

Virginia Free Press.

BY GALLAHER & CO.

CHARLESTOWN.

Thursday Morning, Feb. 21, 1861.

An Empty Treasury.

It is no wonder that thousands of the people of the North were willing to make a change of rulers after the miserable policy of the Executive had emptied the Treasury and overwhelmed the nation with a debt of more than forty millions.

The Two Presidents.

Whilst President Lincoln at the North is making light of the impending crisis, and says "nobody is hurt," President Davis at the South is giving notice that somebody will be hurt if he comes in contact with "Southern powder and Southern steel."

Officers of the Georgia Army.

Gov. Brown has appointed the following gentlemen as officers of the Army of the Republic of Georgia now being organized. Brigadier and Major General David E. Twiggs, to command the Brigade. Col. W. J. Hardee, late of the U. S. A., Colonel of the 1st Regiment, and Col. W. H. T. Walker, late of the U. S. A., Colonel of the 2d Regiment.

Smart Financiering.

Cold reversion from an empty Treasury to join the secessionists in breaking up a government which could no longer appreciate his extraordinary abilities. The secessionist naturally a million of the Indian Territory to be abstracted and also loaned off to assist in the work of destruction.

Senator Cameron.

This gentleman, with his colleague in the Senate from Pennsylvania, Mr. Bigler, has made considerable efforts to bring about a compromise of existing difficulties. He has more than once avowed his disposition to make any reasonable sacrifice to preserve the Union.

The State of Kansas.

Kansas having been admitted into the Union, the officers of the State government have assumed their functions. The election of U. S. Senators however has been postponed until April next. The new State commenced its history under the presence of an calamity and the failure of crops and consequent distress among thousands.

Inquest.

An Inquest was held on Saturday last by Justice Jones F. Smith acting as Coroner of the body of a white female child found in a pool of water near the Tumpke landing from Middleway to Lewiston in this county. It is not known how long the child may have been in the pool as it was covered with ice.

Working Men's Convention.

At a meeting of the working men of Harrison-Ferry on Monday night last, T. A. Harrison, Esq., was appointed a delegate to attend the working men's Convention which is to meet shortly in Philadelphia.

Presidential Speeches.

It has been a subject of regret with the most prudent of President Lincoln's friends that he allowed himself to be swayed from his propriety in the matter of making speeches at the various stopping places, developing in part his views upon national affairs.

"It is with you, the people, to advance the great cause of the Union and the Constitution, and not with any one man. It rests with you alone. This fact is strongly impressed upon my mind at present. As a community like this, whose most precious citizens are in the Union, can never be in danger.

Mr. Lincoln proceeded on Saturday to Buffalo; on Monday he will go to Albany; on Tuesday to the city of New York; from thence he will go to Philadelphia, and on Friday next to Harrisburg, and from that place he will directly to Washington, starting probably on Saturday next.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, on Thursday, several local bills were passed. On motion of Mr. Isbell, the rules were suspended, and the bill for the relief of the Banks of the Commonwealth taken up and made the order of the day for Friday at 11 o'clock.

Bills were reported providing for a bonus on Bank capital, and for the mode of paying the same into the Treasury; and making an appropriation to meet the expenses incurred by both the present session of the General Assembly and State Convention.

Mr. Kaufman obtained leave to withdraw the petition of the citizens of the Valley of Virginia praying for a charter to extend the Potomac and Winchester Railroad from Winchester to Strasburg.

A resolution of enquiry was adopted extending the time of the payment of the revenue by the Sheriffs of the State, due the 15th of March.

In the Senate on Friday, the House bill for the relief of the Banks was called up and discussed, and certain amendments being offered, it was made the order for Saturday. A resolution was offered for repealing so much of the act imposing penalties upon sheriffs for failing to pay into the Treasury money received by them for the State.

Becoming More Prudent.

The President elect did not, in his first speeches, meet the expectation of the most judicious of friends. Indeed, many of them were somewhat mortified he carried his propensity for joking altogether too far in treating the impending troubles so lightly.

"Your worthy Mayor has thought fit to express the hope that I may be able to relieve the country from the present, or, I should say, the threatened difficulties. I am sure to bring a true heart to the work. [Applause.] For the ability to perform I must trust in that Supreme Being who has never broken this great and intelligent people. Without that assistance I shall surely fail with my former trial: When we speak of threatened difficulties to the country, it is natural that it should be expected that something should be said by myself with regard to particular measures.

"When I shall speak authoritatively, I hope to say nothing inconsistent with the Constitution; the Union, the rights of all the States, of each State, and of each section of the country, and not to multiply the reasonable expectations of those who have confided to me their votes. In this connection allow me to say that you, as a portion of the great American people, being only too ready to see your country stand up to your solemn convictions of right, to your obligations to the Constitution, and act in accordance with those solemn convictions, and the people which now arise in the horizon will be dispelled, and we shall have a bright and glorious future, and when this generation has passed away tens of thousands will inhabit this country, which now only thousands inhabit it now. I do not propose to address you at length; I have no voice for it. Allow me again to thank you for this magnificent reception and bid you farewell."

A Turn Out.

The Richmond Enquirer and other precipitate printers, after endeavoring to incite the States of Virginia and Maryland in resisting the aggression of Lincoln, by selling the Capitol, Harper's Ferry and other United States property, now finding that the Government has prepared to meet such rebels call it a "big scare" and sneak out of it by asserting that it originated in the gossaming of a little fellow about five feet high, and weighing about one hundred pounds! These gentlemen are very obtuse when they find powder and ball awaiting them, then they turn it off by calling it a "big scare!"

Prof. J. J. Anderson has returned to Charlottesville, and offers his services to our citizens. His qualifications as a teacher of music are unquestionable. He will be seen by his card that he has modified his terms to suit the times.

THE PEACE CONVENTION.

The Plan of Adjustment Recommended by the Committee.

Washington, February 18, 1861. The Peace Congress assembled at 12 o'clock today, and the Committee on a Plan of Settlement reported as follows:

Article 1. In all the territory of the United States not embraced within the limits of the Cherokee treaty grant, north of a line from east to west of the parallel 36 degrees 30 minutes north latitude, involuntary servitude, except by punishment of crime, is prohibited, unless it shall be under a territorial government; and in the event of the establishment of a territorial government, the same shall be subject to the laws of the United States, and no law shall be enacted which shall be in violation of the Constitution of the United States, or which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the territory, or which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the United States, or which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the world.

Article 2. Territory shall not be acquired by the United States, except by treaty, nor, except for naval and commercial stations, and depots, unless such territory shall be ratified by four-fifths of all the members of the Senate.

Article 3. Neither the Constitution nor any amendment thereof shall be construed to give Congress power to abolish or control within any State, Territory, or other jurisdiction, any law, ordinance, or regulation, which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the United States, or which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the world.

Article 4. The first paragraph of the second section of the fourth article of the Constitution shall not be construed to prevent any of the States by appropriate legislation, and through the action of their judicial and ministerial officers, from establishing or recognizing a law, or usage, and the right during transportation of touching at shores, ports and landings, and of landing in case of distress, shall cease; nor shall Congress have the power to impose a higher rate of taxes on persons bound to labor on land.

Article 5. The foreign slave trade, and the importation of slaves into the United States and their Territories, from places beyond the present limits thereof, are forever prohibited.

Article 6. The first, second, third and fifth articles of the Constitution, and the amendments, and the third paragraph of the second section of the first article of the Constitution, and the third paragraph of the second section of the fourth article of the Constitution, shall be construed to be in violation of the rights of the people of the United States, or which shall be in violation of the rights of the people of the world.

Article 7. Congress shall provide by law that the United States shall pay to the owner the full value of his fugitive from labor, in all cases where the Marshal or other officer, whose duty it was to arrest such fugitive, was prevented by political feelings, or other causes, from doing so, and the owner thereby prevented and obstructed in the pursuit of his remedy for the recovery of such fugitive.

The Great Fraud.

The Baltimore American referring to the report of the Committee appointed to investigate the late fraudulent abstraction of the securities held in trust for the Indiana, in the Department of the Interior, says:—"The 'Great Fraud' grows up into astonishing proportions, colored somewhat perhaps by political feelings, and other causes, from when, after arrest, such fugitive was prevented by force, and the owner thereby prevented and obstructed in the pursuit of his remedy for the recovery of such fugitive."

The Committee, in examining the question, "what were Bailey's motives for abstracting the bonds?" says:—"Mr. Bailey, in his conversations with various witnesses, stated that his design was to prevent the discovery of the fraud, and to save him from dishonor and retirement from the Cabinet that would be necessarily incident to a protest and discovery of the acceptance which he signed in regard to the bonds of Russell, Majors & Waddell. Whether this consideration was the sole motive of his conduct, it is left to the House to determine. Your Committee are, however, constrained to express a conviction that, behind the events that have been made conspicuous, and beneath the exterior of transactions which are ostensibly in pursuance of the law, there exists a conspiracy, and a conspiracy of a most dangerous and extensive character."

The committee offer no recommendations in reference to the party or parties who were the authors of the fraud, but they do recommend that they be made a party to the proceedings, and that they be held responsible for the same. They also recommend that the names of the parties who were the authors of the fraud, be made a part of the proceedings, and that they be held responsible for the same.

The Southern Republic.

President Davis was sworn into office at Montgomery, Alabama, on the 18th instant, and delivered his inaugural address, in the course of which he declared that the separation of the Confederate States has been marked by no aggression upon others, and followed by no domestic convulsion.

The Glades Dispersing.

We have an abiding confidence that the Peace Convention at Washington will this week report a scheme of adjustment, satisfactory to the Border slaveholding States. The vote of Missouri strengthens the Union feeling, and the importance of the succeeding States towards the peace of the country will awake reflections favorable to peace.

A Filmy Argument.

The Tennessee Chronicle remarks that, as an argument in favor of immediate secession, we are told that a majority of the Northern States have violated the Constitution, nullified a law of Congress, and aided in giving to a sectional President whose leading political idea is opposition to slavery. This is all true, and more than this, the Southern States have granted the license granted them by the resolutions of 1847, and have virtually repudiated a decision of the Supreme Court, a co-ordinate Department of the Government. But does it follow, because lawless fanaticism has done these things, that the South shall abandon its rights in the Union—submit to these wrongs without a struggle, and fly from the uplifted arm of the enemy and seek safety and protection under another government yet to be organized? This is not the way of statesmen and brave patriots ought to act, and we trust that Virginia will not fly as long as there is a chance for victory, but bravely face the enemy, and, if defeated, then retreat with honor to a position outside of the Union.

It will be no easy to secede under Hinton as it is under the dotard who now dwells in the White House, and it will be more magnanimous to Ohio, and breaking their party organizations as Samson smothered the bonds of Delilah, they thundered forth their love and loyalty to the Union in tones that might rouse the dead. Fifty thousand Union majority at least of the popular vote, and in the Convention, a body which is composed of one hundred and fifty-two members, only thirty secessionists! We have heard a good deal in our time of the incomprehensible character of Virginia politics, but there can be no misunderstanding of the present position. Above all party Virginia place their country, and thus it is that in a State which gave Mr. Buchanan thirty thousand majority, and which were from the foundation of the Government an electoral vote for opposition candidates till the last Presidential election, there are, according to old party classifications, eighty-five Bell men, thirty-seven Douglas men, and only thirty friends of Mr. Breckinridge, whilst the Convention has chosen as its President JOHN JASPER, of Loudoun, the strongest Whig—the Whig of Whig and Democrat—in the old Whig county of Loudoun, which is the strongest Whig county in Virginia; or, if we should choose our party designations, this magnificent majority of the Union has always stood out in Virginia politics like her own Peaks of Otter above the surrounding mountains. The Union was the first-born child of this illustrious Mother of States. It was born of her patriotism, it has grown strong and glorious under her training; George Washington himself was not more truly and emphatically a Virginia production than was the American Union. She first conceived the idea of the present form of government; she first suggested, and led the way to the conference which set the ball in motion; she was the pioneer of the whole movement; she was the founder, the expounder, the endower of this Government. And can this Mother of the Union, more ungrateful than will, more self-sufficing than lunatic, be expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an interminable and immortal roll of statesmen and soldiers such as no other Commonwealth in America can boast. She has thus far found both glory and safety in the Union, and now, at this decisive hour, she is expected to turn upon and rend and devour her own offspring? This Union—she is identified with Washington, who is at once the glory of Virginia and of America; with Mayhew, the most resplendent luminary of Virginia and of America in law; with Jefferson, that republican statesman; with Madison, whose luminous and elegant vindications of the Constitution will live as long as that instrument itself; with an

Work on the extension of the Alexandria, Loudoun and Hampshire Railroad, beyond Leesburg...

Baltimore Prices Current. For the week ending February 18, '61. CATTLE, HOGS, SHEEP, etc.

Special Notices. To Persons of Employment. AGENTS WANTED.

IN every County of the United States, to engage the services of the best and most experienced...

THE undersigned, being well known as a writer, would offer his services to all...

English and Classical School. THE undersigned, aided by a competent Assistant...

Supplemental Notice. AN erroneous idea, that the article set forth in an advertisement...

FOR RENT. THE "WAGER HOUSE," At Harpers-Ferry, Va.

REMOVAL. Peter Pfeiffer. WOULD respectfully state that he has removed...

FOR RENT. FRESH MEATS. In every variety, in season. Terms cash.

ATTENTION. Housekeepers! HAVING employed a competent Butler...

ATTENTION CADETS. YOU are ordered to parade in front of your Armory...

ATTENTION GUARDS. YOU are ordered to parade in full uniform...

FOR RENT. A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

FOR RENT. A CORN CRIB.

FOR RENT. A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

FOR RENT. A CORN CRIB.

FOR RENT. A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

FOR RENT. A CORN CRIB.

FOR RENT. A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

FOR RENT. A CORN CRIB.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE LAND.

IN JEFFERSON COUNTY, VIRGINIA. BY virtue of the will of Catherine Lafferty...

HOUSE.

is large and well finished - 4 Chambers in the second story...

TRUSTEES' SALE OF LAND.

BY virtue of a decree of the undersigned on the 15th day of January 1861...

500 ACRES.

more or less situated on the Ridge Mountain on Keyes Ferry road...

MILLS FOR RENT.

THE undersigned has for rent a pair of water wheels...

FOR RENT.

THE "WAGER HOUSE," At Harpers-Ferry, Va.

REMOVAL.

Peter Pfeiffer. WOULD respectfully state that he has removed...

FOR RENT.

FRESH MEATS. In every variety, in season. Terms cash.

ATTENTION.

Housekeepers! HAVING employed a competent Butler...

ATTENTION CADETS.

YOU are ordered to parade in front of your Armory...

ATTENTION GUARDS.

YOU are ordered to parade in full uniform...

FOR RENT.

A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE LAND.

IN JEFFERSON COUNTY, VIRGINIA. BY virtue of the will of Catherine Lafferty...

HOUSE.

is large and well finished - 4 Chambers in the second story...

TRUSTEES' SALE OF LAND.

BY virtue of a decree of the undersigned on the 15th day of January 1861...

500 ACRES.

more or less situated on the Ridge Mountain on Keyes Ferry road...

MILLS FOR RENT.

THE undersigned has for rent a pair of water wheels...

FOR RENT.

THE "WAGER HOUSE," At Harpers-Ferry, Va.

REMOVAL.

Peter Pfeiffer. WOULD respectfully state that he has removed...

FOR RENT.

FRESH MEATS. In every variety, in season. Terms cash.

ATTENTION.

Housekeepers! HAVING employed a competent Butler...

ATTENTION CADETS.

YOU are ordered to parade in front of your Armory...

ATTENTION GUARDS.

YOU are ordered to parade in full uniform...

FOR RENT.

A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE LAND.

IN JEFFERSON COUNTY, VIRGINIA. BY virtue of the will of Catherine Lafferty...

HOUSE.

is large and well finished - 4 Chambers in the second story...

TRUSTEES' SALE OF LAND.

BY virtue of a decree of the undersigned on the 15th day of January 1861...

500 ACRES.

more or less situated on the Ridge Mountain on Keyes Ferry road...

MILLS FOR RENT.

THE undersigned has for rent a pair of water wheels...

FOR RENT.

THE "WAGER HOUSE," At Harpers-Ferry, Va.

REMOVAL.

Peter Pfeiffer. WOULD respectfully state that he has removed...

FOR RENT.

FRESH MEATS. In every variety, in season. Terms cash.

ATTENTION.

Housekeepers! HAVING employed a competent Butler...

ATTENTION CADETS.

YOU are ordered to parade in front of your Armory...

ATTENTION GUARDS.

YOU are ordered to parade in full uniform...

FOR RENT.

A GOOD TWO STORY BRICK HOUSE.

NEW CONCERN.

H. DUMM. Cash Bakery and Confectionery Store. On Main St. opposite H. N. Gallaher's residence.

FOR SALE.

at public auction to the highest bidder, before the Court House of Jefferson County...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 2 in said survey mentioned, now held by the services of Nimrod Anderson, deceased...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 3 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 4 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 5 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 6 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 7 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 8 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 9 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 10 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 11 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 12 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 13 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

RELIGIOUS BOOK DEPOSITORY.

THE undersigned has on hand a large assortment of Religious Books...

FOR SALE.

at public auction to the highest bidder, before the Court House of Jefferson County...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 2 in said survey mentioned, now held by the services of Nimrod Anderson, deceased...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 3 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 4 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 5 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 6 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 7 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 8 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 9 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 10 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 11 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 12 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 13 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

ALBERT MILLER'S TINWARE.

THE undersigned has on hand and is constantly manufacturing the TINWARE, STOVE and SHEET-IRON ESTABLISHMENT...

FOR SALE.

at public auction to the highest bidder, before the Court House of Jefferson County...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 2 in said survey mentioned, now held by the services of Nimrod Anderson, deceased...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 3 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 4 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 5 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 6 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 7 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 8 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 9 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 10 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 11 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 12 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 13 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

ALBERT MILLER'S TINWARE.

THE undersigned has on hand and is constantly manufacturing the TINWARE, STOVE and SHEET-IRON ESTABLISHMENT...

FOR SALE.

at public auction to the highest bidder, before the Court House of Jefferson County...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 2 in said survey mentioned, now held by the services of Nimrod Anderson, deceased...

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 3 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 4 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 5 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 6 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 7 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 8 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 9 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 10 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 11 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 12 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

FOR SALE.

THE LOT NO. 13 in said survey mentioned, now held by James Gramham containing 14 Acres and 3 Perches.

POETRY.

I Shall Never Forget. The old times come back to me... I shall never forget...

VARIETY.

Can't I go to. In the course of my... I shall never forget...

FOR NEW YORK.

The New York and Virginia Steamship Company... MOUNT VERNON...

Two Through Trains Daily.

Between Harper's Ferry and all parts of the... SPECIAL NOTICE.

Marriage Guide.

For a complete and up-to-date... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EMPORIUM OF FASHION!

34 Baltimore Street, between... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

COAPS

In great quantities for all... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

MEDICAL HOUSE.

DR. H. S. SCHMIDT'S... BALTIMORE, MD.

CONSTITUTIONAL DEBILITY... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

FOR NEW YORK... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Two Through Trains Daily... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Marriage Guide... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EMPORIUM OF FASHION!... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

COAPS... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Fall & Winter Supply.

Look Out For BARGAINS!... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EVERETT HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Little Giant... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

THE WAGER HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Good Hotel... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Frederick Female Seminary... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Blacksmithing White Smithing... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

FROM MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA.

MARBLE WORKS... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EVERETT HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

THE WAGER HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Good Hotel... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Frederick Female Seminary... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Blacksmithing White Smithing... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

ESTERDAY'S TIN-WARE.

CHARLES JEFFERSON... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EVERETT HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

THE WAGER HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Good Hotel... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Frederick Female Seminary... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Blacksmithing White Smithing... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

FROM MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA.

MARBLE WORKS... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EVERETT HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

THE WAGER HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Good Hotel... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Frederick Female Seminary... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Blacksmithing White Smithing... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

COUNTING HOUSE.

CALENDAR FOR 1861. Table with columns for months and days.

AT A THROUGH TICKET TO CALIFORNIA... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

THE WAGER HOUSE... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Good Hotel... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Frederick Female Seminary... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Blacksmithing White Smithing... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

COAPS... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

EMPORIUM OF FASHION!... HARRY G. NICHOLS...

Various small advertisements and notices at the top of the page.