An Unquiet Conscience.—During the last winter, a gentleman of this village, received a letter from New York, in a disguised hand, and with a fictitious signature, covering the sum of fifty dollars, which the writer said had been wrongfully obtained from him some years since. The writer then said that if the above be acknowledged in a New York paper, he would in the course of the ensuing year remit a like amount. And sure enough, another enclosure of fifty dollars came to hand. The gentleman who received the money cannot fix his mind upon any one who could have written the letter, nor in the course of business has he ever missed any amount of money, or other LITCHFIELD, (CT.) a large proportion of which is in timber of the finest quality. The advantages possessed by this property are very great. Lying near the Potomac and Shenandoab rivers, it is in the vicinity of the large milh erected on these streams, whilst all the facilities for trasporting its produce to market, to be derived from the Chesapeake and Ohio Causl, and the Haltimore Rail Bload, will be enjoyed by it in the highest degree. There is a large and constant stream of water running through the tract, of such magnitude that it supplies several valuable mills, before it reaches this land. There are also several fine lime sions apprings on the estate. The cleared land is in a high state of cultivation, and the fences are good. Possession can be had immediately.
