MISS BAER'S

FEMALE SEMINARY.

THIS institution for the Education of Young Ladies, is located in Boardson, on the Baltimore and Hagerstown turnpike, 16 miles from Frederick. The location for beauty of scenery, purity of water, and salubrity of the air, renders it one of the most healthy situations.

Parents placing their Daughters in this Institution, are assured that they will receive all the attention they could under the care of their parents.

The Seminary will be furnished with a good Library, School, Musical and Philosophical apparatus, a Cabinet of a thousand minerals and Chrystalizations.

The Science will be illustrated by Lectures and Experiments, so as to render the duties, not a labor, but a pleasure.

The Course of Instruction will embrace all the branches of a thorough, practical, and refined education, consisting of the French Language, Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English, History, Astronomy, Geography, Rhetoric, and Composition, Algebra, Chemistry as connected with Mineralogy, Geology, Natural Philosophy, Agriculture, and Domestic Operations.

The year will be divided into two Sessions of twenty-two weeks each, commencing on the first Mondays of May and November.

WILLIAM ANDERSON.

HAVING learned from several reputable persons in the neighborhood, that an impression is abroad that his mercantile trade would be done for cash alone, begs leave to contradict such report, and say that such never was his intention—but that he is desirous to make accounts, at least, with all solvent and punctual persons, who may be inclined to do so, and further, that his stock and value is large, perhaps more so, than any other within Jefferson County. They will be sold at low prices, as will be obvious at first sight, and having one store his undivided attention will be given to it.

THE WHIG BANNER.

FIRST—CLAY AND AMERICAN INDUSTRY

THE LAND DISTRIBUTION.

One prominent article of faith in the Whig creed (says the Jonesborough Whig) is the distribution among the States of the Proceeds arising from the sales of the Public Domain. This measure, the growing demagogues of the Loco-Foco party, from Maine to Georgia, oppose with indignation. This same measure, too, which by some strange mystery now has become Federalism was Democracy under the Administration of Gen. Jackson, as the following extract from his first message to Congress in 1829 will show:

"It appears to me that the most safe, just, and federal disposition which could be made of the surplus revenue, would be its apportionment among the several states according to their ratio of representation."

CONGRESS.

We believe it is now ascertained that Archibald Atkinson, Loco, is elected to Congress by a majority of five votes over Jas. H. Langhorne, Whig, in the Norfolk district; and Thomas W. Gilmer, Tyler Loco, by twenty-one votes over William L. Grogan, Whig, in the Albemarle district. Close cutting, notwithstanding the polls were kept open in two of the Loco-Foco counties of the latter district, and closed everywhere else. John M. Scott is beaten by W. J. Jones only 37 to 34 in the Richmond district, though the vote was increased by putting up 8000 extra upon the most growing district in the State. As the Whig justly says: "Nothing more groveling, nothing meaner, nothing more unamiable and unworthy of the reputation of the State, can be imagined, than what we have actually witnessed—the direction of legislative wisdom for 4 months, to secret and in public, to frame a district which would expel a particular citizen from Congress, and stifle the free voice of a particular community."

"As to carrying a majority of the members of Congress that was not to be expected against a Gandyman: Yet had the Whigs in Wise's district and in that of Buckingham done their full duty, even that might have been accomplished. As it is, 500 votes distributed judiciously, would have given the Whigs 8 out of the 13 Representatives of Virginia."

The next effort will take the tide off the Germantown.

Total—Clear Whig gain 11.

We believe all the counties in the State have been heard from. The Senate will stand: Loco 20, Whigs 12—The House: Locoos 73, Whigs 61—majority for the Locoos 12—last year 34!

The joint vote now stands thus:

	Locos.	Whigs.
Senate	20	12
House	73	61

Loco majority 20 Last year 42!

We felt some apprehension at one time that the Whigs had carried the lower House. We do not want the control of it at present. Next year will be time enough to lay out the "De-structives." Then a Senator of the United States will have to be elected, in place of Mr. Rives, who has lost caste with both parties, and may prepare himself for dignified retirement.—Never before, in the whole history of this country, did a man of talents exhibit the possession of so small a stock of common sense as Mr. R. has done.

The Auditor has found it necessary further to explain the Tax Bill to the Commissioners of the Revenue. We regret we have not room for his Circular. We gather from the Richmond Whig that the Auditor and the Attorney General differed essentially on the first construction published by the Auditor. The present is the result of their joint consultations. The Whig says:

"His present explanations, however able, we fear will give little more satisfaction than his drift. The truth is, that neither he, with all his ability and experience, nor any other man alive, can understand every part of that abominable bill. Those who passed it, do not, any two of them, agree in its construction. We are a distinguished government of the Bar, talking over the other day, and they disagreed upon various points of it."

Such being the state of the case, what are the Commissioners of the Revenue to do? What are the people to do? We shall certainly have one construction of the law in one country, and another in another, and a combination in a third country, because the Whigs opposed this ridiculous bill, they are called repudiators! Well gentlemen—wait until these taxes are paid, and see what the people will say then!"

The Winchester and Potomac Rail Road Company, yielding, we suppose, to the public demand, have again set their passenger train in motion on Sundays. They have at the helm, too, their first old engineer, Murphy, who makes the engine's more "like a thing of life." The trip is now performed very pleasantly, and seldom occupies more than two hours and a half from Harper's Ferry to Winchester. What is better no serious accident has ever occurred, on the route, except one, and that was the fault of the victim himself, who was intoxicated. The work is undergoing renewal at different points.

Omens in VIRGINIA.

Wasserman, the birth-place of Washington, has given the largest Whig majority she ever gave, at the late election, putting a Whig Congressman in place of a Loco. Her vote is some three Whig to one.

Fairfax, the County in which Washington spent the last years of his life and gave his last vote, has also gone Whig—old Loco.

Alexandria, the County of his residence, has elected a Whig Delegates, one of whom was a candidate, turning out two Loco Foco, and giving a decided majority for Congress against our own dear son, Thomas W. Gilmer.

Loudon, the County of Monroe, has given a large Whig majority, as usual.

Hanover, the birth-place of Patrick Henry, Whig CLAY, which gave Van Buren a majority, has turned out another Loco Foco, and given a decided majority for John M. Bond for Congress.

There are but a few items. There is scarcely a County in which a large vote has been cast, out in which the result is not auspicious to the Whig cause. And best of all, the Whigs have every where fought the battle as Whigs, taking the most decided stand for the principles and measures of their party.—(John W. Tribune.)

The latter suggestion, in one worthy of special attention—that whatever the Whigs have undertaken, it has been with their principles fully harmonized with a sound Currency, a constitutional Tariff, Democracy in Political institutions, opposition to Executive encroachments, the Due-Term principle, and Honest Clay as their champion to guide them on—We think, underlying, the basis of a creation.

The Madisonian has given out bias, that the Loco Foco members of Congress "will find no difficulty in passing a revenue tariff, embodying the elements of stability," and it further states that "the next Congress will find no difficulty in passing a constitutional measure for the safe keeping of the public money."

These are bids for a re-election; but of one thing we can assure Mr. Tyler—he may sign a bill respecting the present Tariff; he may sign one establishing a Sub Treasury; and he may bestow the patronage as corruptly as he pleases—but he won't get the Loco Foco nomination for the Presidency, for all that. If Arnold were alive, his chance for that would be as good as John Tyler's.

The Washington Globe, in a recent article on Tyre and his administration, speaks as follows:

"The administration of apostates, utterly abandoned by the honest men of both parties, without having a solitary friend returned as yet to either branch of the new Congress"—having no principles to hold up, except upon a system of shams, but which shams are now exposed with its reprobation—now addresses itself to the body of S. W. for followers."

"It appears to me that the most safe, just, and federal disposition which could be made of the surplus revenue, would be its apportionment among the several states according to their ratio of representation."

CONGRESS.

We believe it is now ascertained that Archibald Atkinson, Loco, is elected to Congress by a majority of five votes over Jas. H. Langhorne, Whig, in the Norfolk district; and Thomas W. Gilmer, Tyler Loco, by twenty-one votes over William L. Grogan, Whig, in the Albemarle district. Close cutting, notwithstanding the polls were kept open in two of the Loco-Foco counties of the latter district, and closed everywhere else. John M. Scott is beaten by W. J. Jones only 37 to 34 in the Richmond district, though the vote was increased by putting up 8000 extra upon the most growing district in the State. As the Whig justly says: "Nothing more groveling, nothing meaner, nothing more unamiable and unworthy of the reputation of the State, can be imagined, than what we have actually witnessed—the direction of legislative wisdom for 4 months, to secret and in public, to frame a district which would expel a particular citizen from Congress, and stifle the free voice of a particular community."

"It appears to me that the most safe, just, and federal disposition which could be made of the surplus revenue, would be its apportionment among the several states according to their ratio of representation."

COMMODORE MOORE.

In view of the statement made by the New Orleans Bee, that President Houston, of Texas, had declared the expedition to Campeachy, by Com. Moore, to be piratical, the New York Courier says:

"We are not informed of the state of mind which the President now enjoys, but we should consider him a traitor if he had decidedly prospered."

There is a great many others who will concur in opinion with the Courier.

Speaking of the report published in the Bee, the Bulletin says it was probably founded upon false information: there is strong reason to believe that Com. Moore had the tacit permission of the Texan government.

THE FLOUR TRADE.

The Rochester Democrat gives the following as the estimated quantity of Wheat and Flour to come forward from the West this Spring:

Flour, bbls. Wheat, bush.

Illinois 75,000 130,000

Indiana 43,000 50,000

Ohio 150,000 600,000

Michigan 95,000 42,000

New York 100,000 250,000

Total 463,000 1,072,000

It is believed that very little, comparatively, of this flour will go to Canada.

The Loco Foco editors of the "Tenth Legion" are boasting that they have beaten a Whig for Congress with great ease, and seem to think their Democracy beautifully illustrated by voting for Taylor, a Federalist of the oldest type! It's not understood by what process their plain folks could not understand by what process their plain folks could not become wool dyed. It was the same sort of abracadabra that made Democrats of Taney, Buchanan, Hubbard, Ingoldsby and Wall. They first shouted for Jackson—and after that they could favor any doctrine which the whim of the "Old Hero" might suggest, without impairing their orthodoxy!

GREAT HAIL STORM.

On Monday afternoon we were visited with a very severe storm of Hail and Rain, such as has not been witnessed here for twenty-five years.

The storm came from the South West, and its violence continued for about ten or fifteen minutes. The hail was of various sizes, some as large as a plum, and of all sorts of shapes. We fear the storm has done much injury to the fruit trees, as its violence was so great as to strip the blossoms and foliage in many cases.

We have seen no such storm since 1817—

From the appearance of the clouds, it was very general and we shall expect to hear of serious damage in other quarters.

Our household being principally of the Teleological order, we had a supply of real Hail Storm Lemonade; which matter we set down as an incident for the young-timers to talk about in after-times.

SHANNONDALE.

As the vernal season is bursting upon us in all its beauty, the people of the cities naturally care around them for a pleasant spot to escape from heat and dust, and renovate their flagging energies. No place presents more attractions in this way than Shannondale—only seven hours' travel from Baltimore or Washington.

We are awaiting the directions of the establishment making proper arrangements for its opening about the middle of June, and for keeping up the reputation which it has so well earned of the most comfortable and convenient of its kind.

THE LOCUST YEAR.

A correspondent of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant writes that this year, 1843, is the "locust year." He says:

"I well remember three locust years in the years 1792, 1809, and 1826, and my father told me that he remembered one in the year 1768, and another in 1775. These being seventeen years apart, the interval between these is strong evidence of a regular recurrence every seventeen years, and according to the present year, 1843, may be expected to be locust year. I wish you to publish this at this time, that the entomologists may have an opportunity to make observations, and if it should be a locust year, publish the result of their observations."

We well remember myriads of locusts in 1817, on the stage road between Washington and Frederick. We have seen them in other regions, in 1839; and we think it not unlikely they are to be seen every year in some part of our extended country.

George W. Graham, formerly a clerk in the Post Office, was tried at Staunton last week, on a charge of purloining money from the mails. He was acquitted of the charge, after an able and eloquent defense by Messrs. Mason, Stuart, and Michie. Messrs. Good and W. Kinney appeared for the United States. The forenoon display is said to have exceeded anything of the kind at that bar for many years. Stuart was eloquent and persuasive, Michie sarcastic and severe, and Mason surpassed himself.

The Spring term of the Circuit Superior Court for Jefferson County was commenced by Judge D. C. Williams on Wednesday the 10th. He gave way on Monday for the Quarterly Term of the County Court, and is holding his session in the Clerk's office. There was no criminal case before the Court.

The establishment of the Southern Literary Messenger is offered for sale by the Administrator of Mr. White, on Thursday the 15th of June.

Alexander C. Clark, of Virginia, has elected a Whig Delegates, one of whom was a candidate, turning out two Loco Foco, and giving a decided majority for Congress against our own dear son, Thomas W. Gilmer.

Loudon, the County of Monroe, has given a large Whig majority, as usual.

Hanover, the birth-place of Patrick Henry, Whig CLAY, which gave Van Buren a majority, has turned out another Loco Foco, and given a decided majority for John M. Bond for Congress.

There are but a few items. There is scarcely a County in which a large vote has been cast, out in which the result is not auspicious to the Whig cause. And best of all, the Whigs have every where fought the battle as Whigs, taking the most decided stand for the principles and measures of their party.—(John W. Tribune.)

The latter suggestion, in one worthy of special attention—that whatever the Whigs have undertaken, it has been with their principles fully harmonized with a sound Currency, a constitutional Tariff, Democracy in Political institutions, opposition to Executive encroachments, the Due-Term principle, and Honest Clay as their champion to guide them on—We think, underlying, the basis of a creation.

FACTS FOR THE PROFILE.

The Jonesborough (Tenn.) Whig has an array of incontrovertible facts, on the subject of the Tariff, as sustained from the foundation of the government by all our Presidents, from Washington to Monroe—extracts from which we copy this week, and others will be given hereafter. This is emphatically, as the foundation of our country, so connected with the Carteaux, the Great Question of the Day. Men of all shades of political opinion are beginning to give it their calm and impartial attention.

The Tariff question—its increasing popularity—its importance—who are its supporters—a Democratic measure.

The Tariff question, as a Protectionist, is still being agitated, as the administration of the State—in the West, the city of New Orleans, the State of Mississippi, and the State of Louisiana, are now regarded as the most important of the Union. The Tariff question is a broad and momentous question, in which every American has a momentary interest, though demagogues, for partisan purposes, may endeavor to excite the feelings of the people against us.

The Alexandria Gazette, in contemplation of the completion of the Canal to that town, gives some encouraging words about a renewal of intercourse with the Valley region. We are sure the people of this and the neighboring countries heartily appreciate the good feeling existing.

ALEXANDRIA CANAL.

The Canal Company having ordered a further subscription to the Stock of the Alexandria Canal Company, the President and Directors will now be enabled to put out at contract, the upper basin and locks, so as to carry our Canal into the Potomac, the location having been heretofore fixed upon, and the plan prepared, with the necessary machinery, river boats, and the like.

At the month of July, the Canal will be open with water, navigation commenced, and we shall reap some of the fruits of our long and arduous struggle. When the locks into the river are completed, we shall be ready for the Coal trade, and, in due time, for all the industries which will be required to support the navigation of the canal.

Our friends in Winchester, who, in by gone days, were among the best and most valued customers of our merchants, will then find that upon the completion of the canal, they will be again supplied with coal, and we shall be enabled to compete with foreign manufacturers.

We falter ourselves, also, that when our market shall again receive the superior flour manufactured from the fine grain of the counties of Frederick, Berkeley, Frederick, Shenandoah, &c., Virginia, we shall resume our position as one of the greatest flour manufacturers in the country.

The following list is given:—Our reader may remember that before Mr. of Missouri, denied that the bankrupt law was unconstitutional. But now we see that the law has been introduced in Missouri, and will be voted on in the St. Louis Republican of the 25th ult.

The opinion of Judge Clegg of the United States Circuit Court, affirming the constitutionality of the bankrupt law, was delivered in the court on Monday, and it is final to the case arising under the law in this State. He affirms the constitutionality of the bankrupt law, and reverses the decision of Judge Wells, in the particular case upon which no appeal was taken—a decision which, it is understood, will control the action of Judge Wells in respect to all the other cases which have been brought before him."

The New Orleans Troop of the 3d instant says that a requisition for a detachment of troops has been made on the Governor of Louisiana under the following circumstances:

Several hundred men from Hancock County, Mississippi, joined by many from Washington County, in Louisiana, had formed themselves into a band of freebooters, for the pillage of property and the destruction of life. It is stated that they are well organized and armed, and are regularly encamped. Many lives have already been taken, and extensive robberies have been committed.

The Evening Mercury appears delighted at the result of the Congressional Elections thus far, Mr. Tyler's friends having succeeded in electing one member out of 81 who have been chosen in all. There were six friends of Mr. Tyler's administration in the fore part of last Congress. In the next it is probable there will be two.—Pennsylvanian.

The two principal lines of steamboats on the North River are preparing for an active competition for the travel during the present and coming season. The "Empire," a new boat some 320 feet long, is to have a rival in the "Cataract," a boat of 310 feet in length. These are the longest vessels of the kind in the world, and they are expected to make the trips between New York and Albany in much shorter time than has yet been done.

Seneca Lake, in New York, is about one hundred and eighty miles from the western border of the State. The region between it and the border is about equal to the whole State of Massachusetts. The man who sowed the first wheat in that territory is still living—fifty years ago its population was one thousand; it is now six hundred and fifty thousand.

RE-MARRIED.—In this village (says the Glenn's Falls Clarion) on the 22d of April, by the Rev. J. Wells, of the Baptist church, Mr. Joseph Francis, to his own faithful spouse, with whom he has lived in harmony for the last twenty-one years. It appears that the former marriage was solemnized according to the rites of the Roman church, and, at this late day, the wife began to have doubts about the scriptural legality of the ceremony, and strenuously refused to share the "bed and board" of her liege lord until the knot had been tied "in language she could understand." Reduced to this alternative the disconsolate swain, with his old sweetheart, started on foot through the snow for this village, a distance of two miles, where the ceremony was performed as above stated.

COTTON MILLS.—There are 900 cotton mills in the United States, with an aggregate capital of $50,000,000 invested. In these mills are 40,000 looms, and their product is about 250,000,000 of yards each year. The advantages in favor of the American manufacturers on the score of expense is so great, that there is every probability of the American article being able to enter into successful competition with the English article upon their own ground.

Catholic Emigration Society.—The London Roman Catholic Emigration Society are about completing their arrangements for extensive emigration to this country. A clergyman is to attend each of the emigrating parties, who are to be settled in a body in some section of the country—we presume the West. The project is said to meet with the approval of the leading Roman Catholic clergy of Ireland. Mr. Charles Mathew, brother of the temperance reformer, is to act as agent for selecting localities, &c.

Yellow Flax Corn.—It is well known by those who have been in the habit of raising the Yellow Corn, that it ripens in four to five weeks less than any kind of White Corn; and is therefore sure to come to maturity in a short season, when the white, particularly the round seed, will not; which most probably is the reason why the yellow is almost exclusively raised in the northern States.

It therefore recommends itself at all seasons to the farmers who have so much labor to perform in the spring, within a very limited time, in order to get their crop pitched; but particularly so this year, when the season is so backward. Attention must be had to plant it so far from any other kind of Corn, that the pollen of the yellow and the white should not be likely to get mixed. The yellow Corn is always more wanted for shipping than the white, and will generally bear a better price, and is the most nutritious of the two.

THE MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE BALTIMORE AMERICAN,
May 15, 5 P.M.

CATTLE.—There were about 500 head of Beef cattle offered this morning, and brought from $60 to $75 per head, as in quality.

FLOUR.—There is only a moderate demand for Howard street Flour, and the store price for good brand is uniform at $4 18d per barrel, with limited supply. We quote the small and wagon price at $4 05d to $4 12d.

GRAIN.—A cargo of Peas, Wheat, and corn, was sold on Saturday at $6 cents, and to-day a small quantity was sent out at 97 1/2 cents.

Four Wagons, Ploughs, Harrow, Threshing Machine, Wheat Fan, and other articles necessary on a farm

MARRIAGE.

On Thursday the 10th instant, at Prospect Hill, Va., by the Rev. Mr. Jaquelin, the Rev. Mr. G. W. Johnson, and Mr. T. D. Dugger, Esq., a son of the late Richard Johnson of Fairfax County. On Friday the 11th instant, at the home of Mr. Jas. Maxwell, 101 Main Street, Martinsburg, W. Va., by the Rev. Mr. Jas. Maxwell—all of Martinsburg. In Martinsburg, on the 10th instant, by the Rev. Mr. Wm. A. Atkinson of Winchester, the Rev. J. M. Anderson, and Mr. W. H. Moore, of the First Presbyterian Church, of Martinsburg.

In Cincinnati, on Thursday evening the 4th instant, by the Rev. J. T. Brooke, Dr. Alexander Brownwood Dandridge of this county, to Miss Martha Eliza, daughter of the Hon. N. G. Prentiss of Cincinnati.

BIRTH.

On Sunday last, at the residence of Col. Braxton Davenport, his son-in-law, in this county, Major Harry Ringtons of Berkeley; aged 89. Maj. R. was one of the few soldiers of the Revolution who had lived to see the experiment of free government tested for more than half a century. He remained attached to Shepherdstown, where he was born, and died, and buried in the same military home.

On the 10th instant, Mr. JAMES HARRIS, of this county, at an advanced age. Mr. H. was paralyzed more than a year ago, and was unable to leave his bed from that time. He was a worthy and respectable citizen, whose blameless life had been extended to more than the ordinary mortal.

At his residence in Montgomery, on the 4th instant, by the Rev. Mr. Jas. R. Collier, of the Reformed Congregation, on Saturday evening the 20th instant, Mr. JAMES HARRIS, of this county, in his 76th year of his age, left this world, after a long illness, in company with his wife, to whom he had been a devoted husband and beloved man—leaving behind him one who possessed to a greater degree the respect and affection of his country.—Richard White.

In this town, on Wednesday evening last, Mr. ERASMO DIAZ, in his 76th year of his age, left this world, after a long illness, in company with which he met the event so dreadful to the unprepared. May she rest in peace!

On the 7th instant, in the 59th year of his age, from a protracted illness, Mr. WILLIAM ALLEN, of Clarke county.

NOTICES.

NOTICE.—The Maryland Oldest of the German Reformed Church will hold its annual meeting in Maryland, commencing on Friday the 19th inst., and continue its session for several days. On Saturday the 20th, the Corner Stone of the German Reformed Church will be laid, with Masonic Honors.

NOTICE.—The Rev. Thomas D. Hoover, of the Presbyterian Church, will preach at Harper's Ferry, (God willing) on the 4th Sabbath of this month, 28th inst., at 11 o'clock. A. M. in the Union Free Church. He will continue to do every other Sabbath until their building is completed; which will be in about four or five weeks. The citizens are respectfully invited to attend.

A WORD ON BUSINESS.

The lawyer, the doctor, the mechanic, all fix their own prices, and when we employ them we submit to their rates, and pay if we can. But every body undertakes to fix the printer's rates—each one modestly determines what is fair for an advertisement or a job, just as if he had the slightest idea of the toil, the losses, and the vexations of the business.

We desire to say, once for all, that we have our regular rates for advertising, which are published weekly, and to these we shall adhere, without respect to persons. When clarity is asked of us, we shall be the judges, whether it is deserved or not. It will, therefore, be a waste of words to chaff with us about prices. We only claim the privilege that is accorded to everybody else, and from that we shall not depart.

The gratuitous services rendered by us in the course of the last twenty years would amount to a sum sufficient to have bought us a farm—and yet, in addition to these, every sots calculator who has a little printing to do thinks we can stand a trifle more, and tries his hand upon us. We have had enough of that.

IT.—There are some balances due me individually, previous to March 1838, which it must be acknowledged, I have waited for with some degree of patience. Pressing demands will compel me to make them available during the present year, if ever.

In Cincinnati, on Thursday evening the 4th instant, by the Rev. J. T. Brooke, Dr. Alexander Brownwood Dandridge of this county, to Miss Martha Eliza, daughter of the Hon. N. G. Prentiss of Cincinnati.

NOTICE.

On Sunday last, at the residence of Col. Braxton Davenport, his son-in-law, in this county, Major Harry Ringtons of Berkeley; aged 89.

Maj. R. was one of the few soldiers of the Revolution who had lived to see the experiment of free government tested for more than half a century.

On the 10th instant, Mr. JAMES HARRIS, of this county, at an advanced age. Mr. H. was paralyzed more than a year ago, and was unable to leave his bed from that time. He was a worthy and respectable citizen, whose blameless life had been extended to more than the ordinary mortal.

At his residence in Montgomery, on the 4th instant, by the Rev. Mr. Jas. R. Collier, of the Reformed Congregation, on Saturday evening the 20th instant, Mr. JAMES HARRIS, of this county, in his 76th year of his age, left this world, after a long illness, in company with his wife, to whom he had been a devoted husband and beloved man—leaving behind him one who possessed to a greater degree the respect and affection of his country.—Richard White.

In this town, on Wednesday evening last, Mr. ERASMO DIAZ, in his 76th year of his age, left this world, after a long illness, in company with which he met the event so dreadful to the unprepared. May she rest in peace!

On the 7th instant, in the 59th year of his age, from a protracted illness, Mr. WILLIAM ALLEN, of Clarke county.

NOTICE.

NOTICE.—The Maryland Oldest of the German Reformed Church will hold its annual meeting in Maryland, commencing on Friday the 19th inst., and continue its session for several days. On Saturday the 20th, the Corner Stone of the German Reformed Church will be laid, with Masonic Honors.

NOTICE.—The Rev. Thomas D. Hoover, of the Presbyterian Church, will preach at Harper's Ferry, (God willing) on the 4th Sabbath of this month, 28th inst., at 11 o'clock. A. M. in the Union Free Church. He will continue to do every other Sabbath until their building is completed; which will be in about four or five weeks. The citizens are respectfully invited to attend.

DR. KELLY.

The Philadelphia Enquirer says that Dr. Kelly, the mesmerizer, is lecturing and experimenting in that city. Dr. Kelly, in the course of his lecture on Thursday evening, told the following stories of the new science:

"He related a story of a student at New Haven, who, while in a mesmerized condition, rose from his bed, and, to his surprise, found himself, on awaking, at the foot of a long flight of stairs. He then ascended to his room, and discovered with still greater surprise that the door was locked, and arrived at the conclusion that while in a mesmerized condition he had gotten out of the window and descended to the earth without the slightest injury, his body being etherialized to some measure by his magnetic condition. This story was received, of course, with a burst of laughter and incredulity by the audience. But the Doctor did not consider it by any means remarkable, and went on to tell another, of a boy whom he mesmerized at Montreal, placed in a tub of water, and who did not sink, but floated like a cork. Here again, as a matter of course, the audience roared outright."

Another Decided Case of Insanity.—Some of our contemporaries have discovered that Jacob Shuman who lately eloped with fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, is decidedly insane. The ground for this supposition is that he has had opportunities for stealing ten times as much, but did not do it—therefore his moderation in taking but $20,000, is clear evidence of mental derangement! We know of a parallel case which occurred a week or two ago. A colored fellow was brought before the Mayor for stealing a chicken. This theft proved conclusively, "Well!" (says his honor,) "Toby, what have you to say for yourself?" "Nuffin but dis, boss," answered Toby. "I was crazy as a bedbug when I stole dat dare pullet; goin' I might have stole dat big rooster just as easy and never done it." This shows I was laboring under de delirium tremendum! And yet, as logical as this plea was, it did not avail for poor Toby. [Phil. Enq. Mer.]

Killing Birds.—There is a wantonness and cruelty exhibited by shooting, thus early, the spring birds. No sooner does one of the little feathered tribe make its appearance in this cold climate, than every body capable of shouldering a rusty firelock is on the ramp in search of birds. The little creatures, still chilled by the coldness of our frigid clime, seek out a sunny spot, and, while making the air vocal with their sweet notes, are unconsciously inviting a stealthy foe to destroy their lives. It is an unmannerly, cruel and perfidious species of warfare, at this season of the year, when birds are few in number and unfit for food, to wage this exterminating war against them.

A western paper says that there is a place in Arkansas where the squirrels are so fat that they can't climb a tree, and where there is a lake on which the ducks are so plenty that they wait for you to shoot them, and then swim to shore before dying.

Stay Laws.—"What do they mean by the Stay Law?" the papers are talking about so much?" said a young married lady to her better half the other evening. "It is a law against wearing corsets, my dear."

"Well, they may pass it, but I'll never give up mine. What business has legislators to meddle with such affairs, I should like to know?"—Picayune.

NOTICE.

WE HEREBY notify and warn all persons not to trade, or receive of

John Young, to my knowledge, for the preparation of the Medicine which has obtained so much celebrity under the name of Lambough's Rheumatic Composition.

Circumstances have recently transpired, which I am anxious to make known to the public, to the end that, to remove the assurance hereof, given through the columns of the Free Press, that Mr. Young is the only proprietor of the Medicine, and that from him & his agents only, the genuine article is to be had:

It is justice to Mr. Young to say, that whatever of celebrity the article may have acquired, the name, however, through his own efforts, and that he only deserves to use my name in connection with his Medicine.

Respectfully, JOHN LAMBAUGH.
