THE BALL TO MR. CLAY. The National Intelligencer of Thursday says

"The Ball given in compliment to Mr. Clay, on Tuesday evening, although, from the peculiar circumstances which unfortwentely influence the society of Washington at the present moment, not so over-flowingly attended as such an assembly would have been under a different state of things, was nevertheless numerously and handsomely attended, by Members of Congress and citizens, visiters and residents, and a brilliant array of Ladies .-Among the Members we were gratified to observe that the presence of some gentlemen of the Opposition party constitused an agreeable exception to the general absence of them.

The arrangements were on a most liberal scale, and the brilliancy with which the grand Saloon was lighted, gave a dazaling effect to the uncommon assemblage of female beauty. We have rarely witnessed a similar assembly at which the as we take from them in greatest quantity, and company seemed to enter more heartily which, at the same time, we could soonest furinto the enjoyment of the hour. Mr. Clay retired from the gay scene at about 12 o'clock ; but the dancing was kept up with spirit until nearly 2 o'clock."

DEATH OF BISHOP ENGLAND.

The Charleston Southern Patriot of the 18th, announces in the following terms the melancholy both here and elsewhere, will be filled with grief at this annunciation:

DEATH OF THE RIGHT REVEREND DR: ENGLAND.

This eminent Prelate breathed his last this morning about 5 o'clock, is the 56th year of his age, having undergone a lingering and painful liness, his disease being inflammation of the intestines, exhibiting throughout unabated courage and strength of intellect," with an unwavering reliance in the promises of a steadfast faith — Bishop England has been a resident of our city for 22 years, during which period he has presided ever the Diocese committed to his charge, com-prising the States of South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia, with singular talent for both eivil and ecclesiastical administration, and with a paternal regard to the interests of his church, while in the civil relations created by allegiance to his adopted country he ever exhibited respect for her institutions, zeal for her interests, and sensibility to her rights.

Thus has been extinguished in its meridian Justre, one of the most brilliant lights of the Catholie Church in the Western hemisphere-a divine who illustrated the duties of his lofty calling by his personal example—whose religious zeal was ever fervent—whose philanthropy knew no discrimination of class, sect or country-whose ability was unquestioned-whose learning was ample-whose energies knew no abatement by adverse influences-whose eloquence was prompt, forcing the traths of religion with an equal force of argument and fervor of diction, and who has gone down to the tomb with the profound regrets of the community in which he lived, the intense sorrow of his afflicted congregation, and the agenizing grief of a large circle of friends.

It is a fact, which deserves to be noted, hat the first Protective duty ever imposed by our government, was in favor of Rate Cotton, for the special benefit of South Carolina. Tan Banggura Law - It was gravely predicted by many that the practical operation of the Bankrupt Law would benefit neither individuals por the community. The result has shown the incorrectness of that prediction The Phile-delphia Gazette thus speaks of the effects produced by this law in that quarter :

"So far as we can learn, the results of its operations are most happy. Inexorable creditors have been obliged to yield, and thousands, who were willing to surrender every farthing of their property, are now no longer 'under the harrow.'-Compromises have been made on every side, amicable agreements entered into, old affairs closed up, and fresh, clean ledgere opened by men whose hands have
