BY ARTICE MORRELL. Oh, how winning is each smile, On the face of beauty lighted Did not these our hearts beguile. Earth would ever seem henighted. From the rose its perfume take, From it you its worth dissever. So when smiles her lips forsake, Woman's charm is gone forever.

Tears may waken in the heart Every deep and tender feeling, When from woman's eyes they start, To our sympathics appealing ; Bot it is the susny smile Love'v woman's face o'erspreading, That both wins and charms the while, O'er the soul its influence shedding.

SMILES.

When the feelings calmly slumber, Features, eyes, and form disclose tarest graces without number ; But like statue still and cold, Nought of life or love revealing, Till, enraptured, we behold O'er her face the sweet smile stealing.

As the sun succeeds the night, All the face of nature warming, Bo the smiles sweet sunny light Makes each radiant feature charming. Oh ! how winning is each smile On the face of woman lighted ! Did not these our hearts beguile, Earth would ever seem benighted.

Deal Gently with the Stranger's Heart.

Deal gently with the stranger's heart, Thou knowest not how a look or tone May joy or grief to him impart, Who wanders weary and slone : Thy smile may be the sumpy ray That pierces through the clouds of care ; Thy frown may bring the murky day, ad usher of the night's despair.

Woman's Love. There is a feeling in the heart

Of Woman, which can have no part In Man ; a self devoteduess As victims round their idels precs, And asking nothing but to show How far their zeal and faith can go. Pare as the same the summer sum Never at noon bath looked upon,-Deep as is the diamond wave. Hidden in the desert cave, -Changeless as the greenest leaves Of the wreath the cypress weaves,-Hopeless often when most tond, Without hope or fear beyond Its own pale fidelity.

HOME.

There is one bright, enchanting spot, Where love and beauty glow. Which of the glorious grace of God Hath made a heaven below ; And in that covenant-sheltered spot, There is a radiant gem. More precious far than ocean pearls, Or empire's diadem ! Oh ! keep that gem, ver lighted ones, Nor from th 1 spot depart ; That spot is none-delightful home ! That gem, the FAITHFUL HEART.

my hand, has existed in its present condition, while a hundred generations of the proud lord's of creation have appeared, and then made their exit to the land of forgetfulness. O, frail being is man ! How is he crushed before the moth ! Can it be possible that he was created in the image of the Almighty, when even the lifeless parts of matter remain unchanged, whilst hundreds of his generations are swept, apparently into the gulf of annihilation?

These were truly painful reflections. THE CHANCES OF WAR.

The Union, in speculating upon the chances of war, seems to consider the blustering of the Mexicans as mere "sourd and fury, signifying nothing." and goes on to show the folly of such a people attempting to war upon the United States. And, as if not to be outdone in bluster, it launches out into a good deal of goster, somewhat in the Mexican style, and promises them thunder if they don't be quiet.

Every body must be struck with the dignified manner of this rebuke from the grave organ of the Government; but it is impossible to read both the brag and counterbrag, without being Gerrardstown, Berkeley County. reminded of a passage in the play of Bombastes Farioso :-

STAGE LINE.

TWICE A WEEK. TAIS elegant line of Four Horse FOST COACHES. is now so arranged in its movements, under skillful and careful drivers, as to keep up a regular connection with the Baltimore & Ohio Rail Road, without interruption.

It leaves Winchester on Sunday mornings, immediately after the arrival of the Staunton The Baltimore Cars, Easturded,

At Ho'clock, A. M. On Wednesday mornings, it performs the same ip, in time for the same connection

The Stage proceeds from Martinsburg on Sundays and Weunesdays, for Hagerstown, between 1 and 2 o'clock, after the arrital of the Baltimore. Cars, thus affording a contevance for passengers to Will amsport, Hagerstown, &c., and forming a connection with the Hagerstown, Chambersburg, and Philadelphia Rail Road Lines.

This ensures desnatch to Travellers, and preents unnecessary detention any where. Returning, the Stage leaves Hagerstown for Winchester, on Monday and Thursday mornings, at 4 o'clock, and reaches Winchester in time for the Staunton Stage, thus extending accommodations in both directions without delay. This Line, North from Winchestor, passes brough Bunker's Hill, Darkesville, Martinsburg, Falling Waters and Williamsport, to Haerstown, giving business men an opportunity f visiting each of those places.

Passengers going West, by taking this line, will find it the cheapest and best route, allowing time to rest and dine in Martinsburg, before the arrival of the Baltimore Cars for Cumberland KEMP & RIPLEY, Proprietors.
