POETICAL.

Motto of the Mass.

BY MILES O'REILLY.

I've seen enough of life, although Not yet beyond my prime; With men of all sorts-high and low-I've mingled in my time! When but a boy it came to pass That, thrown upon the town,

I found the motto of the mass Was, "kick him when he's down." And every year since then has given Fresh proof of this decree; But whether made in hell or heaven The doctors disagree.

Smile at it or frown, The art of life seems in the strife, To kick whoever's down.

I only know the fact is so,

Young Leon in his twentieth year, Had friends—God wot! a heap; Their friendship may have been sincere It surely was not cheap.

He came of age—spent all he had,

And wandering through the town, Neglected, hungry, well nigh mad, Was kicked when he was down.

Poor Etlith, too, the lovliest girl That ever charmed our sight, Of beauty's crown the fairest pearl, And good as she was bright. She fell! she fell! Let scandle tell The tale to all the town, Aloud proclaim a sister's shame,

With high and low-but chiefly so Among the vulgar great-This motto rules, and all are fools Who dare its truth debate Oh, brothers! Earth were paradise, And heaven without a frown, Could we uproot such social lies
As "Kick him when he's down."

And kick her when she's down.

GENERAL ITEMS.

Enlisting Negroes in Louisiana. A planter in Rapides Parish, La., has written to the N. O. Times, complaining of a squad of negro soldiers who went into his field and stopped the negroes from work, by offering them a bounty of $500 to enlist in the United States Army, for service in Texas. The negro soldiers stated that they were "recruiting for white house, in a stone patch under the hill. the army," and that more negro soldiers were down by her husband's button shop. Mrs. needed to liberate the negroes in Texas and Sniveller was a leading horse, so called, in the that if they contracted to work on plantations team of benevolence at Buttonville. She had next year, they would be enslaved again .- a little peaked red nose, about right to open Leave Shenandoah at 11 11 P. M. and 7 10 P. The Negro Population.

A gentleman versed in such matters, who returns of commissioners and assessors of taxes, for various counties of the State, estimates the loss of negroes to the State of Virginia, since 1860, at two-fifths of the entire number. This, in spite of the fact that no inconsiderable number of negroes who, in former years, had been sold and taken South have returned to their old homes. What has become of this crowd of human beings-not less than two hundred thousand? Some, not a very large number, have gone North; but the remainder, what has become of them? Do the figures of the Freedmen's Bureau tell; or can the imagination of the philanthropists suggest ?- Rich. Whig.

A Gleomy Honeymoon.

Dr. La Force, of Agency, married a Miss Dudley, last Thursday, and the happy couple started on their bridal tour. They arrived at Burlington, and took dinner at the hotel .-

The fair bride never looked so lovely, and the heart of the husband was joyful. While they were seated at the table, the face of the bride suddenly underwent a change; the cheeks grew pallid, and the eyes stared wildly around. The Doctor immediately noticed the corrible transformation, and caught her in his arms. But affection was powerless to rescue. The poor man soon discovered that he was holding in his embrace a maniac wife. Without a premonitory symptom, she had thus suddenly become insane. The Doctor returned to the Agency the next day, bearing with him the wreck of his own beautiful young wife .-Offumica (Iowa) Mercury.

Union of Churches .- The two Methodist socicties in Harrisonburg, Va., have been merged into one body, and have placed themselves under the pastoral care of the Baltimore Conference of the Episcopal Methodist Church .-This union was fully accomplished last week when the two societies met together in a spirit of cordial fraternity and blended in one. My Experience at a New England Sewing Circle.

"The Christian ladies of this congregation are invited to meet, Thursday evening, at the Society. A full attendance is requested." Such, My dear hearers, reads a notice I find on my sacred desk this morning, and I read it in hopes you will profit thereby.

We will now sing Psalm 131, first two stan-My heart not haughty is, O Lord; Mine eyes not lofty be; Nor do I deal in matters great, Or things too high for me! I surely have myself behav'd With great spirit, and mild As a child of mother weaned; my soul

I wanted to go. I borrowed hoops; skirts, waterfalls and etceteras. I puffed my front hair, slung my waterfall on my bump of obstinacy, hoisted an onion into the riticule I carried has been making some examination into the on the left arm, shouldered a green cotton umbrella, took a piece of red flannel to make a shirt for some ltttle innocent bud on the tree of Abolitionism, and sallied forth as the Yankee

The front parlorand the middle parlor were full of noble women. while the best bedroom was full of bonnets, green umbrellas and riticules, in which to carry home sweetcakes, tarts and buiscuits, plum pits, apple cores and little things, slyly slipped from Mrs. Sniveller's table.

Mrs. Sniveller didn't know me. I told her that I was little Sallie Squiggle, as what lived there ten years before, and had been South teachin' skule.

"Loddy, massy, so it is! Why, how natural ou do look; now it all comes to me agin!-Bless me! Let me kiss my dear Sally, who has scaped from the wretches."

And angelic Mrs. Sniveller came near putting my right eye hors du combat with the end of her nose!

I was introduced. Nineteen women were glad to see me, and kissed their dear little Sally. till my waterfall skewed clear around under my left ear, and I began to feel a rising sensation in my throat from the hugging then and there given, or words to that effect. After I had been so affectionately gone through, I went to the bedroom to reconstruct. Gracious! My waterfall had got under my left ear, making me look as if some ugly man of sin had lifted me one with brass knuckles and forgot to take it home with him, while my beautiful front hair resembled a garden full of pea vines after a hurricane. But I retained my composure and went out to become the center of attraction. " My dear Sally!"

"Precious Sally!" "Little Sally Squiggle, sure enough!"

"So glad you cum hum!" "Neow, dew tell us all abeout it !" Mrs. Suiveller was made chairman, and the ollowing resolutions were adopted: Resolved, That this shall be called the Buttonville Benevolent Baby Association. Resolved, That Mrs. Sniveller be, and hereby are, our President.

Resolved. That our aim is to help the downtrodden, and Bed-ridden daughters of Ham, now in the clutches of that vile people, and to this end every member of the B. B. B. make one little flannel shirt a week, and, Sally Squiggle shall tell us the size. Resolved, That we now open and close our society with prayer. Resolved, That each one of the members invite some man to go home with her at night. (Here I was about to object for fear of exposure, but for fear of exposure I didn't object .-

Mrs. Cockeye said she hoped there would be a hull passel of wars, for her cousin, her dear, residence of Mrs. Sniveller, to form a Sewing good cousin, Benjamin (the Beast,) had made lots of money in the late war, and had supplied nearly all her relatives with spoons, watches, silver ware, &c., and said it was right the war should go on, for her cousin was safer in the war than afore a court of justice even, and said it was a Christian duty to let all Christian wars be continuered so long as there was anybody to continuer 'em.

Mrs. Sniveller here spoke again: "Well, I don't care no how. The South should be fought. What right had they to have cotton picked by niggers without asking our consent? And they were rich. And they had nice things. And we believe a nigger baby is of more account than a white pauper in the North. And my husband, Deacon Sniveller, wants more bones to make buttons ofhe'll sell the buttons to the South and West, and they will have to ask us New England Christians for the privilege of wearing out their own bones."

By this time tea was ready. We had a good Such curious silver-ware : old style, pure silver; didn't taste brassy a bit; and all of us ladies tasted all the silver dishes to see! And such a lot of spoons! Each one of us had at our plates a spoon with our initials on. Mrs. Sniveller had a barrel of silver spoons, and hunted them over till she found our regular initials in regular order! Oh! it was so nice!-And we piled all the shirts up in a chair, and put a bible rescued from the wicked South on the top of the pile, and then Rev. Mr. Slammer came in and made a prayer, while Mrs. Daywler, on a nice rosewood piano, played that patriotic piece of music:

John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave! John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave! John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave!

Glory! glory! Hallelujah! After which, the Buttonville B. B. Society of Buttonville, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, adjourned till next Thursday, when I am going again, if they don't find out that Sally S. Quiggles is that horrid "BRICK" POMEROY.

Improved Farming Implements. The New York Evening Post, remarking on the great improvement recently made in farming implements and machinery, gives some observations made in the West by way of illustration. A corn field containing one hundred and sixty acres was ploughed, planted and cul-tivated without subjecting the farmer to the trouble of going on foot at all. The ground was prepared by the use of a rotary spader on which the operator rode; was planted by a two-horse machine, the driver seated upon a box; when hoeing time came a cultivator performed the operation without involving the necessity of pedestrian exercise. When the corn is ripe it is cut and laid in rows by a two-horse machine thus completing the cycle of machine corn-raising. On the farm of which this corn field formed a part there was a field of timothy comprising seven hundred acres .-It is the improved farm machinery which has rendered such extensive farming operations possible and profitable at the same time.

To Judge the Quality of Cows. In order to judge of the qualities of a good milch cow, the shape and size of the animal in whole and detail should be considered, the temperament and disposition, also the strength of the constitution. Covering Grass Seed.

It has been shown, by experiment, that but very few of any kind of grass seeds germinate, when covered two inches deep, not over onetenth as many as when covered one quarter of an Inch deep. It therefore, follows that the practice of some farmers to harrow in grass seed is a very bad one. First, the grain that you seed down with should be sown and harowed in, leaving the land as even as possible. then sow the grass seed, then weave some small brush among your harrow teeth, in a way that the ground will merely receive a light scratching, as the harrow is drawn overit. Sometimes a few long, trailing branches of trees, the hemlock or spruce tied together at their butts, and drawn by a horse over the land, will effect as good a covering as can be done in any other manner.

Keep where moderately warm, and add at each in Iking (or once a day) a little hot milk,-

Good Manure.

Soot makes an excellent manure, as it contains a quantity of ammoniacal salts. It is best used in the liquid form, and may thus be applied to flowers and garden plants. Experiments alone will determine how large a quantity must be applied to the plants. Charcoal dust is not only a fertiliser from its inherent qualities, but an absorbent of carbonic acid gas from the atmosphere, and thus tends greatly to aid the growth of vegetables. It is therefore, valuable as a kind of manure.

OFFICE IN "JEFFERSON HALL." Thursday, November 29, 1866.

IMPARTIAL SUFFRAGE.

This is the catch-phrase of most of the Radical presses and orators, which means that the negro is to be granted the right of suffrage without regard to the opinions or wishes of the several States in which the negro population is most numerous, and in some cases outnumbers the whites. The most rabid of the party, such as Wendell Phillips, oppose the pending constitutional amendment because it leaves th question of suffrage with the States, where it properly belongs-the penalty for not investing the negroes with votes being a curtailment of representation in Congress.

There would be no difficulty on the part of the ten excluded States in adopting the first and second sections of the amendment, if they were not coupled with the degrading third section, which asks men to vote themselves and their neighbors infamous, and put this record of infamy in the organic law. The most of the excluded States have already, of their own accord, provided that the freedmen shall have all the rights pertaining to white men, the protecright of suffrage, and even that boon may 'e accorded to them, if let alone, on the ground grounds upon which our revolution was based and our republic established.

Persons may be citizens and yet not be voters; females for instance. Where they hold property they are taxed, and are counted in making up numbers for representation, but they are not allowed to vote; yet who will say that the women of our country every where are not far better qualified to vote than the uneducated | ter, Mr. Bingham is already here, with the articles, negro? The preponderance of the South in the councils of the nation seem to be dreaded by the Radicals, and therefore they want to put in the negro element. This would be an absurd fear, if it really existed, but it is sheer affectation, if not mere sectional spite. Under any mode of representation after the year 1870, whether a part or the whole of the negro population be counted, the South will be in a decided minor-

If the dominant party really desire reconcil-

lation, and a return of prosperity, to the whole country, let them withdraw the 3d section, and then they may ask with some degree of confidence for a concurrence in the other propositions. But it is evident they neither expect nor desire the South to adopt the amendment, so that they may elect a President of their own party, and thus secure the spoils for four years

"Impartial Suffrage," indeed! Negro suffrage is what they want, in order that imported Northern men of their own stamp may be chosen, and "men to the manor born" may be set aside.

PROPERTY AT HARPERS-FERRY.

As Congress seems not disposed to re-establish the Armory at Harper's Ferry, it is to be hoped that an early disposition of the valuable property, which is now comparatively useless, will be made. If we are not mistaken, the Senate at the last session passed a resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to sell the property. If this be so, then the action of the House should be promptly invoked, and this will no doubt be done by Mr. Latham, who seems to be both industrious and energetic.

[And here we may say, notwithstanding his Radical votes, in some cases, that we think the district has made a poor exchange in giving up Latham for Kitchen-especially as the latter will be confronted on his first appearance at the clerk's table, with the stringent oath which he took of fealty to the Confederate government. The existing iron-clad oath, which Stevens delights in will doubtless be gulped down without a gasp for breath.7

But to resume. The water-power at the Ferry is sufficient to drive a dozen factories, and is at last cut through. Its total length is 4, paper mills, cotton and weolen mills, and ma- 700 feet, being 1,000 feet more than the long chine shops of all kinds may be worked to great | tunnel on the Pennsylvania Central railway advantage. All the necessary materials for an extensive business are abundant and accessible. Cotton is the only staple which would be height. brought from a distance, and this could be had from Baltimore at a very low freight. The annual expenditure at a manufacturing town such as Harper's Ferry might become would be ten times as great as the Armory ever produced .-The country for hundreds of miles round would be greatly benefitted by the change. We understand that the great natural advantages of which we have spoken have already attracted the attention of capitalists.

IMPEACHMENT.

Already some of the fire-eaters who, a little while ago, talked glibly of impeaching the President, are beginning to moderate their tone. They now talk in qualifying phrases. They begin to see that the great bulk of the quiet people who voted the Radical ticket give no countenance to such disorganizing schemes .-The country desires peace, and the blusterers will have to "nurse their wrath and keep it warm" for a more convenient season. So in putting up territorial governments in their

The people are already taxed up to the exreme point of endurance, and they want no further agitation. WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 19, 1866. MESSES. EDITORS:

The mad Parliamentis coming. Already the dust is rising in the North and in the West, and Forney has issued his summons, calling for a grand uprising of soldiers, sailors and negroes, to welcome it and if need be, protect it, in its deliberations. Of this there is just now but a remote probability. Yet the wildest and darkest designs of the Republicans, such as the political enfranchisement of the negro in the District of Columbia, and the abolition of State Governments in the recently "insurgent" States, as punishment for their rejection of the Constitutional Amendment, will certainly be attempted. When Latium rebelled against Rome, and was subdued by her enemies, the question came, 'what shall be done with Latium and the people of Latium?' Important Decision. Discharge of Prisoners .- It will be recollected that some time ago four Citizens of South Carolina were arrested, by command of Major General Sickles, and having been tried by military court, under the orders of that officer. were sentenced to death. The sentence was commuted by the President to imprisonment for life, and the prisoners having been first dispatched to the Dry Tortugas, in order to evade a writ of habeas corpus, were eventually incarcerated in Fort Delaware. Here they were demanded by the civil authority, under a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Hall, the District Judge of the United States for the District of Delaware. Judge Hall is a magistrate venerable alike by his years and by the dignity and firmness with which he has, through a long career, administered his high office. THE PROPOSED IMPEACHMENT.—It has been stated that the Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio, in several speeches made during the campaign pleged himself to move the impeachment of the President at the approaching session of Congress. This, says the Cincinnati Gazette, is not correct. What Mr. Bingham did say was, that while the President in his opinion deserved impeachment, he would only make the motion for the impeachment if Mr. Johnson should officially assert what he had unofficially proclaimed, that Congress was an illegal body, unlawfully assuming the functions of legislation. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, however, He has worked into it only the best material, and seems to draw no such distinction as this, as indicated by his speech in Brooklyn, New York, on Saturday night. TWO BAD CASES OF PILES CURED-BY DR. STRICKLAND'S PILE REMEDY .- Mr. Glass, of Janesville, Wisconsin, writes for the benefit of all who suffer with the Piles, that he has been troubled for eight years with an aggravated case of Piles, and his brother was discharged from the army as ncurable (he being quite paralyzed with the Piles.) Both these distressing cases were cured with one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy. The recommendation of these gentlemen, beside the daily testimonials received by Dr. Strickland, ought to convince those suffering that the most aggavated chronic cases of Piles are cured by Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy. See For sale by CAMPBELL & MASON, Charlestown; and druggists everywhere. March 15, 1866-1y.

A SUPERIOR REMEDY.—We can conscientiously recommend to those suffering from a dis-tressing cough, Dr. Strickland's Mellifluous Cough Balsame. It gives relief almost instantaneous, an is withal not disagreeable to the taste. There is no doubt but the Mellifluous Cough Balsam is one of the best preparations in use, and is all that its proprietor claims for it. We have tried it during the past week, and found relief from a most distressing cough. It is prepared by Dr. Strickland, No. 139 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

When I was a wee little slip of a girl,
Too artless and young for a prude,
The men, as I passed, would exclaim, "pretty dear!"
Which, I must say, I thought rather rude;
Rather rude, so I did;
Which, I must say, I thought rather rude.

However, said I, when I'm once in my teens,
They'll sure cease to worry me then;
But as I grew older, so they grew bolder—
Such impudent things are the men;
Are the men, are the men, Such impudent things are the men.

But of all the bold things I could ever suppose, (Yet how could I take it amiss?) Was that of my impudent cousin last night,
When he actually gave me a kiss;
Ay, a kiss, so he did, When he actually gave me a kiss!

I quickly reproved him, but ah, in such tones, That ere we were half through the glen, My anger to smother, he gave me another-Such strange, coaxing things are the men, Are the men, are the men, Such strange, coaxing things are the men.

When Doctor Dodge, an electric physician was lecturing through this State on the evils of tea and coffee, he happened to meet, one morning, at the breakfast table, a witty son of Erin of the better class. Conversation turned on the Doctor's favorite subject, and the Doctor said he could demonstrate his theory.

"I don't know," said Erin, "but I'd like to be there when you do it." "Well," said the Doctor, "if I convince you that they are injurious to your health, will you abstain from their use?" "Sure and I will, sir."

"How often do you use coffee and tea?" asked the Doctor.

"Morning and night, sir." "Well," said the Doctor, "do you ever experience a slight dizziness of the brain on going

"I do, indeed I do," replied Erin. "And a sharp pain through the temples, in and about the eyes in the morning?"

"Troth-I do so." "Well," said the Doctor with an air of confidence and assurance in his manner, "that is the tea and coffee."

"Is it, indeed? Faith, and I always thought it was the whiskey I drank."

The company roared with laughter, and the Doctor quietly retired.
