T KIRK WILLODY. Sleep, sweetly sleep, 'tis midnight hour, That spreads o'er earth its magic spell, When moonlight gilds the sleeping bower.

When fragratice fills the dell. Sleep when moonlight sofily gleams, Sleep, and ingels guard thy dreams, Sleep love, gently sleep. Sleep, gently sleep, you flow'ry vale Is sleeping 'ndath the moon's bright beam, Sweetly flows the fragrant gale O'er the sparkting stream.

Sleep when poonlight softly gleams, Sleep, and Hogels guard thy dreams, Sleep, ave, gently sleep. Sleep, gently sleep, Heaven's starry face, Smiles sweetly on the dewy lea ;

The moon is covering azure space, And smiling of the sea. Sleep when incon-beams sofily gleam. Sleep, and Lagels guard thy dream, Sleep, live, gently sleep.

Sleep, sweetly slipp the night-bird's song Is stealing through you distant grove, Is streaming with spring gales along, Purest strains of love.

Sleep when poonlight softly gleams, Sleep, and Angels guard thy dreams, Slumber gently still. WISHES.

Among the Jereres, when a lover has secured the consent of relations, he summons his friends to assist him in carrying off his bride, who shuts herself up in a hut with a calabash of water, with which she washes his feet, and wipes them with her mantle.

In Congo, the negroes take their wives for a year on trial ; if at the end of that time they are satisfied, the wedding is celebrated with a feast. The missionaries tried to abolish this custom without success ; the mothers declaring that they would not risk the happiness of their daughters by urging them to an indissoluble union with persons with whose habits and tempers they were not acquainted.

It is now the 6th or 7th day since the symptoms manifested themselves, and medical aid was not called in until the 3d or 4th day. All the medical gentlemen in town visited him on Thursday. but they were prevented from doing anything for his relief. Their very presence, together with the necessary inquiries put to him, touching his condition, were sufficient to throw him into the most violent spasms. They attempted to administer chloroform but his spasms were so violent that they were comelled to desist. In the advanced stage of his case the medical art can do nothing for him, and death must speedily put an end to his miseries In the brief lucid intervals between his spasms, he talks with his friends, telling them that he is aware he cannot survive, and that he is resigned to his fate. His hands are secured and covered with stout gloves, so that he cannot injure himself or others. Being a stout athletic man, his spasms are of the most violent character, but he has offered no violence, as yet, to the many persons who have called to see him. No one but his attendants, are now permitted to see him, for the sight of strangers is sufficient to throw him into spasms. He takes nothing to sustain nature, for the reason that he is "round turn" at a toll gate, which he designupable to swallow anything. The importu-nities of friends, induced him to attempt to fee. INFLUENCE OF NATURE.

All men need sometimes to be alone and o be quiet. It is good for one to open his eyes and heart to the influences of the natural world. In the solitudes of nature, man's voice is silent only that Divine voices may be heard. There, if it is sometimes difficult to do good actions, it is also difficult not to think good thoughts. What we think of is determined very much by what obtrudes itself unon the senses. On the wharf, or the exchange, with the sights and sounds of business on every side, one's thoughts turn naturally into the channels in which flow the thoughts all around him. In the country, what one hears and sees suggests entirely different mediattions. The universal harmony stills his fretted passiens. All the objects which the eye rests on speak of infinite wisdom and providential care. The atmosphere which he breathes is as healthy for the soul as it is for the body. He goos out at "eventide to meditate;" and heaven and earth transfigured as their true glories are revealed, he returns feeling that he has been standing in the temple of the Most High.

He did so, and with the happiest results. The very first blow he gave, eight Bologuas, two head cheese, and eighteen pounds of links jumed off the stall, and chased him down the street as if old Nick

THE GLORIOUS TRIUMPH.

PRESIDENT ELECT. ZACHARY TAYLOR. OF LOUISIANA.

VICE PRESIDENT ELECT. MILLARD FILLMORE OF NEW YORK

In the midst of our moderate and reasonsble joy at the consummation of an event which long since we deemed certain, we are sorry to find some of our good friends of the defeated party in a very gloomy mood .-They even admit that they are sick at heart at the contemplation. We would give them consolation, if we could. But did not every man of ordinary sagneity know that defeat was inevitable to all who might oppose ZACHARY TAYLOR-even though their name were Legion ! He had never known defeat; and besides, he had a lodgment in the affections of the people of the country which no power on earth could eradicate .-Gentlemen, therefore, who struggled against the decrees of Fate will be taught a lesson which may be of service to them hereafter .---"Sweet are the uses of adversity." The rebuke is a severe one, but it is not without its countervailing benefits. It will teach men in authority not to make a mockery of the "virtue and intelligence of the people," by setsing up the will of one man in opposition ; and it will impress upon them the remembrance that there is a retributive Providence in all that has happened The War so heedlessly brought on by the President has

MISSED PIGUNE pointed by the Locofoco Convention at Lynchtof to make an estimate of the probable result in this State: Dr. B. and his Committee very gravely announced that Gen. Cass was to receive the vote of the Old Dominion by 7,000 MAJORITY! Just look at the result. An awful reduction truly, and by the single rule of three, a few more such contests and the enemy's ours. "Oh, who's that knocking at the door ?"

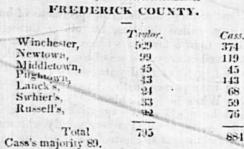

THE EVIL OMEN. The countenances of each and every Loco was elongated "about a feet" on the Sunday morning before the election, as they looked aloft for the streamer that had so gallantly played with the winds on the evening previous. The pole was still standing, but the flag on which was inscribed Cass and Butler, had taken French leave, without so much as a formal good-bye. The breeze of Saturday was too strong, and "all tattered and torn" it fell to the earth -leaving a solitary C to stand in all its nakedness, to mark the folly of those who were vain enough to ief that NorthiCarolina has gone for Taylor by about 5 or 8.000 majority. GEORGIA.

The Whig gain in Georgia, as far as ascertained, is about 1800 over the recent Congressional vote, when the State was carried by the Locofocos by a trifle over 200 majority. This gain puts it beyond a doubt that the State is safe for Taylor.

THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION

The National Intelligencer of Saturday, a nouncing that ZACHARY TAYLOR ha elected President of the United States, thus e es itself on this auspicious event : We are without words fit for expressing of sations on this glorious event. As members great political party to which it is our pride long, we are naturally and deeply gratified triumph of dis principles ; but, if we kno selves, any exultation on this head is subordi a feeling of devout thankfulness to the Ah Ruler of Nations for his having guided the and hearts of the American people to a result we believe, is the salvation of the country shudder when we think of the abyss to the b brought it ! The fourth of March, 1819, will revive the heroic age of the Republic. At the head of the Government will be a man with a character whose dimensions are suited to the office ; and which in its simgile greatness, is a fit type of the majesty of the American People. Formed amid the hardiest scenes of a camp life, and resplendent with military glory, it is graced by moral and intellectual qualities fitting its possessor for the high civil station to which the voice of his country has called him. History exhibits tous two classes of military men. One class is' military, and nothing else, and unfit for any but a military theatre of exertion ; and in this are to be found some of the most distinguished conquerorsother and higher class is that of men who, in their military conduct, display, like Wasumeron, eminext civic endowments. To this latter class belongs ZACHART TAYLOR. In the interval of a long and eventful professional service, his active mind has been enriched by study and disciplined by thought. Sagacious, well informed, inflexilly honest, self-relying yet modest, moderate but firm, straightforward, magnanimous, kind-hearted, republican in his principles, and republican in kis habits, he is the man for the place and the man for the times. His character and political creed assura his country that he will administer the Constitution in the spirit of its founders, and in furtherance of its declared objects. Unfettered by any sectional pledges, he will be the President of the nation ; looking to the good and to the rights of all its members ; and ever mindful of the temper of compromise in which the Federal Constitution was, and which only it could have been framed ; and thus making the Excentive policy the agent of " a more perfect usios" of the States and the "justice" of his political conduct : the "domestic tranquillity" of the country will be guarded by the illustrions warrior who is a devoted "PEACE Max," the disciple of Washington will so construe and act on the Constitution as to " promote the general welfare ;" and a Chief Magistrate whose loval- Maine ty to the will of the People has been avowed and is beyond saspleton, will never stretch Executive power against publie " liberty.'

Yes, a bright day is coming. A clear-headed and honest-hearted Chief Magistrate will refuse the aid of the Executive to that absurd system of construing the Constitution, which is at one moment splitting Texas hairs, and at another swallowing camels; which treats that sacred instrument as a thing incapable of good, bat capable of mischief; as not permitting the improvement of territory already possessed, but allowing new territory to be acquired, on any plea, however unjust or extravagant, only to be consigned to the same neglect; as being insufficient to protect home industry against the pauper labor of Europe. but as being quite sufficient to enable the President to do what he pleases; its restricting the Legislature within the narrowest bounds, but leave the Executive "a chartered libertine" to make war, to found governments, &c., and, in short, to exercise kingly powers, which it denies to the three branches of the Government in the aggregate; and which subjects the Constitution itself to the dictation of Ramp Conventions and partisan platforms. By their votes on Tuesday last the Prople have rebuical such iffational and anti-republican principles (if the words may be thus perverted) of construction. And in so doing, the People have set the seal of condemnation on the arbitrary er reise of the one-man power, which was the prominent feature of the fallen dynasty. Not less emphatically have they rebuked the congenial abuse of the interference of Federal officeholders in elections. The unprecedented extent of this abase, with its concomitant circumstances, at the late Presidential election, disgusted the country, and so far had its share in producing the ever-memoramy opinious, even if I were the President of the U-nited States, would be neither important nor neces-sary to year, I regret to add, that I see no reason ble resolt. In that result the people have vindicacated the confidence of their real friends in their virfor departing, in the present instance, from that tue and intelligence. They have shown that their virtue can resist the seductive but fatal visions of conquests, territorial aggrandizement, "manifestics letter as published, yet it will be seen that they entiny," "Anglo-Saron supremacy," &c., with which tirely relieve the paragraph of the construction put they have been tempted; that their intelligence can upon it. distinguish between nomes and things, and that amid the loudest elamors "for democracy," they can detect LT Mr. Slidell of N. The following interesting paragraph we take from the "Spirit of Jefferson," issued on the morning before the election. Although it may not be very delectable just now, we opine it was swallowed with all the gusto of a choice desert, on the morning of its publication. O! how graciously condescending: men at whose names "the world grew pale." The CASS, TWENTY-TWO STATES ! and OLD ZACK, EIGHT STATES! Amazingly kind, indeed ! What a rery liberal "Spirit." We guess you're entitled to our OLD HA'f ! Here it iswag along with it.

Mississippi EXCUSES FOR DEFEAT.

DOUBTFUL.

"LAUGH AND GROW FAT."

The excuses for defeat, and small majorities, in several of the strong Locofoco counties in this State, are decidedly rich and entertaining. We copy artrac's from letters in the Richmond Enquirer : A letter from King William says :

"In the low parish Court House precinct, some 10 or 14 voters were missing, which was ascribed to a Taylorite sermon preached the Sunday before by a very zealous Whig minister of a neighboring county, a very good fellow too; but they say he missed his text upon that occasion, and got so far off upon the old soldier's merits as to put his congregation all in tears, and some of our people had it so fresh in their memories on Tuesday that they could not find it in their hearts to vote against brother ---- and the old man : so they stayed away from the polls."

And in Old Halifax, just see what the "chills and fever" have done for Old Zack:

To the Editors of the Enquirer : "In haste I give you what we have heard. In 1814, the whole vote was about 1,400. Emigration, with chills and fever, has carried off some 200 vo ters; hence our vote is only some 1,200. A writer from Buckingham says :

"I learned last night, that a Whig Elector in a neighboring county, addressed the people, either on the day of election, or but a few days previous, and told them that he had no doubt that Mr. Cass was then on his knees praying for the abolition of slavery. Such misrepresentations it is which have done us the mischief. But enough.

AMHERST .- The Democrats are beaten by a small majority in this county, caused by the influx of for-eign votes from Lynchburg. A boat was chartered, and a large number conveyed from this place to Dillard's precinct. But for this fact, Amherst would no doubt have shown herself a Democratic county by her usual majority.

The vote in Fauquier is not satisfactory to a writer from that county, who says:

"On inspecting the poll of 1844 at the Warrenton Precinct, where our loss has been heaviest, we find that death and temovals have deprived us of 35 votes since the last presidential election, while the whig loss from the same causes has been only 13 votes. This more than explains our loss in the coun-

It appears that even the elements conspired to e lect Zachary, as a writer from Monroe county, to the Enquires; says:

"Gentlemen : The result of the Presidential Election in this county is truly mortifying, as, from apathy and over confidence, we have lost the majority, when, with a full vote, our majority would have been at least sixty. The morning of the election was inclement, being very cold and snowy, and was a means of detaining many of our old men at home; but still we must acknowledge that we have not done our duty."

LATE FOREIGN NEWS

The strainer America has made another of her quick trips. She sailed from Liverpool on the 23th ult, and arrived at Boston on the 9th inst.

She brings seven days later intelligence than previously received. The news from Ireland is important. We rejoice to learn that the awfel sentence of death is not to be carried into execution against the unfortunate State prisouers .--Their lives, at least, have been saved. All of them, Smith O Brien, Meagher, O'Donohue and McManus have, instead of being executed, been sentenced to transportation for life

In response to the sentence. Meagher and McManus are said to have replied with all the thrilling cloquence of the martyred Emmett. Their addresses created the most profound sensation.

In France affairs are apparently tranquil, and will probably remain so until the 20th of December, which day has been set apart for the choice of President.

There is nothing new or important from Austria.

At Liverpool cotton has declined 1d per pound.

American Flour is quoted at 30s per bbl. and Wheat at 7s 8d a 8s 6d, which is a decline.

Corn is quoted at 35a35s 2d.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

As a party of gentlemen among whom were Hon. Charles Brown, W. V. McVean and Hichard Vanx, of this city, were coming down from Pottsville yesterday, on the express locomotive, the "Witch," they met with an aceident that for a while threatened to be of a most fatal character to all on board. When near Valley Forge, where the road runs along the brink of a precipitous ledge of sharp rocks, more than one hundred feet above the Schuylkill, the engine ran over a cow and was thrown off the track. The wheels on one side fell into a hollow, carcening the engine far over, and when she stopped, by the wheels sinking in the wet ground, she hung rocking and trembling over the fearful precipice for nearly a minute. She at last settled on the safe side, and her passengers were enabled to land without injury. It took them nearly three hours to get their engine ready to start ngain, the rain falling in torrents all the time, but there was no murmuring at either the trouble or the weather, as all were too thankful for their narrow escape from what would have been certain destruction.

FREDONA, July 17th, 1816. Dr. Seth W. Fowle: Dear Sir-From my youth I have been subject to lung complaints. In February last I took cold-a cough set in, and though slight in the beginning, I made use of the simple remedies which I always keep for that purpose. These failing. I resorted to others, but my cough increased in violence, and a pain in the side and right lobe of the lungs set in, which soon became very distressing, and at intervals were attended with oppressive strictures on the lungs. During this time I expectorated freely, but the mucus raised from the lungs indicated a disease deeply scated. Two or three Physicity hindly sent me their medicines, which nave been very efficient in curing coughs, but they failed to reach my case, and I began to be somewhat nneasy. My cough was considerably aggravated A friend advised me to try the BALSAM or WILD CHERRY, but I told him I had swallowed medicing nough. Well, sir, I coughed out that day and the night following, and the next day my friend urged me again to try " Dr. Wistar," and at 3, P. M., I was willing to try any thing, for I coughed constantly. I procured a bottle-drank of it-read the directions-continued taking it from that bottle one week, and when the Balsam was gone my cough and pains were gone, and I have not coughed since. Respectfully, yours, &c. F. A. REDINGTON. P. S. Such testimony can be relied upon. Be careful of the article you buy. It must have the signature of 1. Burrs, on the wrapper to be genuine.

DGET OF FUN.

AN ATTAXEY's Pex .- An old gentleman Accused his servant, among other things, of having stolen his stick. The servant protested perfect innocence.

"Why, you know," rejoined the complainant, "that the stick could never have walked off with itself"

"Certainly not," said the attorney for the defence, -unless it was a walking stick."

"Put your finger in de, vat you call himde blacksmith's vice," said a foreigner, "and tarn him till you can bear him no longer .--Dat is de rheumatiz. Den give him another tarn, dat is de gout."

TFA fashionable city lady, while in the country a short time since, "inquired "what those animals were with poneder horns growing out of their car," as though it were not genteel for a woman to know a cow.

TPa, has the world got a tail ?" asked an urchin of its father.

"No, child," replied the old 'un impatiently "how could it have one when it is round ?"

"Well," persisted the heir, "why does the papers say so, 'so wags the world,' if it ain't got a tail to wag about ?!" "Your ma wants you," replied the non- worked up at any time on more favorable terms

IT An Irishman received a challenge to fight a duel, but declined. On being asked the reason-"Och," said Pat, "would you have me leave his mother an orphan ?"

Mother .- "Johnny, will you have some more beans ?" Johnny _- "No" Mother .- "No what ?" Johnny .-- "No beans !" -

ITA gentleman, having built a large house, was at a loss what to do with the rubbish. His steward advised him to have a pit dug large enough to contain it. "Aud what," said the gentleman, "shall I do with the earth which is dug out of the pit?" To which the steward, with gravity replied--"Have the pit made large enough to hold all."

IF An exchange paper speaks of an earthquake at the South passing over without damage. We shall, probably, hear next of a thunder storm passing under.

There is a man down cast, so tender hearted, that he always shuts his eyes, and sighs, when he sees a sign with "paper-hanging" on it.

IF"Has your son Timothy failed ?" enquired Gubbins of Stabbens, the other day. "Oh, not at all; he has only assigned over his property, and fallen back to take a better position," was the reply.

ICP A young man meeting an acquaintance, said.

"I heard that you were dead." 'But,' said the other, 'you see me alive.' 'I do not know how that may be,' replied he ; you are a notorious liar, but my informant was a person of credit.'

Sir, which of your children do you prefer, the boys or the girls ?" "Why, as long as boys suck their mother, I like them best, but when they begin to suck sue, I prefer the girls."

13- "Hallo there," said a farmer to an Irishman basily engaged at one of his cherry trees-"by what right do you take those cherries ?"

"I, faith, my friend," said he, "by my right hand, sure."

Theodore Hook once dined with a Mr. Hatchet.

"Ah. my dear fellow," said his host, deprecatingly, "I am sorry to say that you will not get to-day such a dinner as our friend Tom Moore gave us."

"Certainly not," replied Hook, "from a Hatchet one can expect nothing but a chop."

TFA man, being asked by his neighbor how his wife did, made this answer,-"Indeed, sir, the case is pitiful; my wife fears she shall die, and I fear she will not die, which makes a most disconsolate house.
