THE STATE OF JULY.

The 5th Anniversary of American Independence was celebrated by the citizens of Charleston and its vicinity in a manner which did credit to themselves and honor to the day.

The morning was ushered in by a national salute of thirteen guns. At 9 o'clock, the Artillery, under command of Capt. Rowan, paraded, making a truly soldierly appearance.

All discussion on this point is, in our opinion, entirely vain and idle. A majority of the people of the Union will never consent to the measure. Our territory is large enough already, and we want no such addition as Texas would bring us.

There is an evident disposition on the part of the Administration to throw a portion of its influence into the Calhoun scale, in case Mr. Tyler finds himself in the "vocalive" as to a re-election. The "Chivalry" are half ashamed of the connection.

It is calculated that not less than three hundred thousand barrels of Flour are used annually in our manufacturing establishments, for the purpose of starch and sizing; and that as many as eight hundred thousand persons are engaged in manufactures, who consume three millions six hundred thousand barrels of Flour annually.

Suppose we were to destroy the Tariff, and what would be the effect? Why, as a necessary consequence, the 800,000 individuals now engaged in manufactures, would have to seek employment in other occupations, or become burdens to the communities in which they are located.

At a July meeting of a portion of the "Republican" members of the Legislature, Philadelphia, in 1806, the following toast was drunk: "May homestead become honorable, and our pride never be our independence."

Mr. Howard's bill for the entertainment of President Tyler and his suite for the two days during which he remained in New York, amounts to upwards of three hundred dollars.

The Albany Argus thus surrenders, November, which makes the first triumph of the Chivalry: The Richmond Enquirer takes decided ground in favor of concession and a national convention in May '41.

THE POTOMAC AQUEDUCT.

The water is to be let into this magnificent work, by which the connection between Alexandria and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal is established, on Tuesday, the Fourth of July.

The benefits of Total Abstinence are illustrated in many portions of the country by the fact, that there are no presentments by Grand Jurors, and no use for the Jail.

How the "Celestial" will grieve when he hears this! The "Confidential Secretary" will at least favor the Emperor of China with a copy of his magnificent Essay on Astronomy, in order that the great functionary may know how to regulate affairs under the new system.

Dear Sir:—Allow us the pleasure of offering to you our warmest thanks for the effort made by yourself on the 4th, and asking the same for publication, I can do no less than express to you the pleasurable satisfaction which is mine, upon having elicited the thanks of so respectable a body of gentlemen.

As a gentleman, with respect, Your obedient servant, R. HUME BUTCHER. To Capt. JOHN W. ROWAN, and others, Committee of Arrangements.

MR. WEBSTER. The New York Express of Tuesday says, that the rumors are rife in that city "that the late Secretary of State will take an early opportunity to show that his attachment to the Whig Party, and to Whig principles, is unbroken, notwithstanding what has been suspected from his overlong adherence to Mr. Tyler's administration."

WHIG NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The States are beginning to appoint Delegates to the Whig National Convention, which will be held in New York, on the 17th, 18th, and 19th ult.

During the late Louisville Convention in Georgia, the nomination of Mr. Calhoun is thus criticized by the Milledgeville Journal: It was received with acclamations by the Calhounites, and by the Van Buren party with a determined opposition.

The Locco Foco State Convention in Maine has cut Mr. Kavanah, the Acting Governor of that State, with about as severe a specimen of political nonchalance, as we have seen for some time, having nominated H. J. Anderson, by a vote of 162 over 124 for Kavanah, and 13 scattering.

Life and Speeches of Henry Clay.—Messrs. Greely & McElrath have issued their promised publication of the Life and Speeches of that distinguished patriot and statesman, HENRY CLAY. The work comprises two large volumes, very neatly printed on excellent paper, and embellished with a fine steel engraving of the likeness of Mr. Clay, and a very pretty view of the cottage in Hanover county, Va. in which he was born.

Goods going back.—The New York Courier and Enquirer of Monday says:—We are informed by Capt. Lambert, that a large importation of British Dry Goods invoiced at £25,000 sterling, (upwards of $70,000) recently arrived in the ship Glasgow, Capt. Lambert, from Liverpool, are in course of re-shipment to Europe.

THE RAIL ROAD. The advantages of the present system of conducting the affairs of the Railroad Company are every day apparent. It produces a closer inspection of the true condition of the Road, and enables the officer upon whom the responsibility devolves, to see and judge for himself as to the actual state of affairs in every department.

One of the effects of Public Executions.—A few days ago three boys at the north end of the town, in the course of their play in the brickfields, determined that they would represent a public execution. One of them agreed to act as culprit, the second as hangman, and the third as clergyman.

A Novel Visitor.—We learn, through a letter to Mr. Wm. S. Anderson of this place, that the great aeronaut, Mr. John Wise, proposes to visit Winchester at an early day, if sufficient encouragement be given him to make one of his grand excursions to the upper air in a Balloon.

The Crops.—The rains in the early part, and the extremely warm weather in the latter part of the last week, have produced an astonishing activity in the vegetable kingdom. Indian corn, which before was hardly out of the ground, has shot up within a few days, to the height of 8 or 10 inches.

ARRIVAL OF THE GREAT WESTERN.

Thirteen days later from Europe. The steamer Great Western arrived at New York on Saturday morning at half past three o'clock.

The most important debate since the session, on the subject of the tariff, took place in the House of Representatives on Wednesday. When Lord John Russell moved that the House resolve itself into a Committee to consider the Corn Laws, with a view to a final vote in preference to the sliding scale.

It was thought a year since that Peel would have a long ministry, but there is now strong probability of an earlier change than has been anticipated.
