It so happened one day they met an old man, bending under the weight of years...

"What aileth me," he replied in a feeble faltering voice...

"Behold!" said Memory, "the consequence of thy deception..."

"Behold!" replied Hope, "the deception practiced by myself..."

"Memory cast down her eyes and was silent..."

"A little way onward, they came to a marble cottage..."

"Good-morrow, old lady—and all happiness to you!" cried Hope...

CHARLESTOWN. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1833.

The Richmond Enquirer asks the following question: "Are we living under a Constitution? Have we any law to observe?"

The Union men of South Carolina have turned nullifiers. This may sound strange, but it is the fact.

We give to-day the melancholy intelligence of the death of one of the most distinguished sons of this republic—WILLIAM WIRT, Esq.

Several articles, of minor interest, prepared for to-day's paper, have been laid aside to make room for the Report from the Philadelphia Committee.

An Anti-Bank meeting was held in Baltimore on the 17th instant. The Patriot and Chronicle of that city, represent it as a complete failure.

Many of our readers having expressed a desire to see occasionally some of the debates in Congress, we have determined to gratify their wishes as often as we can find space to do so.

We notice by the proceedings of the U. S. Senate of Saturday last, that Mr. Rives, one of the Senators from Virginia, has resigned his seat in that body.

Many who justify the President in his warfare upon the U. S. Bank, do so on the ground that we mean to improve to break down an unconstitutional institution.

Now Verrens, of the Richmond Enquirer, very gravely asks, "are we living under a Constitution?"

There being no opposition, Charles S. Moore was re-elected superintendent, and Thomas O. Monrore was re-elected general agent.

LEGISLATURE OF VIRGINIA.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

Richmond, Feb. 21. On Saturday, amongst the bills considered, was one, chartering a company to construct a Rail Road from Richmond to the Potomac.

Bills were passed, amending the general election law, and prohibiting the circulation of unchartered bank notes.

On Monday, the only important subject considered, was the Militia bill, which was further amended, and ordered to be engrossed.

The Militia Bill was read the third time, and passed. This bill increases the number of musters, to two company musters, and one battalion and one regimental muster.

A bill increasing the salary of the clerk of the Executive Council, (from $500 to $1000), was passed.

A bill, amending the act of the 23rd of the states subscription already made, to the construction of a Rail Road, which passes through Allegany county, Maryland, was after some explanation by Mr. Barton, passed by a handsome majority.

A bill, concerning the abduction of negroes and mulattoes, (by captains of vessels), was considered and amended, and then laid upon the table.

Three candidates were put in nomination for the Judgeship. Mr. Booker nominated Judge William Brockenbrough, and in this was sustained by Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Dabney.

There being no choice, a second vote was taken, (Judge Taylor being dropped according to rule), and resulted as follows: Joint vote—Brockenbrough 93, Stannard 53. So Judge Brockenbrough was duly elected a Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The two houses then proceeded to the election of a Superintendent, and a General Agent or Store-keeper of the Penitentiary.

On Friday, the bill incorporating the Valley Turnpike Company, with a capital of $250,000, two-fifths ($100,000) to be subscribed by the state, was taken up; and after explanation by Mr. Waterman of Rockingham, was passed without opposition.

A large quantity of business was despatched to-day; but most of it was of a local character. There are yet more than one hundred bills upon the clerks table—some of them long ones, and some calculated to elicit debate.

The amount of business has been greatly increased by the spirit of internal improvement, which seems to be prevailing in every part of the state; and by applications for charters of manufacturing and other companies.

Thursday next is fixed for the election of a Judge of the Henrico circuit, in place of Judge Brockenbrough, promoted. And it is not unlikely, if Rumour speaks true, that there will be a new Senator to choose, in place of Mr. Rives, whose resignation is daily expected.

THE TIMES.

From the National Intelligencer, Feb. 24.

We have received from our Philadelphia correspondents, accounts of the meeting of the Thousands of Memorialists to Congress against the removal of the Deposites, which was held on Saturday evening last, to receive the report of the Committee.

"I have but a moment to say, that the largest concourse of citizens ever met in this city, assembled this afternoon to hear the Report of the Delegates recently returned from Washington. The place of meeting was the Portico of the Exchange and the open space of Dock street and the connecting areas.

"The spirit of the Revolution is abroad—It will not rest until the Constitution is restored, and the country is reinvigorated from its palmed condition.

"The Report of the Committee is signed by twenty-two Delegates, from among the most respectable and substantial citizens in Philadelphia.

"The memorial having been satisfactorily disposed of in both Houses of Congress, the delegates thought it respectful to call on the President of the U. States; and make known to him the condition, the sufferings, and opinions of their constituents.

"The delegates having been several introduced to the President, were received with such politeness and courtesy of manner, as to justify the expectation of a patient and candid hearing.

That application for relief must be made to the Bank of the United States, and not to him; that, whatever distress existed in the community, (and he believed there was some distress,) had been caused by the Bank, which was hoarding its specie, and curtailing its discounts, in order to crush the State Bank, and compel the Government to abandon public paper.

"That the present Directors of the Bank had violated the charter by giving to the President the whole power of the Bank; a power to use its funds without voucher or receipt. That such a power in the hands of one man was dangerous to the liberties of the country, and had been used to destroy the elective franchise.

"That the Bank was a monopoly of corruption, which he determined to put down. That a Bank to using its powers, ought, (as he repeatedly expressed it), to be robbed of those powers.

know that some of your Banks have combined in favor of the Bank of the United States. I have examined the whole subject, and understand it better than any of you: I have looked impartially at both sides of the question, and have the best information on the subject, from Maine to Louisiana. Learn, this morning, (Feb. 11.) from New York, that stocks are rising, and that money is becoming abundant.

"I have read the Scriptures, gentlemen; and I find that, when Moses ascended the mountain, the children of Israel rebelled, and made a golden calf, and worshipped it, and I thought, as I see upon them, this Bank will be a greater curse upon the country, than the golden calf was upon the Israelites.

MR. CLAY'S SPEECH.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, FEBRUARY 14th 1833.

MR. CLAY observed, that the Senate of Georgia (Mr. Forsyth), had risen, as if formed the Senate, merely to remonstrate against discussion on such trifling occasions.

"The supporters of the Administration, were a remarkable figure in the Senate. They commenced, by asserting, that the Bank, they began by a confident denial of its existence, and its consequences to individualists what they may. The Bank has in circulation ten millions of checks, which I have no doubt are illegal, and which I will direct the State Banks to refuse to pay.

"The fact is, this movement is but the last of a long series of experiments upon the credit and independence of the American people; all tending to the same object, to prostrate public opinion, and to destroy the country, by a total and permanent annihilation of the currency.

MR. CLAY'S SPEECH

In the Senate of the United States, on the 14th inst.—The North Carolina resolutions, addressed to the course of the President in removing the public money from the Treasury...

The supporters of the Administration have presented a remarkable figure in the Senate...

At length the evidence of deep, wide-spread distress, is poured upon us, in a mass, and so convincing, that no one is left enough any longer to controvert the fact...

From the distress which is so generally felt, the gentleman from Georgia felicitates himself that the South is yet exempt; that Virginia is particularly easy...

What would be the effect upon debts? Every man, if three-fourths of the currency were stricken out, would have to pay four dollars for every one he owed...

What would be the effect upon the State? It is a question of the highest importance, and one which will be decided by the course of the Executive...
