

WINDMILLER JAIL IN RUINS

About 7 o'clock on Wednesday night, the jail in this town was discovered to be on fire, and the night being remarkably windy, the fire was soon communicated to several buildings in the neighborhood of the jail. It has not been ascertained how the fire originated, but it is thought by many that it was set on fire by the negro man who was lately sentenced to 7 years imprisonment, for robbing and firing a building in this county. When it was first discovered, the fire was immediately abated, but in a few moments the whole roof was in flames. The market-house which is adjoining the jail was on fire, but was soon put out; the buildings of Mr. Jacob Baker, and the Hotel of Mr. Brannon, together with several other buildings were on fire, and were being burned off by the wind. At the time the fire there were eleven persons confined, among whom were two or three females who are lunatics. We are gratified at being able to state that they were all rescued without injury. The young man, Mr. G. W. Graham, who was confined upon suspicion of mail robbery, had every opportunity of making his escape, but did not leave the jail until some friends urged him to do so. We were standing near him at the time he was being taken to the jail, and he said for an officer to take him in custody. This speaks much in favor of Mr. Graham. Too much credit cannot be given to the officers of the Fire Companies, and the citizens, who did every thing possible to save the property which was in very imminent danger. No very serious accident occurred; although some one fell from a ladder upon the pavement, bruising his head.

We also learn that early yesterday morning a stable of Mr. John Baker, near the Farmers Bank was discovered to be on fire, it was soon put out; doing little or no injury. This seems much like incendiaryism and renders it very necessary for citizens to be on the look out.—Winchester Republican.

A Proposition.—It is conceded that the Democracy have such a tendency to corruption, or such fears of being corrupted, that they will not receive Virginia's quota of the land money. For their fears, we are disposed to have the greatest regard. But the Whigs have no such dread. They do not consider themselves so prone to corruption, as to be undone by the receipt of the aforesaid money. At any rate, they are ready and willing for themselves and their constituents to run all the hazards of being corrupted. We therefore propose to the Democracy, that they permit the Whigs to take the money, and distribute it among their Whig constituents. The sum will very nearly pay the tax of all the Whig counties—and certainly it will be better to make this disposition of the money, than let it be idle in Washington.

If the Democracy will not consent to this fair and liberal proposition, they must be deemed worse than the dog in the manger.—Richmond Whig.

Who did it?—In reply to a suggestion, that the Whig party, when in power in the Legislature, though not entirely responsible for the creation of the public debt, failed to provide means for its extinction, Mr. Carter, of Loudoun, referred to the record with decided effect. He showed, from a report made by the Second Auditor, in 1811, that the creation and funding of the public debt was commenced as far back as 1821—that it was continued and increased up to 1833, during all which time the Jackson Van Buren (now claiming to be the Democratic) had the complete and uncontrolled ascendancy—that even when the Whigs obtained a small majority in the House of Delegates, they never had control of the Senate. And he might have added, that the greatest strength acquired in the latter body, by the Whigs, was to tie the other party.

Then the matter is plain, that the party generally dominant, during the greater portion of the time, could at any moment, with the aid of that portion of the Whig party opposed to improvements, have arrested the debt which was yearly accumulating. Now, all of a sudden, as if inspired with a fresh supply of superabundant patriotism, these gentlemen make an extraordinary splutter about wiping out the debt, when the creditors do not demand it, and when the people are less able to bear new taxes than they ever were since the war of 1812!

The Doctrine of Instructions.—This antiquated Virginia notion has just met with a ridiculous yet practical rebuke in Georgia. McDougald, (Loco) the defeated candidate for Congress, was most instrumental in causing Mr. Senator BERMAN to be instructed. Consequently, the Whig candidate is elected over him by four or five thousand majority.

Now, carrying out the Virginia notion, all the Locofoeo members of Congress elect from that State ought to resign, with the new U. S. Senator elect; for in general ticket the people have proclaimed the sovereignty of the Whigs in Georgia. The doctrine of instructions is thus made as absurd as it is without sense in a Republic, when applied to the Senators from States. We do not mean to say a popular Representative ought not to go far, very far, perhaps the full length, to represent an unequivocal, undoubted, and emphatic wish of a known majority of his constituents, but the notion, when applied to Senators in Congress, is unconstitutional and revolutionary.—[W. Y. Express.

We see it stated in the Charleston Courier that Edwin Ruffin, of Virginia, the able and talented editor of the Farmer's Register, has been appointed by the Governor of South Carolina to conduct the Agricultural Survey of that State, ordered by the Legislature at the late session.

The National Intelligencer of Monday says that the National Executive has determined to recall Com. Jones from the command in the Pacific. This, it is stated, has been deemed requisite, probably, by coming to a nation with whom our country is in perfect amity.

The New Orleans Bee, says a vote for the Presidency was taken on board the steamboat Mobile. The vote stood as follows:—

A Duel Prevented.—We learn from the Richmond Star that a duel was to have come off on Thursday morning last between the senior editor of the Whig, Mr. Plessant, and Mr. Ritchie, eldest son of Mr. Ritchie, of the Enquirer. It is interesting to know that the Whig, after being the challenger, the Enquirer, after being the seconds, failed to making the necessary arrangements in time, and some of their friends getting wind of it, immediately interceded and effected a satisfactory compromise. The difficulty grew out of several articles which had appeared in the Whig and Enquirer. The terms were, 25 paces—fencing pieces loaded with 12 buckshot each—the feet to be laid upon the ground at the feet of the combatants, and at the word "fire," each to take a step and fire, within the time "three." The place was Clark's Spring.—Balt. Clipper.

We understand that a negro man confined in the jail of Page county, in this State, for committing a rape on an elderly white lady, and sentenced to be hung on Friday last, made his escape on the evening previous, 19th ult.

Meeting of the Governors.—Governor Dorr, on Wednesday, paid a visit to Governor Morton, the fear of an arrest now being before his eyes. One hundred guns were laid off at the same time, but whether the honor was intended for Dorr or Morton, the public did not exactly know. It is probable that they divided it between them.

Mr. Gilley has declined the nomination for Governor of New Hampshire, tendered to him by the Whigs of the Legislature of that State.

Washington.) The second tract has from 60 to 70 acres—the title in fee simple, adjoining the first tract, and the late Col. Braxton Davenport—has abundant water, but no buildings. The third tract a small lot in fee—about 8 acres, lying between the turnpike road and the late Col. Braxton Davenport—has no buildings. HATHAWAY'S PATENT HOY-SAYE COOKING STOVES. In comparing this with all other COOKING STOVES, the following advantages will be found:—The fire being in the upper part of the stove, the boilers come in immediate contact with it; consequently much less fuel is necessary, and the whole size of the stove being double the quantity of other stoves. The heat is conveyed, as well as a brick oven. By means of the damper the heat is regulated, and it is possible to cook over, without not only regulating the quantity of fuel, but also the draft of the stove. This stove is so constructed that no inside plates are used, it is immediately contact with the fire; consequently they are not likely to get out of repair. For information in relation to the quality of the stove, I would respectfully refer the public to the following respectable gentlemen of this county, who have the stove in use, and who I doubt not will do justice to its merits. Dr. M. P. Nelson, Col. C. Harper, John Melvin, John Walpert, George Price, John P. Cocker, John P. Cocker, James V. Moore, Dr. Hammond, Jacob Lyon, J. Robinson.

A great number of other names might be added to these, were it deemed necessary, who have within a few months past tried its merits, and who recommend it the more highly the longer they use the stove.

CERTIFICATE. The undersigned having in use for some time past Hathaway's Hot-Air Cooking Stoves, do most cheerfully recommend them to the public as being the most valuable stove in use. The many good qualities which are attached to them can be ascertained at once, even before we use them. Their utility consists in the fact that they do not consume as much wood as other stoves, and all parts of them can be repaired at the same time in baking, cooking, boiling, roasting and washing. We take pleasure in recommending the above stove to the public, as we are convinced that the saving of fuel, and the economy of time, is generally required, and it is decidedly the best article of the kind we have ever seen. We will cheerfully show the stove to any who may think proper to call and examine it. THOMAS S. MOORE, J. H. BRAITH, J. H. FARRER, Charleston, Jan. 26, 1843.

The undersigned has in use one of Hathaway's Cooking Stoves, and considers it far superior to any other that he has ever seen or used. All ordinary operations can be going on at the same time that the oven is used for baking. There is a decided saving of labor, time, and fuel, thus combining to the benefit of the several fires and servants would be required to do the same work. It is a matter of economy—it requires but a trial to ensure a purchase. Persons desiring to see the Stove in operation can be gratified by calling at my house, where I am testing practically its utility. CHARLES W. GALLAGHER, Charleston, Jan. 26, 1843.

The subscriber having purchased the Right to sell the above Stove in Jefferson County, takes pleasure in offering them to the public. Persons can see the Stove in operation by calling at the Hotel of Mr. J. N. Carter, where it is constantly on hand. W. McKim, Jan. 26, 1843.
