Richmond, Va. Nov. 27.
Distressing Casualty. We have to record a most heart-rending casualty which occurred on Monday night. It seems that Mrs. Knowles, wife of Mr. Frederick Knowles, and Mrs. Edwards, wife of Mr. Samuel Edwards, residents of Belle Isle, near this city, had visited a sick family on this side, and set out to return to the island about eight o'clock. The boat which contained them across was managed by one of the negro men belonging to the works. From all the circumstances connected with the affair, it would appear that the boat began to leak, by which the lives of the passengers were endangered; and it is inferred that the negro, finding his boat sinking, landed the ladies upon a small island in the river, and made his way to the shore for assistance. It would seem that, in his anxiety to afford relief, he failed to give the alarm, and took out another boat to their aid; but the poor fellow failed in his efforts, and it is believed was drowned, as both boats were found later in the morning. The ladies, however, still more distressing, the ladies perished on the island, their bodies having been there yesterday morning.

Winchester. The business transacted in that town, in consequence of their business, the Winchester Railroad, and understand its effects upon the farming interests of the Valley. The Valley farmer formerly had to wagon his flour nearly 100 miles to Alexandria, at an average cost of $1.50 per bushel—every trip occupying a wagon and six horses, nine or ten days. Now the same farmer delivers his crop upon the Winchester, where he gets the Baltimore price, saving the carriage of 53 cents per barrel! He can now market a thousand bushels, in the time formerly occupied in delivering 200! He now purchases his salt and all his heavy groceries at Winchester, at prices only a shade lower than they would cost him in Alexandria. His market town is brought to his door! He can attend to the raising of his produce, and the purchase of his groceries; and is not compelled to entrust these most delicate and important interests to the management of his negro wagoner.

What the Winchester Railroad has done for the Valley farmer, the Warrenton Railroad would effect for the farmer of this and the adjoining counties. Winchester is 114 miles from Baltimore—we are 38 miles from Falmouth, and about 45 from Alexandria; yet, the Winchester farmer sends his flour to market for 53 cents, and it costs us a dollar! The Winchester farmer sells the surplus corn of the past abundant season, at Baltimore prices, whilst our surplus corn will scarcely pay for housing, and when housed, is the fruit of a season of corruption to our negroes. The bounties of Providence are thrown away upon us, whilst they gladden and enrich our more enterprising neighbors.—Warrenton Times.

A National Convention for the purpose of promoting popular education throughout the United States has lately been held in Philadelphia. The Convention, composed of other things, resolved to petition Congress for an early appropriation of the Smithsonian Legacy to the purposes of Education; also to urge the propriety of appropriating all or a part of the proceeds of the public lands to the purposes of education. The Convention recommended the holding of State Conventions, or the formation of a State Education Society, for the purpose of presenting a memorial to the several State Legislatures, urging the establishment of a system of general education; and also to request the Governors of the several States to direct the attention of their respective Legislatures to the subject of general education. A general Convention is to be held in Washington, the second Wednesday in May next, to which the several States and Territories are requested to send Delegates.

In time of yore, a good housewife having received a pound of coffee, boiled it, and served it up with parsley and butter. She declared that they were the best coffee she ever had. And yet they remained quite hard!
The Bloomingdale (Indiana) Post of the 8th instant, says: "We are informed that our fellow citizens, Messrs. Young and Haddock, have purchased 40,000 lbs. of Park to this County, at $2 per hundred, net. The Springfield (Illinois) Journal of the 15th instant, says: "We have just received a lot of Park coffee, at $2.50 and $3 per 100 lbs. net. It has sold in our market here, at $2.50 and $3 per 100 lbs. dressed. Unless some $300,000 worth of Park coffee is sold in our market, it will be a ruinous rate—and our farmers, indeed the whole community, must be greatly the sufferers."

Post Master Franklin.—In 1754, Benjamin Franklin was postmaster general, with permission to make 6000 postage continental money, if he could, out of the whole post-office department in America. The very next year he gave the astounding notice that the mail, which had before run once a fortnight to New England, would start once a week the year round, whereby answers might be obtained to letters between Philadelphia and New England. In 1764, it was announced in all the papers of the colony, that John Perkins engages to ride post, to carry the mail once a week between Philadelphia and Baltimore, and will take along or bring back led horses, or any parcel. When a post rider proposed starting, notice was given of his intention by advertisement, and also by the town clerk, for several days in advance. In 1700, the number of post offices had increased throughout the country to seventy-five.

MEASURES EDITORS.—I do not believe that the feelings of no creature of Jesus Christ should be so cruelly wounded, and I do not know that Henry Lashburn had been imposed on, I should not, certainly, notice the communication to the public which appeared in your paper, signed "S. C. S." and published under his name, the fault is his, not mine. As it is, however, I ask permission to say a word or two again in my defence, and if Henry Lashburn should have occasion to be ashamed of his name, he should be ashamed of the article published under his name, the fault is his, not mine. As it is, however, I ask permission to say a word or two again in my defence, and if Henry Lashburn should have occasion to be ashamed of his name, he should be ashamed of the article published under his name, the fault is his, not mine. TESTIMONIALS.
From the Rev. William Runnels.
Having frequently used the Dyspeptic Cordial, prepared by Dr. F. P. Proctor, in the treatment of Sick Head Ache, with relief, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it a good remedy for that disease.
