President of the United States, to be recommended to the support of the State, at the next election. A committee was appointed to prepare an address to the people.

Valuable Jefferson Land FOR SALE. THE subscriber, as the agent and attorney of Thomas Fairfax, Esq. of Alexandria, offers for sale valuable estate in Jefferson county, Virginia, called "THE VALLEY OF THE SHENANDOAH."

673 ACRES OF LAND. A large proportion of which is timber of the finest quality. The advantages possessed by this property are very great. It lies near the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers, it is in the vicinity of the large mills erected on these streams, while all the facilities for transporting its produce to market, to be derived from the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, and the Baltimore and Ohio Road, will be enjoyed by it in the highest degree.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

TITLES

It will be interesting to the Legislature, to see the result of the bill, proposed to the house, in committee of the whole, for the greater part of the day.

The proceedings of the Legislature, since my last, have related to subjects of great importance to the Commonwealth. On Thursday, the bill providing for the opening and repair of public roads, was further considered, and the substitute reported by a select committee was adopted, after various amendments, and considerable debate, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

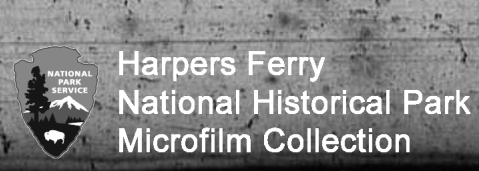

On Tuesday, (22d) but little business was done, except the reading of, and concurrence in, several reports of committees. The report of the committee of roads, &c. declared reasonable the petition of the citizens of Jefferson and Frederick, in reference to the improvement of the Shenandoah and a bill, &c.

On Wednesday, the bill incorporating the Staunton and Potomac Rail Road Company, was read the 3d time, and passed without opposition. The loan bill was taken up, and referred to a select committee, with leave to sit during the session of the house.

On Thursday, (24th) the bill for the relief of the Insolvent Debtors of the United States, was amended, on motion of Mr. Semmes, so as to limit its operation to three years, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time today. A letter from M. Rhind was received from the President of the United States, giving information as to the manner in which he became possessed of the Arabian Horses presented to him by the Grand Signior, and the necessity under which he found himself of accepting them.

On Friday, after the despatch of some business of a local character, the consideration of the loan bill was resumed. Mr. Venable moved to strike out the 2d section, appropriating the money to the objects stated in my last letter, and proposing a new section, applying the proceeds of the loan to the fund for internal improvement, to be distributed hereafter according to law.

My predictions have been verified. The people have nothing to expect from the Legislature. I repeat it, there is no community of interest—and the only results of legislation, which I can perceive, is to put a little money into the pockets of those who are delegated here.

Harpers Ferry National Historical Park Microfilm Collection

THE FREE PRESS.

THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1831.

It will be seen by a reference to the Richmond Correspondent, in another column, that the late branch has been defeated by a vote of 69 to 37. Thus all our hopes of seeing Virginia...

We have omitted a notice of part of the proceedings in Congress for the last week, in order to make room for some interesting items of foreign news.

Disastrous Occurrence.—On Sunday last, the day being fine, four young men, residents of Harpers-Ferry in this county, agreed to take an excursion of pleasure in a small boat in the Shenandoah river, opposite Virginia. They had proceeded but a short distance into the stream, which was much swollen by the late thaw, before the boat became unmanageable, and rushed down amidst some falls or breakers as they are termed. Here it filled or upset and precipitated all four into the water. They succeeded, after a desperate struggle, in clinging to the boat until a chain used for a fastening, became entangled in the rocks and prevented its further passage. Whilst in this perilous situation, standing as they were upon the bottom of the boat with the water up to their waists, one of them, Mr. SULLIVAN MANN, a respectable young man not more than 23 or 24 years of age, attempted to relieve himself by swimming to shore. Although a good swimmer, yet having on a frock coat and doublet, much chilled and exhausted, the attempt proved fatal. He was carried down by the swiftness of the stream, and soon sunk to rise no more. The remaining three, had they been permitted to remain much longer in their awful position, would no doubt have shared a similar fate, but some humane persons hastened with a keel boat to their assistance, and thus rescued them from a watery grave. The body of the unfortunate Mann, was understood, has not yet been found.

THE MARKETS. Flour, in Baltimore, from wagons, on Saturday last, was brist at $3 75. The city mills are paying $4 20 to 1 25 for red wheat by wagons. Clover seed, by wagon, seems to range from $5 to 5 50 per bushel. Flax seed 1 18 to 1 20 per bushel. Whiskey 29 to 31 cts per gallon. In Alexandria, on Saturday, the ruling wagon price of Flour was $ 50 to 5 60. Wheat 1 05 to 1 15. Plaster 6 00.

THE JUDICIARY.—The House of Delegates of Virginia, have at length reported a bill for the organization of the judiciary under the new constitution. The bill consists of 36 pages, and as it is impossible to present it to our readers, in extenso, we have made a hasty abstract of it, giving the substance of all the important changes proposed by the bill, both in the organization of the circuit courts and their jurisdiction; omitting such matters concerning these tribunals, as conform entirely to the existing laws. We cannot undertake the passage of this bill, with various propositions to amend it. But we may calculate with certainty upon the preservation of its principal features. The House of Delegates, upon a former report of the committee, by an overwhelming majority, decided upon the abolition of the present District Chancery Courts. The committee is a very large one, and doubtless have held free consultation with all the members of the Legislature upon the important matters contained in this bill. So that upon the whole, we are of opinion that whatever changes may be made in the less important details, the law as reported will be passed without any material alterations. If section 103 should be preserved, there will be a superior court of law held in this county, to commence on the 4th Monday in May next, under the old law. The court, however, will be held by the new judges.

The 1st Section, Divides the Commonwealth into twelve circuits, and directs that a Circuit Superior Court of Law and Chancery shall be held twice a year in each county, and also in each of the corporations therein named. Sec. 2. Fixes the months in which the said courts shall be held in several counties and corporations, and arranges the circuits. The counties of Lancaster, Northumberland, King George, Stafford, Prince William, Fairfax, Fauquier, Loudoun, and Jefferson, form the third circuit, and the courts in Jefferson are to be held in May and October.

Sections 17, 18, 19, Provide for the appointment of twelve judges of the General Court, and twelve Chancellors. The former to be allotted at every term of the General Court, to the different circuits, so that there shall not be two successive terms held by the same judge of the General Court in any county. Each Chancellor shall reside in the circuit for which he shall be appointed. The judge of the Gen. Court assigned to any circuit, and the Chancellor resident therein, shall hold the circuit courts of law and chancery therein. Either of them alone shall be competent to hold the court. But the said judge of the general court shall be specially charged with the common law jurisdiction of the court; and the Chancellor specially charged with the exercise of the jurisdiction in causes in equity therein pending. And they may hold the said courts, and sit there together, or separately, at the same time. And if they sit separately, either may call the other to his assistance, and if either shall fail to attend, the other shall hold the courts alone. Sec. 25, 26. Give the circuit courts concurrent jurisdiction with the county courts, in all causes in chancery whatsoever, and in all cases of definitive and trover.

103 Sec. Directs that the present clerks of superior courts of law and chancery shall remain in office until the 15th day of June next. 104 Sec. Directs that all cases pending in the superior court of chancery, at Winchester, on the 13th June, shall be transferred to the circuit court of Frederick county, &c. &c., provided that causes may be transferred to the circuit courts of other counties, upon the application of the parties.

Hollis.—We learn that the Montilla, which arrived at this port a few weeks since, brought all the papers connected with the whole political career of Bolivar, which were collected by himself in the anticipation of his demise, and have been sent, pursuant to his directions, to the care of Lafitte, the French Minister. They are said to contain a vindication of his life and actions.—[N. Y. Com. Adv.]

On Tuesday evening the 23d ult. by the Rev. Mr. Robinson, Mr. GEORGE W. ENTLER, to Miss ANN R. STALEY, all of Shepherdstown.

On Friday last, after an illness of three days, Mr. Henry M. of Harpers-Ferry, aged about 24 years. His remains were carried to Shepherdstown, and interred with Masonic honors.

On Friday last, died at Shepherdstown, Miss Nancy S. daughter of Mrs. Conrad Shindler of that place.

After a short and distressing illness of only four days, this interesting and much esteemed young lady was called to the life beyond. Possessed of beauty of person, quickness of mind, and grace and amableness of manners, her relatives and friends were deeply afflicted by her death. She was an excellent scholar, and a devoted Christian. Her death was the result of a most painful and fatal termination of this alarming disease, and the high estimation in which she was held, caused a deep and universal sensation throughout the town. Her remains were deposited in the interment ground at Shepherdstown, on Sunday morning, when her remains were committed to the grave. The church was crowded, and the deep sympathy of the friends of the deceased, manifested, it is hoped, that this impressive funeral will have the happy result of leading some to a timely preparation for that hour which waits all, and which may come at a time little thought of, and especially is, a solemn admonition to her youthful and unassuming acquaintances, to remember their Creator in the days of their youth.

On Friday last, died at Shepherdstown, Miss Nancy S. daughter of Mrs. Conrad Shindler of that place.

At a single blow, society has been deprived of a most interesting and promising young lady, and a loss irreparable to the Sabbath School its amiable superintendent. There is much that might be said in favor of the deceased, but let this suffice. Her death was a most interesting and painful event, and we trust, she is at rest in her heavenly abode, compared with which, all terrestrial things vanish into nothing. How strongly does the thought of her death, and the prospect of her death, admonish us to be in readiness for the discharge of that important debt which all must inevitably pay! Counting on the ordinary date of human life, she had many years to live, and what a prospect of earthly happiness before her! Yet death came in an unexpected hour, and with his withering grasp, cut short that life, destroyed those prospects, and left her friends in mourning. In the midst of life we are in death!—One day we walk abroad with fancied security, in all the pride and vigor of existence, rejoicing like the sun, in the beauty of the world, the peaceful stream, the next, the wave of our destiny rushes, and like the beam of destruction, sweeps into the absorbing whirlwind of its fury, the brightest prospects of humanity.—M. S.

Departed this transitory life, on Tuesday the 15th ult. the Rev. FRANCIS MOSES, in the 63d year of his age. The duration of his existence was suddenly broken by a few hours attack of an apoplexy, which some months before had gently threatened to tear him away from his family and friends. In October last, he returned from the ordination of the Rev. Mr. Clippston, of Winchester, while sitting in his chair at supper, he was suddenly seized with an unusual sensation, under which he fell, and never rose again. He was in a state of weakness and debility, but was eventually restored to strength and usefulness, and permitted a little longer to linger on the shores of mortality. A little longer to stand on the margin of the narrow path that separates time from eternity, and he would have been forever lost to the world. He was a most respectable and pious man, and his death was a great loss to the church and the world.

Under whose hospitable roof he had frequently tarried the nights prior to his fulfilling his monthly appointments at the Baptist Church in Pleasant Valley. He was during the evening in his usual health and spirits, and very fervent and spiritual in his devotion at the family altar, after which he retired to the same room, with two of the young Mr. Clippston's. In the night he arose, lifted up the window and looked out again. He then laid down, and in a few minutes began to moan as if under great oppression; but as he said nothing, nothing was spoken to him. Not rising at his usual early hour in the morning, Mr. Clippston went to inform him that breakfast was on the table, but he refused to answer, and upon approaching his bed, found that vitality was fast retiring to its last abode, and the organs of speech uttered forever. His amiable wife, who was immediately by his side, just arrived in time to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried on the 17th inst. at 10 o'clock, when his disconsolate wife took flight to some blissful shore, where the jubilation lasts no more my, I am sick, there to rest for ever, and to see the last and chilling from the glass of life, she approached him, and weeping, she said, "He is gone!" He was buried

