BALTIMORE, June 10, 1841-Messrs Sanus-Gentlemen : Most encerfully do I add to the numerous testimonials of your late pre-1859 with a scorfulous affection on thy upper lip, and continuing upward taking hold of my pase and surrounding parts, until the passages for conveying teats from the eyes to the nose were descroyed, which caused an unceasing flow of tears. It also affected my gums, causing a discharge very undessent, and my teeth became so loose that it would not have been a hard task to pull them out with a slight jerk—such were my feelings and suffering at this time that I was rendered perfectly miserable. I consulted the first Physicians of the City, but with little benefit.— Every thing I heard of was tried, but all of no service, and at a last resort was recommended change of air; but this, like other remedies, did no good, the disease continued gradually to increase, until my whole body was affected. But thanks, to humanity, my Physician recommended your prepara-tion of Sersaparilla. I produced from your agent in this City, Dr. James A. It is adapted to a few diseases only, for which it is confidently recommended as one of the most agreeable as well as most certain remedies which have at any time claimed public attention. It impacts a healthy tone to the stomach, improves the appetite when impaired, and promotes the digestion—it southes and tranquilizes the nervous system, when excited or disturbed, pro-duces cheerfulness of spirits, with feelings of general comfort and satisfaction. It is also perticularly recommended to those who are suffering under debili-ty, languor, depression of aprits with irregular or defective appetite, restlessness at night, with unsound or disturbed sleep. In these cases the cordial will be found an admirable remedy!--Its soothing and rennovating powers being peculiarly adapted to such cases. As a preven-tive of ague and fever it is useful, and those who reside in neighborhoods where this disease provails, would do well to take it once or twice a day during the sickly season.
