President's Message.

MESSAGE
Of the President of the United States, to the Senate and House of Representatives, at the opening of the Second Session of the Twenty-second Congress.
Follow citizens of the Senate, and House of Representatives:
It gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon your return to the Seat of Government...

It is my painful duty to state that, in one quarter of the United States, opposition to the revenue laws has risen to a height which threatens to thwart their execution...

Such measures as are within the reach of the Secretary of the Treasury have been taken, to enable him to judge whether the public deposits in that institution may be regarded as entirely safe...

It is my duty to acquaint you with an arrangement made by the Bank of the United States, with a portion of the holders of the three per cent. stock, by which the Government will be relieved of the care of the public funds longer than was anticipated...

In regard to most of our great interests, we may consider ourselves as just standing by our country, and waiting for the policy best calculated to promote the happiness of the people and facilitate their progress towards the most complete enjoyment of civil liberty.

That this Government may be so administered as to preserve its efficiency in its primary and secondary objects, these general objects should be the only aim of our ambition...

Limited to a general superintending power to maintain peace at home and abroad, and to preserve the laws on a few subjects of general interest, but to enforce human rights, this Government will find its strength and its glory in the faithful discharge of these plain and simple duties.

With that portion of the Cherokee, however, living within the State of Georgia, it has been found impracticable, as yet, to make a satisfactory adjustment. Such was my anxiety to remove all the grounds of complaint, and to bring to a termination all the quarrels in which they are involved...

Under the general remarks on some of the transactions of our Navy, presented to the view which has been presented to our foreign relations, I seize this occasion to invite to your notice the increased protection which it has afforded to our commerce and citizens on distant seas...

From the accompanying report of the Postmaster General, you will also perceive that that Department continues to extend its usefulness without impairing its resources, or lessening the accommodations which it affords in the secure and rapid transportation of the mail.

By these powerful considerations connected with their pecuniary interests, we beseech them to pause and re-consider the disastrous consequences which will certainly result from an obstinate perseverance on their part, in maintaining the protective system.

Can there be a doubt of the purpose of the Nullifiers to carry it to a civil war? Why the recent language of their leading partisans? Why do we hear of pledges of life, fortune, and sacred honor? Will any man venture to here solemnly declare, that this system of oppression shall never prevail in South Carolina...

Mr. Duffie's estimate, a few years since, of the value of the Union. The Union prevents us from warring and destroying one another. It preserves relations of peace among communities, which, if broken into separate nations, would be arrayed against one another in perpetual, unrelenting and ruinous war.

There are many reasons to induce us to believe that the States will not separate, but that eventually the monarchical form of government, which the Americans hold in such abhorrence, will be substituted for the present, which they now consider as all perfect.

North Carolina.—Honest North Carolina (as the papers are pleased to style that State) seems not to give much encouragement to the Nullifying doctrine of her next door neighbor, if Gov. Stokes may be supposed to speak for her, in his address to the following is from his address at the late meeting of the Assembly.

It is not to be denied, nor disguised from ourselves, that the measures recommended by an excited portion of the Southern people, if persisted in, must have a tendency to weaken the ties which have heretofore so happily united us together as a nation.

Let us look Nullification in the face. What is it? Mr. Calhoun and his disciples tell us it is making void a law of Congress within a State, by the sovereign power of that State, declaring it unconstitutional, and prohibiting its execution.

in ennobling himself in the heart of the empire, and eyes daily consuming the substance of the people, would teach the people to venerate it, as a body of men, composed of citizens of the State, periodically elected by the people of the State...

The Judiciary of the United States is not authorized, but required, when the Judiciary of the Union refuses to comply with the laws, to call into their aid the Militia, Army and Navy of the United States.

By the Legislature of South Carolina assembled on the 20th ult. pursuant to adjournment, a resolution was passed, to the effect that such a character as to have no doubt that the nullifying acts, will be rigidly enforced, and that the authority of the General Government will be resisted by military force, if necessary.
