

THE FREE PRESS
PUBLISHED WEEKLY.
TWO DOLLARS & FIFTY CENTS PER ANNUM.
Payable half yearly, but Two Dollars will be taken in payment in full, if paid country or advance.
If Whenever payment is deferred beyond the expiration of the year, interest will be charged.
Subscriptions for six months, $1.25, to be paid in advance.
ADVERTISING.
The terms of advertising are, for a square of ten lines, for three insertions—larger ones in same proportion. Each continuation 25 cents per square.
If Advertisements not ordered for a specific time, will be continued until ordered, and charged accordingly.

VARIETY.
A milk pedlar finding that his business was not just as it should be, resolved to tack about and sell milk, instead of milk and water as he had formerly done, and thus test the soundness of the old maxim, about the policy of honesty. A day or two after he had effected the aforesaid change, he was told by one of his customers, a matronly lady of some experience in life, that he need bring no more milk to her. In great surprise he asked her the reason why. "Because," said she, "the article you yesterday sold me for milk was the stoniest stuff I have ever seen. It had not stood three hours when it had a nasty yellow scum on it! I must have the real sky milk article that I have always been accustomed to."

Punch tells of an artist who was an eyewitness to the battle of Navarino, in the peaceful capacity of a passenger, and received a cannon ball into his chest, which utterly destroyed a dozen shirts that were packed up in it.

Strange if True—A lady had a duck, which during it was to be killed for dinner, walked to the garden and deliberately stuffed itself with sage and onions.

"I'm afraid," said a lady to her husband, "I am going to have a stiff neck." "Not at all probable, my dear," replied her spouse, "I have seen strong symptoms of it ever since we were first married."

Two attorneys wishing to be very civil to a certain judge, one of them began—"Your honor knows how to manage these fellows equal to clock work." "Yes," said the other, "when you honorgets a parcel of these ragamuffins around you, your honor is perfectly at a loss."

Calculate below winksly highly finger types in printing office to catch anything lying on the floor.

"John, who was the wisest man?" "Don't know, sir." "Yes you do know, too; tell me." "Well, I guess it was uncle Zeke; father says he was so cunning that he got every body to trust him, and wa'n't fool enough to pay nobody."

"Ma'n! I see you home from meeting, Pegey?" "No, you shan't do no such thing. I am otherwise engaged."

"I s'wary, I guess you've missed it this time, for I've got my trousers pockets full of ginger bread."

"You may take my arm, Jonathan, I only said so."

The Right to the Breaches—A young girl was fined in New Orleans, lately, for appearing in the street in boy's clothes. The justice admitted the right of married women to "wear the breeches," but denied that single females had any business with such an article.

An honest dame in the West, standing beside the corpse of her deceased husband, bewailing in piteous tones his untimely departure, observed, "It's a pity he's dead, for his teeth are as good as they ever was!"

Used Up!—An editor "out west," thus makes his exit:—"Dear readers—With this paper ceases the existence of the 'Olio!' Our number is full and complete, and we are a 'busted establishment.' We shall gather up our coat and boots, shove off our whiskers, don a few interesting specimens of 'patrons' that will pay—in promises, and then we're going for to go to some other field of operation. It may not be more extended, but it cannot be less!"

A Good Report—The ladies of Rochester have adopted the motto, "Total abstinence or no husbands." The young gentlemen, to be even, adopted the motto, "Natural exerts or no wires."

Money in New Orleans—You can buy nothing in New Orleans for less than a picayune, 1-16th of a dollar. Coppers are hardly known, and dimes and nine-pennies, (Boston currency) pass indiscriminately for bits, or 1/8th of a dollar. I was amazed at a little incident which I saw on board one of the Western boats. A man from the north tried to pass ten coppers upon a 'Sucker,' (a native of Louisiana), for a dime.

"What be they?" inquired the Sucker, turning over the coppers in unfeigned ignorance.
"I calculate they're cents," replied the Northerner. "Can't you read?"
"I reckon not," said the other, "and what's more, old boss, I allow I don't want to. What is cents?"
"I vow to Judas," said the New Englander, "you are worse than the heathen! Cents money, sartin! Tea of their ar' worth one dime. Don't you see it says there, 'E Pluribus Unum'—that's the Latin for 'Liberty forever!' and here it's inscribed 'one cent.'"
"Look-a-here, stranger," responded the Sucker, putting the thumb of his right hand into his ear and inclining the fingers forward, to indicate that he considered the other a jack ass. "You may run that ass on a 'Hoarier,' or 'Wolverine,' but I'm dot-dotted if you Yankies me with the confusin' stuff!"
"He be marched off to the 'social hall' in a drink of corn whiskey, and in a quiet of his own sagacity."

Decidedly uncomfortable—A young man of this place, having occasion to pass through a slip of woods near town a few days ago, and being considerably heated from his walk, stepped into the shade of a tree—pulled off his coat—ruffled up his sleeves, and stretched himself upon the grass in order to cool off. He was soon fast asleep, and in a moment he was again awakened, by a cold feeling passing over one of his arms. He raised his head, when his sight was greeted by the appearance of a large black snake, lying across his arm with his neck bowed, fangs out, and in a parallel line with his face. Jumping suddenly to his feet, he threw the snake some distance from him, and before he could reach it again, it made its escape.—Cumberland Civilian.

Women the best nurses—Dr. Northall, of Brooklyn, L. I., has lately made a visit to the State Prison at Sing Sing, and has contributed to the Advertiser of his own city a lengthy account of what he saw there. Amongst his personal observations, he states that the sick are attended altogether by males, remarking that, in his opinion such an arrangement is wrong—"No man," he feelingly says, "we care not how well disposed, can minister to the sick like a woman—no hand, however delicate the touch, can smooth the pillow so healing as the soft comforter of words. When sickness lays its heavy hand upon the convict, his chains should fall from his body—his crime be forgotten in his suffering, for we know not how near he may be to the presence of a Being, all mercy, and we would not have his noble spirit go forth into the world with the remembrance of neglect and cruelty. We have all enough to answer for, without such testimony as this to plead against us!"

The story of the Irish servant girl boiling tea, throwing away the liquid, and serving up at table the leaves, is only equalled by a true one told of a rather verdant person lately engaged at Catherine Market in the laudable business of doing service for the customers of an oyster stand. He was employed to carry to a house upon a bushel of oysters and was about starting for said house, when a wag, suspected something green baited him.

"Are you taking them to purchase?" "Well, you'd better fix them up decently and properly before you deliver them, or else you'll have the trouble of coming back with your load. You ought to clean them."

"Clean them?" "Yes, take out their insides and clean up the shells."

"It's lucky you told me. Thank you." And to make the story short, the verdant one 'cleaned' the shells of their contents, threw the latter into the street, and went on his way rejoicing with the nicely washed shells to the house where—no doubt some hungry epicure was waiting to make a hungry meal.—Myor Noct.

The citizens of Lancaster, Pa., have in contemplation to erect a Cotton Factory in that city. The Journal of Tuesday week says that the capital is to 120,000, and that 105,000 have already been subscribed.

There is a well known adage, "Prosperity gains friends, and adversity tries them." The friends who have been attracted by prosperity, almost invariably fall away on the approach of adversity; but where friendship is pure, disinterested, and founded on genuine esteem, affliction serves to bring it out more prominently than ever. Like the rainbow, true friendship is brightest in the darkest storms.

WICKLIFFE ACADEMY.
H. BROWN FARRAR, PRINCIPAL.
THE Second Session of the current year of this Institution will commence on the 25th of July instant. In conducting the educational interests of the school it will be the constant duty of the principal to adopt the best plan of instruction and government, which will furnish the best facilities to the student for the successful prosecution of his studies, and effect a vigorous development and discipline of the intellectual faculties, the cultivation of the moral susceptibilities, tending to unfold and mature those qualities that form the basis of an efficient and manly character. The course of study will include, besides the elementary English branches, Rhetoric, Logic, the Exact and Physical Sciences, the Greek and Roman Classics, together with Moral and Intellectual Philosophy. These Text Books will be used that are best adapted to promote a thorough scholarship, a symmetrical growth of intellectual powers, preparing the student for the practical duties of business life, or admission into any of the Colleges of the Union. An exact record of the daily attendance, recitations and department of the advanced scholars will be kept, and a weekly report submitted to their parents for inspection. Public examinations will be held at the close of each session, on which occasions the friends of education are respectfully invited to attend.

In addition to the privilege of reference to the Rev. Mr. Wilmer, Rector of Wickliffe Parish, Rev. W. B. Dutton, Charleston, Rev. Henry W. Dodge, Berryville, the Trustees and Faculty of the Academy, the Principal has in his possession of recommendations from the Faculty of the College at which he was graduated, and the following gentlemen:
Rev. S. Stoddard, Massachusetts.
Rev. Dr. Beaman, Troy, N. Y.
Rev. Dr. Merrill, Vermont.
Rev. Dr. Lobare, do.
Hon. S. Stoddard, do.
Hon. Wm C. Rives, U. S. Senator.
Hon. Silas Wright, do.
Hon. S. J. Phelps, do.
Hon. Rufus Chateau, do.
Hon. J. J. Crittenden, do.
Hon. A. H. H. Stuart, House of Reps.
Hon. G. P. Marsh, do.
J. Bruce, Eng., Winchester.
F. Converse, Principal J. F., Leeburg.
July 24, 1845.

Charlestown Academy.
THE ensuing term in this Institution will commence on Monday the 25th of August, and continue five months.—Traverse, M. P. JOHN J. SANBORN.

Tuition:
English Department $30 per annum.
Classical & Mathematical 33 do.
Thorough instruction given, not only in the different branches which constitute a good common education, but also in the Latin and Greek Languages, and the higher Mathematics, to any required extent.

Pupils from a distance accommodated with board on reasonable terms.
None admitted except those who engage to continue from the day of admission till the close of the session.
For the Trustees,
ANDREW KENNEDY, Secy.
July 10, 1845—td.

J. S. respectfully assures those who it may concern, that in his willing and desirous to receive pupils attending exclusively to the studies of the English department, and that all such will receive their full share of his visit and attention.

Jefferson Boot & Shoe Factory.
NO. 1, MILLER'S ROW.
JAMES McDaniel, teachers his sincere friends and customers for their liberal patronage heretofore extended to him, and begs leave to state to his friends and the public generally, that the Boot & Shoe-making will be carried on in his various branches, with redoubled energy, under the name of JAMES McDaniel & Co., who will have on hand at all times, the best materials, and also the very best workmen that can be procured, and will warrant their work to be inferior to none made in the city, and at prices which (they humbly conceive) will render entire satisfaction. They hope the plan, as well as the most fashionable, will give them a call.
J. McDaniel will always be found at his post, to attend to all orders, and give satisfaction. Ladies will all times be waited on at their houses, and the work returned, when done.
We expect to keep on hand a considerable supply of all kinds of work. Persons who patronize us, may rely upon the work being done promptly, and our cash prices cannot be beat.
J. McDaniel, S. RIDENOUR.
Charlestown, Feb. 13, 1845.

BOOT & SHOE FACTORY.
New Partnership.
THE undersigned have entered into partnership for carrying on efficiently their business, at the Brick and Mill, near the corner of the Bank, Charlestown.
They mean to keep always on hand the best Leather and other materials that can be procured in the Eastern cities, and will employ only the best workmen.
Being thus prepared, they invite their old customers and the public to give them a call, with the assurance that every effort will be made to turn out the most superior work, and at prices which must be satisfactory to all.
Try them, and judge for yourselves.
JOHN AVIS, Sen.
JOHN AVIS, Jun.
Charlestown, March 20, 1845.

A CARD.
THE undersigned would not do justice to his own feelings nor to his kind friends, were he to withhold his acknowledgments for the very flattering encouragement he has met with since his return to Charlestown, in the Joiner & Carpentering Business, and would say to all, that his best efforts will be directed to please the patron, or the most fastidious.
Call and see him, a few doors west of Dr. Cordeils.
J. M. MYERS.
July 4, 1844—td.

PUMP BOILING.
Charles C. Bragg,
DEGS leave to inform the citizens of Loudoun County, that he still continues the Pump Boiling Business, and will be happy to serve the citizens of the above counties in that way. His work shall be done in the most workmanlike manner and perfect satisfaction insured. From a long pursuit in this business, he is confident that he cannot be beat in his calling, by any one.
Prosperity and fidelity shall ever be given to orders and work. By strict attention to business he thinks he may rely with confidence upon a generous public for a liberal support.
Residence in Charlestown, Jefferson County. Visited on application, by letter, will meet with prompt attention.
CHARLES C. BRAGG.
Charlestown, April 3, 1845—ly

CABINET-MAKING ESTABLISHMENT.
THE undersigned would respectfully announce to the citizens of Shepherdstown and its vicinity, that he still continues the Cabinet-Making Business. His shop is a few doors below Eades's Hotel, on the opposite side, adjoining the Grocery Store of Binney & Co., where he has on hand
A GOOD SUPPLY OF FURNITURE
Of various kinds, and of the best quality, which he will sell on liberal terms, and take in exchange all kinds of country produce at market prices.
He would also give notice that he has provided himself with a good HEARSE, and will at all times be prepared to furnish COFFINS, and to convey them promptly to any place in the county, at the shortest notice, and upon the most reasonable terms.
THOMAS HOPKINS.
Shepherdstown, Aug. 8, 1844—td

SADDLE & HARNESS MANUFACTORY.
THE undersigned would take occasion to return his thanks to his many kind and liberal patrons, for the liberal encouragement extended towards him for the last few years. With the commencement of the new year he has been enabled to make a change in his business, which will prove of advantage to his customers, and beneficial to himself. He will still continue to manufacture, in the most approved style, and of the best materials, every description of SADDLES,
Carriage and Wagon Harness, equal, if not superior, to that of any other manufactory in this section of country.
Also, will be kept constantly on hand, or manufactured to order, the most approved style of TRAVELLING TRUNKS, of all sizes, and at the most reasonable prices.
A call from old friends and new, is still solicited, believing from long experience in his business, and a desire to please, mutual satisfaction will be rendered.
Work will be sold at prices to suit the times, for cash, or to good customers on the usual credit.
Country Produce will be taken in exchange for work, at the JOHN BROOK, Agent.
Charlestown, Feb. 13 1845—6m.

Marble Stonemason.
I HAVE just returned from Baltimore, with a full supply of seasonable goods—bought a very reduced price. If you want a great many goods for little money, now is the time to get them.
JOHN K. WHITE.
Shepherdstown, June 26, 1845.

TO THE SPRINGS AND SOUTH WEST.
TRAVELLERS will find the only direct route to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to Harpers Ferry, thence by the Winchester and Potomac Railroad to Winchester, thence up the Valley of Virginia by the Valley Turnpike. Leave Baltimore 7 A. M., and reach the Springs by the Potomac and second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if they had passed over to Washington that night. The route over the whole line is interesting, the scenery at Harpers Ferry, worth, in the language of Mr. Jefferson, a trip across the Atlantic, and the rich and beautiful lands of the Valley, present a constant feast to the eye of the Traveller.
The whole route up the Valley, is over a Turnpike perfectly smooth, and almost level in its whole distance. The insuperable objections to the Virginia Springs, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is the fact that the Springs are second day from Baltimore, to breakfast. Travellers from the North may thus rest in Baltimore a night and reach the Springs as soon as if