has exerted all its lawful authority to sever the connection between the Government and this faithless corporation.

The high handed delivery of this institution, imposes upon the constitutional functionaries of this Government, duties of the gravest and most imperative character—duties which they cannot avoid, and from which I trust there will be no inclination on the part of any of them to shrink.

The Army is in a high state of discipline. Its moral condition, so far as its officers and non-commissioned officers are concerned, is a subject of the highest importance.

No important change has, during this session, taken place in the condition of the Indians. Arrangements are in progress for the removal of the Creeks and will soon be for the removal of the Seminoles.

The two laws passed at the last session of Congress on the subject of Indian Affairs, have been carried into effect, and detailed instructions for their administration have been given.

The attention of Congress is earnestly invited to the regulation of the deposits in the States. The power of deposit is now exercised by the Executive Department in this behalf is only such as was uniformly exercised throughout every Administration from the origin of the government up to the establishment of the present Bank, yet it is one which is susceptible of regulation by law, and therefore ought to be regulated.

The progress of our Gold Coinage is creditable to the Mint, and the amount of gold in a short period to furnish the country with a sound and portable currency, which will much diminish the inconvenience to travellers of the want of a general paper currency.

No event has occurred since your last session rendering necessary any movements of the Army, with the exception of the expedition of the regiment of dragoons into the territory of the wandering and predatory tribes inhabiting the western part of the Territory of the Mexican boundary.

At this time to produce this great difference in the reports and documents, and in the detailed estimates. Some of these classes are accidental and temporary, while others are permanent, and, aided by a just course of administration, may continue to operate beneficially upon the public expenditure.

A just economy, expending where the public service requires, and withholding where it does not, is among the indispensable duties of the government.

I refer you to the accompanying Report of the Secretary of the Navy, and to the documents which will give you a full view of the operations of that important branch of our service, during the present year. It will be seen that the wisdom and liberality with which Congress has provided for the gradual increase of our navy material, have been seconded by a corresponding zeal and fidelity on the part of those to whom has been confided the execution of the laws on the subject, and that but a short period would be now required to put in commission a force large enough for any exigency into which the country may be thrown.

When we reflect upon our position in relation to other nations, it must be apparent, that in the event of a conflict, with them, we must look chiefly to our Navy for the protection of our national rights—the wide sea which separates us from other governments, must be our theatre of operations.

No important change has, during this session, taken place in the condition of the Indians. Arrangements are in progress for the removal of the Creeks and will soon be for the removal of the Seminoles.

Could this be attained, and the terms of either four or six years, I think our liberties would possess an additional safeguard.

At your last session I called the attention of Congress to the destruction of the public building occupied by the Treasury Department. As the public interest requires that another building should be erected, with as little delay as possible, it is proposed that the means will be seasonably provided, and that they will be ample enough to authorize such an enlargement and improvement in the public building as will more effectually accommodate the public officers, and secure the public documents deposited in it from the casualties of fire.

I have not been able to satisfy myself that the bill introduced by Mr. Adams, which has been sent to me at the close of your last session, ought to pass, and have therefore withheld from it my approval and now return it to the Senate, the body in which it originated.

There can be no question connected with the administration of public affairs, more important than the distribution of the public revenue, and the prudent management of the public funds, as an account of its distribution effect upon the harmony of the Union.

We are in no danger from violations of the Constitution, which are so much to be dreaded, and upon the personal rights of the citizen. The sentence of condemnation long since pronounced by the American People upon acts of that character, will, I doubt not, continue to prove an salutary in its effects as it has done in the past.

The attention of Congress is earnestly invited to the regulation of the deposits in the States. The power of deposit is now exercised by the Executive Department in this behalf is only such as was uniformly exercised throughout every Administration from the origin of the government up to the establishment of the present Bank, yet it is one which is susceptible of regulation by law, and therefore ought to be regulated.

THOMAS RITCHIE, it will be perceived, has lost the office of public printer, the Legislature having chosen SAMUEL BARNES.

LIEUT. BANKS was re-elected Speaker of the House.

WILLIAM H. KING has been re-elected Senator in Congress from Alabama.

MR. CLAYTON, U. S. Senator from Delaware, has determined to retire to private life at the close of his term, which expires on the 4th of March next.

MR. LITTLE, of Ohio, and Mr. MASON, his opponent, who intended to contest the election, are both lying extremely ill.

COMPANY DRILL. A small volume has recently been issued from the Office of the Winchester Republican, with the following title: "Short System of Company Drill, adapted to Companies exercised in single rank."

The work, we have understood, is by Col. Hill—an officer whose statements in military science are too well known within the bounds of this Brigade, to require any recommendation.

The late city papers contain some interesting intelligence from Europe; but the great length of the President's Message excludes it, as well as our accustomed variety.

The French cabinet had been entirely broken up—Thiers, Guizot, Humann, De Rigny, and Duchatel having resigned in consequence of the King's refusal to agree to an act of indemnity towards some individuals who had been imprisoned for political offences.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop England, with ten Sisters of Charity, lately embarked at Baltimore for Charleston.

On Monday last, the 8th instant, at 11 o'clock, A. M., the Convention assembled in the Masonic Hall in Baltimore.

A large portion of the country, extending as far west as Belmont and Columbiana counties, Ohio, was represented. Mr. C. Sprigg, of Md., called the Convention to order, Outerbridge Horsey, of Md., was called to the chair, John P. Kennedy, of Baltimore, appointed Secretary, and Joseph Shriver, of Md., Assistant Secretary.

A committee, consisting of three gentlemen from each state represented, three from the District of Columbia, and three from the city of Baltimore, was appointed to nominate permanent officers. After a recess, the Convention re-assembled at 4 o'clock, P. M., when the committee reported the following nominations:

President. George C. Washington, of Md. Vice Presidents. Elihu Whittlesley, of Ohio. Elihu Boyd, of Virginia. William Bradley, of the District. William Robinson, of Penna. Secretaries. John P. Kennedy, of Baltimore. Joseph Shriver, of Maryland. The officers of the Convention, having taken their seats, the President expressed his sense of the honor conferred upon him.

The Convention was then declared to be duly organized. Mr. M. C. Sprigg, of Maryland, presented the proceedings of the public meeting at Cumberland, on the 18th October, 1834, which had proposed the present Convention, and they were read.

Mr. R. S. Cox, of the District of Columbia, after some prefatory remarks, moved the appointment of a committee to consist of three members from each State, and three from the City of Baltimore, with instructions to report such resolutions as they thought required the action of the Convention in the prosecution of the objects for which it had assembled, which was agreed to, and the chair instructed to appoint them.

The President announced the following gentlemen as the committee: Pennsylvania—Messrs. Coulter, Dunlap, Watts. Virginia—Messrs. Mercer, Wilson, Allen. Maryland—Messrs. Horsey, McCulloh, Kilgour. District of Columbia—Messrs. Cox, Smith, Hee. City of Baltimore—Messrs. Thomas, Niles, Nelson. Ohio—Messrs. Whittlesley, Davenport, Shriver. Adjourned to meet on Tuesday.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

From our Correspondents.

RICHMOND, Dec. 5, 1834. With the exception of the first day, nothing of an exciting or interesting character has occurred.

On Monday, both houses of the General Assembly commenced their organization at the usual hour. In the SENATE, George C. Dringwood, of Brunswick, was re-elected Speaker, without opposition, and Addison Hansford Clerk. The old officers were re-appointed, and the Senate then adjourned, to afford its members an opportunity of witnessing the proceedings of the House.

At 12 o'clock, Mr. YANCEY, of Buckingham, called the House to order, and proposed, according to custom, that a Clerk should be first appointed. He then nominated, for reelection, GEORGE WYTHE MURFORD, who had acted in that capacity for many years with great ability and to the entire satisfaction of the house. Mr. Munford received an unanimous vote, and was conducted to his place by Mr. Johnson, of Richmond City.

Mr. Yancey then nominated for the office of Speaker, LAMM BANKS, Esq., of the county of Madison, who had filled the chair for about fifteen years, and who (Mr. Y. urged) had the benefit of an experience which would enable him to dispatch business with greater facility than any new incumbent possibly could. Other gentlemen bore testimony to the qualifications of Mr. Banks, and urged the house not to make the question a party one. Mr. Hooe of King George was eloquent and forcible on that point, declaring at the same time, his non-concurrence in the political views of Mr. Banks. He would reserve his principles to bear upon questions of greater importance than that of the choice of a Speaker, and would always be found, when the occasion required it, under the standard from which proudly floats the banner of the Constitution.

Mr. COLLINS, of Norfolk county, nominated Gen. SEYMOUR E. PARKER, of Northampton, as a gentleman every way qualified to fill the office of Speaker, and one who would, from his general intelligence and dignity of deportment, do equal honor to the house and the commonwealth.

This nomination was sustained with great ability and force by Mr. Wither of Pittsylvania, Mr. Johnson of Richmond, and Mr. Summers of Kanawha, each of whom insisted upon the propriety of the house selecting a Speaker who should reflect back the sentiments of the majority. They contended for the superior intellectual character of Gen. Parker, and that this was, in fact, and would be, the wisest and the best course between the supporters of Van Huizen and the friends of the Constitution and Laws. Mr. Johnson eloquently urged upon the latter the propriety of striking a decisive blow at the commencement; Mr. Wither contended that although an appeal would be made to the magnanimity of the majority, and a party triumph would not be claimed by those who knew the true state of things, yet it would be so claimed elsewhere, and the party with whom he now acted must reap all the consequences of victory or defeat. Mr. Summers denied Mr. Banks's right of perpetuity in the office; and contended that any gentleman of the intelligence of Gen. Parker could soon become familiar with the duties of the chair. The cry of Nullification, which was now raised, had no terrors for Mr. S., and the appeals of gentlemen who now cried out, for the first time, against true Whig, should rally under the standard of the Constitution, and do his duty fearlessly and promptly.

Mr. Booker, of Amelia, thought it an odd spectacle to find two Jackson men (Messrs. Wilson and Watkins) raising their voices against prescription. It was a scene he had never expected to witness on that floor, and one which was as surprising as it was ludicrous. He should call for the aid of the gentlemen from Goodland, to carry out his liberal views upon a much more suitable occasion in a short time, (the election of a Senator), and he should certainly expect to find him at his side on that emergency; for if he did not get his aid, he certainly should not get that of any other Jackson man in the House.

Mr. Gregory also urged some pithy reasons why Gen. Parker should be chosen over Col. Banks. Messrs. Brown, Mays, and Prentiss explained the reasons why they should disregard party considerations, and vote for the re-election of Mr. Banks.

The House then proceeded, on motion of Mr. Wilson of Botetourt, to the election of a public printer, and he nominated Thomas Ritchie for the office. He urged the manager of his past execution of his duties, as a reason for his election. Mr. Smith of Frederick nominated Samuel Shepherd, a practical printer, on the ground that he had enjoyed a situation, and that the public printing and a public patronage journal ought to be separated.

Mr. Ritchie's nomination was sustained by Messrs. Garland of Mecklenburg, Holleman and Watkins; and Mr. Shepherd's claims were pressed by Messrs. Wither, Johnson of Richmond, Barton of Frederick, and Parker of Northampton. The one side deprecated prescription, the other contended for the propriety of it.

The result was: In the House—For Shepherd 74 Ritchie 57 In the Senate—Ritchie 18 Shepherd 13 Joint vote—Shepherd 87, Ritchie 75; majority for Shepherd 12. Absent—Three Whigs—No Jacksonians. Messrs. McDowell and Hampton (Whigs) in the house, voted for Ritchie. No other business of importance was transacted.

Thursday, Dec. 4. Resolved, That the Committee of Roads be instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing for the payment of two remaining instalments due from the State to the Winchester and Potomac Rail Road Company, and that said Committee have leave to report by bill or otherwise.

On motion of Mr. Gallaher, the Committee of Claims was instructed to inquire into the propriety of refunding to James Wyson of Jefferson, the amount of taxes on land arrecharged to him from the year 1831 to the year 1833, inclusive. [Lick, Fragg.]

Judge PARKER, in consequence of ill health, has not been able to hold his Court at Winchester. A special term will be held, commencing the 23d of next month. Should Judge PARKER not be able to attend, Judge SURRIS will occupy the bench.

On Monday night last, the 8th inst., at the residence of Andrew Hunter, Esq., in this place, Mrs. MARY SEYMOUR, the widow of her late husband—consort of Col. James Stubbledick, of Winchester. [A further notice of the deceased was received, which shall be inserted next week.]

On Monday night last, the 8th inst., at the residence of Andrew Hunter, Esq., in this place, Mrs. MARY SEYMOUR, the widow of her late husband—consort of Col. James Stubbledick, of Winchester. [A further notice of the deceased was received, which shall be inserted next week.]

Several votes took place in choosing a third door-keeper, in place of Mr. Southall deceased. For this office there were also several candidates, and this will not be wondered at, when I state that the pay is equal to that of a member. On the 4th vote, Robt Bradley was elected.

On Wednesday, a communication was received from the Governor, responding to a resolution of the last session, on the subject of the establishment of an Institution for the instruction of the Deaf and Dumb within the Commonwealth. The Governor disents from those who are in favor of such an institution within the State, and gives as his reasons, that other states, with a much larger number of mutes within their limits than Virginia contains, are unable to attract to their seminaries more than a very small proportion of the number. For instance, in Pennsylvania, the whole number of mutes is 719, yet the number of those at their excellent asylum, according to the last report, was only 45, after this seminary had been opened fourteen years. In Connecticut, with 295 mutes, only 19 attend the seminary in that state, although it had been in operation sixteen years.

In Virginia, the whole number of white mutes, of all ages, according to the last census, amounts to 429 only. The annual increase in other countries less favorably situated, is estimated at about fifteen in a million. The Governor recommends that aid shall be extended to institutions already established, without regard to their location, as other states have done. The institution at Hartford has received appropriations from all the Eastern states, except Rhode Island, and that in Pennsylvania, from New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland.

On motion of Gen. Parker, so much of the Governor's message as relates to Revolutionary Claims, was referred to a select committee. Mr. Prentiss, of Wood, moved a resolution of inquiry by the committee of privileges and elections, into the condition of the representation of Lewis county. It will be recollected that James Bennett, the member elect, has left the county, and does not claim his seat.

Mr. McDowell proposed an inquiry by the committee of Roads, into the expediency of amending the Road Laws of the Commonwealth. Messrs. Smith and Gallaher presented petitions for the division of Frederick county; the first from the Front Royal neighborhood, the latter from the Balltown section.

Every resolution has been offered so far, than within any similar period of my remembrance. On Thursday, the two houses proceeded to the election of a Judge of the General Court, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Robert B. Taylor. Richard H. Baker, Esq., of Nansemond, who had been appointed by the Governor during the recess, was alone put in nomination, and unanimously elected.

On Friday, an interesting and animated discussion took place on the subject of the debt due from Lewis county, presented by a report of the committee of privileges and elections. That committee reported that James Bennett had absconded from the county; in consequence of various presentments against him for subornation of perjury and forgery. Mr. Prentiss moved to recommend the report with instructions to embody the evidence upon which the report was founded. Mr. Marshall opposed this; upon the ground that nothing new could be presented to the house.

Mr. Gregory moved to postpone all further action, until the people of Lewis county themselves should speak, and he had no idea of prejudicing the case of Bennett by a premature decision. Mr. Miller of Botetourt wished to amend the report, by simply stating the absence of Bennett. Mr. Janney was opposed to precipitation, and he and Mr. Wither advocated a cautious investigation of the principles involved. The report and amendments were eventually laid upon the table.

The Senate having amended the resolution for the election of public printer, as to proceed to the election on Saturday the 6th instant, and in this amendment the house concurred. A bill introduced at the instance of Mr. Barton, to extend the special term of the Superior Court for Frederick county, was read the third time and passed.

On Saturday, a communication was received from the Senate, that they had passed the bill concerning the special term of the Frederick Superior Court. The House then proceeded, on motion of Mr. Wilson of Botetourt, to the election of a public printer, and he nominated Thomas Ritchie for the office. He urged the manager of his past execution of his duties, as a reason for his election. Mr. Smith of Frederick nominated Samuel Shepherd, a practical printer, on the ground that he had enjoyed a situation, and that the public printing and a public patronage journal ought to be separated.

Mr. Ritchie's nomination was sustained by Messrs. Garland of Mecklenburg, Holleman and Watkins; and Mr. Shepherd's claims were pressed by Messrs. Wither, Johnson of Richmond, Barton of Frederick, and Parker of Northampton. The one side deprecated prescription, the other contended for the propriety of it.

Frame, we will sell, to the highest bidder, at the house and on the premises lately occupied by William Cleveland in Charlestown, on the 20th day of the present month, a quantity of Household and Kitchen FURNITURE and utensils, together with two valuable stoves, and other articles of personal property. One of said deeds was made to secure the payment of a debt to William Crow, Jr., and the other, to secure the payment of a debt to Humphrey Keyes; and both are of record in the office of the clerk of the county of Jefferson. On all sums of five dollars and upwards, a credit of ninety days will be given upon good security. Dec. 11, 1834.
