POETRY.

WHERE REST THE DEAD!

BY MISS ALICE GREY.

Answer thou star, whose bright'ning ray Forgets the gathering shades of night;
 If so, 'tis given thee, where are they
 Who pass from mortal sight?

We know in some green vale of bliss, Where clouds and tempests never roll, There is a holier home than this—A triumph for the soul!

The early birds, the summer flowers, The tearful Spring time has restored, But when shall they again be ours, O'er whom our love was poured!

We look to see the spirit's track,
 And hear the stir of wings above,
 And call, but win no answer back, Nor token of their love.

While kindred smiles and tones of mirth, Are mingling brightly as the waves, There still rests darkly on our hearth A shadow from the grave.

Answer thou star, whose bright'ning ray Forgets the gathering shade of night, If so, 'tis given thee, where are they
 Who pass from mortal sight!

MISCELLANEOUS.

YOUR SIN WILL FIND YOU OUT.

Dr. Donne, afterwards the celebrated Dean of St. Paul's, when he took possession of the first living to which he was inducted, walked into the yard of the church where he was to officiate. It happened, that as he sauntered along, the sexton was digging a grave, and the Doctor stood for a moment to observe his operations. As the man was at work, he threw up a skull which in some way or other engaged the Doctor's attention. While he examined it, he perceived a headless nail, which perforated the temple and which convinced him that some dread deed must have been perpetrated. Taking up the skull, he demanded of the sexton to whom it belonged. The man instantly to whom it knew very well—that it had belonged to a man who was accustomed to excess in the use of liquor; and who, one night, having been guilty of his usual intemperance, had been found dead in the church-yard. — Dr. Donne, who was pointing

HOW HE ROSE.

About forty years ago, somewhere in the woods near the line between Tennessee and Kentucky, in a log cabin sixteen feet by eighteen, which was already occupied by a brood of ten or twelve children, was born a youngster, the hero of our sketch. In his infancy he was fed on corn and hominy, bear meat, and the flesh of such "wild varmints" as were caught in the woods. At twelve years of age he was put out to work with a neighbor, as a farm-boy, and drove oxen, hoed corn, raised tobacco in the summer, cured it in the winter, till he was seventeen years old, when he took to making brick; to which he added the profession of carpenter; and by these successive steps in mechanical arts he became able, by his unassisted skill to raise a house from a claypit, or from the stump, and complete it in all its parts, and do it too, in a manner that none of his competitors could surpass. His panel doors are to this day the wonder and admiration of the country, in which they continue to swing on hinges. He never saw the inside of a school house or church till after he was eighteen years old. Having achieved the valuable acquisitions of reading and writing by the aid of another, all his other education has been the fruit of his own application and perseverance. At the age of twenty-two he conceived the idea of fitting himself for the practice of law. He at first procured an old copy of Blackstone and having, after the close of his daily labor, by nightly studies over a pitch-knot fire in his log cabin, mastered the contents of that compendium of common law, he pursued his researches into other elementary works. And having thus, by great diligence, acquired the rudiments of his profession, he met with an old lawyer who had quit the practice, or whose practice had quit him, with whom he made a bargain for his secretary library or what was to pay him $120 in carpenter's and the chief part of the job to be done payment for the old rusty law books in ing and laying down a few hours in per square of ten audiences, and not a for, our hero, by the way, was doing his de-trowel, and was engaged by the of the man, and he was heard the boy can

GOOD MANNERS.

We have known a young man, slow, sullen, heavy-browed and ungracious, who, whenever you speak to him, answers as if it were an effort to be even decently civil; and who, moreover, seemed to be quite content, and even proud, of his incivility.
 And we lean to the charitable side so far as to think this nothing more than a bad habit of his which has insensibly fastened upon him; and that he goes through the world—a world of mutual dependence—little aware of the fact, that so small a thing as his manners is constantly producing impressions, and fast forming a reputation such as ten years hence he may regret as the great blunder of his life.
 Would it not be well for every young man to learn the truthful anecdote of the rich Quaker banker, who when asked the secret of his success in life, answered, "Civility, friend, civility!" How much does it cost a man, either old or young, to be truly civil in the intercourse of society! Rather, how much does it cost a young man to form this habit, which, if formed, will sit upon him; easily, gracefully, and profitably, so long as he lives!
 Far more often depends on this little often despised civility to the world, than any other single adventitious circumstance by which men rise and fall.

DID IT TO PURPOSE.

An honest, old-fashioned Yankee farmer had an unruly bull, which had a remarkable love for the old farmer "in horn," and was gular prechant for giving him a "lift" in and friends a "lift" in the the farmer was he said.

THE HOLY LAND.

Jacob's Well and the Samaritans.

BY HARRIET MARTINEAU.

Our last view of Jerusalem was very fine.
 We looked back upon a ridge on the northern road, and saw it lying, bright and stately, on its everlasting hills; but it looked lower than from most other points of view, from Moab mountains forming its lofty back ground. We descended the slope before us, and lost sight of the Holy City forever.
 Again we were struck with the vivid coloring of the scenery. All this day the hills were of a brilliant hue—the soil red, grey, and brown—the tilted portions of the brightest green—the shadows purple or lilac. All the traces of having been once terraced were still completely so in the nook of our encampment, this evening. The strata of the stone were slanting.— This gives a singleness to the most cultivated were basins and were all over of slopes and an dinner was heard dragonman next entered We afterwards and were amused to our Mahomedan servants cotcause of Christians. Some Arabs, why loaded mules, had come with the intention of encamping beside the well; and on finding the ground partly occupied, though there was plenty of room left, they became abusive, and wondered aloud what business these cursed Christians had in their country. Our drago-man resented this, and threw the speaker over the tent ropes. There was then a stout scuffle, and our cook coming to help, and the Arabs falling one upon another, over the top went off howling vengeance. We heard pegs in the dark, they had the water before them, however.
 The next morning we saw the Mediteranean, like a basin of deep blue water betwixt hills. We were not going Sablous, the ancient

THE HOLY LAND.

light in the soothing words of Jesus concerning it. What a truth it was for both parties to hear, that God was now to be worshipped every where; and that all places were henceforth to be as sacred as the Jerusalem temple, or the mountain at Sychar! And what a lesson in liberality it was to the Jews, when he gave honor to the Samaritan parable, on account of his good works, above the sacred priest and the servant of the temple at Jerusalem. Both parties were, of course, wrong in their fierce anger; but each had much to plead on his own side. The Jews were bound to keep their race and worship pure; and held, as an essential matter of faith, that Jehovah would have but one dwelling place; which was their view of their temple. And the Samaritans were surely right in persisting in their endeavor to worship Jehovah, in accordance with the law of Moses, as they did not believe in strange gods if the Jews could not admit them to worship in their temple at Jerusalem, they could not be blamed for building one for themselves.
 Such was always my view of the matter; and therefore it was with indescribable interest that I looked this day upon Mount Geri-zim, and remembered that somewhere in this city we were approaching, was treasured that sacred copy of the Samaritan Pentateuch (Books of Moses,) which the possessors believe to be the true one, and the most accurate of the original. The most accurate of the things we do not believe it to Virginia Free Press. THURSDAY MORNING. NOVEMBER 2, 1918. WHIG NOMINATIONS. FOR PRESIDENT, ZACHARY TAYLOR OF LOUISIANA. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, MILLARD FILLMORE OF NEW YORK. STATE ELECTORS.

THE DAY OF ACTION AT HAND! On Tuesday, we have the election. The Shenandoah River is busy engaged in the surveying of a branch of the river from its source to its mouth.

THE SHENANDOAH SURVEY. The Engineering Corps engaged in the survey of a branch of the river from its source to its mouth.

TO THE WHIGS OF VIRGINIA. At a meeting of the State Central Committee of the Whig Party, held on the 23d of October, 1918, the following resolutions were adopted:

GEN. DORMAN, who recently spoke in Richmond, made a lively and entertaining speech, professing at the same time that he intended to make no speech at all.

He Speaks as well as he Fights! ANOTHER SPEECH BY GEN. TAYLOR. Great Barbecue at Port Hudson, Mississippi.

THE TAYLOR PLATFORM. "The power given by the constitution to the Executive, to interpose his veto, is a high and sacred power, which should never be exercised except in cases of clear violation of the constitution, or manifest bad faith and want of consideration by Congress."

THE TAYLOR PLATFORM. "The power given by the constitution to the Executive, to interpose his veto, is a high and sacred power, which should never be exercised except in cases of clear violation of the constitution, or manifest bad faith and want of consideration by Congress."

WHY WILL STAY AT HOME? No Whig dare call himself a Whig hereafter, if he refuses to vote for Old Zack. If any Whig stays at home, and neglects to vote at the great election now before us, he gives just so much aid to the enemy, and is guilty of an act of treason to the Whig party of the South, which may lead to a total defeat.

THE RIVER TRADE. The trade on the Shenandoah River has never been fully estimated and its importance fully appreciated. Whilst traveling along its banks a few days since we were better enabled to judge of the quantity of produce borne on its bosom at one time, each of which were loaded with one hundred and forty barrels of flour, making nearly twelve thousand barrels of flour, in eight at one time!

AN APT ILLUSTRATION. The following anecdote, related the other night by Gen. Dorman, affords an apt illustration of the reasoning by which Southern men persuade themselves that Gen. Cass is a safer man for the South than Gen. Taylor.

GO TO WORK! We call upon all the friends of Taylor and Fillmore—all the enemies of misrule—who wish to see an end put to the corrupting system upon which the Government is at present administered—to pull out their coats and go to work.

GEN. TAYLOR'S ADDRESS. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen—It is with a feeling of deep embarrassment that I attempt to reply to the eloquent address just delivered in which I have been in the service of the public has endeavored to keep in view, as the constant object of my country, the integrity and the consistency of my life.

DO NOT LET US WORK TO OTHERS! It is too often the case that the responsibility of the day is thrown upon the shoulders of those who are not prepared to bear it.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR OWN INTERESTS! The country will be flooded with speculators who will buy up the land and the minerals of the country and sell them to the people at a high price.

ODD FELLOWS' PROCESSION. The members of Front Royal Lodge, Warren County, had a Procecion and other ceremonies at Front Royal, on Friday last.

THE DELIVERANCE OF OUR COUNTRY. Every man who carries his pockets full of papers and documents, and who is not prepared to defend them, is a traitor to his country.

GEN. TAYLOR'S QUALIFICATIONS. Some few of the qualifications of Gen. Taylor are: a man of great energy, a man of great courage, a man of great ability.

THE VOTE OF SOUTH CAROLINA. There is a report that South Carolina would not vote for President. A letter from Washington says: I learn from South Carolina that her and the Legislature of eight years will be selected.

GEN. TAYLOR'S QUALIFICATIONS. Some few of the qualifications of Gen. Taylor are: a man of great energy, a man of great courage, a man of great ability.

LOCOFRO ELECTION FRAUDS. The Mayor of Philadelphia on Thursday bid Francis McKenna to bail in the sum of $1000 to answer the charge of forging and issuing certain false naturalization papers.

FRAUDS IN PENNSYLVANIA. The Locos have been framing many ridiculous and absurd excuses for their defeat in Pennsylvania.

IN A TIGHT PLACE. Last week we were presented with a potato wearing the yoke of servitude in the way of an iron ring through which it had protruded itself.

COL. HAMTRAC. This gentleman addressed the Whigs of Baltimore on Thursday night, and the papers of that city speak in high terms of the effort of the gallant and worthy Colonel.

DEATH OF A VETERAN STATESMAN. Harrison Gray Otis, Esq., of Boston, who has been suffering for some time past from a most painful disease, died on Saturday morning.

GEN. TAYLOR'S QUALIFICATIONS. Some few of the qualifications of Gen. Taylor are: a man of great energy, a man of great courage, a man of great ability.

GEN. TAYLOR'S QUALIFICATIONS. Some few of the qualifications of Gen. Taylor are: a man of great energy, a man of great courage, a man of great ability.

A PROVIDENT FATHER. Mr. George Hartwell, of Cincinnati, while on his way a few days ago, to visit his friends in Boston, was informed that his son, a young man of 18, had been killed in the late war.

EXTRAORDINARY TROTTERING. On Friday week, the celebrated horse Traffic trotted freely and fast in a race of three miles and a half, in harness, before a vast point of time and distance, unequalled in the sporting annals of the world.

GEN. TAYLOR'S QUALIFICATIONS. Some few of the qualifications of Gen. Taylor are: a man of great energy, a man of great courage, a man of great ability.
